Notes from Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

Again it was pretty quiet around Bittinger last week, with many of us pretty much snowed in. The snow storm moved in with the howling of the wind. I didn't expect a large dumping of snow; however, it did turn out to be a real winter storm, like in the "good old days" when we would get two feet of snow in a couple of days. Thank goodness the place just past Jimmy Glotfelty's house wasn't closed for long. Some years I remember when there were 10-foot drifts over the road. So far this year it hasn't really felt like an "old time winter."

The snow fans in our house were pretty happy, but we were concerned about the possible rain that was predicted. Lloyd and George Beitzel did a good job of keeping most of the lanes along this stretch of Rock Lodge Road open. I was surprised on Sunday evening at 9:30 p.m. when my husband mounted his faithful tractor to try to prevent further drifting of snow in our lane. If rain should come, we would really have a mess in the lane. It seemed like going a little too far that night, but you can't get a good man off his tractor, even in bad weather and without a protectuve cab.

Meanwhile inside, Claire and Caitlin fell asleep on the couch in the living room after watching some college basketball games. I can't believe that those two little girls stayed up to watch the game between Utah and another team. But, I guess it is no wonder since their relatives talk about nothing except the ACC Tournament and the chance that Maryland might win. Unfortunately, our Terps fell to North Carolina. It happened before, but the Terps looked pretty good. We can still hope for wins in the NCAA Tournament.

Meantime, the members of the Poholsky household had hockey on their minds. Lenny and Torrey, accompanied by Zach Bruch, Grantsville, took in the Pittsburgh Penguins' game on Sunday. Unfortunately, the Penguins lost by 10-3 to the Colorado team. They had a great time anyway.

Monday afternoon, Paula and David Seaman, McHenry, visited with Joan and Lloyd Sussman. David returned home today from a stay in a Baltimore hospital to have a cyst removed from his brain that was pressing on an optic nerve. Kinda' scary, but he is in just great shape now. Paula was my girls' caregiver for years.

We did have some exciting happenings in Bittinger Saturday afternoon. A barn on Route 495 on the old Beitzel place and now owned by the Peter Mueller family was burned to the ground. The barn was a complete loss, but fortunately the house and livestock were saved. Some farm machinery was destroyed. It burned long after dark. Some of the ladies of the fire department auxiliary provided coffee and sandwiches for the fire fighters. Those ladies helping were Kathryn Bowser, Leora Yaste, Sharon Knuff, and Thelma Emory.

Lisa, Adam, and Amanda Platter, Smithsburg, were Friday overnight guests of Jim and Donna Glotfelty. They were Saturday evening dinner guests of Julius and Karmen Carey, near Frostburg, where other guests were their son, Anthony Carey, home for a few days from Evangel College, Springfield, Mo.; Evie Morris, and Gary and Carolyn Morris, LaVale; William and Linda Oester, Salisbury, Pa.; James and Agnes Carey and grandson Ian, and Chris Carey, Frostburg; and Tom, Cheryl, Tim, and James Glotfelty. Other visitors were Billy, Susan, and Lydia Powell, Frostburg.

Sunday lunch guests of Ida Reckner were Linda Oester, Salisbury, Pa., Sheli and Ashlin Gray, Hanover, Tom and Cheryl Glotfelty, and Jim and Donna Glotfelty. Afternoon visitors were Anthony Carey, Springfield, Mo.; Evie Morris, LaVale; and Taylor Glotfelty.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland hereby gives notice that it will hold a public hearing, on March 29, 1999 at 7:00 PM at Oakland Town Council meeting room, 15 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland, to discuss or hear concerns regarding proposed Ordinance O99-01, which has been introduced before the Town Council, providing for an amendment to the current Oakland Zoning Ordinance.

A fair summary of the Ordinance is as follows:

An Ordinance of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, amending Section 213.6, to redefine "Sectional (Double-Wide) Dwelling," and to add Section 213.7, which would allow for a definition of a Modular Dwelling. The proposed amendment would also add Subsection 3.5 under Section 405, Table of Use Regulations, to permit Modular Dwellings in areas zoned CBA, TC, TR, and SR.

This notice is in accordance with the policy adopted by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland for the adoption of ordinances, and gives notice of the date and time of the scheduled public hearing of said Ordinance.

The Ordinance in its entirety is available for review at Oakland City Hall during normal business hours, Monday-Friday.

PUBLIC NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE that the Town of Oakland, on the 1st day of March, 1999, introduced an Annexation Resolution, in accordance with the provisions of Article 23A, Section 19 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, for the annexation of the area known as the Route 219 North Annexation, and providing that the area to be annexed shall be zoned as "Town Center" category as defined by the Oakland Zoning Ordinance. The full resolution as introduced is as follows:

BEFORE THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND, RESOLUTION NO.: R99-02 (ANNEXATION NO. A99-01-ROUTE 219 NORTH ANNEXATION)

WHEREAS, pursuant to Section 19(b) of Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland have initiated this Resolution to enlarge the corporate boundaries of the Town by annexation of land adjoining and contiguous to the existing corporate boundaries, and being the area known as the Route 219 North Annexation, as is depicted in detail on a Plat dated October 13, 1998, as revised January 20, 1999, prepared by Morgan C. France, surveyor; and

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Town Council have caused to be made a verification of the fact that the said annexation has been consented to by not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the persons who reside in the area to be annexed, and who are registered as voters in County elections, and from the owners of not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the assessed valuation of the real property located in the area to be annexed, as evidenced by the signatures of said persons on writings establishing their consent.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND, THAT ALL THE LAND LYING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF THE HEREINAFTER DESCRIBED PARCEL OR PARCELS SHALL BE ANNEXED TO AND BECOME PART OF THE TOWN OF OAKLAND.

BEGINNING at a planted round concrete monument found at the end of the ninth line of the description of "AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE EXTENSION OF THE TOWN LIMITS OF THE TOWN OF OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND" passed 9 June 1952, by the Mayor and Town Council, and in the southeasterly margin of Fourth Street (Old U.S. Route 219); thence, with the tenth line thereof, North 65 Degrees 53 Minutes West, 576.48 feet to a six-inch round concrete monument with a bronze cap marked "Town of Oakland Town Corner," hereinafter called a concrete monument, set in the northwesterly margin of U.S. Route 219, and at the southerly corner of the property owned now or formerly by Lois G. AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that from and after the effective date of this Resolution, all persons residing in the area to be annexed shall be and become citizens of the Town of Oakland, and subject to the provisions of the Charter of said Town, and any amendments thereto, and that all real property so annexed and the personal property thereon shall be subject to the municipal property taxes to be levied by said Town, and that all of the said property, real and personal, will be taxed as all other property within the Town of Oakland, at the tax rate legally set by the Mayor and Town Council thereof.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Mayor and Town Council shall extend such services to the residents to be annexed hereby, as are extended to other residents of the Town of Oakland, where available.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, inasmuch as the area to be annexed is designated in the Garrett County Development Plan as "General Commercial" "Rural" or "Suburban Residential" (as shown thereon according to designation of the various tracts thereof), and that at this time there is no actual zoning ordinance within Garrett County which affects the area to be annexed, and consequently no specific land use definitions therefor, and inasmuch as the Zoning Ordinance for the Town of Oakland contains a land use category designated as "Town Center," and inasmuch as the area to be annexed has been designated by the State of Maryland as a "Priority Funding Area" (PRA) because it is expected to experience accelerated development and said area contains such uses as single-family residences, new and used car sales businesses, food and grocery stores, a real estate office and restaurant, etc., and inasmuch as all of these uses are permitted in the zoning category known as "Town Center" as defined by the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland, and, therefore, the Mayor and Town Council have determined that the annexed area shall be zoned "Town Center" (TC) under the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland, as adopted October 23, 1989, and as subsequently amended, and said area shall be designated as such on the official zoning map for the Town of Oakland, as said category is most compatible with the actual character of the area to be annexed.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that Notice of this Resolution shall be published in a newspaper with general circulation within the Town of Oakland and Garrett County, giving notice that the public hearing on this Resolution shall be held in the Council Room at the Oakland Town Hall on the 19th day of April, 1999, which date is not less than fifteen (15) days after the fourth (4th) publication of said Notice as provided for herein.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Resolution shall become effective on the forty-sixth (46th) day following its final enactment.

INTRODUCED this 1st day of March, 1999.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Maryland Mining Program will submit an application to the U.S. Department of the Interior, Office of Surface Mining, for the funding of abandoned coal mine reclamation projects. The funding will be in accordance with Title IV, Section 405 of Public Law 95-87, Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977.

Qualification for Federal Funding under Title IV is contingent on an approved State Surface Coal Mining Regulatory Program and a State Abandoned Mine Lands Reclamation Plan. Maryland has received Office of Surface Mining approval of both programs. Project funding will originate from the Abandoned Mine Reclamation Fund, administered by the Office of Surface Mining.

It is the goal of the Maryland Abandoned Mine Reclamation Program to promote the reclamation of abandoned coal mine areas in Maryland that have been left in an inadequately reclaimed condition and endanger the safety of the public, degrade the quality of the environment, and/or diminish the beneficial use of land and water resources.

Comments are being solicited on the relative priority of the projects listed below and/or any other abandoned mine problems in the Maryland Coal Region. The Bureau of Mines requests information from the public concerning abandoned mine problems that pose a potential threat to the public health and safety or severely degrades the environment.

A public meeting concerning the proposed projects will be held as follows:

Thursday, March 18, 1999
7:00 P.M.
Maryland Bureau of Mines
160 South Water Street, Room 107
Frostburg, MD 21532

Further information concerning the proposed projects can be obtained by contacting Mr. John Eilers, Land and Water Restoration Section, Maryland Bureau of Mines, 160 South Water St., Frostburg, MD 21532, 301-689-6764, x 304. Written comments concerning these projects and the Maryland Abandoned Mine Reclamation Program will be received at the public hearing and until Wednesday, March 24, 1999. Address all comments to the Maryland Bureau of Mines, Attention: Mr. John Eilers. The following is a general description of the proposed reclamation projects, including the location, County, nearest town or physical feature, and nature of the problem:

1. POTOMAC HILL RUN MINE DRAINAGE REMEDIATION PROJECT

Location: Approximately 1/2 mile east of Barton, Allegany County on Potomac Hill, adjacent to the Barton Coal Company, Inc. Open Pit Mining Permit No. SM-84-338.

Problem: Acid Mine Drainage discharging from an abandoned deep mine is impacting the water quality of Potomac Hill Run and Georges Creek.

2. LONACONING CLEANERS MINE DRAINAGE REMEDIATION PROJECT

Location: Approximately 1 mile north of Lonaconing, Allegany County along the east side of MD State Rt. 36 at Knapps Meadow.

Problem: Acid Mine Drainage discharging from an abandoned deep mine is impacting the water quality of Georges Creek.

3. RAILROAD STREET MINE DRAINAGE CONTROL PROJECT

Location: Within the City limits of Lonaconing, Allegany County on the east side of Railroad Street, adjacent to the Lonaconing Ballfield and Municipal Park.

Problem: Acid Mine Drainage discharging from an abandoned deep mine is causing flooding to Railroad Street and degrading the water quality of Georges Creek.

4. HARDMAN MINE DRAINAGE REMEDIATION PROJECT

Location: Approximately ½ mile west of Barton, Allegany County on the north side of Mill Run Road on Caledonia Hill.

Problem: Acid Mine Drainage discharging from an abandoned deep mine is degrading the water quality of Mill Run and Georges Creek.

5. MILL RUN AND REMEDIATION PROJECT

Location: Approximately .75 miles west of Barton, Allegany County along the south side of Mill Run Road on Phoenix Hill.

Problem: Acid Mine Drainage discharging from an abandoned deep mine is degrading the water quality of Mill Run and Georges Creek.

6. ELK LICK III ALKALINE PRODUCING SYSTEM PROJECT

Location: Approximately 3 miles east of Swanton, Garrett County along the west side of Mount Zion Road, adjacent to Elk Lick Run.

Problem: Acid Mine Drainage discharging from an abandoned deep mine is degrading the water quality of Elk Lick Run and the North Branch Potomac River.

ABSOLUTE AUCTION OF VALUABLE RESIDENTIAL PROPERTIES

The properties which will be sold are a three bedroom residence located at 21606 Creek Side Drive, Franklin, Allegany County, Maryland, and a two bedroom residence located at 91 North Street, Bloomington, Garrett County, Maryland.

Under and by virtue of Orders for Sale of Real Property entered by the Orphans' Court of Garrett County dated 11 August 1998, in the Estate of Mary Geraldine Bever, Administrations No. 8431, notice is hereby given that on at the hour of 11:00 A.M.

in the Rotunda of the Garrett County Court House in the Town of Oakland, Maryland, the Personal Representative shall offer for sale and sell at public auction to the highest bidder, that improved real properties situate in Allegany County and Garrett County, Maryland which are described as follows:

Description of Property - Allegany County. The property consists of two lots containing 0.659 acres, which is improved with a two-story frame residence having 3 bedrooms, bath, living room, dining room and kitchen, with a large front porch.

Being the same property conveyed to Mary Geraldine Bever by deed from Regina C. Moran dated January 7, 1965, and recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County in Liber 379, page 592.

Description of Property - Garrett County. The property consists of five lots containing 0.626 acres, which is improved with a one-story frame residence having 2 bedrooms, bath, large living room and kitchen, with a large front porch.

Being the same properties conveyed to Edward L. Bever (deceased) and Mary G. Bever by deed from Edward L Bever dated September 15, 1975, and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County in Liber 361, page 859, and by deed from William D. Pattison Jr., Donald F. Pattison, Mildred P. Beaver, William Beaver, George C. Pattison, Louise Pattison, Lillian P. Fazenbaker, Robert Fazenbaker, Charles A. Pattison, Pearl I. Pattison, Iola P. Guy and Bernard Guy, dated May 4, 1960, and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County in Liber 228, page 405.

Terms of Sale. A deposit of TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS ($2,000.00) will be required from the purchaser at the time and place of sale, to be paid by cashier's or certified check or in such other form as the Personal Representative may in her sole discretion determine provided arrangements are made prior to the sale. The balance of the purchase price shall be paid by cashier's or certified check at settlement which shall be on or before thirty (30) days after the sale. The property is being sold subject to liens, levies and encumbrances, if any. Taxes and all other public charges and assessments, if any, shall be paid by the purchaser, and costs of any Agricultural transfer taxes, documentary stamps, transfer taxes, recordation costs and costs of sale shall be paid by the purchaser. The above-described properties will be sold subject to all restrictions and covenants of record and without warranties of title. The improvements are being sold in an "as is" condition and without warranty as to the accuracy of information furnished to and/or by the Personal Representative and provided to prospective bidders.

Interested parties may contact the undersigned during regular business hours.

AURORA/EGLON NEWS

CRAFT FAIR

A few tables remain available for the May 8 Craft Fair to be held at the Union Ambulance squad hall in Aurora. The cost for a table is $10 and interested persons may contact either Keith Douglas at 735-5228 or Ellen Harsh at 735-5478.

A silent auction is planned for this event, and those who have an item, either new or used and in good working condition, may contact either of the above in order to donate.

LENTEN SERVICES

The March Lenten services were canceled because of extremely stormy weather, but, providing it stays good enough to travel, they will continue on schedule this week at the Brookside Church of the Brethren. Next week, March 17, the service will be at the Texas Bethel Church at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is invited.

50TH BIRTHDAY

Robert Knotts will celebrate his 50th birthday on March 23. He is the son of Grace Knotts Winter of Fairmont and the late James Knotts. Friends and relatives may address cards to Bob at: Rt. 1 Box 125K, Burlington, WV 26710. He has been recovering recently from a broken foot, also.

PERSONAL MENTION

Funeral services for Charles Franklin Teets of Eglon were held at Maple Spring Church on Tuesday, March 2. His grandchildren here for the services were Karen and Joe Thatcher of Lothian, Md., and Jeff and Cindy Harsh and Lyvonne and Scott Harsh, all of Horse Shoe Run. Another granddaughter and family, Paula, Joe, and Daniel Joseph Kowalczak of Honolulu, Hawaii, were unable to attend. Also here for the service was his son-in-law, Robert Maxey, Clinton, Md., his wife Ruth, and his local children and brothers.

Ed and Mary Utterback of Brookside Farm were called to St. Louis, Mo., following the Feb. 16 death of his father, Edward William Utterback, 85. They extended their stay there when Ed's first cousin also died. His mother, who is 84, remains in the family home.

Matt Utterback was a mid-year graduate at Wheeling Jesuit College and has been staying at the home farm at Brookside while seeking employment. His bachelor of science degree is in physics. John Utterback of Hagerstown also was a recent visitor of his parents, Ed and Mary, at Brookside.

Leonard Parsons received an injury to his ear while working in his shop at his Mt. Top home. He was treated and released from Garrett Memorial on Friday.

Lura Calcamp was transferred last Tuesday from Garrett Memorial to Cortland Acres Nursing Home, but had to be returned to the hospital on Friday. She is expected to be able to return this week to Thomas.

Paul Kuhn of Brookside has returned to his home after being treated at Garrett Memorial Hospital.

Carolyn Wotring and Sue Roberson of Aurora went last Wednesday to London, England, to visit with the latter's daughter, Melanie Roberson, who is spending a year as a student there. They were to return Monday to their homes.

Frank and Wilda Blamble returned last Monday to their Stemple Ridge home after vacationing for two months in Florida.

Ken and JoAnn Helton have returned to their Stemple Ridge home from a Florida vacation also.

Events Planned At Arthurdale Heritage Center

Several events, sponsored by the Arthurdale Heritage Center, are slated in Arthurdale during the coming months.

Arthurdale will celebrate its 65th anniversary from July 9-11. Those who have stories, photographs, crafts, clothing, or other items from the 1930s, and are willing to share them, may call 864-6356, and ask for Erma.

A flea market and craft sale, planned during Arthurdale's 65th Anniversary Heritage Days, is set for Saturday, July 10. To reserve a space at $5 ($10 extra for tables), persons may call 864-3959 or 864-6356.

Aerobic classes are conducted at the center on Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 7-8 p.m., at a cost of $20 per month. For more information, persons may call 864-3857.

Arthurdale Heritage will sponsor a pre-teen music party on Friday, March 12, from 7 until 9 p.m., at the Arthurdale Center. Students in grades two through five only are invited and the cost of admission is $2 per participant. Parents are welcome to attend and may call the center at 864-3959 for more information.

Kindergarten Registration Set At Mount Storm

Union Complex, Mt. Storm, has scheduled registration for this fall's kindergarten students on Thursday, March 18, from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Parents of children in the Union Complex Attendance Area who will be eligible for kindergarten this fall should arrange to bring their child to the school to register.

Children who will be 5 years old on or before Sept. 1, 1999, are to be enrolled in kindergarten classes, which will begin in September.

Children entering school for the first time should have the following immunizations:

1. At least three doses of trivalent oral polio vaccine, one of which must have been administered after the 4th birthday.

2. At least three doses of combined diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis (DPT) vaccine, one of which must have been administered after the 4th birthday.

3. Two doses of rubella vaccine and two doses of measles vaccine or two doses of the combined MMR (measles, mumps, rubella) vaccine.

4. A tuberculin skin test must be given within four months of starting school. Tests must be given no earlier than May 1 and read by the doctor or health department nurse within 48 hours after being given. The results must be marked on the child's immunization card prior to the beginning of the new school term this fall.

Immunizations will be given at the school, or youth can receive them at the health department or from the child's health care provider.

School law requires that all children entering school for the first time be screened for vision, hearing, speech, and language problems. This will be done at registration by a Grant County health nurse and school speech therapist Elaine Toth.

Parents should bring their child's birth certificate, the child's Social Security number, and the child's immunization record with them.

Slaubaugh Named To Who's Who

Melanie Slaubaugh, pictured above, has been listed in the current edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students. The Preston County High School junior is one of only five percent of high school students who appear in Who's Who each year.

Slaubaugh was also selected to the Preston High chapter of the National Honor Society, the Knights of the Round Table, and the principal's honor roll. She received a national foreign language award in her sophomore year as well. She is a member of the school's Christian Fellowship Club, German Club, and Teen Institute.

She resides in Aurora with her parents, Ruth and Ralph Slaubaugh.

Luck O'The Irish Dance Planned At Alpine Lake Resort

A Luck O'the Irish Dance, co-sponsored by the Terra Alta Civic Club and Alpine Lake Resort, is planned for Saturday, March 13, from 9:30 p.m. until 12:30 a.m. at the Alpine Lake lodge.

At a cost of $3 for singles and $5 for couples, those attending will dance to music provided by Mark Falkenstein and "Soundmaster Entertainment.

The public is welcome, but admission is limited to those 21 years of age and older. Identification will be required at the door.

BITTINGER

First Communion classes will be offered beginning Sunday, March 14, at 3 p.m. at the educational building.

On Friday, March 19, at 6 p.m. all the women of the Bittinger Lutheran Parish are getting together at Emmanuel's educational building. Please bring a covered dish and celebrate the coming of spring!

The Wednesday evening Lenten Service of Emmanuel Parish and the Accident Parish will be held March 17 at Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, at 7 p.m.

Wilson Indicted For Death Of Baby In 1981

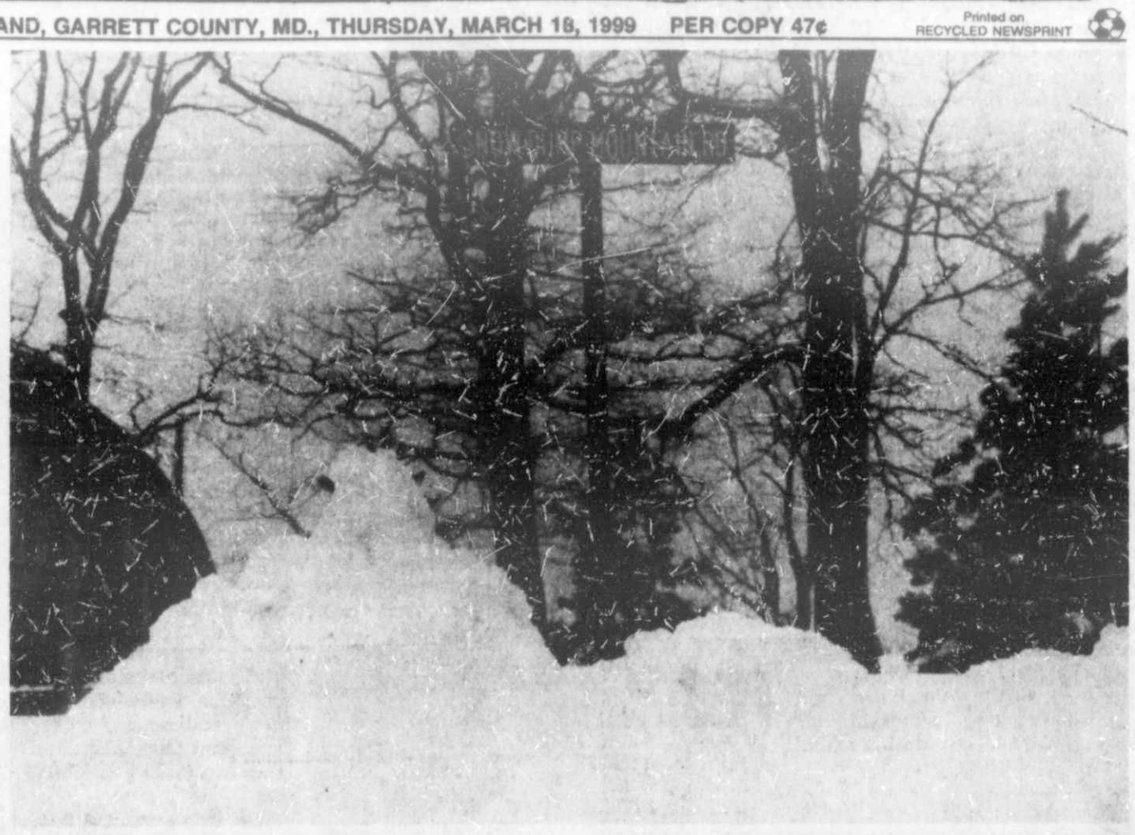
A northern Garrett County man was indicted last week by a Prince George's County Grand Jury on the charge of first degree murder. Garrett Eldred Wilson, 42, Frostburg (Garrett Co.), is accused of killing his infant daughter in 1981. Wilson is to be arraigned in Prince George's County Circuit Court on April 2, according to reports.

The defendant has been in custody without bond since being arrested on Feb. 15 in northern Garrett County. According to reports, he resided there with his fourth wife and their daughter.

Wilson has been implicated in the May 1981 death of 2-month-old Brandi Jean Wilson, born during the defendant's second marriage. The family was at that time residing in Oxon Hill.

The defendant is also awaiting trial in Montgomery County on another murder charge, as he is accused of killing his son, 5-month-old Garrett Michael Wilson, in August of 1987. This child was Wilson's and his third wife's, born to them in Germantown. Both babies' deaths were originally determined to be caused by Sudden Infant Death Syndrome. This determination was apparently changed in 1997.

Wilson has pleaded innocent in the death of his daughter and will reportedly enter the same plea in the case of the baby boy.



A STREET BY ANY OTHER NAME would be just as snowed under this week. The month of March has certainly come in like a lion — or more like a whole pride of lions — as three big snow storms have blasted the county over the past two weeks. The long-standing record has been broken: Garrett County has never before had 57 inches of snow in March, which is how much has fallen in just 18 days. School cancellations have now exceeded the allotted snow allowance, so the kids will be in class for at least two extra days in June. And the forecast is still a little iffy, as more snow is to fall tomorrow. Only flurries are predicted, however, so perhaps the daffodils can continue their stretch toward the sky without the hindrance of ice and snow. Let's hope. Photo by John McEwen

GOBA Preparing Survey On Issues Facing County

The Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) is preparing a survey that will be distributed to its members during coming weeks to gauge their stands on several key issues currently facing the Oakland business community and all citizens of Garrett County.

Final preparations for the survey were discussed at Tuesday night's monthly GOBA meeting. The survey will attempt to determine

Glendening Administration Notes Positive Economic Growth In State

The Glendening-Townsend Administration released new figures this week indicating expanded job growth, higher personal income, and the third lowest poverty rate in the nation, as Maryland's economy reportedly continues to surge ahead.

The state's job growth expanded at a rate of 2.5% in 1998, according to newly released data from the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics. Glendening noted this is the second consecutive year that the state has achieved "extraordinary job growth."

"More than 57,000 jobs were added in Maryland last year," Glendening said, "marking the sixth consecutive year of uninterrupted job growth in the state."

The governor also cited a report from the Bureau of the Census that shows an increase of 6.2% in Maryland's household income up to $46,685, contributing to a substantial decline in the state's poverty rate, which is now the third lowest in the United States.

"Maryland has become the benchmark for economic success in the Mid-Atlantic region," said Lt. Gov. Kathleen Kennedy Townsend. "We have the location, the infrastructure, the educational system, and quality of life that businesses recognize as key to their success."

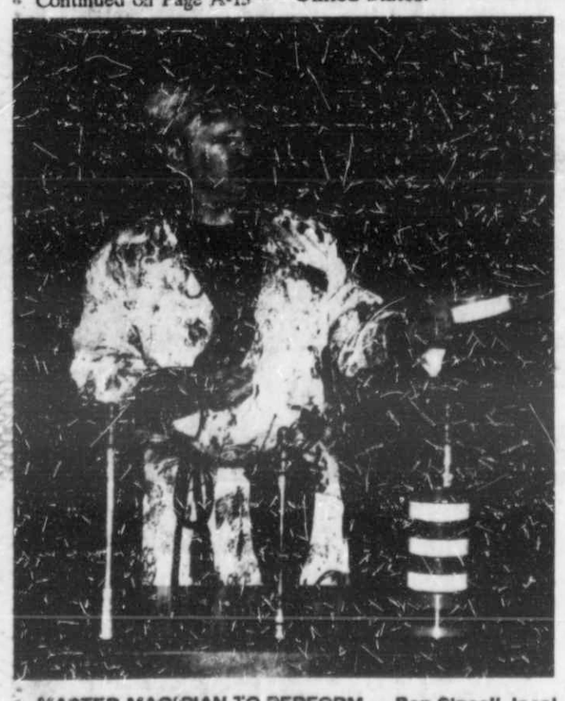
According to recent federal statistics, Maryland's poverty rate has dropped from 10.1% in 1995 to 8.4% in 1997. As a result, the state has moved from the 12th in poverty to third in the nation, the governor said.

Glendening's report noted the following economic indicators in the state:

Employment grew in every major business sector; service, construction, finances, and local school systems are among the largest job growth industries, accounting for eight of every 10 jobs; and job growth in the services industry outdistanced all other sectors. Business services, propelled by the demand for computer and data processing services, accounted for 17% of the growth in payroll jobs.

According to Glendening's report, long-term interest rates remained low in 1998, motivating the construction industry. This also contributed to the finance sector's job growth, as it responded to increased demand for mortgage underwriting and refinancing.

"Maryland's economy is good for jobs, good for the environment, and good for families," Glendening concluded.



MASTER MAGICIAN TO PERFORM — Ben Sincell, local master magician, will present a Night of Magic on Saturday, March 20, at 7 p.m. in the auditorium of Garrett Community College. The proceeds from the show will benefit Big Brothers/Big Sisters for Garrett County. Sincell said his program is aimed at youngsters, but will entertain all ages. Although the show is mainly for fun, Sincell said he will also be investigating magic from ancient cultures and show how, even today, much of what magicians do is based on ancient techniques and methods. The ticket price is $5 for adults and $2 for children 12 years old and younger. They are on sale at several area pharmacies, and will also be sold at the door. For more information, persons may contact Big Brothers/Big Sisters at 301-334-3591.

Allegheny Power Restores Service Within 24 Hours

Following the second winter storm in the past two weeks, Allegheny Power quickly restored service to more than 7,500 customers within a 24-hour period. The recent storm was the fourth one of the season, bringing the total number of customers affected and restored by the company this winter to 184,000.

"Winter storms are especially challenging for electric utility operations," said Jim Haney, vice president of operations for Allegheny Power. "The snow, wind, and ice can cause a host of problems, which include damage to our facilities and exposing our personnel to harsh weather and road conditions."

Haney went on to explain that the company recognizes the reality of weather-related outages and is constantly seeking methods to speed up and improve restoration of service. "This includes investing millions of dollars to upgrade our technology, improve our facilities, and trim trees that can interfere with our lines," he added. "These improvements reduce the effects of winter storms and shorten repair

Northern Indust. Park Expanded By 66 Acres

The Garrett County commissioners this week approved a 66-acre expansion of the Northern Garrett Industrial Park enterprise zone. The proposal to expand the area was presented to the commissioners by Meg Ellis of the county's Office of Economic Development. A mandated public hearing was held Tuesday in the commissioners' meeting room, which followed an added public hearing the evening before in Grantsville.

The 66 acres will now be available for new businesses. Those businesses who locate within an industrial park in the county are eligible for tax incentives. These businesses can also can obtain a partial abatement of county property taxes.

Present at Tuesday's hearing was Cristine Kepple Sweitzer, chairperson of the Garrett County Economic Development Corporation, who voiced the corporation's support of the expansion.

"The Northern Industrial Park is the most popular location among those candidates looking to move their businesses to Garrett County," Sweitzer said. "We feel BURNED OUT because of an apparent electrical problem is a Mtn. Lake Park family, whose house was gutted by fire Sunday evening. Arbutus Lloyd and her two sons barely escaped the blaze, which ripped through their one-story wood-frame house. Volunteer fire fighters from four local departments responded to the 8:46 p.m. fire and spent over two hours on the scene. The house was gutted and the family members lost all of their possessions. See story for details.

Mtn. Lake Park House Gutted By Fire Sunday Eve.

A fire believed to have been caused by an electrical problem left a Mtn. Lake Park family homeless Sunday evening.

Oakland, Deer Park, and Gorman volunteer fire fighters were summoned to the residence of Arbutus Lloyd and her two sons, Michael Thomas, 22, and Billy Thomas, 27, at 8:46 p.m. after the three members of the family barely escaped from the single-story wood-frame house, located in the 200 block of D Street. Heavy flames and smoke were coming from the house upon the arrival of the volunteers.

Fire fighters brought the fire under control in about 30 minutes, but it took about two hours to totally extinguish the "hot spots." According to Oakland fire chief Tom Swiger, the fire appeared to have started near the front porch of the house. It was deemed accidental and electrical in nature.

Also responding to the scene was the county air cascade vehicle, housed at Deep Creek VFC, and the Southern Rescue Squad. Placed on stand-by for other companies were units from the Terra Alta, Kitzmiller, and Bayard departments. There were no injuries reported.

The family lost all of their possessions in the fire and are reportedly staying with relatives in Deer Park temporarily. They have received considerable assistance in the form of furniture and clothing from Christian Crossing in Loch Lynn, a non-profit, non-denominational assistance organization.

The house was owned by Connie Burns and has been rented by Mrs. Lloyd for about two years. Chief Swiger estimated the loss to be at least $10,000. It was unknown whether or not the owner had insurance on the structure.

Minor Injuries Occur In Mishap Near Kitzmiller

A one-vehicle accident last Thursday on Kitzmiller Road, off Route 135, resulted in minor injuries to one person. Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, reported that the incident occurred just before 6 p.m.

John W. Lytle, 19, Westernport, was reportedly adjusting his car radio as he was driving on Kitzmiller Road, and, with his attention diverted, he traveled to the right, struck a snow bank, lost control of his vehicle, and became stuck in the embankment.

The Elk District Ambulance and the Kitzmiller VFD responded to the scene along with the police. One passenger in the vehicle was taken to Garrett

Garrett Choral Society Presentation To Feature Bass-Baritone Gene Galvin

Renowned bass-baritone Gene Galvin will return to Garrett County next month to perform as a soloist with the Garrett Choral Society in its presentation of the Bach Magnificat and the Vivaldi Gloria. Galvin, a resident of Herndon, Va., was a soloist with the society in December of 1997, singing the bass part in Handel's Messiah.

Galvin is most familiar to Washington, D.C., area audiences from his many operatic appearances with the Washington, Northern Virginia, Opera Camerata of Washington, and Summer Opera Theater companies, and at Constitution Hall as Sarastro in Magic Flute under the baton of Victor Borge. Galvin has also toured as Opera New England's Sulpice in Daughter of the Regiment and has sung hundreds of performances throughout the country with the Cincinnati, Sarasota, and National operas. His roles include Figaro, Basilio, Don Giovanni, Colline, Dulcamara and Alidoro. He is a specialist in the Bel Canto repertoire, and Opera News magazine praised his "rich voice and superb musicianship in the role of Callistene" in the American premiere of the new critical edition of Donizetti's Poliuto. Most recently, Galvin sang and directed his own translation of Donizetti's Rita.

Galvin has performed as a recitalist and soloist with the Arlington Symphony, Western Maryland Symphony, at the Smithsonian Institution and the Kennedy Center in concerts including the Mozart, Brahms, and Faure Requiems, Handel's Messiah and Solomon, and Bloch's Sacred Service.

Galvin holds a D.M.A. in opera performance from the University of Maryland, where he has directed the Undergraduate Opera Theater and sung lead roles with the Maryland Opera Studio. He holds an M.M. degree from the Catholic University of America and a B.A. from Frostburg State University. He currently teaches voice at Shenandoah Conservatory, Winchester, Va.

The Garrett Choral Society performances are slated for Saturday, April 10, at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, April 11, at 2 p.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland. Tickets are now available from society members and also at Englander's Pharmacy. Prices are $5 for adults and $2.50 for children (ages 12 and under).

Loch Lynn Drug Search Leads To Two Arrests

A search of a Loch Lynn residence by police officers from the Garrett Bureau of Investigation (GBI) led to the arrest of a Loch Lynn woman and a Rawlings man Tuesday night.

Diane Guy, 45, and Scott Allen Moore, 21, were taken into custody at approximately 10 p.m. after GBI investigators, with the assistance of Garrett County Sheriff's Office deputies, executed a search and seizure warrant at the home. The search reportedly uncovered a quantity of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Guy, who faces charges of possession of marijuana with the intent to distribute, and possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, is currently being held in the Garrett County Detention Center on a $10,000 bond. Moore, charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, has been released on his own recognizance.

Clarification

A GBI press release submitted to The Republican last week stated that three juveniles were arrested at Southern High School recently and charged with distribution of drugs on school property. This information was subsequently reported on the front page of last Thursday's issue.

After investigating the matter, this newspaper has learned that the juveniles in question, although charged as stated, were not in fact placed under arrest.

Accident Man Awaits Sentence For Assault, DWI

An Accident man is incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail as he awaits sentencing from Garrett County Circuit Court Judge James Sherbin. Kenneth George Wiley, 29, last Thursday entered an alford plea of guilty to the charge of second degree assault and a guilty plea to the charge of driving while intoxicated (DWI). Sherbin ordered him to be in custody while a pre-sentence investigation is completed.

In addition to the two violations to which Wiley pleaded guilty, the defendant was also originally charged by Maryland State Police with six counts of first degree assault, five counts of second degree assault, malicious destruction of property, reckless driving, and negligent driving. These were not prosecuted in last week's proceedings.

State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch explained that the charges arose from an incident in which Wiley drove a vehicle into a porch where at least five people were standing. He was allegedly intoxicated at the time. This incident led to the multiple assault charges, as each person was considered a victim in the event. The non-prosecution of the additional charges was not unexpected, Welch said, explaining that the assault charges would most likely have been merged if Wiley had not entered a guilty plea and therefore had stood trial.

An alford plea is made by a defendant who may not consider himself guilty but acknowledges that the prosecution has enough evidence to convict him.

The incident leading to Wiley's arrest took place on Aug. 28, 1998, and involved a dispute between families over another traffic incident earlier that month, according to the court report.

Andersen, DiPaolo, Love Named To Garrett Women's Hall Of Fame

ROBERTA ANDERSEN

MARY LOVE

RUTH DIPAOLO

The Garrett County Commission for Women recently announced the selection committee's inductee choices for the 1999 Garrett County Women's Hall of Fame. Roberta Andersen, Ruth DiPaolo, and Mary Love are this year's choices and will be inducted during the Fifth Annual Women's Hall of Fame celebration.

Roberta ("Bobby") Andersen is described as an active community volunteer and innovative leader. Andersen, born and reared on Long Island, N.Y., is a graduate of Hofstra University and Computer School. She and her husband Alden retired to Garrett County in 1988.

According to the packet submitted by Mary E. Mallory of the Oakland Civic Club, Andersen "doesn't know the meaning of the word 'retired.'

"When she arrived in Garrett County, Bobby wasted little time in locating programs where she could volunteer her services," Mallory stated.

Andersen serves on several boards of directors and currently holds the offices of secretary for the League of Women Voters and vice president for Garrett County Lighthouse Inc. She is credited with organizing many local volunteer networks, including the hospital's Volunteers in Various Areas (VIVA) and a local recycling drive which spurred a county-wide Green Ribbon Week that earned a governor's citation.

Andersen served as co-chair on such projects as the Women's Fair, the "Year of the Garrett County Women," and "Enjoy Yesteryear — A Heritage Festival." Andersen helped create the Quick Guide to Community Resources and reportedly took charge of selling and distributing 100 service tree seedlings in an effort to re-establish this native flowering tree in the county. In addition to her civic activities, Andersen enjoys spending time with her family, traveling, and writing poetry.

The Civic Club of Oakland nominated Andersen, with letters of support from Garrett County Lighthouse Inc. and the League of Women Voters of Garrett County.

Ruth Glotfelty DiPaolo has lived in Garrett County for the past 49 years. She has been an active community organizer and supporter of women's organizations. According to Amy Harman, president of Grantsville Business and Professional Women (BPW), DiPaolo "has helped to raise the consciousness of other women toward their responsibilities to be involved in the community and to be outspoken on issues in which they believe."

To address northern area access to BPW activities, DiPaolo was instrumental in founding and chartering the Grantsville area club in 1985. DiPaolo was also active in the operation of her family's dairy farm.

"Ruth's family received recognition in this pursuit six times, earning the 'Farming for Better Living' award in 1966," Harman said. DiPaolo was active in the Farm Bureau for 47 years, and edited its first county newsletter. Her interests include 4-H and the Garrett County Fair, for which she served as a director for 20 years and currently serves as Vespers Committee Chairperson.

DiPaolo was awarded Life Membership in the Maryland PTA. In 1991, she earned the Woodmen of the World Outstanding Environmentalist Award, and in 1994 she was awarded Grantsville BPW Woman of the Year and was runner-up for Garrett County's Most Beautiful Person. Her community service activities include serving as a volunteer for Hospice and the Bittinger Fire Department Auxiliary, and a board of directors member for Garrett County Department of Social Services, Garrett County Arts Council, and Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

DiPaolo served on the county's Republican Central Committee and ran in the last election for a seat on the Orphans' Court. She attends the Emmanuel Lutheran Church, where she serves as lector, communion assistant, and usher.

DiPaolo was nominated by the Grantsville BPW, with the support of Hospice of Garrett County and the Garrett County Cooperative Extension Service.

Mary Love, a daughter of a Presbyterian minister, earned an undergraduate degree from the College of Wooster in Ohio and a master's degree from the University of Cincinnati.

Love's primary contributions to Garrett County lie in the area of mental health services. She was a local pioneer in this field and initiated public awareness and education related to the needs of persons with mental health challenges. Love began her work as a child psychologist, employed by Community Action and teaching human development at the West Virginia University School of Social Work.

"She went on to be named the first director of mental health at the Garrett County Health Department and also played an important role in establishing the Finan Center, an in-patient residential center," stated Idella Bender, activities director at Goodwill Mennonite Home. "It was her talent, determination, and hard work that provided many clients with needed counseling that would have otherwise been unavailable."

Upon her retirement, Love continued to be active in the county through teaching and writing about the history of the mountaintop. She taught a course she created at Garrett Community College titled "Roads, Rivers, and Railroads: Garrett County History." She is credited with helping to organize Mountain Lake Park Days, a historic tour and celebration of the town. Love also published a book about this town, Once Upon a Mountaintop.

Nominators noted that Love has a keen sense of humor and reveled in sharing amusing and colorful stories through her writing. She was nominated by the staff of Goodwill Mennonite Nursing Home, where Love currently resides.

The Garrett County Women's Hall of Fame induction celebration will be held on Saturday, March 27, at the Will O' the Wisp. Sign-in will begin at 9:30 a.m. Persons interested in participating in this event must pre-register by Friday, March 19. The cost is $12 for adults and $6 for children under 12. More information may be obtained by calling 301-334-4810. Persons may also send reservations with payment to the GCCW at P.O. Box 623, Oakland, MD 21550.

Ruth Enlow To Host Library Book Sale

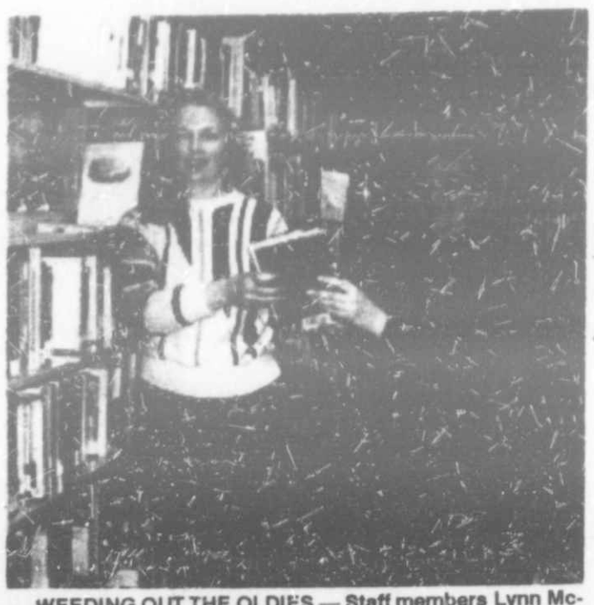
Beginning Saturday, March 20, the Ruth Enlow Library will host an ongoing book sale for the public, offering at nominal prices books being replaced or eliminated from the collection. The sale will take place at the Oakland library location during normal operating hours throughout next week.

According to Martha Makosky, library director, the replacement of books is being made possible by a $12,000 donation by Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library, with $6,000 designated for the children's collection and $6,000 for the main collection.

"While this generous donation allows the library to begin the work of updating and upgrading, additional funds are necessary to review the entire collection," Makosky said. She added that financial support from members of the community and local businesses is needed to keep this work ongoing.

Makosky said the staff is updating the library collection by using certain standards, such as eliminating books about infectious diseases if they do not mention AIDS, replacing almanacs older than two years, keeping all legal information current, and removing books on finance and investment that have been on the shelves for longer than five years. Books in poor condition or those shown to have limited interest are also being removed.

"However, examples of books which will always be kept include automobile and appliance repair manuals, basic historical works, histories of art and music, and information on antiques and collectibles," Makosky said.



WEEDING OUT THE OLDIES — Staff members Lynn McDaniel (left) and Ann Leighton of the Ruth Enlow Library are shown as they work to weed out old books in order to make room for updated materials. A book sale will take place at the Oakland location beginning Saturday, March 20, and continuing throughout next week. Funds raised will be pooled with a $12,000 donation by Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library to help purchase new materials for the local library system. The books will be sold at nominal prices to the public. See story.

GCHD To Follow National Crime Prevention Model

Garrett County Health Department is developing a violence prevention program based on one that has been recognized by the National Crime Prevention Council as a model program. The "Safe Night" project, introduced in 1994, was designed as a community party, planned by youth and adults, with time designated to focus on peaceful conflict resolution and avoiding drugs and alcohol use.

Nancy Brady, Safe Night coordinator for the health department, said that plans are being outlined for holding such an event in Garrett County. "We could do a countywide program or do individual programs in communities around the county," she said.

June 5 is slated as Safe Night USA, a national celebration during which live shows on the Public Broadcasting System will link thousands of local events. In Milwaukee, Wisc., where the program originated, Safe Nights have been credited as a key factor in a 60 percent drop in the city's youth homicide rate.

The first general Garrett County Safe Night planning meeting will be held on April 13, beginning at 6 p.m., at the Garrett County Extension office on Route 135. "We're gearing up for this first Safe Night event, and we hope that people will join us and give their ideas on what each community would like to do," Brady said.

For information persons may call the health department at 301-334-8122.

Support Offered For Sufferers Of Eating Disorders

A on-going support group for individuals suffering from eating disorders will be offered for the first time next Monday, March 22, at Garrett Community College. Suzanne E. Tomb, LCSW-C, a counselor specializing in eating disorders and women's issues, will facilitate these sessions.

The group will provide information in a supportive environment to those struggling with anorexia or bulimia. Tomb, who was diagnosed with an eating disorder while in her teens, said she understands the hesitancy of people with these illnesses to seek help. "Often they do not want to give up the behavior. They feel they need it as a form of control in their lives," she explained.

Through the support groups Tomb said she hopes to bring together people who suffer from similar dis-orders, and foster an atmosphere of understanding and support where information can be shared.

Previously Tomb had organized a support group for family members and friends of individuals with eating disorders, which will continue to be held at GCC. Both support groups will meet on the second and fourth Mondays of each month, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the Continuing Education building on the McHenry campus of GCC.

There will be no charge for attending these sessions. For further information persons may call Suzanne Tomb at 301-387-2996.

Oakland Police Report Accident On Route 219

Oakland police investigated a two-vehicle accident on Route 219 on March 12. The report said that Lawrence F. Sherwood Jr., 73, Oakland, was traveling northbound on Route 219 south of Oakland in a Ford Escort at about 2 p.m.

Upon reaching the intersection with Route 135, Sherwood reportedly proceeded to turn left, and did not yield the right of way to a Chevrolet Cavalier operated by Brandon C. Sweitzer, 23, Mtn Lake Park, who was southbound on Route 219.

One passenger in the Sweitzer car, a minor, was taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital by Southern Rescue Squad, but was reported to have no serious injuries. Oakland VFD also responded to the scene.

Oakland Police charged Sherwood with failure to yield to oncoming traffic when making a left turn.

CELEBRATING OUR 6TH ANNIVERSARY!

Historical Society To Host Fund-Raising Dinner

The Garrett County Historical Society will hold a fund-raising dinner for the retirement of the museum debt on Friday, April 23, at 6 p.m. It will be held at the Pleasant Valley Community Center on the Joni Miller Road.

Guest speakers for the event will be Lawrence Sherwood and John Grant. To help commemorate Oakland's 150th anniversary, the men will talk about the early history of the town and the railroad station.

A turkey dinner will be served "with all the trimmings," and the cost will be $20 per person. Tickets can be purchased at the museum, Gregg's Pharmacy, the Gonder Insurance Agency, the Hershberger Insurance Agency, or by calling Gary Fitzwater at 301-334-2612 between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

ALL THIS LOOT AND MORE will be given as door prizes at the Community Teen Dance tomorrow (Friday) night at Northern High School from 8 to 11 p.m. Music will be played by well-known local disc jockey Trucker, who will take requests from the dance floor, for music of all kinds. The dance will benefit the Dove Center, Garrett County's resource center for domestic violence and sexual assault. This event was organized by two area residents, Carson Yoder and Jim McFarland, who is pictured above with his son Travis. Among the goodies to be given away are a television, a boom box, savings bonds, gift certificates, a custom embroidered jacket with the logo for the upcoming Western Maryland Truck Show (which these two men are coordinating), and many, many more surprises. Admission to the dance is $5 per person and refreshments will be available.

ST. JOHN'S YOUTH AID FIRE VICTIMS - The Youth Fellowship group at St. John's Lutheran Church in Red House recently collected non-perishable food items for three area families recently victimized by fire. The donations were delivered to the families on Valentine's Day, Sunday, Feb. 14. Pictured from the left in the front row are Kerri Skipper, Jennifer Cosner, Clarissa Bliamble, Rachel Skipper, Philip Adams, Jordan Skipper, and Alison Roth. In the second row are Marissa Bachtel, Daniel Skipper, Emily Cosner, Ben Knepp, Steve Knepp, Andrew Roth, Zachary Bachtel, Eric Bliamble, Sarah Cosner, and Kelsey Skipper.

The Historical Society purchased the Professional Building in Oakland in 1996 for $150,000. Through the sale of the old museum and several fund-raising activities, the debt has been reduced to approximately $8,000, according to a spokesperson.

Theft Of Gun From Oakland Home Reported

A theft of a .357-caliber handgun from a Third Street residence was reported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office this week. The incident occurred between March 1 and 17, according to police records.

The Smith & Wesson Magnum revolver, valued at $400, bore the serial #ACH4929. Also taken was one fanny pack with assorted black powder accessories, with an estimated worth of $50, and a tree stand seat of the same value.

In other recent sheriff's news, a pair of outside flood lights were stolen from the rear exterior of the Head Start building located at Crellin Elementary School along Kendall Drive. The lights were valued at $25 each, and the incident reportedly occurred between March 5 and 11.

A pair of skis were stolen from the outside ski rack at the Wisp on March 6, although the report was not made to the sheriff's office until this week. Stolen was a pair of black Solomon X-Tender skis, valued at $565.

DWI/DUI Arrests

Several individuals were charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI) and/or driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs (DUI) over recent weeks.

Gary Dale Hardesty, 42, Oakland, was arrested and charged with DWI, resisting arrest, and failure to obey a lawful order after a traffic stop on Saturday, March 13. He was released from jail after posting a $2,500 bond.

Michael Kerry Metheny, 20, Terra Alta, W.Va., was arrested and charged with DWI and speeding on Saturday, Feb. 27. He was released after posting a $500 bond.

Other individuals arrested on either DWI or DUI charges recently were: Crystal Dawn Noland, 29, Christopher Michael Tasker, 27, and Bryan Scott McLanahan, all of Oakland; Brian Lynn King, 21, McHenry; and Susan Jane Osborne, 39, Deer Park.

it is extremely important to promote and expand this area, especially because of its proximity to I-68 and, more indirectly, to Rt. 219."

Ellis had prepared a letter for the commissioners to sign, which was addressed to Richard Lewin, secretary of the Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development, and stated that the county supports and approves the expansion of the enterprise zone at the northern site.

Losers to Rocky Gap...

There was a big headline across the top of the front page of the Cumberland Times-News this week that read, "Rocky Gap Drains Open Space Funds." The news came as no shock to us whatsoever, because it was predicted by several officials last year about the time that the Rocky Gap Lodge and Golf Resort opened.

The total amount of Program Open Space monies being allocated to Allegany County this year is $202,000, of which $200,000 will go to help fund the annual $425,000 debt payment for the resort. That leaves $2,000 for the rest of Allegany County.

Meanwhile, the towns of Cumberland, Frostburg, Mount Savage, Bel Air, and Flintstone have submitted funding requests for 21 other projects totaling over $2 million. However, they will have to make do with sharing a measly $2,000; that's $400 per community, which is probably more than it cost each of them just to prepare the POS requests.

One may wonder why the editor of a Garrett County newspaper is editorializing on something that is happening in neighboring Allegany County, especially since Garrett County's POS allotment will in no way be affected by the situation in Allegany County. However, it brings us back to a point we have made at least once before in this column, a point that should be made again.

Another prediction made was that much of the convention/conference business that was previously hosted in Garrett County, particularly at the Wisp Resort, would be lost to Rocky Gap. That, too, has come true, as every group that is connected to state government that used to come to Garrett County for its conferences has been directed to Rocky Gap.

Now we fully support free enterprise and free competition. But only if the playing field is level for all parties. This field is nowhere near level for the privately owned Wisp since it is competing against state government. Tax dollars are being used to pay for Rocky Gap, and still more tax dollars are being expended to fund state agency conferences and conventions at that location. It makes no difference if the cost to stay at the Wisp is less than the cost to stay at Rocky Gap. Cost is not a factor that is being considered by the state, even though the money they spend comes out of all of our pockets.

Of course, there are bigger losers than those of us who live in Garrett County. Think about the residents of Frostburg, Cumberland, Mount Savage, Bel Air, and Flintstone, whose own worthy projects will receive virtually no POS money this year and, most likely, none for many years to come. Surely there is some kind of legal recourse for these communities.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Many people are the victims of harmless, practical jokes on April Fool's Day. Unfortunately, for at least 1.4 million Americans, every day seems like April Fool's Day. They are the victims of lupus, a devastating autoimmune disease that fools everyone.

The Maryland Lupus Foundation designated April 1 as Lupus Alert Day because too few people know about this confusing disease. Lupus causes the immune system to attack the body's own tissue. Most victims are women and lupus disproportionately affects minorities.

Lupus fools it victims because symptoms mimic less serious illnesses or it can go into periods of remission. Lupus fools family members because victims don't appear sick. Some lupus victims are accused of being hypochondriacs.

Lupus can fool doctors, too. There is no definitive test that can tell if a person has lupus. It is not uncommon for victims to suffer several years before they are diagnosed. Lupus even fools medical researchers! Scientists don't know what causes lupus. A cure remains elusive. Fortunately, treatments are available.

Don't be fooled by lupus! Take the Lupus Self-Test. Take five minutes to answer eleven screening questions that can save your life! Call the Maryland Lupus Foundation at 410-337-9000 or 800-777-0934 and ask for your free copy.

Sincerely,
Jeri L. Falk
President, Maryland Lupus Foundation

To the Editor:

I'm writing about the Craver Case that we've heard and read so much about. I always thought since you did your time for your crime, that would be the end of hearing it on the radio and reading about it in the newspapers. But I guess not here in Garrett County.

I did my time for my crime. So why can't the state's attorney's office stop putting my name in the papers and on the radio? My husband and I were arrested separately and tried separately. So why is my name brought up every time he goes to court?

Don't I have rights? Can't I move on with my life? I'm not the only one who has ever made a mistake.

Something that really bothers me is, if you get busted for drugs, they act like you've killed someone. But if you're caught DWI or DUI, you get a small fine and/or do very little time. Why is this?

It's a proven fact that alcohol is the number one killer in America. But it's never been proven that marijuana killed anyone. As a matter of fact, some places use marijuana for cancer treatment and other illnesses. No, I don't support the use of all drugs. But marijuana is not a man-made drug. It grows in the ground, just like our vegetables we eat every day.

Sincerely,
Sandy Craver

To the Editor:

In a recent letter to the editor, I commented on how the media and the White House have used the "polls" to create the false image that public opinion is in support of President Clinton. Some people refuse to believe that these "polls" are taken and manipulated in ways to produce results showing approval for President Clinton, when that popular approval does not exist. In a recent report published by the Media Research Center, in Alexandria, Virginia, I read the following about two major news networks that withheld results of their own polls.

CBS never aired the results of their own poll, that found 84% of the voting public felt Bill Clinton was guilty of the impeachment charges. ABC never aired the results of their own poll, that found 69% of the public felt Clinton was not honest and trustworthy.

Why would these news networks hide these findings from the American people and why have they worked so desperately to make us believe something that is not true?

Respectfully,
Ken Bauer

To the Editor:

I am writing with concerns about the disciplinary actions of Southern High School. Last week my cousin asked her teacher if she could go to the restroom. The teacher said no. Then she repeated, "I really need to go to the restroom." The teacher laughed at her and again she was denied. Finally she told her teacher she was going to the restroom to change her tampon. Her teacher wrote her up for inappropriate language.

Since when is the word tampon inappropriate language? I consider inappropriate language the same as foul language or swearing. The word tampon does not fall in that category.

As her punishment she received one day of in-school suspension, two days out-of-lunch detention, and three days of lunch detention. When she asked Mr. Quick if she could just receive an after-school detention, he said no, because he was offended by having to read the word tampon. Mr. Quick also stated that my cousin had offended her teacher.

What about my cousin being offended? To ask a teacher to go to the restroom and being told no, then laughed at? All that was going through her mind was that she needed to get to the restroom, and quickly. No student should be denied the right to go to the restroom, especially females, because they have a few more needs. When a student replies, "I really need to go to the restroom," a teacher should take a hint.

Teachers are mature people, so why not handle this in a mature manner? To put a student in one day of school suspension is totally uncalled for. All she said was tampon; people hear it every day on television.

I have two young children and I am really hating the idea of sending them to school around here. I know of a 7-year-old boy who was written up for sexual harassment for touching a girl on the waist while playing outside. What does a 7-year-old know about sexual harassment? If this was such a problem, why weren't the little boy's parents notified so that they could sit down and talk with the child and let him know not to do that anymore?

So what is becoming of the schools around here when parents are not part of their child's school life, and "no," you cannot go to the restroom? I just don't understand. Hopefully things will change by the time my children start school.

To the Editor:

Anything on the collective minds of the G.C. commissioners and planners is usually precariously perched on a very small place, but the latest circumstance clearly demonstrates their total lack of comprehension skills.

To say that it makes any sense at all to reclassify an entire community from Agricultural Resource to Suburban Residential so that a specific individual who owns three acres can subdivide it (see Republican news article 3/11/99) is not only ludicrous, it is hilarious. Except we are not laughing.

Furthermore, their statement that only two individuals expressed concern is simply not true. There was, in fact, a gentleman who had very real concerns about being flooded out once development took place. There was also a lady who expressed her concern that the hearing was not adequately publicized. She made the comment that posting the notice in a building that is seldom, if ever, used is not her idea of making the hearing well known in the community. I went there as president of G.C./CARE Inc. (a citizens' group) and made it very clear that the letter of objection that I presented to the commissioners represents the views of many, many others. I even used, as an example, a member of our board of directors to make the point. This member can trace his ancestry all the way back to John Friend, the first settler in G.C. Note: I am including a copy of the letter along with my letter to the editor.

Space limitations prohibits me from saying everything here that I said at the hearing, but I must include at least one of the most important points. That is the issue of open government that most candidates for the office of commissioner gave lip service to during this past election. Most people know that this does not mean the required public notice buried in the back of the newspaper,

View From My Window

WINTER IN MARCH

Just when we were ready for winter to be over, when we were resigned to having had yet another mild winter, winter arrived full force. March is the most unpredictable month of the year. Weather sayings about the month from time immemorial tell us that.

This March began like that, too. Here at my home on March 1, we had rain, snow, wind, clouds, and sun. In other words, we had everything. That day was a true harbinger of what we have experienced since. We had highs in the 60s as prelude to some of the coldest and certainly the snowiest weather of the winter.

I keep a weather diary, and have done so, off and on, since childhood. As of last week this winter was exactly as cold as last winter, calculated in heating degree days (65-daily high+low/2=HDD). In the past week, 1999 has been gradually pulling ahead in coldness. Last year, however, what cold weather we did have came earlier. In March we had rain instead of snow.

A more comparable March to recall was that of 1993. That year also had the same correspondence of numerical days of the month to days of the week as this year. In other words, March 18 fell on a Thursday that year, too.

One of the media meteorologists I listen to reminded his audience that on the second weekend of March 1993 we had a major snow storm. At my home 20 inches of snow fell on Saturday, March 13. Although by St. Patrick's Day it had warmed up enough that it was raining, I still was not able to get in and out of my lane until Monday, March 22.

That was a momentous period of time in my life, though life always feels relatively momentous. I have never had occasion to complain about boredom. As I look back on that time, it feels like the other end of my life.

I was in the middle of adding 900 square feet to my home in order to accommodate the new family I had married the summer before. Intermingled with my notes on the weather are notes about the house. A neighbor who was laid off at that time was working for me, tearing out my old kitchen. We took the room back to the studs, which required not only ripping off plaster and lathe, but also pulling down a chimney.

He pulled up old linoleum off the floor. He helped me haul chestnut boards from the barn at my mother's down here. Those boards had been the roof boards of the barn which once stood opposite my house, and which I had salvaged when that barn came down. Those boards were to become flooring for the dining and living room. What beautiful floors they have made, too!

On St. Patrick's Day I painted a first coat in the new bedroom intended for my eldest daughter. Ten days later, when the lane was finally clear, I was meeting with my contractor about the process of finishing up. Six years later, he and his sons are still working on the house — now in one of the old wings — bringing into a reasonable standard of livability the last unrenovated part of the house.

As I say, the late winter and early spring of 1993 seems a lifetime ago. I am at the other end of what was then beginning.

What an amazing role weather plays in our lives! So many emotions return to me as I recall that time just six years ago. The hopes that were incarnated in tearing out and putting back flood the vision of my spirit. I have remembered those events and much that I felt at that time not because the events themselves came to mind, rather because I became curious about the March weather of 1993.

Weather summons memory in unexpected ways. As we look upon a landscape of snow or rain or brilliant with sunshine and wind-scoured, we see the days of our lives as we have lived them, as they are today, but also as they are no more.

Senior Citizens' Menus

Community Action's Area Agency on Aging Senior Nutrition Program menus for the week of March 22-26 are as follows:

Monday — Liver & onions, mashed potatoes, steamed baby carrots, wheat bread, pineapple chunks, milk.

Tuesday — Baked sweet potato, ham & raisin sauce, scalloped corn, cole slaw, rye bread, jello w/strawberries, fruit, milk.

Surely It's Not Morning Yet!
by Mary Sincell McEwen

As a 30-something working mother, I support the concept of sleeping in. If it's a Saturday, I say let's keep those eyes and mouths shut until at least 8:30, how about? I have never been a "morning person." I don't understand those people. See, I enjoy the quiet of evening so much that I hate wasting it by going to bed. My husband is of the same inclination, so we, even after nearly 10 years of marriage, still enjoy sitting up and talking until an unreasonable hour. In the Before Time (pre-marriage, pre-children), we both used to work at jobs that kept us up most of the night, namely bartending and pizza delivering. Old habits die hard, so we sometimes still find ourselves awake into the wee hours of the morning. All the while, though, I am nagged by the fact that I'll have to get up in less and less time. I loathe it. The alarm goes off and I hit it about eight times. I lie there, imagining myself up and getting ready. Finally I actually do drag myself up and, after a few minutes, I'm fine. A tad crabby, maybe, but it's the getting up part that's the hardest.

So, with that demeanor in mind, add in three little boys and a senile Siamese cat. Mix it together with that exasperating phenomenon of kids wanting to sleep in only on school days, and you have our house on a Saturday a.m. This past Saturday was by far no exception. The events of the early hours eventually made me laugh, but I didn't feel all that stinking amused as they unfolded.

Before continuing, I need to provide a key for some of the components of the story. First, Michael, 3, has a Power Rangers costume that he would wear every second of every day if I didn't occasionally swipe it to throw it in the washer. He calls the polyester one-piece suit his "power." He can't put it on himself — it's too flimsy. Second, my Siamese is 14 years old. I am the light of her life and she needs me. True to her breed, she is a talker. Calling the noises she makes "meowing" is just silly. She sings in a variety of loud sounds, made up mostly of Rs and Ws, i.e., "rrowwerow, reeeowerrrow," like that. She apparently thinks she must address me from all corners of the house in the morning (or in the middle of the night) with her arias.

Okay, so it's about 6:45 a.m. Saturday. The boys wake up. This is in contrast to days when we have to get up, on which they generally would rather stay abed until 10 a.m. They first come into our room, where we are comatose and hoping to stay that way. "Can we go downstairs and watch TV?" "Mmmphmmf," we answer. They trot down the steps and we drowsily hope they don't do anything rash, like set the place on fire. I hear them get into a scuffle over the remote, but it ends somewhat peaceably. I drift back into half-sleep, sensing the fringes of the following events:

"I need my power," Michael says. Alex, 4, slams up the steps and stands by our bed, looking down at me, hands on hips.

"Michael wants his power and I want the remote," he says.

"Tell Rob to help Michael get his power on and share the remote," I order from my pillow.

"Rrrreowwwerrowww," says Zoe from the stairs. Alex goes back down, aggressively patting Zoe on the noggin. She half hisses, half spits at him. I hear discussion among my sons again. Rob climbs the stairs.

"Mom, I don't want to help Michael put on his power. He keeps slamming into me and hitting me with his sword," Rob whines.

"Rob, you're 7. He's 3," I mumble. "Just tell him you're on his team. Remember? That's what you told us to do and it always works." It's true. Rob instructed us a few months back that if we are being stalked by a haywire Michael, all we have to say is "I'm on your team," and he becomes instantly docile. It's amazing. Rob sighs at my drowsy advice and goes back down.

"Rerrowwwwwwwr," sings Zoe from the hallway.

"I want my power," Michael demands from the living room.

"I'm on your team," Rob asserts quickly.

"Oh, okay," Michael says, apparently backing down. In a minute, he squawks about something and then makes his ascent on the stairs.

"Mom," he starts out. That word sometimes makes my hair hurt. "Mom, Alex stepped on my power," he wails, holding out the bedraggled suit for me to see how his brother has defiled it. I can't see any visible marks added to the spaghetti and pizza stains. I silently help him into the thing, wishing and wishing I could still be sleeping. John can somehow often snooze through this stuff, but I can always tell when he starts sighing and readjusting his pillow that he is about to erupt with something like: "Could you guys by any chance leave Mommy and me alone?" One of us usually starts out with that kind of request, which inevitably leads to a much more pointed one, like: "GET. OUT. OF. OUR. ROOM."

But by this point, sleeping is a bust. It's over. The combination of rising blood pressure, the worry that I'm not being a good parent, and the ceaseless cat opera is simply not conducive to slumber. So, while I "support the concept" of sleeping in, I don't think I'm going to get to do it for some years. And, yes, I know — then I'll miss this time with the boys. We humans just can't be pleased. But I'll bet we'd all be more agreeable if we could just catch a few extra ZZZs. Hey — that rhymes. I must not be too sleepy.

What's HAPPENING Our Town Theatre 301-334-5640

Jaeger, Reeves-Cook Works On Display At OTT

Our Town Theatre is currently hosting an art exhibition titled "Four Women" presenting the artworks of Laura Stutzman, her daughter, Falon Stutzman, Betsy Jaeger, and Linda Reeves-Cook. The exhibition, which is part of the Women's History Month events at the theater, will be opened to the public on weekends and by appointment until March 27.

This week's article will feature Jaeger and Reeves-Cook, and next week's column will discuss the work by Laura and Falon Stutzman.

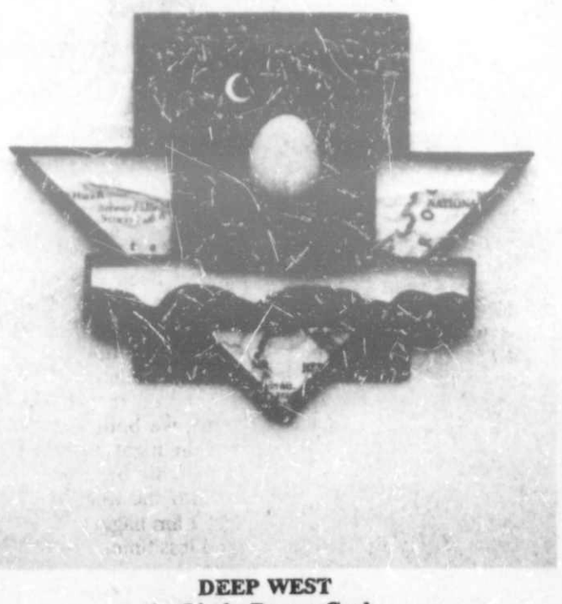
Betsy Jaeger received a bachelor of fine arts degree in painting from the University of Notre Dame and a master of fine arts degree in painting from West Virginia University. In 1984, she moved to Scotland, where she exhibited in many group shows, including the annual exhibitions of the Society of Scottish Artists in Edinburgh. Her artwork was also featured in a solo exhibition at the Shore Gallery, also in Edinburgh.

Jaeger wrote Neolithic Stone Circles and Contemporary Art in the Landscape in 1984 and lectured on the topic throughout the United States and Scotland. Since returning to the USA in 1989, her work has been featured in group exhibitions, including the West Virginia Juried Exhibition in Charleston, "Crosscurrents" in Wheeling, W.Va., and at the 1994 Chicago International Art Exposition.

Her work was presented in a 1993 solo exhibition titled "Water Gathering Places" at the Monongalia Arts Center. A catalog for this exhibition was funded by a grant from the West Virginia Division of Culture and History.

Jaeger currently lives and works in Morgantown, W.Va.

In "Four Women," Jaeger is exhibiting watercolors and mixed media on paper. Using images of people and wild animals, she creates visual metaphors, contrasting the reality of life in nature to the artifice of life created by humans. In one of the mixed media pieces, "Same Planet, Different Worlds," the light-filled space of polar bears hunting is contrasted to a claustrophobic, suburban interior — the transcendent and the transitory.



DEEP WEST
by Linda Reeves-Cook

Linda Reeves-Cook is a graduate of Indiana State University with a bachelor of science degree in art. She has completed graduate work at Frostburg State University, West Virginia University, and the University of Montana. Her small, mixed media paintings use words, stones, map bits, and painted surfaces to reflect the landscape of the American West.

Reeves-Cook refers to her work as visual poems that juxtapose images of the big, open western spaces with the intimacy and mystery which words and stones evoke.

Her artwork has been featured in numerous exhibitions in Montana and the regional cities of Pittsburgh, Baltimore, and Annapolis. Recently she has been in group exhibitions at the Government House in Annapolis, the Danforth Gallery in Livingston, Mont., and the International Works on Paper at Queensborough Community College in Bayside, N.Y. She has had solo exhibitions at the Windrush Gallery in Friendsville and Montgomery Junior College in Takoma Park. This spring, Reeves-Cook will be part of an exhibition of western women artists at the Toucan Gallery in Billings, Mont.

The artist, who teaches art at Southern High School, lives in Aurora, W.VA., and maintains a summer studio in Montana's Rocky Mountain front.

Pandora's Box To Perform At OTT Teen Night

Pandora's Box, a local teen-theatre group, will be performing at a coffee house at Our Town Theatre on Friday, March 19. The presentation will enhance the other activities scheduled for that evening, which include live music, poetry readings, theatre games, and debates.

Although the evening's events are targeted for teenagers, the theatre management invites the young as well as the "young-at-heart" to attend.

The coffee house will last from 7 until 11 p.m. Admission is $2. Coffee and pretzels will be provided free, and other refreshments will be sold. Any questions about the coffee house or the performance may be directed to the theatre at 301-334-5640.

Sister-To-Sister Discussion Set At Our Town

To help local girls address troublesome issues facing them today, the Garrett Branch of the AAUW (American Association of University Women) will host a Sister-to-Sister get-together on Monday, March 22, at Our Town Theatre from 7:30 until 9 p.m. Girls age 12 to 17 are invited to join in on the free event, which is being held nationally by the AAUW-USA.

The AAUW Education Foundation released a report recently indicating that girls have made significant academic gains in recent years. However, health risks — especially poverty and sexual abuse — reportedly persist as major threats to girls' educational progress.

The report highlights key issues, noting that poverty, substance abuse, delinquency, sexual abuse, and pregnancy take a costly toll on the health and education of girls.

"Girls face tough issues every day that are rarely discussed in school [or at home]," said Janice Weinman, executive director of AAUW. "We need to help girls develop skills to better cope with these challenges before they become crises."

At the Sister-to-Sister discussion, the girls will talk about topics such as body image, teen sexuality, and violence. They will also discuss how schools, families, and communities can more effectively deal with the risks to girls' health and education. They will be invited to decide what changes they might want to make in their communities.

"What girls may not tell their parents or other adults, they'll tell each other," said Susan Athey-Oxford, public policy chairperson of AAUW's Garrett Branch. "Through sharing experiences and exploring their common fears, frustrations, and dreams, girls will be more ready to speak and take action."

The AAUW is sponsoring Sister-to-Sister as part of the local Women's History Month celebration and the year-long series of events slated for the second annual Women's Lecture Series.

Female college students and past AAUW scholarship recipients will facilitate the local discussion, which is free. For more information about Sister-to-Sister, persons may log onto www.girlzone.com or call 301-334-1189.

Play Reading Of The Women Set At OTT Sunday

Our Town Theatre will hold its second play reading for the month of March on Sunday, March 21, at 3 p.m. at the theatre. The play is titled The Women and was written by Clare Boothe Luce in the 1930s. After the reading there will be a discussion concerning the changes in women since that time period.

"Once again we will offer free massages by two trained technicians," said Jane Avery, OTT's artistic director. "Pat Daugherty and Cindy Humbert have graciously consented to give up some of their free time to provide this service."

The massages will begin at 2 p.m. For more information, persons may call the theatre at 301-334-5640.

Spring Musical In The Works At Our Town

Smoke on the Mountain, a country gospel musical, is being planned for the last weekend of May and the first weekend of June at Our Town Theatre. The production has parts for four males and three females and perhaps extra roles for musicians (banjo, fiddle, bass fiddle, and others).

Auditions are scheduled at the theatre for March 31, 7-10 p.m.; April 3, 1-3 p.m.; and April 5, 7-9 p.m. Interested persons should check The Republican for more information in the next few weeks, a theatre spokesperson said.

Interment will be in Cedar Lawn Memorial Park, Hagerstown.

The family requests that memorial contributions be made to the Washington Square United Methodist Church, 538 Washington Ave., Hagerstown, MD 21740.

In Memory of Alice Beitzel
who went to be with the Lord Dec. 18, 1998.

"MOM"
Mom is gone but not forgotten.
"Her hair wasn't always gray,
Her voice not always low.
Her face wasn't always pale,
Her walk wasn't always slow.
Her hands were a little softer,
Though they showed the time in years.
Her face was a seldom one,
That seldom showed her fears.
She touched the lives of everyone,
And left their hearts aglow.
Her words and thoughts were beautiful,
Yet some will never know.
Yes, some of her years were rough and hard,
Her love kept the family together.
And all of her deeds and efforts,
Will be cherished by us forever."

Sadly missed by her children,
John, Delores, Gary, Ronnie & their families.

Adorable Adoptables

Safety Safari To Continue In Grantsville

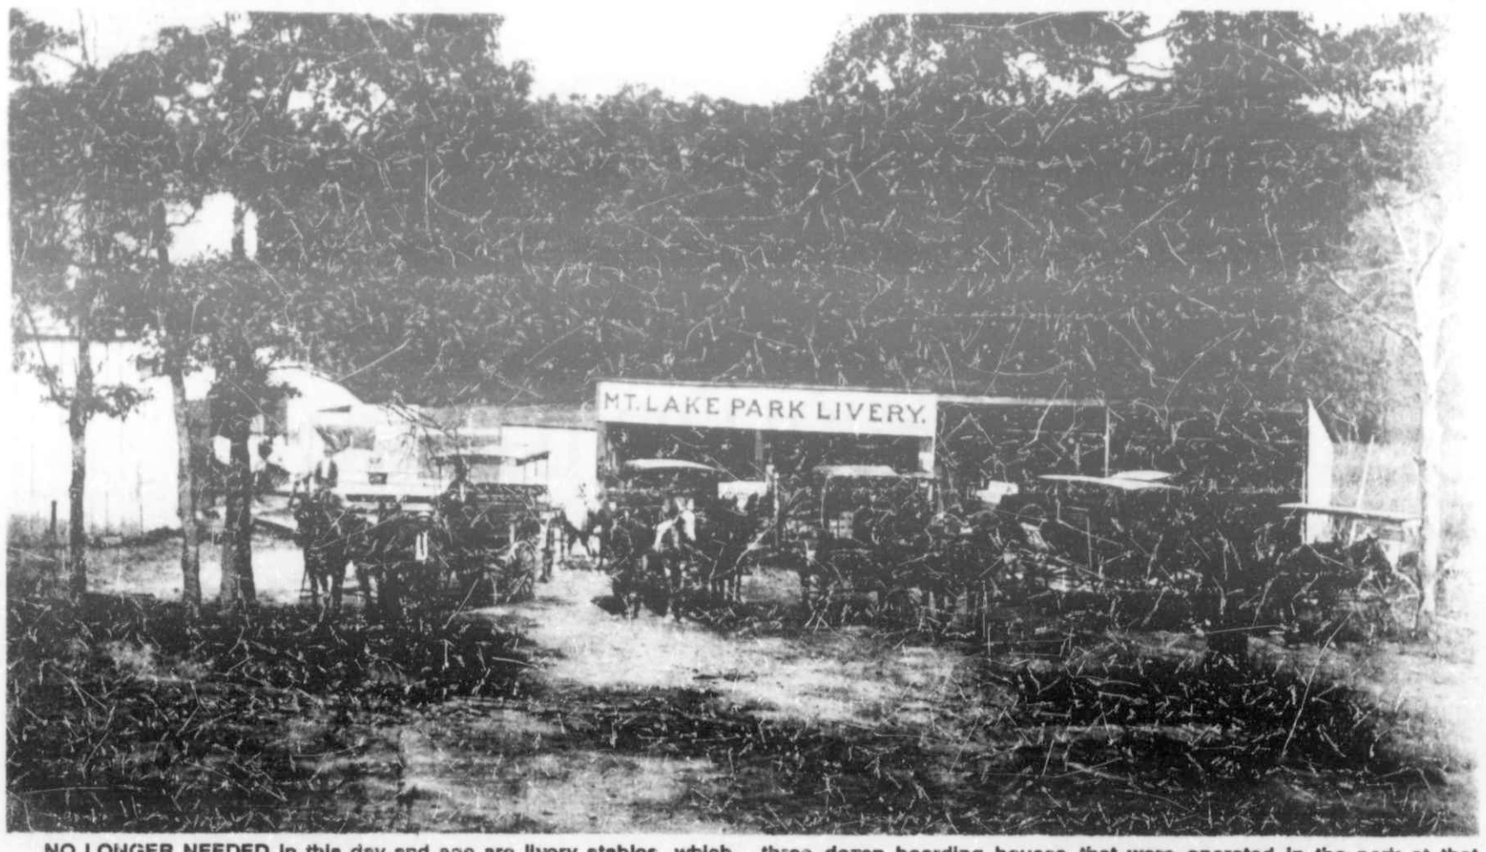
The after-school program at the Grantsville Senior Center will host the second session of a Safety Safari on Thursday evening, March 25, from 5 to 6 p.m. Parents are invited and encouraged to join their children for the program, which is part of the Personal Safety Initiative of the Office for Children, Youth and Families.

Lead by Elizabeth Biser, the Safety Safari focuses the attention of students and their parents on increasing personal safety at home and away from home. Through the use of videos, discussions, games, and art, Biser teaches the skills needed to protect young people of the community from personal harm resulting from accidents or abuse.

The Grantsville after-school program, held on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays, is open to elementary and middle school students in the Grantsville community. The program is sponsored by Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc., AmeriCorps, and the HotSpot crime prevention initiative. There is no charge for attending the program.

For further information on the after-school program, persons may contact Community Action at 301-334-9431 or 888-877-8403. For information on the Safety Safari program, persons may call Elizabeth Bizer at 301-334-8889.

Glimpse of The Past . . .



NO LONGER NEEDED In this day and age are livery stables, which provided taxi service to folks before the advent of the automobile. But liveries were certainly necessary in the town of Mtn. Lake Park in the latter years of the 19th century and early this century, since that town hosted thousands of visitors every summer. The livery buggies would stand by at the Mtn. Lake Park train station to provide rides to the new arrivals, possibly to the Mtn. Lake Park Hotel or to one of the nearly three dozen boarding houses that were operated in the park at that time. The visitors came to enjoy the cool mountain air (pre-air conditioning days) and to attend the summer-long Chautauqua programs and cultural events. The location of the above livery is unknown by the Garrett County Historical Society, which lent this photo for publication. Older folks who may know the location are encouraged to share that information with The Republican news staff.

Reading Program Software Set Up At Dennett Road

The Academy of Reading, a new software program published by Auto-Skill International Inc., was installed on 10 new computers at the Dennett Road Elementary School this week. Staff members received training on the teaching tool from a company representative.

The program is designed to enhance students' basic reading skills involving sounds and understanding. "Once these subskills of reading are properly developed, students are able to develop higher-order comprehension skills for problem solving and critical thinking," said Dr. Patricia Mullinix, coordinator of research, evaluation, and information for the Garrett County Board of Education.

In addition to the computer-based lessons, the Academy of Reading includes diagnostic assessments that provide teachers with a detailed analysis of the student's reading ability. The test results are to be used by teachers to design learning programs to meet each student's level. "The school is very hopeful that this program will improve their students' reading skills," Dr. Mullinix noted.

This pilot project is funded through a Medical Assistance program. Money is collected by submitting invoices to Medicaid for certain eligible services provided by board employees, or a person contracted by the board, to children receiving Medical Assistance. "This is a means of gaining extra monies to help fund special education services that might not be available otherwise," Dr. Mullinix concluded.

Crabtree Earns Science Award

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Brian Crabtree, a student at Southern Middle School, has been named an award winner in the category of science. He was nominated for the honor by his science teacher, William Janoske.

The academy selects award winners in various categories based upon a number of criteria, including academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, attitude, and dependability, and upon a recommendation from a teacher, coach, or other school official.

Crabtree is a son of Chris and Debbie Crabtree, Oakland. His biography will appear in the academy's yearbook.

published at the last possible minute, and a hearing to be held on the last possible day. It means open dialogue between the public and their public servants before important decisions are made.

The dubious claim was made by the commissioners (during the hearing) that they just don't know how to get people to come to these hearings. Hello! For starters, how about calling a press conference early on to let people know what issues are on the table? Once again, I remind all of the commissioners and planners that there are those of us who are willing to help you get the people out if that's what you really want. Last October someone told me that once politicians get elected, they get instant cases of amnesia. Lest they forget, I will periodically remind them that the people will stand for only so much closed government.

Town Hall

FRIENDSVILLE

The town meeting was held Tuesday, March 16.

•Garrett County commissioners Holliday, Gregg, and Beitzel and administrative assistant Monty Pagenhardt attended the meeting for the annual discussion of the tax differential and other matters of mutual concern. The mayor and council requested that in lieu of the tax differential the county assist the town with several project.

•The municipal tax rate for FY2000 was set at $.59 per $100 of assessed value. This is the same as the current rate.

•Bids are being solicited for mowing and trimming in the town park.

•Plans are under way to hold a public meeting to discuss the proposed establishment of a delayed harvest fishery along the Youghiogheny River in Friendsville.

The next meeting will be held Monday, April 5.

GRANTSVILLE

The town meeting was held Monday, March 15.

•Garrett County commissioners attended the meeting for the annual consideration of the tax differential. The town will not ask for the differential, but for assistance with some municipal projects.

•The first reading was held of an ordinance on water and sewer out of town rates. The ordinance notes that as of July 1999 out of town rates will be one and one half times the amount of the town rates.

•The council voted to remove the ad valorem tax from the personal property tax bill.

•The mayor and council discussed the annexation of the Northern Industrial Park.

•Beginning in April town meetings will be held twice each month. They will be on the first and third Mondays of the month.

The next meeting will be held Monday, April 5.

New Arrivals

A son was born March 3 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital to Johnathon and Robin Blamble, Deer Park.

A daughter was born March 5 at Garrett Memorial to Joey R. and Harmony Tortorice Carr, Friendsville.

Lakers Play Five In Three Days, Win Two Of Three

The opening of the 1999 spring baseball season for Garrett Community College has been a busy one for the Lakers and their coach Ed Wildesen, who have played five games in the past three days during a spring break trip south. The Lakers dropped their first game to Quinsigamond (Mass.) College, 16-7, on Monday, fell to the same team on Tuesday, 10-9, edged Hudson Valley in their third game, 12-11, also on Tuesday, then lost to Hudson Valley yesterday, 15-8, and finally defeated Quinsigamond last evening, 4-1. All of the games are being played in Conway, S.C., home of Coastal Carolina University.

The opening game of the season was a nightmare for Garrett's pitching staff, as four different hurlers gave up a total of 13 hits, walked 17 batters on balls, and hit three more.

Despite those statistics, the Lakers were actually winning the game, 7-6, going into the ninth inning, and they out-hit the Chiefs by a 15-13 margin. But it was in the ninth inning when Quinsigamond erupted for 10 runs, aided by a hit batter, five more bases on balls, and RBI doubles by Wandy Rodriguez and Matt Heenan.

Reliever Mike Maravich was pitching well for the Lakers, as he fired four straight shutout innings, but he got into trouble in the ninth, and two more Laker relievers were ultimately called to the mound in that final inning.

Laker starter Chad Ord, Maravich, Brian Melnyk, and Chris Nutter combined for 14 strike-outs.

The big hitter for the Lakers was Joe Eisner, who went 5-for-5 with a double, four singles, and three runs scored. Matt DiAngelo and Darnell Bratton each doubled and singled, while Lee Pennington finished with a pair of singles. Andy Blackwell stroked a two-run homer in the sixth inning to give the Lakers their one-run lead.

Pacing the Chiefs' offensive effort were Rodriguez and Roque Ramos, who each doubled twice and singled. Heenan doubled and singled, and Josh Keevan smacked a solo homer.

The Lakers' second shot at Quinsigamond ended with a much closer score, but with Garrett still on the short end by a run.

The Lakers took a 2-0 lead with a pair of runs in the first inning, but the Chiefs tied the score with single runs in the first and third frames before scoring six runs, assisted by a pair of Laker errors, in the sixth to take an 8-2 advantage.

Garrett responded with three runs in the top of the seventh, and four in the top of the ninth, but the Chiefs picked up key single runs in the seventh and eighth to secure their one-run victory.

Lee Pennington hit a pair of doubles in the Lakers' nine-hit effort, while Eisner finished with two singles. Tom Mace ripped a three-run homer.

Ramos again led the Chiefs' hitting with a solo homer and three singles, while Keevan hit a solo shot and a single.

Taking the loss on the mound was Garrett reliever Jay Bruckey, while Bob Case was awarded the win and Samuel Viside, a save.

In the win over Hudson Valley, the Lakers took a 12-4 lead into the ninth, and then held on while Hudson Valley scored seven innings in that frame to make it Laker victory by only one run. It was in the ninth that the Garrett defense made four of its total of seven errors for the game.

The Lakers' five-run second inning was highlighted by a three-run triple by Mike Stumpo. Pennington had a two-run double in GCC's seven-run fourth.

Andy Blackwell went 4-for-5 for the Lakers, with four singles, and Gary Lee had a double and a single with two runs scored.

Brian Tarajack was credited with the win on the mound over Jon Atkins.

Hudson Valley would gain revenge yesterday, even though the Lakers outhit their opponents by a 9-8 margin. However, it was errors that led to the Lakers' defeat, as they committed 10 of them, four of which were in the five-run fourth inning for Hudson Valley.

The Lakers had a 5-4 lead going into the fourth, but Hudson Valley took the lead for good with the five runs scored in the bottom of that inning. The Lakers cut Hudson's lead to 9-7 in the top of the fifth on back-to-back homers by Andy Blackwell and Darnell Bratton. But Hudson scored two more in the bottom of the inning, one more in the seventh, and three in the eighth to seal the victory. Garrett managed just one more run after the fifth inning.

Bratton also had a double for the Lakers, and Blackwell had a single to go with his homer. Gary Lee finished with a pair of singles.

Chandler Ratliff started on the mound for the Lakers and was relieved by Tom Mace in the fifth.

The third time against Quinsigamond was a charm for the Lakers, primarily because of the pitching performance of Brian Melnyk, who gave up just one run on four hits and struck out a dozen of the Chiefs in going all nine innings.

Meanwhile, the Chiefs also had strong pitching performances from three different hurlers, who also limited the Lakers to four hits. However, a two-run single by Blackwell in the third inning gave the Lakers the lead for good at 3-1. Drew Raney had two singles for the Lakers.

"It was a tremendous performance by Brian," said Coach Wildesen. "We really needed something like that, especially after what happened to our pitchers in our first game against this team."

The Lakers, who are now 2-3, will have no rest yet, as they are slated to face the junior varsity team of St. Andrew's Presbyterian College this afternoon in a 1 p.m. doubleheader. Before returning to Garrett County, Garrett will play a doubleheader against the Methodist College jayvees this Friday and meet Germanna Community College in another twinbill Saturday. They will play the junior varsity of West Virginia Wesleyan College next Wednesday in Buckhannon, W.Va.

ANDY BLACKWELL

YES, IT'S BASEBALL SEASON, and the Garrett Community College Lakers have already played five games. As is obvious from the above photo of their diamond at McHenry, though, all of those games were played elsewhere. In fact, they have all been in sunny South Carolina during GCC's spring break. Coach Ed Wildesen and his squad are hoping that their field will look much different by April 3, the day of their 1999 home opener.

Playoffs Slated In Men's League

Playoffs in the Mt. Top Basketball League will begin this Sunday, Mar. 21. The Aquatic Center will face Dawson Trucking in the 3 p.m. contest, with Midas team players serving as scorekeepers. The 4 p.m. contest will pit 219 Motors against Midas, with Dawson Trucking handling the scorekeeping.

All fees must be paid prior to the games, according to a league spokesperson.

Local Player Helps Shepherd Win Conf. Title

The women's basketball team of Shepherd College captured the WVIAC regular season championship this season, thanks in part to the efforts of a Garrett County player.

Emily Friend, a graduate of Southern High School, played in 28 games with 26 starts for the Rams this season. The 5-11 junior forward was fifth on the team in scoring with a 6.2 ppg average. She also averaged 2.6 rebounds, 0.8 steals, and 0.2 assists. Her best effort of the season was a 17-point, eight-rebound performance against Carson-Newman.

Emily is a daughter of Larry and Becky Friend, Loch Lynn.

The Rams, whose overall mark of 19-9 tied a school record, finished with a 15-4 record in the West Virginia Conference. Betsy Blose was named the WVIAC Coach of the Year, and the team finished the regular season ranked seventh in the NCAA Division II East Region poll.

Young Huskies To Open Baseball Campaign Monday At Allegany

Senior graduation took a major toll on the Northern High School varsity baseball team, a squad that posted a 12-7 mark last season, but Coach Phil Carr is nonetheless optimistic that the Huskies can still record a winning season and be one of the area's most competitive teams.

The Huskies, who lost 10 players to graduation, are slated to open their season next Monday in Cumberland against Allegany; however, the current weather conditions make that encounter somewhat doubtful. It will be the first of 20 games on the Huskies' schedule, which includes a dozen Western Maryland Interscholastic League contests.

Among the team's top players lost to graduation are Matt Fritz, a first-team All-Area outfielder who is now pitching at Hagerstown Community College; Scott Sisler, now pitching at Garrett Community College; Zach Rawe, an All-Area honorable mention selection; and Chris Herman, the team's top hitter and RBI leader.

"We enter this season with a junior-oriented team," Coach Carr said, "but we still anticipate being competitive with everyone on our schedule."

The only three starters back this year are senior second baseman Jeff Carr, senior third baseman Matt Settle, who hit .271 last season, and senior left fielder Ryan Butler, who finished with a .321 batting average last year. The only other players back from last season's roster are senior outfielder Josh Henderson and senior catcher Corey Sisler.

"I really like the make-up of this team so far," Carr said. "We've been getting good leadership from our seniors and everyone has been working real hard. Although we lack varsity experience, these kids have played a lot of baseball together. The level of competition at practice is high because of our depth at each position. Everyone is fighting for a spot in the starting line-up."

Those vying for starting spots in the infield include Carr, Settle, and juniors Tim Umbel, Paul Beitzel, Levi Schmuck, Josh Hook, Jeremy Rice, and P.J. Workman.

Looking to start in the outfield are seniors Ryan Butler and Henderson, and juniors Adam Brenneman, Keith Artice, Brant Green, and Nathan Ellis.

Sisler and Workman are the top candidates for the catcher's position.

"Our pitching staff could be a strength, because we have eight players that have pitching experience and can get people out," Carr said. "That depth could be a real key if the weather forces us to play a lot of games in a short time."

Matt Fritz, Scott Sisler, and Jeremy Reed (all graduated) accounted for all 12 of the Huskies' wins last year. The only players back who saw any time on the mound last year are Jeff Carr, Matt Settle, and Corey Sisler, but junior left-hander Josh Hook, and juniors Keith Artice, Workman, Brant Green, and Adam Brenneman will all pitch.

"We've been putting a lot of emphasis on our defense," Carr said, "because I feel that will be the key to our success. Typically the weather has kept us from practicing outside, and on several occasions we had to cancel practice altogether.

"We want to improve with each game," he continued. "Our schedule is very competitive, with Southern, Allegany, and Fort Hill probably being the strongest teams we will face. But most of the other teams in the WMIL will also be solid."

The Huskies are slated to play their first seven games on the road before finally hosting Mapletown, Pa., in a doubleheader home opener on April 10.

HUSKIES TO OPEN MONDAY - Even though there is a couple feet of snow on the ground this week, area high school baseball is slated to begin the first of next week, unless playing conditions make it impossible. The Northern High Huskies are scheduled to play at Allegany on Monday, with hopes of improving on last season's winning record of 12-7. It is a tall order, since 10 seniors on that team were lost to graduation. Pictured above, kneeling, from left are: Josh Henderson, Keith Artice, Tim Umbel, Paul Beitzel, Matt Settle, Ryan Butler, and P.J. Workman. Standing, same order, are: Coach Phil Carr, Levi Schmuck, Josh Hook, Nathan Ellis, Jeremy Rice, Jeff Carr, Corey Sisler, Adam Brenneman, and Brant Green. See story for preseason details.

Rams Softball Squad Takes To Keyser Field In Monday Debut

Although it's somewhat unlikely that area baseball/softball diamonds will be dry enough by Monday to utilize, the Southern High School girls' varsity softball team is slated to open its 1999 campaign on Monday at Keyser.

Coach Dave Bosley has but a few returning starters from last year's team, but many of the girls on his roster saw considerable action last summer playing on the Sugar 'n Spice League team sponsored by Tim Storey Construction Company.

"We lost a lot of players to graduation, but we still expect to be competitive for both the Western Maryland Interscholastic League title, as well as the 1A West Region championship," Bosley said.

The Rams struggled last year during the regular season, but did advance to the West Region quarterfinals before being ousted by Clear Spring.

The Southern roster has but three seniors in Mika Myers, Missy Simmons, and Cortney Tressler. The core of the team will consist of seven juniors, and there are three sophomores and two freshmen who have been moved up from the junior varsity program.

Possible starters include Tressler, Paula Glotfelty, Melissa Kuykendall, Amber Uphold, and Heather Brenneman in outfield positions; Simmons, Nicole Kitzmiller, Amanda Reese, Jessica Brenneman, and Ashley Liller in the infield; and freshman Jennifer Bosley and Jennifer Teagarden on the mound.

Monday's game with Keyser will be the first of 18 on the schedule, with the first eight to be played away, the next nine at home, and a final away game. The Rams will open the home segment of their schedule on April 14 against Preston County.

The Southern junior varsity will play a 16-game slate, which will begin next Thursday at Westmar.

Jeff Jackson Will Lecture In Hong Kong

Former local resident, educator, and businessman Jeff Jackson has been selected to lecture to members of the Asian Professional Golfers Association during a visit to the Far East at the end of March and beginning of April. Jackson will also address interested non-professional golfers with another series of lectures during the trip. The topics of the talks include golf equipment, how it is designed, how it performs, and how to properly fit it to a specific individual. The lecture series will be the first in Asia for Jackson, who has previously addressed golf-related topics with audiences not only in the United States, but in Canada, England, Japan, and Australia.

Jackson joined Dynacraft Golf Products Inc. in Newark, Ohio, in 1991 as product manager prior to being promoted to executive vice president in 1993 and president in 1996. Born in Cumberland, he was owner operator of Western Maryland Golf, a custom golf club and repair facility serving a large part of the east coast for a number of years in the 1980s. Jackson was also an instructor at Northern Middle School in Accident from 1979 subsequent to the time he joined Dynacraft. He was the golf coach at Northern High School for two years and acted as director of golf at the Wisp Resort in 1988. A graduate of Western Maryland College in 1979, Jackson received a master's degree from Frostburg State College in 1983. He has one daughter, Jerilyn, an honor student at Beall High in Frostburg.

Jackson has written two complete textbooks, The Modern Guide to Clubmaking and Total Clubfitting. He has developed a video presentation of each worldwide publication. He is a regular contributor to such national publications as Golf Tips, Junior Golf Magazine, Junior Golfer, Golf For Women, The Professional Clubmakers' Society Journal and to the international journals Clubmakers' Digest, and Golf The Scientific Way. Additionally, he writes a monthly column for European Golf Monthly, the national golf publication of the U.K. He is a frequent speaker at the Professional Golf Association educational seminars, at the Canadian Clubmaking Symposium, and at the Dynacraft Clubmaking Institute. He was the PGA education chairman for the Australian PGA for 1998, a position he also held in 1997.

FINISH SECOND AMONG 35 TEAMS - The Southern Mat Club added numerous trophies to its "war chest" this past weekend by placing second as a team among 35 teams in a major youth tournament in Carmichaels, Pa. The SMC grapplers also earned a number of individual trophies for first, second, and third place finishes. Pictured above from left, kneeling, are Daniel Carr and Justin Ratliff. In the second row are: Tyler Gregory, Corey Helbig, Brutus Scheffel, Bubba Scheffel, and Lex Ozias. In the third row are: Maliciah McPhail, Chris Heckmor, Scott Wildesen, Sean Sisler, Jeremy Gregory, Zach McPhail, and P.J. Beckman. In the back are coaches Darryl Ozias and Dave Taylor. See story for details.

SMC Wrestlers Whip 34 Of 35 In Tournament

The Southern Mat Club youth wrestling team competed in another tournament Saturday at Carmichaels, Pa. With only nine members competing, the local club outscored 34 of the 35 other teams in attendance to earn an impressive second-place team award. Only the host team was able to amass more team points than the SMC.

Individually, team members earned four championship trophies. Placing first were Jeremy Gregory (9/10, 95#), George "Brutus" Scheffel (7/8, 45#), Scott Wildesen (13/15, 90#), and Sean Sisler (7/8, Unl). Each of these wrestlers won all their matches in their respective division to claim the top prize.

Placing second were Lex Ozias (5/6, 45#), Jeremy Gregory (9/10, 90#), and Scott Wildesen (11/12, 90#). Third-place finishers included Daniel Carr (9/10, 70#), Jakob "Bubba" Scheffel (5/6, 45#), and Sean Sisler (9/10, Unl). Each wrestler placing second or third had only one loss in his division throughout the tournament.

"What a great tournament. The kids were outstanding," stated Coach Dave Taylor. "Most teams there had a lot more kids competing than we did, but our wrestlers showed everyone what a great wrestling team they have become."

"Second place at a tournament of that caliber is something that everyone should be very proud of," Coach Darryl Ozias added.

The team is now making final preparations for the Mid-Atlantic Wrestling Association's district, regional, and national competitions, which begin March 27. For more information on the Southern Mat Club, persons may visit the website at www.gcnet.net/SMC.

Local Grapplers Vie In Maryland Senior Classic

Two Garrett County high school wrestlers, one from Northern High School and one from Southern High School, competed in the Haswell M. Franklin Maryland State Wrestling Association Senior Classic, held last week at River Hill High School in Clarksville. Only the top finishing seniors in the Maryland state championships are invited to participate in this tourney.

Matt Kauffman of Northern and Nick Dolan of Southern, each of whom finished with third places in the Maryland state championships, met exceptional competition in the Senior Classic. Kauffman, who wrestles in the 160-pound division, dropped a 9-6 decision to Robert Arnold, runner-up in the state's private school tournament, and then lost a 4-2 injury-default match to Scott McAdoo, the state's 3A/4A state champion.

Southern's Dolan, who competes in the 152-pound division, was defeated in overtime, 5-1, by the Maryland 3A/4A runner-up, and then lost an 8-4 decision to Paul Boettcher of Archbishop Curley School. Boettcher was the state champion in the Maryland private school tournament and placed third in the private school national tournament.

Jesse Shimrock of Northern, who was undefeated this season (37-0) and won the Maryland 140-pound division 1A/2A title, was also invited to compete in the tournament, but had to miss the meet because of a college visitation trip. The tournament had been scheduled for last Tuesday, but had to be postponed because of a winter storm, which then caused the scheduling conflict for Shimrock.

Shimrock was named the co-captain of the MSWA All-Academic team, along with Timur Chabuk of Albert Einstein High School. Shimrock, who set a new win record at Northern High (110-20), won the state title by defeating Chabuk, 8-3, in the 140-pound finals.

Northern's Brandon Stein, a junior who won the state championship in the 125-pound division, was named to the Maryland All-Junior team, while Mark Wolf, a sophomore who placed fifth in the state in the 152-pound class, was named to the All-Freshman/Sophomore team.

One final post-season honor garnered by Coach Scott Stough and the Huskies as a team was a final eighth place ranking among all of the state's high schools, public and private. The Huskies placed second in the state 1A/2A tournament.

As a 1A division school, Northern is among the smallest in the state. DeMatha was the top-ranked team in the state's final poll, followed by Archbishop Curley, Damascus, South Carroll, Anne Arundel, Old Mill and Franklin tied for sixth, Northern, and Overlea and Calvert tied for ninth.

Garrett County Outdoors

By Robert Yonke

Our recent spate of snowstorms has created many inconveniences for many people...and for area wildlife as well. Consider the plight of one crow last Thursday observed on the property of Bill Lovett in the Swanton area.

The subject crow attempted to land several times near a bird feeder. But, every time the crow tried to set down, his wings contacted the snow before his foot could reach the ground. Frustrated? You bet. And, all of this was observed by a flock of his cronies who acted like they knew better.

FISHING?

On the Saturday before the storm of March 3, Harold Harsh of Spring Creek Outfitters, accompanied by a friend, fished the Casselman and hooked up with six nice trout in less than an hour. Harold said the prime fly of the day was an egg sucking woolly bugger.

When the weather has been right, our local rivers have offered decent trout fishing to those hardy enough to take advantage of it. If you are planning to get out, Alan Noland of Spring Creek Outfitters reports that fly-fishermen have had success recently with the following patterns. Large streamers and sculpin patterns have been bringing strikes from the larger fish when fished slow and deep in larger pools. Also effective are bead head and hare's ear nymphs, along with black winged and bodied caddis imitations mimicking the winter stone fly hatches. These along with midge patterns have worked best on warmer days.

TALKING ABOUT TURKEYS

Scouting prior to the season is the key to success (to the tune of 90 percent) when turkey hunting time rolls around. Surprisingly, turkey calling only accounts for about 5 to 10 percent of hunting success. With numbers like these, it's easy to see how important scouting is; but many hunters, new and experienced alike, don't understand that scouting is more than just spending a few hours out in the field just prior to opening day.

Scouting, like turkey hunting itself, is an art that, once learned, often results in a rise in consistency and success from a harvest standpoint. And, like many art forms, scouting comes with a handful of frequently asked questions that, once answered, can provide valuable information for the hunter seeking an audience with a wild turkey gobbler.

Just when is a good time to start scouting for the spring season? The answer is quite simple. It is any time you have available. Turkey scouting actually has no beginning or end. It's a year-round proposition. A great time to be watching is during the traditional fall big game and upland bird seasons. Foliage is at a minimum and, when coupled with new snow, makes seeing turkeys at a distance relatively easy.

How can one get started? Most scouting begins at home. Telephone calls to your local wildlife biologist or DNR can help point you in the right direction. Listen to rural mail or newspaper delivery people. Talk to farmers and other individuals whose course of business takes them throughout the countryside.

But, nothing replaces actual in-the-field scouting, and this means legwork. After finding a place that looks promising and obtaining permission from the landowner if private land, it's time to walk the property both to locate turkeys and get the lay of the land. Now is the time to determine location of fields, water, roosting trees, property lines, etc.

When scouting, it's best to leave your turkey calls at home. There's no sense in educating any birds in the area before hunting time. You might want to use locator calls to get an idea of how many gobblers call a particular area home. Two of the most common locator calls duplicate the sounds of the crow and the barred owl. Both of these bird calls are easy to duplicate with Hunters Specialties' Hammering Crow Call and Reed Barred Owl Hooter. In areas of high hunting pressure, some gobblers may not respond to such frequently used locators. In that case, an off-beat call, such as a hawk call or high-pitched coyote howl, may get a tom to sound off.

Turkey hunting is a game of improvisation and adjustment. The hunter who is flexible, prepared, and, most importantly, has done his or her scouting will often be the one wrapping his or her tag above the long spurs of a trophy longbeard.

BOAT REGISTRATION

It isn't too early to be thinking about boat registration for the coming season. At this writing, I haven't received my registration notice for my fishing boat. I'm pretty sure the stickers are due this year. And, even though my registration doesn't require a fee (the boat is only 14 feet with a five-horse motor), I don't want to run into a problem with the DNR. I'm going to contact the MD Western Service Center in Cumberland about my status. Their address is 3 Pershing Street, Room 103, Cumberland, MD 21502. The phone number is 301-777-3124.

UPCOMING EVENTS

This coming weekend, March 13 and 14, there is a syrup-making demonstration scheduled for Swallow Falls and Herrington Manor state parks. The program runs from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday at Swallow Falls and on Sunday at Herrington Manor. Also, on March 26, 27, and 28, there is an Outdoor Survival Skills weekend scheduled by the Becoming an Outdoors Woman people. This will be held at the Western Maryland 4-H Center in Swanton. At this time, we don't have a number to contact, but know that registration costs $100 and is limited to 20 people.

I-79 Car Show Scheduled For Morgantown Mall

Interstate 79 Speedway and the Morgantown Mall are teaming up to introduce race fans to the new cars of the '99 racing season. The annual car show will be held this year from March 18 to 21 at the Morgantown Mall, which is at Exit 152 on Interstate 79 in Morgantown, W.Va.

Cars from all racing divisions—late models, semi lates, modifieds, pure stocks, and 4 cylinders—are expected to be on display throughout the show. Fans will be able to get an "up-close" view of the cars and meet drivers who are in attendance.

Racing at Interstate 79 Speedway is only a few weeks away with the practice night set for Friday, April 9, and the grand opening on Friday, April 16. During the practice session on April 9, Enduro drivers will be able to draw for their starting position and car number for the first "big enduro" coming up on May 2.

THE RAGE: CARRIE 2

Rated R - Running time: 1:45

It is commonplace for horror movies to have sequels, from Halloween to Friday the 13th to Scream. Why a classic like Carrie was never revisited until now is a mystery, except, one could argue, that almost no one survived Carrie, including its star. In fact, the only character who didn't die at the end of that 1976 film was Carrie's friend, Sue Snell, played by Amy Irving. Now Irving has re-created her role, 20-odd years later, of the girl who inadvertently played a part in making the massacre of Bates High School happen. In The Rage: Carrie 2, Sue Snell is the school counselor.

Written by Rafael Moreu and directed by Robert Mandel and Katt Shea, The Rage is basically the same story with different characters. In 1976, Carrie White (Sissy Spacek) was an outcast with a crazy mother, who could move objects with her mind. Her classmates played a nasty trick on her and then paid dearly for it. This film (which does not contain Spacek except in flashback form) stars newcomer Emily Bergl as Rachel, a girl at the same school with similar social problems and similar telekinetic abilities. Her mother, a schizophrenic, has been hospitalized, and she has been adopted by a foster family. A similar trick is played, with similar consequences.

Although the script is weak and much of the acting is bad enough to induce nausea, Bergl is surprisingly engaging in the lead role. She has a nice, easy reality about her, but she doesn't play the psycho thing full tilt the way Spacek did. At the end of Carrie, when Spacek went into freak-out override, her eyes bugged out, she assumed a powerful physical stance—she was a woman possessed. Of course, the fact that she had just taken a pig's-blood shower didn't hurt. When Bergl goes over the edge, she just sort of walks around in a trance. But her smile and engaging personality, earlier in the film, makes us look at her as much more a normal person than mousy, introverted Carrie ever was.

Also appearing are Jason London as Jesse, Rachel's football player boyfriend; Dylan Bruno and Zachery Ty Bryan as fellow football studs who can't understand Jesse's attraction; and Rachel Blanchard and Charlotte Lopez as the cheerleader types who vow to bring Rachel down. All these actors pale in comparison to Bergl when it comes to depth; they were hired mainly for their looks and their ability to be impaled on a steel spear and stay in character.

And that brings us to the carnage. This film is definitely bloodier than Carrie. In that film, it wasn't clear whether the people were badly hurt until the building burned with them in it. In this movie, there's no doubt: Those who are not burned alive are pierced, dismembered, and drowned right before our eyes. The final 20 minutes is pure mayhem, capped off by the film's one truly startling moment. And so it goes—another Bates High School graduation, cancelled. ★★

THE DEEP END OF THE OCEAN

Rated PG-13 - Running time: 1:45

Having a child disappear is probably every parent's greatest fear. Having one killed would certainly be worse in the short term, but at least you know what happened; you can try to move on. In the case of a disappearance, the parents must always live with many unanswered questions: Is he out there somewhere? Is he missing me? Is he happy? Not to mention deciding when and whether to finally give up the search. These questions are all explored with frank realism in Ulu Grosbard's The Deep End Of The Ocean, which stars Michelle Pfeiffer and Treat Williams as the parents of a lost-and-found child.

Written by Jacquelyn Mitchard (novel) and Stephen Schiff (screenplay), The Deep End Of The Ocean is a well-rounded film that features fine acting and a script that could have gone for the cheap sentimentality, but is generally more believable than many tear-jerkers of its type. Its ending, which I will not reveal, takes the easy way out, but this is one of few faults.

Pfeiffer plays Beth Cappadora, a professional photographer from Madison, Wisconsin, who is not exactly known for being punctual or responsible (hey, didn't Julia Roberts play this role in Stepmom?). While she is meeting and greeting old friends at her high school reunion in Milwaukee, she loses track of her 4-year-old son Ben (Michael McElroy). Parental annoyance quickly turns to full-blown panic as her ex-classmates are all enlisted to help search, along with local law enforcement headed by detective Candy Bliss (Whoopi Goldberg). A few depressing weeks later, Beth is convinced to go home by Candy and her husband Pat (Williams). Candy reassures her that the search will continue, and she must get home to her other two kids, 7-year-old Vincent (Cory Buck, Mighty Joe Young) and baby daughter Kerry. But she's so depressed she doesn't do much but sleep. She even gives up photography.

Cut to nine years later: After the family has moved to Chicago, a handsome young boy named Sam (Ryan Merriman), whom Kerry (now age 9; played by Alexa Vega) knows from school, comes by to solicit his lawn-mowing services. Beth recognizes him as the long-lost Ben, and soon proceedings are underway to reunite the family. But while Beth, Pat, and Candy are all busy patting themselves and each other on the back, they forget that Sam has grown up in another family and doesn't even remember the Cappadoras. Transplanting him back into the fold is tantamount to kidnapping him all over again, and he's not exactly thrilled. Not to mention that 16-year-old Vincent (now played by Jonathan Jackson), who has become a juvenile delinquent, has trouble dealing with the return of his brother, the prodigal son, the apple of everyone's eye.

There are some excellent performances in this movie, not only by Pfeiffer and Williams, but especially by Jackson as the older Vincent. Though he is not the focal point of the story, he practically steals the show with his complex characterization, full of pent-up emotion and inner conflict. Also effective is John Kapelos as George Karras, the adoptive father Sam had grown to love. Unfortunately, Merriman is not quite as deep in his portrayal of Sam. Much of the film's emotional impact hinges on that role; Merriman could have made it unforgettable, but played his part a little too coolly to achieve that effect.

The Deep End Of The Ocean is hard to watch for the first half hour or so, but its frank script and good performances make it worthwhile. ★★★★½

WING COMMANDER

Rated PG-13 - Running time: 1:40

This time of year, after all the Oscar contenders have been released, is traditionally the time when distributors start filling up the market with their leftovers—films that could only make money this time of year, while the movie-hungry public awaits the Academy Awards. A perfect example of such a film is Chris Roberts's Wing Commander, a movie based on a successful PC game, whose plot and characterizations betray its joysticky origins. Roberts, whose directing credits include only the game itself, obviously spent more time matching the effects to those of your computer than matching the people to those of your (or my) reality.

Wing Commander, set in the year 2654, is the story of the interstellar war between the human ConFeds and the Kilrathi, a race of nasty, green, froggy guys who want nothing more than to make history of the human race. As in Starship Troopers, no explanation is given for the enemy's enduring animosity toward us humanoids; they just don't like us is all. They've attacked one of the ConFed ships and captured its NAVCOM computer, which will enable them to find the deep-space coordinates of a series of interstellar jump points that will lead them to Earth, where they plan to do a little target practice.

Racing to cut them off at the pass is our team of good guys, featuring Christopher "Maverick" Blair (Freddie Prinze Jr.), his best friend, Todd "Maniac" Marshall (Matthew Lillard), and Jeanette "Angel" Devereaux (Saffron Burrows), their wing commander. Hence the name. Along the way, they get in all sorts of deep-space pickles, but they always manage reasonably well, since they're the good guys. Their "fighters," which bear an uncanny resemblance to 20th-century military fighter aircraft, are equipped with extremely high-tech weapons similar to those found in computer games.

Among the paper-thin subplots is a growing relationship between Blair and Angel, a more animalistic bond between two others, and Blair's attempt to understand his heritage as a descendent of the "Pilgrims" (the first generation of spacefarers). It seems that there is a history of animosity between Pilgrims and non-Pilgrims, because the former are said to possess an instinctual ability to navigate and therefore grew to consider themselves above all others. Blair doesn't feel that way, but he nevertheless enjoys the hatred of most of his colleagues.

The acting is passable; Prinze and Liller have proven themselves before and Saffron is certainly more than just a pretty face, but emotionally the film is pretentious and forced. The script attempts to borrow one element from Rémarque's All Quiet On The Western Front: It is an unspoken rule among the pilots that anyone killed in action is said to have never existed. This is supposed to ease the emotional impact of combat, but the idea of any of these people having any real emotion is laughable, unlike in All Quiet.

A rather strange choice on the part of 20th Century Fox was to attach the controversial Star Wars: Episode I trailer to this film. It seems to underscore Wing's deficiencies; the trailer clearly outstrips the 100 minutes that follow, but perhaps they thought it would boost sales if people knew they would get to see those magical 5 minutes. Rumor has it that in some cities people have actually paid the admission, watched the trailer, and then tried to get their money back. But I don't recommend trying that at our own Garrett 8 Cinemas; Faith just isn't in the mood. ★★½ time."

On March 15, Allegheny Power dispatched 60 employees from across its service area to help restore power in parts of eastern Pennsylvania, served by neighboring PECO Energy. Twenty-six two-member line crews plus various support personnel are helping to restore electric service to PECO Energy customers. This includes linemen, lines managers, coordinators, and vehicle mechanics.

"Our first priority, however, is always the restoration of power to our customers," said Haney. "After that, we see if we can assist other utilities seeking help. Our crews have gone to the aid of others in the past and will continue to do so in the future, provided our power station is stable and we are able to spare manpower."

Headquartered near Hagerstown, Allegheny Energy Inc., with public utility subsidiaries doing business as Allegheny Power, provides electric service to approximately three million people

Head-On Collision

Two vehicles collided head on while traveling on Elder Hill on Friendsville Road on Sunday. Police said Daniel E. Lewis, 18, Oceanview, Del., was southbound on the road around noon, when he lost control of his vehicle and crossed into the path of a northbound vehicle driven by Clarissa A. Elsey, 27, Friendsville.

Northern Rescue Squad and Friendsville and Deep Creek VFDs responded to the scene. Elsey was taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital, where she was reported to have been treated and released.

Police charged Lewis is the incident.

members' reactions to several issues, including the possible development of a Route 219 bypass around Oakland, the possibility of so-called "big box" retailers locating in the Oakland area, and the proposed routing of a north/south interstate highway ("Continental One") through Garrett County.

The survey will distributed within the next two weeks, and the responses will be requested by Friday, April 2.

Other business conducted at the monthly GOBA meeting including the reading of a letter to the Oakland Mayor and Town Council requesting investigation of the possibility of securing an ordinance that would tax properties considered to be an eyesore or a hindrance to revitalization efforts. The letter, signed by Mika! McCartney, GOBA's president, will be presented to the mayor and town council after Main Street Manager Glenn Tolbert investigates how other Maryland communities have dealt with similar issues.

An Oakland Main Street Committee, headed by local resident Barbara Boone and Consignment Shop owner Michael Mullan, received support for plans to organize a weekly flea market and to develop an inventory of buildings in town. The inventory would be used as a database to begin a marketing analysis of the Oakland area.

Garrett County Business Partners With Students On Expansion Plan

by Peggy Santamaria

Many of the small businesses, which are the economic foundation of Garrett County, are striving to not only hold their own, but expand into the coming century. One of these companies has taken a decisive and creative giant step toward doing just that.

Garrett Container Systems, a manufacturing firm located in the Accident industrial park, has formed a joint venture partnership with students of the Graduate School of Management and Technology at the University of Maryland. Members of the international management (IMAN) class, these students will work with GCS to develop a business plan to expand its market.

The management of GCS is eyeing both commercial and international customers for its individually designed aluminum shipping containers. In its 8-year history GCS contracts have been almost exclusively with the U.S. Department of Defense — many these with U.S. Air Force security.

With the current goal of tapping into other markets and opening doors to growth through diversity, the owner/managers of GCS recognized the need to reach beyond their own walls to get some expert advice on how to connect with potential customers. Operations manager and co-owner Mark Tonkovick noted that the "narrow management band" at GCS limits the amount of time and energy that can be spent learning how to create a new business plan.

"We've reached a level of frustration here. We don't know how to get into other markets. We know our potential and we just haven't utilized it yet. We're exploring several avenues but we're not smart enough to do this by ourselves. That's why we have asked these people to come in and help," Tonkovick said with a smile.

The management and production team at GCS is in fact quite "smart." Tonkovick has 15 years' production experience, including working with a large firm in North Carolina and Bausch and Lomb in Oakland. He still spends most of his day on the production floor with the manufacturing team, he explained.

Company president and co-owner Don Morin has extensive background in computer technology and sales. He has worked for the U.S. Marine Corps and several large firms in the private sector in the Washington, D.C., area.

A relative newcomer to the management team is quality/support manager Jim Kesselring, who retired from the military and worked 14 years for Faircild Industries in Hagerstown prior to linking up with GCS last July.

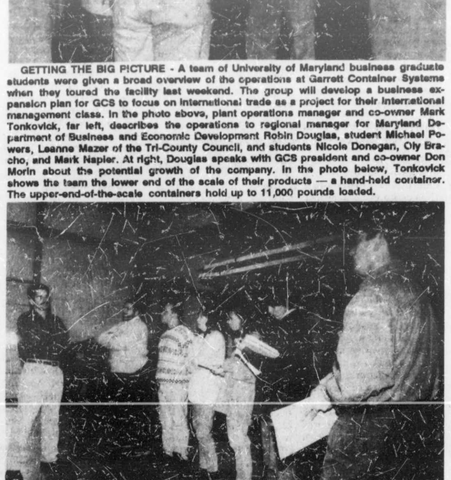
Kesselring was instrumental in bringing the IMAN team to GCS. Over the last six months he has worked with Leanne Mazer, director of business programs and export program manager for the Tri-County Council for Western Maryland. "I've been talking with Leanne Mazer since July about trying to get grants for training and other uses related to international trade," he said.

Mazer had the information on the IMAN project and passed it on to Kesselring. "We have set up one of these projects in Hagerstown, but this is the first time it has been done in Garrett County," she explained.

The students participating in this venture bring a vast array of skills and talent to the task. Composing the IMAN team are: an international business accountant with U.S. Department of Commerce, Nicole Donegan; the Latin America Region financial manager for World Wildlife Fund, Oly Bracho; a Middle East peace process analyst for the U.S. Department of Defense, Mark Nepier; and standards evaluation director for the U.S. Air Force, Michael Powers.

The two groups came together for their first work session Saturday. The IMAN team traveled to Garrett County to tour the GCS facility and meet with Kesselring, Tonkovick, and Morin. Also attending this session were Robin Douglas, regional manager for Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development; Mazer; and David Moe, president of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce.

GETTING THE BIG PICTURE - A team of University of Maryland business graduate students were given a broad overview of the operations at Garrett Container Systems when they toured the facility last weekend. The group will develop a business expansion plan for GCS to focus on international trade as a project for their international management class. In the photo above, plant operations manager and co-owner Mark Tonkovick, far left, describes the operations to regional manager for Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development Robin Douglas, student Michael Powers, Leanne Mazer of the Tri-County Council, and students Nicole Donegan, Oly Bracho, and Mark Napier. At right, Douglas speaks with GCS president and co-owner Don Morin about the potential growth of the company. In the photo below, Tonkovick shows the team the lower end of the scale of their products — a hand-held container. The upper-end-of-the-scale containers hold up to 11,000 pounds loaded.



Note pads in hand, the group members followed Tonkovick as he pointed out and described the materials used and the construction process, including the types of welding used. He described the GCS product as all-aluminum with foam inserts. Other than that, the design is flexible. "What you want this container to look like, that's what it will look like," he said.

Tonkovick explained that GCS listens to the needs of the customer — the end user — and designs a product that will meet the need. One olive green container the group looked at stood about 4 feet high while another was a hand-held compartmentalized unit. "This one we designed for the Air Force. It's a goggle container," Tonkovick explained, opening it to reveal the various sized sections.

Another example of meeting a customer need was illustrated in a job for the Smithsonian Institution. GCS was contracted to design and fabricate a one-of-a-kind container to house a $4.7 million camera. A framed photo of this impressive project hangs in an office at GCS.

Following the tour, the group adjourned to a break room for coffee and questions. The team members were gathering data.

In what direction does the company want to expand its marketing? While the management members present agreed that just about any direction would be considered, Canada was noted as a clear first choice.

"We'll be heading up to Toronto in June for a trade conference. We hope to get some more information at that time," Kesselring said.

What are the strengths and weaknesses of the company? one student asked. "Our strong customer base, the experience of our trained personnel, and our commitment to quality — These are our most valuable assets," Morin responded. On the negative side he noted lack of capital for more equipment and a small management group.

The IMAN team will continue during the spring semester to collect data and research the market opportunities for GCS. In May the plan will be formally presented at a forum in College Park.

The adjunct professor of international management, Richard P. Kolasheske, Ph.D., described the students as "enthusiastic" about the project. He referred to efforts by his previous students in similar projects. They found it to be "a mutually beneficial experience," he commented.

University of Maryland student teams are available to help businesses develop plans for growth and diversification. For further information on these opportunities, persons may contact Leanne Mazer at 301-777-5867; or e-mail: lmazer @mindspring.com.

Maryland Crime Victim Services Receives Grant

The Maryland Division of Parole and Probation recently received a grant for $121,000 to provide services to crime victims through the federally funded Victims of Crime Act (VOCA). The funds come from offenders convicted of federal crimes; therefore it is actually defendants' money that goes to crime victims. The VOCA fund is administered by the state's Department of Human Resources, Office of Transitional Services.

"Victim services must be a priority for the criminal justice system," stated Public Safety Secretary Stuart O. Simms. "For too long, victims have been shut out of the process. We intend to remedy this situation."

The Division of Parole and Probation will use these funds for three new victim advocate positions, located in Baltimore City, Baltimore County, and Wicomico-Worcester counties. The advocates will work with all crime victims whose offenders are under the supervision of the division. Among their duties will be assisting investigators prepare victim impact statements for sentencing hearings, giving victims information on their cases, and answering victim questions regarding restitution, community services, and offender accountability.

The Office of Victim Services was founded in November 1998, and among its staff is a domestic victim advocate who serves Garrett and Allegany counties, one of five current domestic victim advocates in Maryland. These advocates assist victims of domestic violence in understanding the conditions of probation/parole, reporting re-abuse or violations, and linking with community services.

A statewide position, the victim advocate community liaison works on victim issues such as the sex offender registry, victim notification, and training. Including victim services personnel in the Division of Corrections and the Parole Commission, the total number of victim services positions for the department is now 11, making it the largest victim services component in state service.

"The Division of Parole and Probation is committed to offering and delivering quality victim services," a spokesperson said. "Along with other community initiatives, such as Lt. Governor Kathleen Kennedy Townsend's successful Break the Cycle and Hot-Spots programs, the division is committed to making communities and victims safer."

Grantsville Area Resident Honored By Unitel Firm

Alice Smith, a resident of the Grantsville area with her family, has been named Employee of the Month at the Unitel Call Center in Frostburg. Smith, who has previously been honored as an employee of the week, was chosen for the honor from among 175 of her co-workers.

An outbound agent with the company, Smith is a "consistently top performer and has recently received a 5.0 quality monitor score, an excellent achievement," a Unitel spokesperson said. "She offers her help to others to [help them] excel on projects. Her dependability and excellent performance [make her] a leader and role model for her fellow team members."

Smith is enrolled in Unitel University and is an affiliated member of the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad and is a Garrett County 4-H Club volunteer.

Spruce Forest Seeking Artisans For Summer Event

The volunteer committee for the upcoming annual Summer Festival and Quilt Show is seeking artisans to set up demonstrating arts and crafts booths during the festival, slated for July 8 through July 10 at Spruce Forest Artisan Village in Grantsville.

In its 22nd year, the festival will feature over 50 demonstrating artisans and crafters. Some of the mediums slated to be represented thus far at this year's festival include ironworks, soap making, quilting, pottery, weaving, basket making, bird carving, stained glass, leather, herbs and flowers, furniture, tole painting, spinning, Christmas items, watercolors, calligraphy, oil painting, wooden toys, wood sculpture, and Hmong reverse appliqué, among many others.

All artisans demonstrate their work for three days, as well as sell the items they produce. To request an artisan's application packet, interested persons may call Trish Morgan at 301-895-3332, Mondays through Fridays.

Dear Pap,

A year ago, March 20th, I lost you and experienced a great amount of heartache and pain. Not a day goes by that you're not in my thoughts. Missing your jokes and smile and just knowing you were there. I know that if anyone belongs in heaven it is you. And to know that the pain you suffered for so long has finally stopped, helps me heal and go on without you. The memories of you I will never forget and shall share them with those who didn't get the chance to know you. Your loving and caring will always be missed. I love you pap.

Your granddaughter, Lenny (Melinda)

Anticipated Drop In Milk Prices Spurs Need For Dairy Compacts

Milk prices will decline significantly over the next few months, according to some industry experts. "That's when producers will be searching for solutions to keep milk production profitable.

"With milk prices expected to drop significantly in the next few months, Maryland dairy farmers need regional dairy compacts," says Myron L. Wilhide of Detour. Wilhide, president of the Maryland Dairy Industry Association (MDIA), recently commented on the anticipated decline with the federal government's "Basic Formula Price" (BFP) for cheese, butter, and other dairy products.

Recent figures released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Washington estimate that the BFP price may drop as much as $6.00 per hundredweight in the next few months. While this translates into good news for consumers, farmers are likely to encounter drastically reduced revenues for their daily operations.

"Our nation's dairy farmers are victims of their own success," says Wilhide. "By increasing the effectiveness and quality of milk production, the market now enjoys an abundant supply of Grade A and B dairy products. Although consumers may pay less for a gallon of fluid milk, an expected drop in the BFP price means farmers will find it harder to meet their financial obligations. Now more than ever, producers need the stability provided by the documented success of the Northeast Dairy Compact to help them plan ahead during this uncertain period." The Compact provides for establishing a stable price to be paid to producers.

Thanks to efforts in Annapolis by MDIA and other organizations during 1998, the Maryland General Assembly approved participation in the Northeast Regional Dairy Compact. Governor Parris Glendening signed the Compact bill in early May. In compliance with federal compact statutes, however, Maryland producers must wait for Pennsylvania lawmakers to approve their own compact measure before Maryland producers can participate. With a decline in BFP milk prices expected in the next month, MDIA continues to monitor compact deliberations in Harrisburg, Pa., and promote federal compact reauthorization initiatives in Congress.

Reauthorization of the Northeast Dairy Compact, along with the approval of new producer-friendly nutrient management guidelines, are two of MDIA's top legislative priorities for 1999.

Farming In Maryland.....

Glickman Announces Relief For Dairy Farmers As Milk Prices Fall

Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman has announced a $200 million program to assist dairy farmers facing greatly reduced milk prices. Dairy farmers will get payments of up to $5,000 each under the new Dairy Income Loss Assistance program.

The fall in the basic formula price (BFP) for milk, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's benchmark dairy indicator, announced March 5 was the sharpest monthly decline of milk prices ever, and more than twice the previous record monthly decline. As a result, USDA expects farmers' milk receipts to be substantially lower over the next several months.

"Smaller dairy farmers are already being hurt by conditions beyond their control," said Glickman, in remarks to the National Farmers Union. "More declines in the price of milk will put many of them in serious financial difficulties. This payment program will help many of them survive this decrease in prices."

Under Glickman's plan, USDA will make payments based on a dairy operation's first 26,000 hundredweight (cwt) of milk produced in 1998 or 1997, whichever is the highest. Targeted to family-sized operations, the plan is based on a level roughly equivalent to the annual production of a herd of 150 cows.

All dairy farmers who produced milk during the last quarter of calendar year 1998 are eligible. The final payment rate per hundredweight will be calculated after sign-up ends. But currently, USDA estimates that it will be between 18 and 20 cents per cwt, and that maximum benefits under the program will be about $5,000 per dairy operation.

Farmers may apply at their local USDA Farm Service Agency office from April 12 until May 21. USDA will publish further program details in the federal register soon.

Dairy Producers Promote Compacts And Milk Marketing To Federal Legislators

Members of the Maryland Dairy Industry Association (MDIA) joined other producers and co-op groups to promote Option 1A marketing order reforms, and reauthorization of the Northeast Dairy Compact. Meetings were held with senators, congressmen, and their staffs to discuss these issues and their impact on dairy operations for the 21st century. Although lawmakers in Annapolis approved Maryland's entry into the Northeast Dairy Compact last year, federal reauthorization is still required for full implementation.

MDIA President Myron L. Wilhide of Detour was joined by Jesse Burrell, a producer from Monrovia, along with representatives from the Maryland Department of Agriculture and the Maryland & Virginia Milk Producers Cooperative, in meetings with the Maryland congressional delegation.

"I believe our visits were a great success," said Wilhide. "I tip my hat to the States Ratification Committee for their efforts in putting this initiative together. In order to be effective in the public policy arena, dairy farmers must bring their concerns straight to the halls of Congress. Only then can lawmakers get a better idea of our needs and concerns. I was pleased that MDIA was able to be a part of this effort, and can assure Maryland producers that their concerns were heard."

The two-day program attracted over 120 dairy farmers from 30 states nationwide. Over 200 visits were made to congressional offices in the House and Senate. Efforts to reauthorize the Northeast Dairy Compact, along with authorization for a similar compact in the Southeast, are currently pending in Congress. The House measure, sponsored by Rep. Bob Etheridge (D-NC), currently has 52 co-sponsors. The Senate bill has 27 supporters, including Senators Barbara Mikulski (D-Md.) and Paul Sarbanes (D-Md.). A decision by USDA Secretary Dan Glickman is anticipated later this month.

"MDIA plans to continue promoting producer concerns through future activities on Capitol Hill," adds Wilhide. "Our ongoing efforts in Annapolis are important, but we need to make sure that our proximity to Washington is effectively utilized as well."

MDIA represents dairy producers and the industries that serve them from the Cumberland Valley to the Eastern Shore. It also seeks to enhance the economic viability of the state's third largest agricultural sector.

Farmers Charge Administration And Congress With Inaction

A "substantial part of the responsibility" for the financial and emotional stress being felt by America's farm and ranch families must be placed squarely on the "doorsteps of Congress and the Clinton administration," according to Farm Bureau leaders from across the nation.

In a letter sent last week to President Clinton, Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman and all members of Congress, the farm leaders charged that much of today's farm crisis is due to inaction by the administration and Congress on "numerous long-standing issues," such as crop insurance reform, expedited trade negotiating authority, tax and regulatory relief, and an expanded conservation reserve program.

American Farm Bureau Federation President Dean Kleckner and state Farm Bureau presidents wrote the letter last week while meeting in Chicago. "We are deeply disturbed over promises that have been made and not kept," the Farm Bureau presidents wrote. "[These issues], if properly addressed, can help farmers compete in a rapidly changing industry. But far too little has been done."

The letter reiterated Farm Bureau's support for concepts contained within the 1996 Federal Agricultural Improvement and Reform (FAIR) Act. The organization supports the law's market-oriented direction, and opposes a return to supply management programs. The letter stated, however, that Farm Bureau supports "a thorough re-examination of the law to assure adequate economic and disaster assistance for all commodities."

The presidents called for immediate legislation to provide expedited trade negotiating authority for the administration. They also called for more effective enforcement of current trade agreements, an agricultural exemption from trade sanctions and embargoes, and market-loss compensation for farmers until those steps are achieved. They called on Congress to increase funding for all export-marketing programs.

Stressing the need for urgent action, the farm leaders also called for:

- Greater flexibility and more effective coverage for all farmers and ranchers under the federal crop insurance program.
- An increase in conservation reserve program acreage, which currently is more than 5 million acres short of the law's maximum enrollment.
- Repeal or significant reductions in capital gains taxes and the death tax (estate tax).
- Legislation to establish Farm and Ranch Risk Management (FARRM) accounts, which encourage farmers to save for income disasters by allowing them to deposit up to 20 percent of pre-tax income into a tax-deferred account.
- Legislation to ensure a workable implementation of the Food Quality Protection Act so that farmers do not lose essential, safe and effective crop protection tools.
- Implementation of voluntary, incentive-based water-quality initiatives, rather than costly regulations that impose additional economic burdens on farmers.
- Legislation to impose a regulatory moratorium on new regulations and subject existing regulations to risk assessment and cost-benefit analysis.
- Additional funding for agricultural research, for which spending levels have not grown since the mid-1970s.

Lack of significant progress in these areas, combined with significant economic troubles in the world, is throwing farmers a devastating punch, the letter stated. "You have the ability to help farmers deal with their economic and emotional stress. [Farm Bureau] members say they want, they need and they expect your active support."

National Ag Week, An Ideal Time To Feature Offices And Staff At Garrett County's "Agricultural Mall"

THE ROGER P. GLOTFELTY SR. BUILDING, home of Garrett County's Ag Center, houses the offices of the Farm Service Agency, Rural Development, Natural Resources Conservation Service, Garrett Soil Conservation District, and the Garrett County Extension Service. This building, with all these agricultural offices and services grouped together, makes the perfect subject for a story to honor National Ag Week.

This week, National Ag Week, seems like the ideal time to feature Garrett County's newest ag center--actually an agricultural mall--located in the Roger P. Glotfelty Sr. Building at 1916 Maryland Highway in Mtn. Lake Park. A consolidation of ag-related offices moved into the new building in June of 1997. Since then, the staff of all the various offices have set down new roots and started to grow in their new surroundings by continuing to serve the agricultural community in Garrett County.

These various offices, which, by the way, all enjoy employment longevity which has taken them through one, or in some cases two, moves together, were previously housed in offices which were scattered throughout the Garrett County Courthouse. Before that, other locations were the Oakland Post Office the second floor of the McLoughlin Building above what is now Marvin's Men's Wear, and the Bernard Building along Garrett Highway north of Oakland.

The offices located in the Roger P. Glotfelty Sr. Building are the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Farm Service Agency, USDA Rural Development, USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service, the Maryland Department of Agriculture (MDA) Garrett Soil Conservation District, and the Garrett County Cooperative Extension Office, a branch of the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service.

USDA Farm Service Agency (formerly Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service)

The FSA office, under County Executive Director Michael R. Kozier, serves both Garrett and Allegany counties. The office administers a number of government programs. Among these programs are market transition payments for wheat, corn, sorghum, barley, oats, rice and upland cotton, and marketing assistance loans for these crops plus soybeans and minor oilseeds. They administer support programs for dairy, tobacco and peanuts. They offer direct and guaranteed farm ownership loans, direct and guaranteed farm operating loans, loans for beginning farmers, and disaster emergency loans. Other programs include risk management and noninsured crop disaster assistance.

The FSA for Garrett and Allegany counties has a combined county committee consisting of: Gene Teter, Carolyn J. Ganoe, and Dennis W. Margroff.

The program technicians are A. Darlene Reams for Garrett County and Ada M. Myers for Allegany County. The offices are usually open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Persons are asked to call ahead for prompt service. The number for Garrett County is 301-334-6954, and for Allegany County the number is 301-777-1536.

USDA Rural Development (formerly Farmers Home Administration)

Rural Development, under Community Development Manager Timothy T. Taylor, is authorized to assist clients with home ownership in Garrett and Allegany counties. This effort is through a rural home loan partnership with Garrett County Community Action, Interfaith Housing of Western Maryland and Keystone Financial Bank. Clients are trained on home ownership requirements such as income guidelines, credit history, and debt ratios.

Existing and new construction are financed up to loan limits of $86,317, based on family size and income. Other housing assistance is available for home repairs and possible grants through the 504 loan and grant program. The office also offers assistance with rentals, community facilities loans and grants, water and wastewater disposal loans and grants, electric and telecommunication loans, distance learning and telemedicine loans and grants, business and industry loans, technical assistance and planning, community outreach services, services for farmer-owned cooperatives, rural economic development zero interest loans and grants, intermediary relending loans, rural business enterprise grants, and rural cooperative development grants.

The office is located in Suite D at the ag center, and Community Development Technician Sylvia V. Guthrie can take calls at 301-334-6970.

USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (formerly Soil Conservation Service)

NRCS is one of the branches or agencies of the USDA, the federal government's way of providing assistance to the local soil conservation district. Through NRCS and District Conservationist Garry Morfoot, the conservation district has access to all the scientific research and technical expertise of soil scientists, hydrologists, engineers, agronomists, biologists, etc., in solving local conservation problems. The office administers voluntary programs for soil conservation, wildlife habitat, water quality, wetlands restoration, and natural resource conservation planning, usually through the local conservation district and state conservation agencies. Also offered is financial assistance for conservation practices, emergency disaster recovery, resource inventories, and technical assistance.

Working with Morfoot is Technician Kim Meyers. They can be reached by calling 301-334-6950.

MDA Garrett Soil Conservation District

In very general terms, the mission of the conservation district is to promote the wise use of and the protection of soil, water, and related natural resources. District Manager Shaun Sanders likes to reiterate that conservation is much different from preservation. The district's assistance is available to any landowner or user who has a resource problem, not solely agriculture. Soil conservation districts in Maryland work with a host of agencies, departments, and programs on the local, state, and federal level.

As a result of various relationships and responsibilities with other agencies, the district's identity is sometimes lost. Some of the programs in which there is confusion about what the district does are: review and approval of sediment control plans, wetlands, floodplains, pond construction, stream crossings and culverts, and cost-share requirements for farm programs. The office encourages people to ask questions they might have concerning the district's involvement in these programs and how the district can help them. The district is obligated to work with some agencies as a result of state or federal laws and requirements. Others, such as the NRCS, have been an important partner and one of the district's mainstays of support since the beginning.

There are two fundamental principles which underly the purpose and function of conservation districts. One is the idea that local people should be involved in developing and implementing conservation programs. The other is the idea that a voluntary, incentivedriven approach is the most effective means of addressing natural resource concerns.

The local governing body is called the District Board of Supervisors. The appointing authority for four of the supervisors is the State Soil Conservation Committee, which appoints members to a five-year term. One member is appointed by the local county governing body to an indefinite term.

The current board of supervisors are: Delvin Mast, who was appointed by the Garrett County Commissioners, and who has served since 1993; George Bishoff, who has served since 1971, and who was appointed by the State Soil Conservation Committee from a list of three residents submitted by the Garrett County Farm Bureau; Brooks Hamilton, who has served since 1993, and was appointed by the state committee from a list of three submitted by the Garrett Extension Service; Carl Bender and David Thomas, who have served since 1995 and 1988, respectively, and were appointed by the state committee from nominations generated by public notice to district residents. Associate members are appointed or selected by the local district board as nonvoting members. Presently, the Garrett District has no associate members.

The office is located in Suite C, and Sanders' support staff includes: Technicians Cheston (Butch) Miller and Charles (Chuck) Hayes, both with the MDA; Garrett SCD Technician Randy Storey; and Garrett SCD Secretary/Administrative Assistant Wanda Foley. The office can be reached by calling 301-334-6950.

Garrett County Cooperative Extension Office

County Extension offices are located in each of Maryland's 23 counties and Baltimore City. These offices are staffed by Extension faculty who are supported by subject matter specialists based at the College Park and Eastern Shore campuses of the University of Maryland College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, the Center for Environmental and Estuarine Studies, the Maryland 4-H Center, the Home and Garden Information Center, and four area research and education centers.

The Garrett County Cooperative Extension staff and their program areas consist of:

· Alice E. Hevner, county Extension director and Extension educator, 4-H Youth Development. 4-H is a major part of the Youth Development Program of Cooperative Extension. It has been in existence for over 80 years in America. Educational programs for youth are provided which include: 4-H Club membership, camping, and special interest topics. Subject areas include: Environmental Sciences, Natural Resources, Human Sciences, Animal Sciences, Citizenship, Leadership, and Communication Skills. Garrett County currently has 16 active 4-H clubs, with approximately 290 4-H members and 185 volunteer leaders.

· James W. Simms, Extension agent, Agriculture and Natural Resources. The Garrett County Agriculture Program teaches farmers and other interested persons about current agricultural practices and issues. Simms provides information, education, and hands-on instruction including, but not limited to, farm management, farm safety, agricultural production, horticulture and alternative agriculture.

The Mt. Fresh Producers Association is also part of the Garrett County Agriculture Program. Cathy Sanders, Mt. Fresh coordinator, works in the office one day a week during the market season-usually May through October. The Mt. Fresh Producers Association was organized in 1987 to aid area farmers in marketing their products directly to the consumer. The Mt. Fresh Producers Association is best known for its seasonal tailgate market.

· William H. Knepp, Nutrient Management advisor. The Nutrient Management Program provides farmers with nutrient recommendations for their crops and helps the farmer utilize animal manure as fertilizer. Soil test, manure analysis, and realistic yield goals are utilized to help make farms more profitable, and improve water quality in the state of Maryland.

Previously, this was a voluntary program, but now because of the passage of the Water Quality Improvement Act of 1998, this process has become mandatory. Every farm in the state that has a gross income of $2,500 or has eight animal units on its property must comply with the law. Greenhouses, nurseries, golf courses, and homeowners may be subject to this law. The deadlines for compliance begin Dec. 31, 2001. For further information, those interested may contact Knepp at 301-334-6965.

· Irmgard R. Koscielniak, Extension educator, Family & Consumer Sciences. The Garrett County Family & Consumer Sciences program focuses on current issues relating to family and community. Information and education are available on food safety, nutrition, health, consumer concerns, parenting, family issues, and personal and family financial management. Koscielniak also serves as advisor to the Garrett County Association of Family and Community Education (formerly Homemakers Clubs).

· Paul Webster, faculty Extension assistant, center director, Western Maryland 4-H Educational Center. The Western Maryland 4-H Educational Center is owned and operated by the University of Maryland and located in Garrett County. The center offers seasonal activities and accommodations for groups of all kinds. For additional information, those interested may contact Webster at 301-334-6967.

· Jennifer D. Thorn, Extension educator, marketing. Thorn works to organize and develop efficient marketing systems for local alternative agriculture products. Her program is set forth in a USDA grant for the Small Meat Animal Production, Processing and Marketing Project. To date, emphasis has been on marketing USDA inspected rabbit meat in coordination with the Mountain Pride Cooperative.

The Garrett County Cooperative Extension Office is supported by two administrative assistants, Marcia Knepp and Susan Parsons.

The office is located in Suite A of the ag center, with hours from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. The phone number is 301-334-6960, and for more information on the Maryland Cooperative Extension those interested can visit the University of Maryland's Web site at: http://www.agnr.umd.edu/.

GUARDIAN ANIMALS SUBJECT OF TWO SHEPHERD EDUCATION CLASSES

Shepherds in West Virginia are experiencing tremendous losses from predation. They are spending more time and money than ever to reduce the effects of a growing coyote population and an ever present dog problem. Eliminating a predator is impossible. The shepherds that survive and prosper will have to adopt an integrated predator management approach. This means they will have to change some established management thinking and add some different ideas to their control program. The options may include fencing, changing lambing dates, trapping, or the use of guardian animals. The least used, but oldest control measure, is the guardian dog.

West Virginia shepherds have an opportunity to learn about the proper use of guardian dogs and donkeys at one of two classes. One is scheduled for March 31, 7 p.m., at the Landes Ruritan Club building located along Rt. 220 between Petersburg and Franklin. The second class will be held at the library of Greenbrier East High School in Fairlea on April 1 at 7 p.m.

Dr. Jeff Green of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Animal Damage Control, who all of his career has studied guardian animals and the people that use them, will be sharing his knowledge of guardian animal use. His presentation will include information about the proper way to introduce an animal into a flock of sheep, finding and buying a suitable animal, caring for a dog or donkey, and the general management aspects and possible changes for both the flock and the guardian animals.

Complementing this presentation will be the well-known shepherd and guardian dog and donkey owner, Joe Harper from Seneca Rocks. He will share his experiences about the success of this risk management tool, as well as his recommendations about combining the two animals into a protection program.

Mr. Bill Bonwell from the local U.S. Department of Agriculture, Animal Damage Control, will discuss the integrated approach to coyote damage abatement, which employs all the tools available to shepherds. He will introduce a training videotape available to anyone needing more specific information.

Shepherds as well as dog and donkey breeders are encouraged to attend these educational opportunities and are advised to come early to ask specific questions as Dr. Green, Mr. Harper, and Mr. Bill Bonwell will be at both sites at 6 p.m.

Although this is Jeff Green's first trip to West Virginia to present these classes, this is not his first contact with the shepherds on this subject. In 1995 he served on a panel for a satellite class titled "West Virginia Predation Abatement."

West Virginia beef cattle farmers should consider this class with more than a mild interest. There has been an increasing number of coyote incidents concerning cattle reported each year to the Elkins Animal Damage Control office.

For more information, persons may contact their local WVU Extension agent at 329-1391.

1999 GARDEN CALENDARS

The 1999 Garden Calendars are now available at the WVU Extension Office at 115 West Court Street and in locations throughout the county that sponsored the calendar. These are free of charge and contain information pertaining to gardening on when to plant, moon phases, and other gardening articles.

Where To From Here?

by U.S. Agriculture Secretary
Dan Glickman

This year National Agriculture Day comes at a pretty tumultuous time for the men and women of American agriculture. While the general economy is humming along with the longest peacetime expansion in the nation's history — low inflation, low interest rates, 18 million new jobs since 1993, record home ownership, a budget surplus — the situation is quite the opposite for the farm economy.

There are many reasons why agriculture is in distress. Three years of record crop production around the world has created greater competition for American agriculture than we've ever seen before and led to oversupplies that drag down prices. The Asian financial crisis has left some of our farmers' best customers broke, unable to buy from us, adding to our oversupply problems. Ironically, technology, which has been a boon to the farm economy, is currently a drag because the increased productivity it has created is outpacing demand. Add to this economic uncertainty the drastic cuts in the basic farm safety net brought about by the 1996 farm bill, and you have farmers and ranchers cast into these turbulent seas without much of a life preserver.

Many still raise the question, How much should we be doing to help the American farmers and how much should they be left to their own devices and fate? Agriculture is a unique business. Many factors beyond the farmers' control determine success or failure — weather, perishable goods, and a volatile global economy among them. Even as we move to a more market-oriented farm policy, we cannot forget we are dealing with a basic human need — food. I believe we have a responsibility to those willing to engage in the backbreaking, risky business of farming to make sure they have a fighting chance to stay on the land, become prosperous, and ensure America's continued bounty.

At the Department of Agriculture, we've pulled out all the stops and I have been using all the tools I have to help our farmers and ranchers. From relaxing our credit requirements, to buying more beef and pork for donation to our feeding programs, to increasing humanitarian aid overseas, I am doing all that the law allows. However, I believe our farmers and ranchers deserve more.

Just look at what the men and women of American agriculture have achieved in the last century. One hundred years ago, well over 40% of the population worked on farms. Today less than 2% do, allowing the rest of us to pursue other work without having to worry about producing our own food. Moreover, we spend less than 8 cents of each dollar for the food we eat at home. By comparison the English pay over 11 cents, the French double what we pay, the Japanese a little more than 17 cents, the Swiss almost 25 cents, and the Indians and Filipinos over 50 cents.

Our farmers and ranchers are so good at keeping our supermarket bins full, too many of us have become complacent, easily overlooking the emergency in farm country. But the crisis is very real. And its significance goes beyond the immediate struggles of farmers. It also underscores the fundamental flaws and vulnerabilities in the structure of agriculture.

We've moved beyond the old price support system to a new structure based on free markets. But events of the recent past have clearly shown the new approach is not adequate in protecting farmers when times are tough and the problems are bigger than any farmer can handle. If we are to ensure their viability and profitability, then we must adapt to the new century, not by going back to the old ways which we've outgrown, but by developing practical solutions suited to today's global economy. Anybody and everybody with an interest in agriculture needs to come to the table, set their differences aside, and provide a structure for agriculture that farmers, ranchers, and the rest of American people can count on. We need to address everything from concentration to contracting, from trade to technology, from small farms to sustainable agriculture.

And, most of all, it is our responsibility to create a safety net that helps protect hardworking farmers and ranchers; a safety net that allows them to do the important work of feeding this nation and much of the world with the knowledge that some of their downside is protected. That has been a core American principle since Franklin Roosevelt was president, and it remains so today.

1999 Nat'l Ag Day Has Classrooms Around The Nation Talking Agriculture

by Kathleen Montgomery,
Agriculture Council of America

Whether you're talking about cosmetics, football or pizza, it all starts with agriculture. Agriculture touches our lives day by day in ways we don't realize. And the 1999 National Ag Day campaign "America's Largest Classroom on Agriculture" is helping students across the U.S. learn "A" through "Z" about America's largest industry, American agriculture...Growing the understanding of Tomorrow's consumers...Growing Tomorrow for everyone.

"Growing Tomorrow" is captured in a commemorative painting where creator Jim Fanning illustrates the recognition of today's students as tomorrow's consumers. In this painting, a farm family has joined an urban classroom to share the many ways that agriculture interacts with us everyday.

This celebration of today's students can be yours to enjoy yearlong. A limited edition print of the painting is available for $49.95 by contacting I-888-98A-GDAY.

As part of "America's Largest Classroom on Agriculture," school children across the nation will take time, March 15-19, to consider how almost everything we eat, wear, and use starts with agriculture. During the week leading up to National Ag Day, March 20, ACA will provide educators with materials that help students discover the important role of agriculture in daily life.

ACA introduced the "America's Largest Classroom on Agriculture" campaign in September 1998. This new campaign will involve existing ag literacy programs such as Ag in the Classroom, Project Food, Land & People, 4-H, the national FFA organization and others. Together, the agricultural community will engage hundreds of volunteers and organizations, during the week of March 15-19, to assist in the education of students about the exciting role agriculture plays in our modern lives.

"The vision of this new National Ag Day Campaign," says Joyce Spicher, chairperson of ACA, "is to coordinate existing efforts in agricultural literacy and reach classrooms with exciting new materials that help students learn about the vital role agriculture plays."

Sign-Up For Crop Loss Disaster Aid Extended

Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman has announced the extension of the sign-up deadline for assistance provided by the 1999 Budget Bill under the new Crop Loss Disaster Assistance Program. The new deadline is April 9, 1999. The sign-up was originally scheduled to end March 12.

"This money is badly needed by farmers who suffered losses due to natural disasters, the effects of which are made worse by the current slump in farm prices," said Glickman. We want to make sure that everyone who's eligible has a chance to participate."

More than $2 billion has been authorized by Congress to reimburse farmers hit by natural disasters and who suffered losses greater than 35 percent of their historic yields.

Farmers are eligible for compensation either for qualifying losses on 1998 crops, or losses in any three or more crop years between 1994 and 1998 where a crop insurance indemnity or assistance under the non-insured crop disaster assistance program was received. Farmers can receive payments under either single-year or multi-year provisions, but not both. The U.S Department of Agriculture will make payment to each eligible applicant at the higher of the two levels.

Payments to farmers will be prorated after all applications are reviewed in order to stay within the program's budget requirements. Farmers can contact their local USDA Service Center or Farm Service Agency local office.

Ag Week To Celebrate Ag's Global Role

With world population at 5.5 billion today, and expected to reach 7.9 billion by the year 2020, American agriculture must meet global needs for food and fiber now and in the future. National Agriculture Week, March 15-21, is focusing on the global challenges and opportunities for United States agriculture with the theme "Growing Tomorrows."

"There will continue to be more people in the world to feed and clothe, but American agriculture is up to the task," says Joyce Spicher, chairperson of the Agriculture Council of America, which coordinates Ag Day.

"With rapid world population growth and increasing wealth in developing nations, it puts greater pressure on American farmers to turn out even higher crop yields. That means we'll be feeding new mouths while also feeding those who can afford to improve their diets, she added."

Spicher pointed out that technological advances are allowing American producers to increase production and quality. For example, through sophisticated global positioning systems that utilize military satellites, farmers can map a field and log data on everything from soil conditions to weed density. By using this technology, farmers can apply nutrients and crop protection products only where and when they are needed. These global positioning systems not only help growers maximize production efficiencies but also ensure that nothing is used that isn't needed.

From technology to innovative cultural practices, American agriculture is working hard with an eye to the future. Spicher said. "Take time March 20 to celebrate American agriculture, an industry that is "Growing Tomorrows."

AURORA/EGLON NEWS

COMING EVENT

March 24 Lenten Services are scheduled for Maple Grove Assembly of God Church at 7:30 p.m. An Easter drama will be presented on two evenings at the Aurora School, both nights at 7:30 p.m. The presentations are now scheduled to be Tuesday, March 30, and Wednesday, March 31. This drama will be presented by the churches of Union District.

Easter sunrise services are planned for 6:30 a.m., April 4, at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Aurora. All are invited.

A soup and salad meal is planned for 4 until 8 p.m on Saturday, April 10, at Maple Spring Church of the Brethren, Eglon. The public is welcome to attend.

KNOTTS BIRTHDAY

Robert Knotts, son of Grace Knotts Winter of Fairmont and the late James Knotts, will celebrate his 50th birthday on March 23, and the family is asking that he be remembered by cards sent to him at: Rt. 1 Box 125K, Burlington, WV 26710.

ITEMS SOUGHT FOR SILENT AUCTION

The Union Ambulance Service is seeking donations in working condition for a silent auction to be held in conjunction with a May 8 craft fair. Persons may contact either Ellen Harsh at 735-5468 or Keith Douglas at 735-5228 for more information.

EGLON 4-H

Opening devotions for the March 9 meeting of the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club were provided by Maria Harsh and Sara Lewis, members of the health committee, who used the "Value of Life" as a theme. Roll call was answered by members naming a favorite thing about Easter by the 17 members present. Bridgette Strawser led both the 4-H and American pledges.

Melinda Teets presented an updated list of Cortland Acres patients. Matthew Bachtel requested information as to the amount of recycling each family is doing. On March 30, IFYE exchange student Gretchen Riley, who was in Germany, will be at the Mt. Moriah Church, Valley Point, at 7 p.m. Those wishing to attend are requested to meet at 6 p.m. at the memorial building to carpool.

County 4-H Day is set for April 16 at the Preston High academic building from 6:30 until 9 p.m. April 18-24 is National Volunteer Week. Trash pick-up is planned for April, with each member asked to cover the same roads as last year and to be finished by April 9.

Guest speaker for the evening was Pete Pifer, who spoke about alcoholism and its effect on the life of the individual and the family.

The evening concluded with talks and demonstrations. Melinda Teets spoke on ethics and 4-H. Bridgette Strawser told recipes for goat products, and offered samples. Mark Bachtel's talk was about tools used for woodworking. Josh Mullenax explained the value of a tree in "Little Acorn, Mighty Oak." A variety of turkey calls were demonstrated and explained by Shawn Remboid. Magnetism was the subject chosen by Lindsey Teets. Sara Lewis showed how to read the new food labels. How to make a hobo sack was demonstrated by Craig Rembold. Sarah Snyder used different college costs and offerings in "How to Choose a College." Dana Feather showed hay made at different stages to demonstrate the quality of each.

The next meeting is planned for April 12, with the safety committee to be in charge of devotions and the program to be about vehicular accidents.

PERSONAL MENTION

Dennis Evans, his wife Chris, and their children, all of Terra Alta, visited relatives this weekend and have returned to Cleveland, where he is a candidate for bone marrow transplant. On Sunday, relatives were screened in hope of finding a donor.

Adrain and Pat Stemple returned last Monday from a winter vacation in Florida and a visit in Greensboro, N.C., with their daughter and family, Connie and Joe Fish and children.

Homer and Marguerite Myers spent the winter in Brownsville, Texas, and have returned to their home at Aurora.

Charles and Lurlean Knotts have returned to their home on Lantz Ridge after spending the winter months in Yuma, Ariz.

Keith and Carol Wotring of Aurora were joined by other members of her family on a Florida vacation and have now returned to their homes.

David and Delores Stemple spent two months in Florida and have returned to their home in Aurora.

Mrs. Ruby Kemphfer and her family wish to express their appreciation for the help given them following the death of her husband, Herman Kemphfer Sr.

W.Va. Wesleyan Chorale Concert Set In Petersburg

The West Virginia Wesleyan Concert Chorale will be performing on March 25 at the Main Street United Methodist Church in Petersburg, starting at 7:30 p.m. The 70-member chorale consists of students from diverse backgrounds and fields of studies. West Virginia Wesleyan College is affiliated with the United Methodist Church and strives to provide a strong liberal arts education for its 1,600 students.

In his 29th season of conducting the Wesleyan Chorale is Dr. Larry R. Parsons. The choir annually tours churches and performance halls around the nation. Each tour features works of a variety of styles and themes. Highlights from this year's repertoire include two Latin texts, Te Deum by Andrew Carter and Stabat Mater by French composer Francis Poulenc. There will also be a number of spirituals. Admission is free, and a reception will follow the performance.

The program is presented by the Grant County Arts Council, with the local sponsorship of Cookman Insurance Group. Additional funding comes from WV Commission on the Arts and National Endowment for the Arts.

For concert information, persons may contact Addie Ours (257-4772) or Sharon Prunty (257-1606 or 257-1979) in Petersburg.

CHILD SAFETY SEATS SAVE LIVES - The Wolf family of Oakland received a child's safety seat recently from Linda and Dan Warnick of Bittinger. The Warnicks purchased the seat in memory of their granddaughter, Katelynn Blake Sweitzer, and presented it to the Wolfs last Friday, March 12, three years to the date of the car accident that took her life. "This is the third safety seat gift we've given," said Linda Warnick. "It's really important that people understand that in the event of an accident, if you've used a safety seat you've done all you can. If we save one child from one family by doing this, it will be worth it." Pictured from the left with their new safety seat are Robin Wolf and her 20-month-old daughter Jackalynn, and the Warnick's granddaughter Lacey Warnick, who made the gift presentation along with her brother Devan (not pictured).

by Joan Sussman

Kevin Bass took a car full of little boys, including Matthew and Scott Bass and Zack Beitzel, to see the Harlem Globe Trotters' basketball game at Frostburg on Monday night. They met up with the Southerly family at the performance. The boys had a ball, of course.

The Bittinger kids, like most of the other kids in Garrett County, had an extended winter vacation. They took advantage of the time off by hitting the slopes. Greg Whittemore took his little sister Maddy on a ski day at the Wisp. Claire and Meredith were also on the slopes that day and reported it was amazing that Greg took Maddy, who is only 5 years old, skiing on Squirrel Cage. Squirrel Cage is a pretty steep slope, but it was Maddy's idea that they try it. They made it down safely. Greg skied backwards in front of Maddy. Greg is a junior ski instructor at the Wisp. I was amazed to hear about it because, even when I skied regularly, Squirrel Cage was a pretty tough run, let alone going down backwards. What will kids do next?

My Caitlin had a great cross-country ski trip with her daddy. She successfully negotiated the tricky downhill runs, known as the Upper and Lower Lubes. They are narrow and steep with a lot of hazards, like rocks, downed branches, exposed roots, and trees with face-level branches. They take a toll on plenty of experienced skiers. Before Laurie Bulka moved with her family downstate, she was a regular skier at our farm. She never in all her years of skiing here made it down the Lower Lube Trail without falling down. Way to go, Caitlin!

The main news around here the past week was snow and more snow. There has been more snow since March came in than the whole winter before. Many plans were scrapped as most people were busy digging out or getting stuck in the drifts. It calls for more high winds. Oh, no!

Russell and Dot Teets got some sad news from his cousin, Mary Lou Hastings-Bender. Mary Lou's husband, Owen Bender, 73, Norville, Ohio, died on March 10, after a lengthy illness. Owen's sister, Olive Bender of Bittinger, attended the memorial service on Saturday in Ohio.

Another fun game night will be held on Friday, March 26, at Emmanuel Lutheran Church educational building for adults. Come and bring a snack food and drink.

This Friday, March 19, at 6 p.m., all the women of the Bittinger Lutheran Parish are getting together at Emmanuel's educational building. Please bring a covered dish and come celebrate the coming of spring.

A Lenten service on Wednesday night, March 24 for the Bittinger and Accident parishes will be held at Grace Lutheran Church, Friendsville, at 7 p.m.

A Palm Sunday caroling for shut-ins will follow the church service, and anyone interested in helping out, both young and old, is invited to participate.

The Poholsky family had Saturday night dinner with the Sam Stanton family and Ferne Beachy in celebration of Sally Poholsky's birthday. Aaron and Lea Stanton are spending their spring break with their parents, Sam and Cindy Stanton.

Dr. Ralph Buckel Jr. and wife Sara, Chestertown, were recent weekend visitors of his parents, Ralph and Ethel.

Ruth DiPaolo recently visited the Merritt-Adams Funeral Home in Cumberland to pay her last respects to her cousin, Mary Harlene Pattou Hasenbuhler. Harlene was born in Grantsville. Upon her marriage to Maynard Hasenbuhler, she moved to Cumberland and resided there until her husband's death. She spent her winters with her sisters, Lucille Ritter and Betty Henry, in Florida.

Sheli Gray and daughter Ashlin, of Hanover, spent last week visiting relatives and friends in the area, while her husband Jeffrey was on business with the U.S. Air Force in California.

Egg Hunt Slated At Broadford Park

Garrett County Community Action's Head Start Easter egg hunt is scheduled for Saturday, March 27, at 2 p.m. at Broadford Park. The Head Start students attending will need to come through the main gate.

If weather does not permit, cancellation information will be announced on WKHJ and WFRB radio by 11 a.m. that day. Parents are urged to tune in to one of these stations to listen for this information.

Anyone with questions about the event may call Virginia Fike at 301-334-9431, ext. 121.

Ali Ghan Shrine Circus Coming To Frostburg State

The annual appearance of the Ali Ghan Shrine Circus is set for Sunday, March 28, at Frostburg State University. Performances are slated for 2 and 6 p.m., and tickets are on sale now at several locations in Garrett and Allegany counties.

The Ali Ghan Shrine Circus is marking its 45th year, and some "all-time favorite star acts are returning by popular demand, a spokesman said. "Kay Rosaire, Queen of the Jungle, will be back in the big cage with her sleek and meticiously cared for Royal Bengal and white tigers." Ellen Rosaire, sister of Kay Rosaire, will be on hand as well with her comedy act, Shashone the Pony. The entire Rosaire family has been inducted into the Circus Hall of Fame, sponsored by the Ringling Museum in Sarasota, Fla.

Another returning feature act is Guimen Meng, a native of China. "Meng plays very few circus dates, and this show is thrilled to obtain his pulsating act, which consists of rare and priceless Chinese vases, balanced and rotating on his head," said the spokesman.

There will also be performances by "the radiant Rataela on the flying aerial Olympic rings; Dalton and Louise, the Baron of Balance on the risky roly boly; and ring fulls of foot jugglers, funny clowns, and lots of concessions. As always, the Shrine Circus is clean family entertainment with something for everyone."

Advance sale tickets, which are available at a $1 discount below the ticket price at the door, are available from any active Shriner and at these Garrett County locations: Marvin's Men's Wear, Oakland; the Get-N-Go convenience store, Mtn. Lake Park; Deep Creek Pharmacy, McHenry; and Potomac Video's Grantsville and Oakland outlets. Proceeds benefit the Ali Ghan Temple.

Massage Therapy Course Scheduled

Garrett Community College is offering "Overview of Bodywork and Massage," an introductory course covering the concepts and techniques of massage therapy. This 30-hour course will meet in the Continuing Education Center, McHenry campus, for five Saturdays beginning April 10, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

A pre-requisite for students desiring to enroll in the non-credit Massage Therapy curriculum in the fall, the course may also be of interest to individuals in the care giving field. Topics to be covered are the history of massage, relevance of touch to wellness, modalities of massage, the importance of touch to mental and physical deveiopment, indications and contraindications for massage, and business and professional guidelines. A citation will be given upon completion of the course.

The cost is $160 for Garrett County residents. Maryland senior citizens over 60 may enroll at a discount while students from outside Garrett County will pay an additional differential fee. Students may register at the office for Continuing Education and Training (Room 300), McHenry campus, or call 301-387-3069 for additional information.

Dave & Dawn Monahan
Coldwell Banker
Deep Creek Realty

I wish to thank you for the great job you did in helping my family and I find a home. At the time, we were really in a bad situation. We needed to move, and had decided we did not want to rent again. My wife called every real estate company in the county, and you were the first to respond. I had never purchased land before, and had a lot of questions. Dave & Dawn were there to help us through each step of the transaction. You were beneficial to us in our quest for a better life. I would and will recommend your services to others with real estate needs. Thank you so much for friendly and consistent service.

Sincerely,
Blaine and Deborah

YOUR DENTIST CAN ELIMINATE PAIN

In former years people only visited a dentist when their pains became unbearable. Nowadays, children and adults go to a dentist to prevent possible future pains. Modern dental techniques and painless preventive treatments assure a healthy mouth. One new technique recently reported in test is a chemical spray that washes away tooth decay. It could be available in a year or so.

There are also many helpful dental aids and medicines for better mouth care. We carry a complete stock of dental needs and prescription medicines.

The term "treasure" encompasses a myriad of meanings. To some, treasure is the promise of fortune...to others, natural beauty is their treasure. Yet, fortunes are gained and lost; and even nature falls prey to pollution and natural disasters. So, what is indelible in our search for hidden treasures?

Colossians 2:2-3 gives us the answer as we read, "to have all the riches of assured understanding and the knowledge of God's mystery...in whom are hidden all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge."

Worship the Creator this week and uncover the mysteries of His miraculous mercy and love as disclosed in God's Word. They will enrich each moment of your life with the indelible beauty of promised treasure.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

A NEW BEGINNING
March 21, 1999

Background Scripture:
John 3:1-21
Devotional Reading:
1 Corinthians 15:7-22

In the 17th century, when Oliver Cromwell and the Puritans violently wrestled Britain from Charles I, they tried Archbishop Laud for treason. Of all the major crimes of which he was accused, he was able to prove his innocence. But the Puritans said he should be put to death anyway, because his many minor crimes put together equaled the major crime of treason. "This is the first time in my life," said the outraged Laud, that I ever heard men declare that 200 black cats make one black horse."

From the pronouncements of some Christians, one might easily get the impression that the gospel is essentially about judgment and punishment. Like the Puritans of old, some Christians are more likely to be defined by what they condemn than what they embrace. To be sure, judgment is part of the gospel, but it is God's judgment of us, not our judgment of each other.

The New Testament is unequivocally clear—from Jesus' warning to "Judge not, that you be not judged," (Mt. 7:1) to Paul's searing question: "Why do you pass judgment on your brother?" (Romans 14:10), to John's statement of the gospel in miniature: "For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, that whoever believes in him should not perish but have eternal life. For God sent his Son into the world, not to condemn the world, but that the world might be saved through him" (Jn. 3:17).

HE CAME BY NIGHT

John is demonstrating the superiority of the gospel over the religious legal ruler of the Jews. Nicodemus was a distinguished member of the old order come to meet and discuss with Jesus the pioneer of the new order. Though he came secretly by night, Nicodemus appears to be both sincere and respectful.

As he so often does in John's gospel, Jesus responds to a question in an unexpected way, cutting to the heart of the matter. "Truly, truly I say to you, unless one is born anew, he cannot see the kingdom of God" (3:3). It seems that Nicodemus did not understand that Jesus is speaking about spiritual rebirth, not physical. So Jesus points to two levels of existence: the sphere of flesh and the other of the spirit. When he calls for us to be reborn he is speaking of spiritual rebirth, a rebirth that only God can give us.

TRANSFORMED WITHIN

For Nicodemus this is so different from Pharasaism, where a man earns salvation by his adherence to the law. But the gospel is dependent, not upon works of the law but the grace of God. It results, not in the control of a person's outward acts, but a transformation from within. As Joseph Alleine puts it, "Conversion is no repairing of the old building; but takes all down and erects a new structure."

The Pharasaic legal system sought to control behavior through rules. The gospel, on the other, was one of transformation. Jesus likened the Spirit through which transformation is effected to the wind. This was a play on words since in both Greek and Hebrew the term for "wind" and "spirit" were the same words. Rather than being subject to human will, the Spirit is spontaneous and unpredictable. "The wind blows where it wills, and you hear the sound of it, but you do not know whence it comes or wither it goes; so it is with everyone born of the Spirit" (3:8) A new beginning is always possible.

So, what happened to Nicodemus? Did he become converted. John doesn't tell us and none of the other three Evangelists even mention him. But, later in John 7 he defends Jesus from unjust accusations and in 19:39 he joins with Joseph of Arimathea in providing Jesus with a decent burial. Both of these actions required considerable courage. I believe he made a new beginning.

4-H Club News

Ryan's Glade 4-H Club Marks 40th Anniversary

by David Cummings
Reporter

This year the members of the Ryan's Glade 4-H Club are celebrating the 40th anniversary of the club's founding. The club was started in 1958 when a boys' club and a girls' club joined together.

The club has had various leaders, starting with Elbert Riley. Mr. and Mrs. Audley Riley were selected as the local leaders in 1959, positions they held for the next 10 years. Larry and Janet Tichnell were asked to take over for Mrs. Riley in 1969, and they held the posts until 1985, when Larry and Judy Gordon took over leadership and served until 1991. The current leaders, Sue and Ray Steyer, assumed their positions in January 1992.

Club member Garland Steyer won an all-expenses-paid trip to a dairy conference in Chicago, Ill., in 1958. Rodney John Dodd, an international farm youth exchange student from New Zealand, was a guest on a hay ride in 1960. Kathy Nice Lilly attended the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago in 1978.

The club has received 13 banner seals through the years, and has also been recognized for state honors 11 times. In 1962 the club won the Golden Tomahawk at the Garrett County Campfire event. The club has won various ribbons on the booths that it has sponsored through the years at Garrett County and Maryland State Agriculture fairs. The awards won by the club are on display at the Ryan's Glade Community Building.

The club's main fund-raiser for the past several years has been an Autumn Glory dinner. The club is also involved in community service projects, including clean-up along White Church Road every spring and visiting the residents of several local nursing homes. Other activities of club members include camping trips, swimming outings, field trips, and selling food at auctions.

4-H Sunday is observed each year as club members tell the other members of their respective churches what 4-H means to them.

The leaders and members of Ryan's Glade 4-H Club and the Clovers, a new group for children ages 5-7, have a number of activities and projects planned for the rest of this year and look forward to the future. Those persons interested in joining 4-H in Garrett County may contact the Extension Service office at 301-334-6960, and the staff there will help find a club that fits their specific needs.

RYAN'S GLADE

by David Cummings
Reporter

The January meeting of the Ryan's Glade 4-H Club included a report by Jeanine Cummings about the club's Christmas party, which had featured a short meeting followed by a pizza and sub meal, a session of games provided by junior leaders Carrie Steyer and Daniel Cummings, and the opening of Christmas presents.

January's meeting continued as members discussed what activities they would like to be involved in this year. Camping, swimming, roller skating, biking, hiking, sled riding, and a hay ride at the fort were all considered, as well as several service projects, including visits to a nursing home, clean-up days along local roadways, and helping to cleanup the community building.

The club will pay for insurance for members participating in activities and projects, while adults are asked to pay their own insurance.

Club members were scheduled to assist with a wedding in early February as part of their community service.

A covered dish dinner was held during the February meeting, which also included a cake decorating demonstration by Jeanine Cummings.

Club members observed the 40th anniversary of the founding of the Ryan's Glade 4-H Club during the February meeting as well. A short report on the club's history was read by Chrissy and Katie Steyer, and Janet Tichnell made a presentation on the same topic.

Sue Steyer led an awards program. Each member received an award, and trophies were presented to Daniel Cummings and Chrissy and Carrie Steyer.

SHEPHERDS

by Bridget Miller
Reporter

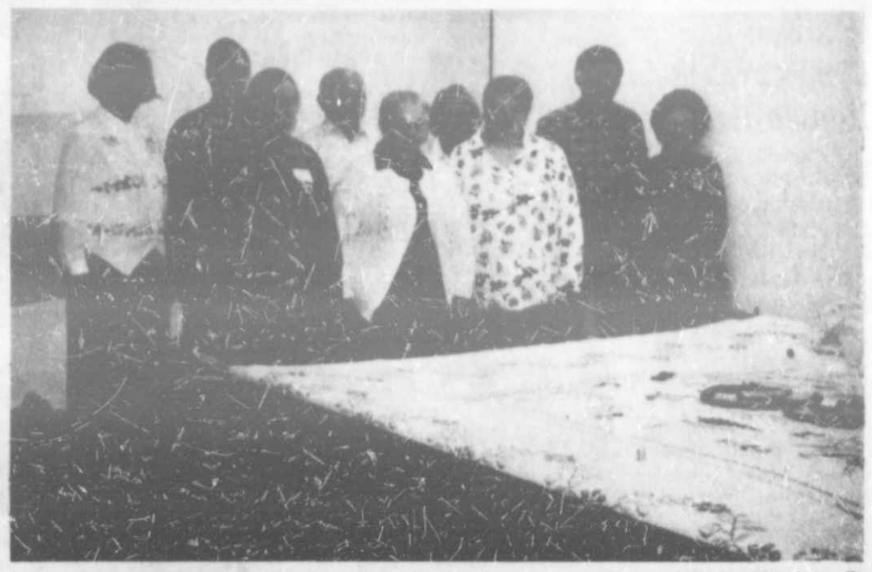
The March meeting of the Shepherds 4-H Club was held at the Extension Service office.

Members discussed the 4-H Achievement Dinner, scheduled for Saturday, April 10, at Northern High School. The club will be participating, and intends to purchase a pair of gift certificates from Garrett 8 Cinemas to contribute as a doorprize.

Scholarship booklets were distributed to members who are either currently in their freshman year of college or who are entering college next fall.

Club members also discussed future activities they are interested in, including a miniature golf outing when the weather permits and a field trip to the Maryland State Fair in August. The club is working on getting information on rocket projects also.

The next Shepherds meeting will be held on Monday, April 12, at 7:30 p.m. at the Extension Service office.



BENEFIT AUCTION PLANNED - With September 18 set as the date for the benefit auction at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, 40 representatives of local Mennonite, Conservative, and Amish churches met to finalize plans for this first Maryland/Pennsylvania/West Virginia Relief Sale. Proceeds will benefit the Mennonite Central Committee (MCC), a worldwide mission organization. Many and varied items have been donated to the cause. Among these are handmade quilts, artwork such as P. Buckley Moss prints, pottery by Lynn Lais of Spruce Forest Artisan Village, hand-crafted furniture, and numerous others. The Garrett County event will be one of 41 to be held in the United States and Canada. Of the funds earned, more than 88 percent go directly to missions, one of which is the local Mennonite Disaster Service, whose volunteers aided the clean-up effort of the May 1998 tornado disaster in southern Somerset County, Pennsylvania, and the western Maryland area. Some of those involved in the planning process are pictured above. In row one from left are Dale Miller, Vera Beltzel, Edith Butler, and Sharon Livengood. In the back row are Dianne Holsopple, Ernest Holsopple, Elvin Beltzel, Harriet Hershberger, and John Hepler.

Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty Honors Employees

Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty recognized its award-winning associates at a breakfast meeting held recently at the Deer Park Inn. The annual Award and Kickoff Breakfast honored associates in several different categories for their accomplishments during 1998.

Dave Monahan was recognized for achieving the highest gross commission income among all sales associates this past year. He also received awards for most listings sold, most buyer controlled sales, and highest number of closed revenue units. Monahan works with his wife Dawn, also a Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty sales associate, and with assistant Melissa Nicholson.

Runners up in the highest gross commission income category were Esther Friend with the second highest total and Goldie Shugars in third place. Denise Sanders had the second highest totals in the categories of most listings sold, most buyer controlled sales, and highest number of closed revenue units. Lana Roby took third place in the categories of most listings sold and highest number of closed revenue units, and Esther Friend took third place in most buyer controlled sales. Denise Sanders and Anna Buckingham shared the awards for most improved sales associate.

Honorees from the company's rental department were agent Debbie Estill, who was honored for outstanding customer service, and agent Sondra Poe, who was recognized for dedication and loyalty in over six years of service. Receptionist Ann Eder was recognized for offering superior support.

Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty realized an increase of 22.99% in gross sales commission income for 1998 over 1997's total. Closed revenue units increased by 23.72% over the same time period. Total sales volume for the company increased by 22.66% in 1998.

Newspaper Insert Lists Owners Of Unclaimed Funds

The Maryland State Comptroller's Office is publishing an eight-page advertising supplement that will appear in 29 newspapers throughout the state between March 16 and March 25 to help locate about 8,000 individuals and businesses who are among the most recently reported owners of millions of dollars in unclaimed funds.

The advertising supplement will appear in The Republican next Thursday, March 25.

The comptroller's website, www.marylandtaxes.com, also has more than 40,000 recently reported names of unclaimed property owners. The office has records on 300,000 accounts worth more than $100 million.

"If you find your name in the ad supplement or at the comptroller's website, please call our unclaimed property office at 410-767-1700 in central Maryland, or toll-free 1-800-782-7383 from elsewhere," said Comptroller William Donald Schaefer. "Most of these advertised accounts are still being held by financial institutions and corporations, and we'll give you important information to claim your money."

Financial institutions and corporations are required to report funds that have been unclaimed for five years. The spring advertisement mostly reflects bank accounts which had no deposit or withdrawal activity in the last five years, unclaimed wages, contents of safe deposit boxes if the box rent is not paid for five years, unclaimed security deposits, and stocks and bonds.

Approximately 80 days after the publication of the ad, businesses that hold accounts that remain unclaimed will turn the money over to the state. However, that money remains the property of the owners or their legitimate heirs, and they can claim the funds any time. There is no statute of limitations.

The comptroller's office advertises recently reported names of unclaimed property owners each spring and fall. The statewide advertising campaign last fall generated calls and letters from more than 13,000 individuals. Other outreach efforts include computer file matches with Internal Revenue Service and other government agencies and setting up computers at the State Fair, local fairs, trade shows, and shopping malls to allow people to check the unclaimed property files.

Unclaimed funds worth millions of dollars are claimed every year. In calendar year 1998 alone, the comptroller's office honored 9,986 claims totaling $14,236,759. The average claim was $1,426.

NOTICE

TO ALL PROPERTY TAX PAYERS OF DEER PARK

Pursuant to Tax-Property Article 10-204.3 of the Annotated Code of Maryland counties and municipal corporations are required to notify taxpayers of the availability of the semi-annual property tax payment option for owner-occupied residential property that is the principal residence of a homeowner.

If a taxpayer elects to make semi-annual property tax payments, ½ of the municipal taxes will be deferred until January 1. The second payment, due January 1, will incur a service charge reasonably equivalent to the anticipated lost interest income associated with the delay in the payment of the second installment and covering administrative expenses associated with the semi-annual payment not exceeding 10% of the charge of the lost interest.

To be eligible to make this election of semi-annual payment, all previous year taxes must be paid in full by June 1. Taypayers not making their first semi-annual payment by September 30 are automatically waived out of the semi-annual plan and must pay the full tax bill.

Selection of payment schedule for property taxes may be made upon receipt of tax bill. If taxpayer wishes to pay in full, he must choose the appropriate coupon and return it with the proper payment. If the taxpayer wishes to participate in the semi-annual payment option, the appropriate coupon should be returned with the payment before the September 30 deadline.

It is the responsibility of the taxpayers to notify their mortgage company of their wishes to pay on a semi-annual basis if they have an escrow account. The town is not responsible for any involvement in the semi-annual payment process.

Whatever payment plan the taxpayer elects shall remain in effect until the taxpayer decides to change it.

Funding Increased For Rural Housing Site Loan Program

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) is allocating more resources to a program that helps low-income rural people buy land on which to build houses. USDA has put $10 million into its Rural Housing Site Loan program for 1999, up sharply from $1.2 million last year.

"This dramatic increase in funding highlights the Clinton administration's efforts to bring more housing opportunities to low- and moderate-income families," said Jack Walls, USDA Rural Development state director for Delaware and Maryland. "At an average site cost of $20,000, this money will allow USDA to help 500 rural families become homeowners."

Site loan program funds are available to nonprofit housing developers, who purchase tracts of land and arrange for the installation of utility lines and roads. Funds may also be used for landscaping or other necessary facilities related to homes, such as driveways and sidewalks. These features become permanent components of the new rural subdivision.

Individual housing sites are then sold to prospective homeowners who may be eligible for other USDA Single Family Housing loan program funds. These other programs provide loans to people who would not otherwise qualify for a home loan through commercial banks. In addition, USDA's Mutual Self-Help Housing program provides training so that low-income rural people can build their own homes. In the process, many learn new skills that can lead to new careers.

For more information on any USDA Rural Housing program, interested persons may contact a USDA Rural Development office or call the national office at 202-720-4323. The Rural Development Office of the Garrett County USDA Service Center may be reached at 301-334-6951.

Named To USAA

Southern Middle School student Kristen M. Rollman, pictured above, has been named to the United States Achievement Academy (USAA) for her accomplishments in mathematics and physical education.

She was nominated for the award by SMS teachers William Janoske and Donna Durst. Students selected for the USAA must be recommended by a qualified sponsor and meet a number of criteria, including academic performance, leadership qualities, responsibility.

Rollman is the daughter of Bob and Nancy Rollman of Mtn. Lake Park.

THE BLOOD

"For the life of the flesh is in the blood: and I have given it to you upon the altar to make an atonement for your souls: for it is the blood that maketh an atonement for the soul" (Leviticus 17:11)

MAN'S GREATEST NEED

The blood of Jesus Christ is God's way of meeting man's greatest need. God is holy, but man is sinful. Sin has separated man from God. To be separated from God at death means to spend eternity in Hell, for sin must be punished. God will not excuse sin.

GOD'S GREATEST SACRIFICE

God sent His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, to die on the cross as the payment for our sins: "Whom God hath set forth to be a propitiation through faith in his blood..." Notice in Romans 3:25 that it was God's plan, not man's: "Whom God hath set forth... Second, that Christ died to pay for our sins: "...to be a propitiation..." Finally, that forgiveness is obtained simply by trusting what Jesus has done: "...through faith in his blood...

Because of the blood, God can show mercy to sinners, yet still remain holy and just. "...that he might be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." (Romans 3:26)

WHAT WILL JESUS' BLOOD DO?

The blood washes and cleanses us from sin. ... Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood," (Revelation 1:5) "...and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin." (1 John 1:7)

The blood pays for our forgiveness. "In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins..." (Ephesians 1:7)

The blood makes peace with God. "And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself..." (Colossians 1:20)

The blood saves us from God's wrath. "Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him." (Romans 5:9)

The blood opens the way to Heaven. "Having therefore, brethren, baldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus," (Hebrews 10:19)

WHAT MUST I DO?

Admit your need: "For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God;" (Romans 3:23) "For I acknowledge my transgressions...I will be sorry for my sin." (Psalms 51:3 & 38:18)

Trust God's promises completely: ...Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved..." (Acts 16:31) "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: Not of works, lest any man should boast." (Ephesians 2:8,9) "Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot:" (I Peter 1:18, 19)

Call on God in faith: "..God be merciful to me a sinner" (Luke 18:13) "For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved." (Romans 10:13)

YOUR GREATEST DECISION

Jesus shed His blood, was buried, and rose the third day. At this moment He stands ready, able, and willing to save you. The choice is yours. A song says,"if the blood of Christ is sufficient for God, it is surely sufficient for me." It is the blood that satisfies God. Why not put your trust in Christ's finished work, and call on Him for salvation now?

"Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them." Hebrews 7:25

- Dr. Earl White

"And from Jesus Christ, who the faithful witness, and the First begotten of the dead and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood," (Revelation 1:5).

If you trusted the Lord Jesus Christ as Saviour after reading this, please let us know.

COVER STORY

ABC hopes new shows connect with audience

By Suzanne Gill
©TVData Features Syndicate

Norm Macdonald

ABC is subbing a couple of new players into its comedy lineup Wednesday, March 24.

Joining the rotation after Dharma & Greg is It's Like, You Know ... and following Drew Carey is The Norm Show. To make room, Two Guys, a Girl and a Pizza Place is sitting out the next six weeks, and Whose Line Is It Anyway? has been benched for the rest of the season.

Both newcomers represent risks for the network. But if you're ever going to score, you have to be willing to take a shot.

Viewers who have come to rely on the white-bread softness of Two Guys may get a jolt from It's Like. The series mines its laughs in Los Angeles, the world's most self-absorbed city. Where comedy is concerned, this is very fertile ground; an entire episode is based on how Angelenos will drop everything to watch a car chase on TV.

Steven Eckholdt (Message in a Bottle) stars as Robbie Graham, who struck it rich in pay-per-view TV. Evan Handler plays his slacker landlord, Shrug, who lives on a trust fund.

Next door is actress Jennifer Grey, played by ... Jennifer Grey (Dirty Dancing). The show gets much mileage out of Grey's change in appearance since her nose job.

Chris Eigeman plays New Yorker Arthur Garment, a fish out of water who represents the point of view of Earth's other 5 billion people. A.J. Langer co-stars as Lauren Woods, Arthur's ideal woman, who works as a masseuse and process server.

It's Like, You Know ... has the whininess of thirtysomething, the purposelessness of Seinfeld and the conspicuous comforts of Dallas. The satire gets a boost from visual jokes (ubiquitous bottled water) and unbilled cameos (Kato Kaelin appears in one episode).

The pilot episode is not the series' best. A long scene on an airplane establishes Arthur's character but feels like lead. And a running gag involving comments made by two women is utterly pointless. But, like wet cement in front of a certain Hollywood Chinese restaurant, It's Like gels quickly and leaves a distinct impression.

The Norm Show is a darker horse. Star Norm Macdonald is the former stand-up comic and Roseanne writer who took his snide, sarcastic wit to the "Weekend Update" desk at Saturday Night Live.

Buttressing Macdonald's marginal acting talent are executive producer Bruce Helford (Roseanne, The Drew Carey Show) and co-star Laurie Metcalf (Roseanne).

Macdonald plays Norm Henderson, a hockey player sentenced to do community service for tax evasion. In an instant, he's a social worker rubbed the wrong way by the rules and regulations that govern his work. His saving grace is co-worker and mentor Laurie (Metcalf).

Love Norm or leave it; Macdonald won't care. When pressed for his comic philosophy, he says, "I hope the audience is pleased, but I don't know how to write for an audience. I only know how to write what I think is funny. So if the audience doesn't laugh, that doesn't mean I'm wrong; it means they're wrong."

B*Witched and Five imported for In Concert

The Disney Channel reaches "across the pond" for the stars of its latest concert special.

B*Witched, a group of four colleens from Dublin, Ireland, joins the British guy group Five for *B*Witched and Five in Concert*, debuting Saturday, March 27. Looking at the sum of their parts, four may prove to be more than five – at least when it comes to music.

The hourlong concert, taped at Disneyland, begins with the newcomers of B*Witched. At the group's core are 18-year-old twins Edele and Keavy Lynch. Keavy was responsible for recruiting the quartet's two other members, Lindsay Armaou and Sinead O'Carroll.

In "Rollercoaster," "C'est la Vie" and four other tunes, they weave a traditional Irish flavor into their bright pop sound. Songwriters as well as singers, they emphasize a take-charge zest for life in their lyrics.

The honesty of B*Witched is only underscored when Five takes the stage.

Five (a k a 5ive), whose members – Jason Paul "J" Brown, Richard Abidin "Abs" Breen, Richard Neville, Sean Kieran Conlon and Scott James Tim Robinson – range in age from 17 to 22, was formed by Bob and Chris Herbert, originators of the Spice Girls.

The Herberts have given Five a gang-banger look and blended hip-hop and funk elements into its pop repertoire. The group's six-song set includes "It's the Things You Do," "Slam Dunk (Da Funk)" and the hit "When the Lights Go Out."

All the attitude of Five's act (and there's plenty) doesn't hide the fact it's mostly veneer. B*Witched, though, looks like the real deal.

B*Witched (Edele and Keavy Lynch, Lindsay Armaou, and Sinead O'Carroll, from left) joins Five for *B*Witched and Five in Concert* Saturday on the Disney Channel.

Jean Stapleton

Q: How did the character of Edith Bunker die on All in the Family? –Lisa in Wantage, N.J.

Q: I recently saw Patrick Swayze on a *M*A*S*H* episode. I didn't know he was that old. When was that episode made? And Dirty Dancing? –Laura Rautio, Roseville, Mich.

A: Swayze was born Aug. 8, 1952, which makes him 46 now. That was a 1981 *M*A*S*H* episode. Dancing was released in 1987.

Q: Did Patrick Swayze play Reuben in the TV movie A Father for Charlie? Also, are Andrew and Elisabeth Shue related? –Debra Coy, Winter Haven, Fla.

A: Don Swayze, Patrick's kid brother, played Reuben. The Shues are brother and sister.

Q: Whatever happened to Cleavon Little, whom you recently mentioned in connection with Temperatures Rising? –Helen Nagy, Topock, Ariz.

A: Little had more than two dozen roles in movies and television after Temperatures was canceled in 1974, including Once Bitten with Jim Carrey, plus series roles in Bagdad Cafe and True Colors. He died of colon cancer in 1992.

Q: Who is the guy in the Zyban ads? We are pretty sure he starred with Desi Arnaz Jr. in a science-fiction series a while back, but what has he been doing lately? –Loretta and family in Erie, Pa.

A: That's Chuck Wagner, who had the title role in 1983's short-lived Automan with Arnaz. Wagner has been spending most of his time on the Broadway stage and on tour. He played Rapunzel's Prince in the musical Into the Woods and starred as the Beast in Disney's stage adaptation of Beauty and the Beast.

Q: Did Sydney Penny (Hyperion Bay) play in The Thorn Birds many years ago? –M.L., Avon Park, Fla.

A: Yes, Penny played the young Meggie in that 1983 miniseries with Richard Chamberlain and Rachel Ward.

Q: My boyfriend insists Robin Wright Penn (Message in a Bottle) was never in Santa Barbara. I say she played Kelly or Eden. Who is right? –Trish via e-mail.

A: Before she met husband Sean Penn, the actress originated the role of Kelly Capwell from 1984 to 1988 on that soap.

Q: I've been watching reruns of Emergency! and one of the doctors, Mike Morton, looks like Richard Biggs of Babylon 5. Is it the same guy? –S.R., Webb City (no state).

A: Biggs was all of 11 years old when Emergency! premiered in 1972. That was Ron Pinkard as Dr. Morton.

FRIDAY

Fitz (Robert Pastorelli) suspects that a teacher is involved in the hanging death of a 14-year-old outcast in Cracker, airing Friday on A&E Network.

IN FOCUS

Discovery Channel looks into the jaws of the crocodile in The Ultimate Guide: Crocodiles, airing Monday, March 22.

This portrait of the world's largest predatory reptile includes footage of the beast in its natural habitat. Computer graphics show how 200 million years of adaptation have heightened its senses into a formidable guidance system.

The crocodile's muscle-packed tail can launch it six feet out of the water. It can grow up to 23 feet long.

TRIVIA

In 1983, Linda Hunt won the Academy Award for best actress for her portrayal of a man in The Year of Living Dangerously.

TRIVIA

James Dean, who is credited in just three films, was nominated posthumously for best actor in 1955 (East of Eden) and 1956 (Giant).

Meeting Slated On Brain Injury Survivors' Needs

Family members, caregivers, and survivors of traumatic brain injury (TBI) will be given the opportunity to speak out about their needs at a regional town meeting for residents of Garrett and Allegany counties. The forum will be held at Allegany College of Maryland, Cumberland, on Monday, March 29, at 7 p.m.

Rebecca Price of the Brain Injury Association of Maryland, a coordinator of the meeting, explained that in rural communities such as those in western Maryland, services for people who has suffered TBI are often lacking. "There aren't any programs in Garrett or Allegany County for survivors of brain injury. I have clients that I work with in each county, but there are no programs to address their needs," she said.

The meeting at Allegany College this month will give members of the community who need support in dealing with the aftermath of TBI a chance to examine and address their needs and possible solutions, Price said.

Sponsors for the regional meeting are the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene and the Brain Injury Association of Maryland. For more information, persons may call 301-777-2119.

Allegany College of Maryland is located at 12401 Willow Brook Road, off I-68 at exit 44. The meeting will be held in the Continuing Education building.

Springs Church To Hold Special 50-Day Program

Members of the Springs (Pa.) Mennonite Church will launch a 50-Day spiritual adventure called "Promises Worth Keeping: Resolving to Live What We Say We Believe." The "adventure" will take place from Sunday, April 11, through May 30.

The program, an annual event created by Mainstay Church Resources and the Chapel Ministries, is used in thousands of churches nationwide, according to a church spokesperson.

"This year's topic was developed in cooperation with Promise Keepers, the national men's outreach known best for its huge stadium events. This series will take the seven promises of Promise Keepers and expand them for use by the entire church — men, women, and children," the spokesperson said.

Pastor Steven J. Heatwole invites all who "are interested in learning about life promises and priorities" to attend a weekly service on Sundays at 10:30 a.m. The church is located at 1686 Springs Road (Route 669), Springs. Interested persons may call the church office at 814-662-4201.

FSU To Host Annual Salem Conference

The third annual Salem Conference on Children will be held on Tuesday, April 6, and Wednesday, April 7, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. each day in the Lane Center of Frostburg State University. Participants may register for either or both days, and the registration deadline is Friday, March 26.

The conference is provided for social workers, psychologists, professional counselors, child-care workers, foster parents, and all other interested persons. Attendance for both days of the Salem Conference is recommended by the organizers, but single day enrollment is available. The first day will stress the theoretical basis of RAD (Reactive Attachment Disorder) for mental health professionals and parents, while the second day will focus on RAD for parents and interested professionals in a more applications-based format.

The featured speaker will be Nancy Thomas, author, instructor, and a professional therapeutic parent for the Attachment Center in Evergreen, Colo., from 1985 to 1996. Her presentation is titled "Attachment: Rebuilding the Broken Bond," which will highlight her experiences in bonding with, and conscience development in, high-risk children.

A sought-after speaker at seminars around the country since her work was highlighted in the 1990 HBO special "Child of Rage," Thomas has designed her presentations to provide parents with the skills necessary to teach their children how to be respectful, responsible, and "fun to be around." A conference organizer added that Thomas "currently spends her 'spare time' teaching 'power-parenting' classes for parents whose children are out of control."

FSU will award continuing education category B hours for psychologists and category 1 hours for social workers. One-day participants will receive 5 hours, while two-day participants will receive 10 hours. Garrett Community College will award 5 or 10 credits for national board certified counselors. There is a cost to participants for professional continuing education, and GCC will issue participation citations at no additional cost to the remaining participants.

There is a cost for participation, and complimentary refreshments and lunch will be provided. Discounts are available to agencies who wish to send 10 or more individuals. Interested persons can call 301-387-3080 for registration information.

Co-sponsors of the Salem Conference on Children include the Maryland Salem Children's Trust, Pressley Ridge of Western Maryland, GCC, FSU, Allegany College of Maryland, Western Maryland Area Health Education Center, and both Garrett and Allegany Departments of Social Services.

Frostburg State To Host Lecture About Disability

The Frostburg State University SAFE and BURG Peer Education Office will sponsor "Wayne Chambers: Nowhere to Run" on Tuesday, April 20, at 7 p.m. in the FSU Lane Center, Room 201.

A local resident, Chambers became legally blind and a spastic quadriplegic after suffering a drug and alcohol induced coma at age 15. Now, 18 years later, he remains confined to a wheel chair.

Chambers speaks on behalf of the United Cerebral Palsy of Central Maryland (UCP/CM), an organization which educates the public on cerebral palsy and gives those with the disability an opportunity for equality.

This event is free and open to the public. For more information, persons may telephone 301-687-4761.

ANOTHER CHANCE TO SIGN UP FOR MEDICARE

If you are eligible for Medicare's medical insurance (Part B) but haven't signed up, you can do so now during the annual "general enrollment period" for Medicare from January 1 until March 31, according to Elizabeth Augustine, manager of the Cumberland field office.

Beneficiaries who decided not to sign up for Medicare's medical insurance when they first became eligible or those who had the medical insurance at one time, but dropped it, can take advantage of enrolling during this three-month period.

Medicare's medical insurance helps pay for doctors' visits, outpatient hospital treatment, and other medical services and supplies not covered by Medicare's hospital insurance (Part A).

The cost of the medical insurance premium is $45.50 a month in 1999. However, beneficiaries who sign up now instead of when they were originally eligible will have an additional 10 percent added to their premium for each full 12-month period they could have been, but were not, enrolled. If you sign up at any time from January 1, 1999, to March 31, 1999, your coverage will begin July 1, 1999.

However, you may be able to delay enrollment in Medicare's medical insurance without paying a premium penalty or waiting for a general enrollment period if you or your spouse are still working. You can enroll in medical insurance during an eight-month special enrollment period if you have group health plan coverage from your current employment at the time you first became eligible for Medicare. This special enrollment period begins with the month employment ends or the month your group health plan coverage ends, whichever comes first.

If you are interested in enrolling in Medicare's medical insurance or would like more information, you can call, write, or visit your Social Security office, or call Social Security's national toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213.

Agency On Aging Workshop Set For World Health Day

"Healthy Aging, Healthy Living—Start Now!" is the theme for World Health Day, set for Wednesday, April 7. The Garrett County Area Agency on Aging will be coordinating the local observance of World Health Day by offering a day-long free workshop for all Garrett County residents 60 or above at the Mary Browning Senior Center.

"The World Health Day 1999 initiative promotes the concept that Americans can make a significant impact on their aging experience through good nutrition, physical activity/exercise and other positive lifestyle choices, as well as by remaining an active participant in society," an Agency on Aging spokesperson commented.

The April 7 workshop at the Mary Browning Senior Center, located at 104 East Center Street in Oakland, will begin at 8:30 a.m. with a continental breakfast, followed the keynote address "Healthy Aging and Loving Every Minute," which will be delivered by Kathy Greaser, director of development at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Greaser also heads the hospital's public relations, volunteer services, and GCMH Foundation departments.

In addition to presentations by Greaser and several other speakers, the workshop will include sessions titled Eating Right, Keep Moving, Vaccines and Immunizations, Using Medicines Safely, Hearing and Aging, Got the Blues?, Fine-Tuning Your Balance, and Preventive Services Covered by Medicare. Reservations are required for a lunch that will be served to interested workshop participants between the morning and afternoon sessions. The afternoon sessions will begin at 1 and end at 3 p.m.

"People in the United States are living longer, resulting in a larger proportion of the population being classified as older adults (age 65 and over)," the agency spokesperson said. "In 1997, older Americans numbered 34 million, or nearly 13 percent of the population; however, by the year 2030, older Americans will number 70 million and represent 20 percent of the population.

"This growth in the number of older Americans will present numerous challenges to virtually all aspects of our society, including increased stresses on our current systems of transportation, health care, housing and long-term care. Furthermore, a growing body of research reveals that we must change the way we think about aging. The old mindset that aging is an inevitable process of degeneration and disease must be overcome. The evidence is now clear that healthy aging is determined by healthy lifestyle choices and practices more than by genes."

The American Association for World Health is coordinating activities around the nation for 1999 World Health Day, in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, the Pan American Health Organization, and the World Health Organization. These activities are designed to raise awareness about the issues involved in healthy aging, as well as to outline ways that communities can support their aging population.

The Garrett County commissioners will also help raise awareness about the issues involved in healthy aging as they officially endorse World Health Day with a proclamation at their March 30 public meeting.

For more details of the Healthy Aging, Healthy Living—Start Now! workshop or for a registration form, interested persons may call Veronica Padmos at 301-334-9431, ext. 137, or stop by the any senior center to pick up a registration form.

Rt. 40 School PTA Sets Dinner

The Route 40 School PTA is holding its annual roast beef dinner, hosted by the Eastern Garrett County Fire Dept. in Finzel on Sunday, March 28, from noon until 4 p.m. Persons may dine in or purchase take-outs. Center Director To Lead Workshop About Violence

Linda Spassil, director of the Dove Center, will present the workshop "Dynamics of Domestic Violence" at 12:30 p.m. on March 25 in Room 305 of the Continuing Education building at Garrett Community College. This program is free and open to the public.

Participants will learn about the cycle of domestic abuse, how to identify various forms of domestic violence, how to access help when needed, and about the services provided by the Dove Center. The presenter comes to the center after serving as program coordinator of Allegany County's Family Crisis Resource Center for 18 years.

The workshop is sponsored by the New Dimensions, the New Horizons, and the Caring Connection programs of Garrett Community College, under the direction of Barbara Frey. For additional information or to register, interested persons may contact Frey at 301-387-3071 or Mary Kirkland, intake/counselor specialist, at 387-3102.

The New Horizons program is jointly funded by the Maryland State Department of Education and Garrett Community College. Grant funds in the amount of $45,000 are made available to the New Horizons program through the Division of Career Technology and Adult Learning, which is approximately 90% of the total program budget, with GCC contributing an additional $5,300 which is approximately 10% of the total budget. The Caring Connection is 100% funded by the Maryland Department of Education in the amount of $20,000. The New Dimensions program is 100% funded by the Department of Human Resources.

Panelcraft Building Systems

The time to be concerned about how to keep from using so much heating fuel is when you build. Use Panelcraft's Structural Insulated Panels (SIPs).

SIP structures are known for their structural integrity. Nature's storms, earthquakes, tornados, etc., just need a little greater force to do the same amount of damage to SIP structures versus conventional.

Faster - Stronger - Warmer

SIPs consist of Polystyrene laminated between two pieces of structure board, thus creating a very rigid, super insulating panel which is used for Walls, Roofs, Ceilings and Floors, virtually any aspect of your project!

Q. We have six soft plastic character figures from the "Pogo" comic strip. The figures range in height from 4 inches to 5 1/2 inches. They are marked on the bottom with the character's name and the words "Made in Japan, Walt Kelly, 1969." Are they collectible?

A. Your figures represent Pogo Possum, Howland Owl, Albert Alligator, Beauregard Hound, Porky Pine and Churchy LaFemme, a turtle – characters from Kelly's newspaper comic strip.

Kelly worked as an animator for Walt Disney, and in the late 1930s, started drawing the characters in "Pogo" for a series of animal stories that appeared in comic magazines during the 1940s. Kelly began drawing the newspaper strip in 1948. After he died in 1973, it was continued for a couple of years by his heirs.

Your figures are valued at $25 each.

Q. My vase was bought to North America by my Danish grandparents in 1917. It is about 9 inches tall and is painted blue with white flowers and green leaves. The mark on the bottom is circular. The words "Royal Copenhagen" are surrounding a crown. There are three wavy lines under the circle and a fraction on the side. When was my vase made, and what is it worth?

A. The Royal Copenhagen Porcelain Manufactory has been working in Denmark's capital city since 1775. The mark on your vase indicates that it was made between 1894 and 1922 and that it is made with the company's decoration No. 370 on item No. 47C.

Your vase would sell for $100 to $200.

Home Tips

CLEVER KEEPER – My Sunday school class frequently takes food to families with new babies as well as families recovering from illness or who have lost loved ones.

When taking food, I always try not to take it in a plate or dish that the family will feel obligated to return. This presented a problem the day I had to take a cake and didn't have a cardboard bakery round available. So, I cut the top off a pizza delivery box, turning the flaps underneath and taping them down to the underside in order to provide extra support for the edges.

When the cake was ready, I turned it out of the pan and iced it on the pizza-box top. I covered the cake with plastic wrap and delivered it to the family.

Now, when my family orders pizza delivered, I take the box and trim off the top before discarding the rest. Lisa P., S. Euclid, Ohio

PAINTING TIP – After painting our living room with a custom-blended color, I found a great way of remembering what the color is for the next time. When we removed the paintings and wall hangings, I simply wrote the number, brand of paint and how much was used on a piece of paper and taped it to the back of one of the paintings.

Naturally, all the wall hangings have to come off the walls before painting and having the information handy is a wonderful timesaver. Artie W., Abilene, Texas

Biography®

DR. CHARLES GERBA: SHARING GERMS' DIRTY SECRETS

Dr. Charles Gerba, professor of environmental microbiology, is one of the nation's leading experts on disease transmission by microbes. Featured in April's Biography magazine, he's made a career out of proving Mom right: There really are germs lurking around every corner.

His mission has taken him from bus stations and motel rooms to public swimming pools and private kitchens. Gerba, a.k.a. Dr. Germ, travels with his germ-o-meter measuring the number of disease-causing bacteria on bubblegum wads on the underside of restaurant tables, public toilet seats and grimy ceramic mugs atop office coffee machines. And if you think you're safe at home, think again. In one recent study, Gerba found the kitchen is the dirtiest place in most people's houses.

He's helped NASA evaluate space station water purification systems; investigated microbes in an Antarctic research station's wastewater treatment system; traced outbreaks of waterborne illness for many state health departments. "Microorganisms are the third leading cause of death in the U.S. – up from fifth in 1982," Gerba says. "By sometime in the 21st century, they'll be No. 1."

He partly attributes this to increased numbers of people with weakened immune systems from aging or diseases like cancer or AIDS. But the incidence of foodborne illnesses has also risen dramatically in recent decades, thanks to changes in food processing and distribution. Thirty years ago, ground meat in a supermarket package probably came from one local cow. Now, meat – and bacteria – is mixed and processed from literally hundreds of cows. And imported produce doesn't always have the same sanitary standards as ours – meaning that fruits and vegetables irrigated with sewage-contaminated water can now be found in thousands of American supermarkets.

But Gerba's not worried. "The more I learn (about microbes), the less paranoid I get because I know where they live and I can avoid them," he says. "And that's the whole idea."

Howard Prof. To Speak At FSU

Frostburg State University will host Dr. Cain Hope Felder, professor of New Testament language and literature and editor of The Journal of Religious Thought at the Howard University School of Divinity in Washington, D.C., on Monday, April 5, at 7 p.m. in the FSU Lane Center Multi-Use Room. His topic will be "Troubling Biblical Waters: Race, Class, and Family."

"The uniqueness of this event is local churches coming together to sponsor this program with FSU student groups," stated Carmen B. Jackson, assistant to the vice president of student and educational services.

Felder is a Martin Luther King Jr. Freedom Award winner from the Progressive National Baptist Convention, that organization's highest recognition. He is also the founder of the Biblical Institute for Social Change (BISC) and the first national director of the United Methodist Church.

One of Felder's many publications, Troubling Biblical Waters, was nominated for the Schomburg Prize for Excellence in Black History and Culture. His endeavors have been featured in numerous publications, including USA Today, The Washington Post, Ebony, Jet, and The New York Times.

Selections by Unified Voices Under God's Dominion, the FSU student gospel chorus, will be featured in the program.

This event is free and open to the public. Sponsors include FSU, the University's United Voices Under God's Dominion and Black Student Alliance, and Dickerson A.M.E., Ebenezer Baptist and Metropolitan A.M.E. Churches.

CELEBRATING SEUSS - Northern High School's Child Care II students, working in children's centers throughout the area, recently celebrated the birthday of Dr. Seuss with the children at thier placement sites. The NHS students read the lyrical works of the Cat in the Hat author and joined the children in fun-filled activities related to the stories. In the photo above, the children of Willy Wisp Children's Center listen to stories read by NHS students from four books by Dr. Seuss. The students, seated facing the children, from left are Sarah Fratz, Amanda Garlitz, Lani Reedy, and Carrie Kelley. Good Will From Goodwill February was a short month, but full of hearts and love. Several groups brought valentines, including Grantsville Kids Inc. and children from the World Lighthouse Worship Center. Jack Smouse hosted his annual Valentine Party for the employees. There was enough cake to serve all the residents, also. Elaine Yoder cut some daffodil buds from the garden and brought them inside where everyone enjoyed the early blooms. Another early sign of spring was a mechanical chick (locally called a peepie), which was shown to all the residents.

The afternoon activity formerly called Wander In has been changed to Winner's Circle. They do a wide variety of things, including flower arranging, bulletin board, counting and rolling marbles, stringing Cheerios for the birds, and perusing seed catalogs. Tammy Rounds and Krista Yoder are the two new part-time employees in the Activity Department.

Ella Maust hosted the Tea Party on Washington's birthday. She brought gingerbread with each serving appropriately topped with a cherry. The United Church of Christ in Grantsville hosted the birthday party at which Sue Beachy, the leader, introduced her new grandson, Matthew Eliot Knauff. The birthday honorees were: Etta Oates, Ruth Beiler, Abe Blake, Andrew Baluch, Cleamon Yommer, Georgia Fike, and David Pryor.

We are very grateful for the following people who conducted our Thursday morning chapel services: Lewis Tice and Jerry Yoder of Mountain View Christian Fellowship, Duane Frederick of Meadow Mountain Church, and Albert Valentine of Grace Brethren Church of Summit Mills, Pa.

People who donated their time and talents to provide us with our evening programs in February were: Hammers and Strings; representatives of Maple Glen Church; Lois Rowe, Connie Burdock, and Judy Lightner; Mark Durst (activities director at Frostburg Nursing Home); Vic and Jane Kope; members of Mountain View Christian Fellowship; Cherry Glade singers; Byron Miller; the Curtis and Skidmore families; Jack Smouse; Church of Latter Day Saints members; Lisa and Marshall Caton; members of Trinity Assembly of God led by Tom Grazioso; singers and dancers from World Lighthouse Worship Center; a bluegrass group led by Dwayne Lindeman; Clare Cooper; Rev. Dwight Yinkey; Joe Byler family; Glendale Assembly of God members; Oak Park Church of the Brethren musicians; children from Swanton Mennonite Church; Rich Jordan; Dalton Hare; and Frank and Helen West.

We welcome our newest residents to the nursing home: Elizabeth Carola from Washington, Margaret Johnson from Grantsville, Ray Maust from Springs, Pa., Bessie Wilt from Laytonsville, and Muriel Waits, who moved from the GILS apartments to the nursing home.

In Creative Forecasting, a monthly publication for activity and recreation professionals, Idella Bender's poem, "Volunteers Sweeten the Jam," was given prominent recognition. It was published in the April 1999 issue.

The administrative office reports that a camera has been found. The owners should call the main office to identify and claim.

The Village residents met for breakfast on Saturday, Feb. 27, at Casselman's Restaurant to celebrate Florence Beardsley's birthday. She is 87 years young.

The Village had another "brownbag" lunch in the multi-purpose room on March 10, hosted by Frank and Clara Withnell. Dessert, games, and a video were provided.

FSU Art Club Slates Auction

The Frostburg State University Student Art Club, in conjunction with the FSU Parents Association, will sponsor an art auction to benefit the Jesse Gardiner Memorial Fund on Tuesday, April 27, at 7 p.m. in the FSU Lane Center, Room 201.

Gardiner, who was a freshman art major at FSU, died recently of meningococcal bacteremia, a bacterial infection of the blood.

Donations of art work to be auctioned are being accepted to support this fundraising event. Persons who would like to make a donation are asked to contact Sharon Gray, FSU Department of Visual Arts, 301-687-4797, by Friday, April 23.

The FSU Student Art Club extends an invitation to the entire community to support this benefit.

Randolph Lake Opening Slated

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has announced the opening of Jennings Randolph Lake for the 1999 recreation season. Both the Corps boat launch on the West Virginia shore and the boat launch constructed on the Maryland shore by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) will open on April 1.

The Corps facility has parking for 60 cars and trailers, and the Maryland facility can park 50 cars and trailers. The boat launch is alongside Howell Run, just off West Virginia Route 46 three miles north of Elk Garden, W.Va. The Maryland launch is on Mt. Zion Road off Maryland Route 135 near the salt shed on Backbone Mountain.

Both facilities will charge a $2 fee for launching a boat. An annual pass that will allow an unlimited number of launches at the Corps and Maryland launch is on sale for $25 at the Corps park office. Golden Age Passports (for senior citizens) cost $10 and Golden Access Passports (for physically challenged) are free, and allow one to purchase the usual pass for half price or pay $1 per launch at the boat launch only.

For more information, persons may call the Corps park office at 304-355-2346 or 301-359-3861 Monday through Friday between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. For information on the Maryland DNR boat launch, persons may call the Potomac-Garrett State Forest at 301-334-2038 Monday through Friday between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Business Potentials Of Selling To Federal Govt. Discussed In Seminar

A seminar for small business owners interested in providing goods and services to the federal government drew over 50 participants to Garrett Community College last Wednesday, where details of the new HUB Zone (Historically Underutilized Business Zone) Program were outlined by officials from the Small Business Administration (SBA).

All of Garrett County and portions of Allegany County qualify for the federally mandated program, designed "to increase the flow of federal dollars to these areas, creating employment and economic development for small business," said Allan Stephenson, district director of SBA's Baltimore district office.

The event was co-sponsored by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce and the offices of U.S. Senators Barbara Mikulski and Paul Sarbanes. Tim Magrath, Senator Sarbanes' western Maryland liaison, commented that the state is "already fourth in the nation in government procurement due to its proximity to the D.C. area."

Participating businesses will be eligible for up to a 10 percent preference in the federal contract bidding process. To qualify, an enterprise must be designated a "small business," based on the number of employees and dollars of revenue over a three-year period. The business must be owned and controlled by a U.S. citizen, at least 35 percent of the company's employees must reside in a HUB Zone, and the bulk of its business activity must also be in a HUB Zone.

"The types of contracts awarded consist of competitive contracts—those with competition in bidding from other HUB Zone businesses only; sole source; and full and open contracts with price evaluations," said SBA official Rick Miller. The amount of contract dollars available to HUB Zones is based on 1 percent of the total dollars spent by the federal government. By the year 2002 the percentage increases to 2.5 percent, which will make $452.5 million dollars available in contracts to small businesses located in hub zone areas.

Applications for the HUB Zone Program will be available no later than March 31, said Michael McHale, SBA's assistant administrator, and the certification process will be fully electronic and accessed via the Internet, with a processing time of 30 days or less. Businesses will be notified in writing when the application is approved. Businesses will then be immediately added to the list of enterprises available to do business with the government. Businesses without Internet access can call the SBA and arrangements will be made to have the service provided at no cost to the business.

Ten federal government agencies are currently providing procurement opportunities in this initial year of the program: the departments of Veteran Affairs, Defense, Agriculture, Treasury, Energy, Health and Human Services, and Housing and Urban Development; the General Services and Environmental Protection agencies; and the National Air and Space Administration. By 2001 all agencies of the federal government will be required to provide contracts to HUB Zone businesses.

Interested local business owners may obtain one of the information packets that were distributed at the seminar by calling the Chamber of Commerce office at 301-387-6171. Further details about the HUB Zone Program and other services of the SBA are available online at www.sba.gov/hub, while additional information on procurement opportunities of federal agencies is available through the Commerce Business Daily, which is linked to SBA's web site. Rick Miller, procurement chief with SBA's Baltimore district office, can be reached at 410-962-4392, ext. 322.

HUB ZONE SEMINAR DRAWS INTERESTED CROWD - Over 50 local entrepreneurs and business leaders attended a recent seminar on how small businesses can capitalize on federal contract bidding preferences available through the HUB Zone (Historically Underutilized Business Zone) program of the Small Business Administration. Seated in the center foreground of the above audience photo, Garrett County Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Ken Wishnick, left, and David Moe, the Chamber's president, who commented that "now HUB Zone-based businesses have a leg up on the major metropolitan-based companies." Wishnick added afterwards that he was "very excited by the program, and I believe it will result in a significant increase in contracts awarded to businesses in Garrett County." Pictured at right is Rick Miller, chief of procurement for SBA's Baltimore district office, who was one of the seminar's presenters. Further information on the HUB Zone program is available from the Chamber of Commerce at 301-387-6171, or the SBA Baltimore district office at 410-962-4392, ext. 322.

SUPPORT FOR HOSPICE — Hospice of Garrett County recently received a donation from Beitzel Corporation to purchase an RCA 8mm Proview Camcorder to be used as one of the top prizes for the fourth annual Walk For Hospice. The camcorder has a three-inch color display panel, 32:1 zoom, plus electronic image stabilization and full function remote. The Walk For Hospice will be held April 17 at Deep Creek Lake State Park beginning with registration at 9 a.m. Persons may contact the Hospice office at 301-334-5151 or the Grantsville area at 1-800-521-5252 for information. In the above photo, Don Brenneman, vice president of Beitzel Corporation, is presenting the check to Brenda Butscher, executive director of Hospice.

Oakland Awarded Funds To Purchase Flood Prone Home

A grant to Oakland of $3,000 to acquire a flood prone home on property along Liberty Street has been approved by the Board of Public Works, under the State Comprehensive Flood Management Grant Program. The one-story residence been flooded on several occasions.

Once purchased, the town plans to demolish the structure and designate the land as permanent open space. This action is in line with policies stated by Gov. Parris Glendening. "We are committed to eliminating flood-ravaged structures such as this one in Oakland, They pose a risk to the health and safety of their occupants as well as others downstream," the governor said.

In addition to the state grant, the Federal Emergency Management Agency will contribute $18,000 and Oakland will match the state's contribution.

Brad Frantz, director of Garrett County Office of Emergency Management, noted his appreciation of the cooperation of local, state, and federal agencies in the acquisition of this property. "Garrett County looks forward to continued cooperation with the state of Maryland in future mitigation projects," he stated.

Grantsville To Host Bloodmobile

An American Red Cross bloodmobile will visit the Grantsville fire hall next Monday, March 22, from 12:30 to 6:30 p.m. To be eligible to give blood, individuals must be at least 17 years of age, weigh at least 105 pounds, and be in generally good health. Normally, individuals can give blood every 56 days. Individuals with specific eligibility questions may contact the Red Cross at 1-800-542-5663.

The regional Red Cross must collect at least 750-800 units of blood a day to meet patient need. Local residents and patients are among those served through Red Cross Blood Services, Johnstown Region. The Johnstown Region directly serves hospitals, patients, and donors in a 66-county area in Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and West Virginia, and also supports blood needs experienced by patients elsewhere in hospitals served through Red Cross Blood Services.

Easter Bunny To Attend Accident Easter Egg Hunt

The Eastern Bunny will make a special appearance in Accident's Town Park West, Sunday, March 28, to attend the Easter egg hunt, which is scheduled from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

All children in the community ages 12 and under are invited to spend the afternoon in the park searching for colored eggs, playing games, entering the coloring contest, and winning prizes. There will also be pictures taken of children with the Easter Bunny, and light refreshments will be served.

In case of bad weather, the event will be rescheduled, with the date to be announced later. This Easter celebration is co-sponsored by the Accident Planning Group and the Garrett County Health Department, assisted by AmeriCorps.

Ms. Cline Weds Mr. Dailey In Double-Ring Church Ceremony

Linda Sue Cline and Herbert Lee Dailey were united in marriage February 20, 1999, at Highland United Methodist Church, Berkeley Springs, W.Va., in a double-ring ceremony performed by Pastor Mary Gebe Stevens.

The bride is the daughter of Charles Herman, Oakland, and the groom is son of Oscar and Betty Dailey, Berkeley Springs.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length, long-sleeved designer gown with a V-neck and decorated with pearls, bows, sequins, and embroidered lace. An open crown headpiece topped a waist-length veil with pearls and flowers.

The bride carried a bouquet of burgundy and white carnations with baby's breath, accented with white and burgundy ribbons. Flowers were arranged by Petals & Bows Florist, Hancock.

"Something borrowed" was a pearl necklace and earrings from the groom's cousin, Linda Vangosen. "Something old" was a handkerchief from the groom's grandmother. A garter from the groom's mother provided "something blue," while the bride's attire was "something new."

The matron of honor was Angie Sypolt, best friend of the bride. Bridesmaids were the daughter of the bride, Robin Cline, and the groom's cousin, Becky Payne. The bride's granddaughter, Jessica Riggleman, served as the junior bridesmaid and the flower girl was Christina Bohrer, friend of the couple.

Terry Cooper, best friend of the groom, was the best man. Groomsmen were George Carlisle, brother of the groom; William Riggleman Jr., special family member of both bride and groom; and friend of the groom, Derek Cooper. The couple's friend, J.T. Dillworth, was the ringbearer.

A reception was held in the church hall, with food prepared by family members and a three-tiered wedding cake baked by Pittsmens. The groom's uncle, Melvin Tritapoe, photographed the wedding, and Cindi Cooper, wife of the best man, videotaped the ceremony and celebration.

Music was provided by soloist Kathy Bohrer, friend of the bride and groom, and pianist Susan McCumbee.

Patsy Carlisle, sister-in-law of the groom, served as wedding coordinator and helped with the guest book and passing out bird seed packets.

At the reception Becky Payne helped serve food, punch, and cake. A rehearsal dinner prior to the wedding had been hosted by the groom's mother. A honeymoon is planned for a later date.

The groom is employed by Estes Express Lines, Winchester, Va. The bride is employed at the Country Inn, Berkeley Springs, where the couple reside.

Marples Celebrate 25th Anniversary

The children of Tom and Cheryl Marple, Oakland, surprised them with a silver anniversary party. The event was held at the Bittinger fire hall on Sunday, Feb. 28. The ladies' auxiliary prepared a ham buffet dinner. A two-tier wedding cake was cut by the couple and served.

The colors of the celebration were silver and burgundy. Among the events were a bouquet and garter toss and the presentation of something old, new, borrowed, and blue.

Tom is the son of Pauline Marple, Oakland, and the late Allen Marple. Cheryl is the daughter of Marie Friend, Oakland, and the late Junior Friend. The couple has three children and two grandchildren: Rob Marple and his wife Jenny and children Morgan and Christopher, who live in Bittinger; Trisha Lewis, Oakland; and Miranda Marple, Oakland.

Over 120 family members and friends attended.

Miss Frickey Engaged To Wed Mr. Brenneman

Chelsea Catherine Frickey and Todd Eric Brenneman announce their engagement and forthcoming marriage.

Miss Frickey, the daughter of William and Susan Frickey, Grantsville, is a 1998 graduate of Northern High School. She is currently attending Allegany College of Maryland, studying physical therapy.

Mr. Brenneman, son of Harley and Joyce Brenneman, Bittinger, is a 1994 graduate of Northern High School, and is employed by Rigidply Rafters in Oakland.

A May 29 wedding is planned. Invitations will be sent.

Miss Shaffer To Marry Mr. Greene

Donald and Elizabeth Shaffer of Oakland announce the engagement of their daughter, Rhonda Sue Shaffer, to Rickey Michael Greene Jr. of Forest City, N.C.

Miss Shaffer is the granddaughter of Pauline Henline and Mildred Shaffer, both of Oakland.

Mr. Greene is the son of Lesia and Rickey Greene Sr., and the grandson of Ruby and Tom Greene, all of North Carolina.

The future bridegroom is a 1988 graduate of R-S Central High School and Appalachian State University. He is employed by Rutherford County Schools in North Carolina.

A June 12 wedding is planned at Faith Evangelical Free Church, Oakland.

The bride-elect is a 1990 graduate of Southern High School and a 1994 graduate of Frostburg State University. She is currently employed by Shelby City Schools, Shelby, N.C.

Freedom Chapel Sets Gospel Sing

A gospel sing will be held Friday, March 26, at 7 p.m. at in Freedom Chapel, Bear Creek Road, Friendsville. The special guest for the event will be John Shaffer, and other singers and music will also be featured.

Palm Sunday Program Slated At Flowery Vale

A Palm Sunday program of music will be presented by the Community in Harmony Chorus at the Flowery Vale Senior Center in Accident on March 28 beginning at 3 p.m.

The event featuring selections of seasonal music will be co-sponsored by Accident Cultural and Historical Society and the Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL), Branch 5821. There will be no admission charge for the program, but a free-will offering will be accepted, to be used for a benevolent purpose which has not as yet been chosen. The offering will be matched by AAL 5821.

Refreshments will be provided for those attending the program. Members of the community are invited to attend.

NOTICE

TO ALL PROPERTY TAX PAYERS OF MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK

Pursuant to Tax-Property Article 10-204.3 of the Annotated Code of Maryland counties and municipal corporations are required to notify taxpayers of the availability of the semi-annual property tax payment option for owner-occupied residential property that is the principal residence of a homeowner.

If a taxpayer elects to make semi-annual property tax payments, ½ of the municipal taxes will be deferred until January 1. The second payment, due January 1, will incur a service charge reasonably equivalent to the anticipated lost interest income associated with the delay in the payment of the second installment and covering administrative expenses associated with the semi-annual payment not exceeding 10% of the charge of the lost interest.

To be eligible to make this election of semi-annual payment, all previous year taxes must be paid in full by June 1. Taypayers not making their first semi-annual payment by September 30 are automatically waived out of the semi-annual plan and must pay the full tax bill.

Selection of payment schedule for property taxes may be made upon receipt of tax bill. If taxpayer wishes to pay in full, he must choose the appropriate coupon and return it with the proper payment. If the taxpayer wishes to participate in the semi-annual payment option, the appropriate coupon should be returned with the payment before the September 30 deadline.

It is the responsibility of the taxpayers to notify their mortgage company of their wishes to pay on a semi-annual basis if they have an escrow account. The town is not responsible for any involvement in the semi-annual payment process.

Whatever payment plan the taxpayer elects shall remain in effect until the taxpayer decides to change it.

Cherry Glade Mennonite Sets Easter Drama

The Cherry Glade Mennonite Church is finalizing its preparations for its biennial production of "Behold the King," an Easter drama set for this coming month at the church. Performances are scheduled for April 1-4 and April 8-11 at 7:30 p.m. each evening.

Behold the King is a depiction of the final days of Jesus Christ's life, death, and resurrection. The production involves the talents of nearly 100 members from the church and community. The play was written by Esther S. Yoder and is produced by the church's Special Programs Committee.

Approximately 2,000 people are expected to attend the production over its two-weekend run. Admission is free, but a donation of $5 per adult and $2 per child is recommended. Limited seating in the church requires that interested persons make reservations in advance. For reservations and further information, interested persons may call 301-895-3949 or 301-245-4340. The church is located near Accident at 4051 Accident-Bittinger Road.

St. Peter's Church Schedules Holy Week Services

St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church has released its Holy Week schedule of worship services from Monday, March 29, through Easter Sunday, April 4. The church is located at 208 South Fourth Street in Oakland.

The schedule of local services is as follows: a communion service will be held at 8:15 a.m. on Monday, March 29, in St. Peter's chapel; on Tuesday, March 30, Mass will be celebrated in the chapel at 6:30 p.m.; a noon Mass will be celebrated in the chapel on Wednesday, March 31; and a reconciliation service will be held at 7 p.m. that same evening in the church proper.

Observances on Thursday, April 1, will begin at 9 a.m. in the chapel with morning prayers; Mass will be celebrated at 7 p.m. in the church; and Eucharistic Adoration will commence at 9 p.m. in the chapel, followed by night prayer beginning at 10 p.m.

Friday, April 2, will be marked by morning prayer at 9 a.m. in the chapel; at noon the Ecumenical Youth Ministry will begin its annual Passion Trek, a participatory walking observance of the Stations of the Cross through the streets of downtown Oakland (the public is invited); and at 3 p.m. the Passion will be observed at the church.

Morning prayer will begin in the chapel at 9 a.m. on Saturday, April 3, followed by the blessing of Easter food at noon in the church, and the Easter Vigil Mass is set to begin at 7 p.m. that evening.

The April 4 Easter Sunday observances will begin with a 6:30 a.m. Ecumenical Sunrise Service at Memorial Gardens Cemetery; two Masses, at 8 and 10 a.m., are set in Oakland; and a noon Mass will be celebrated at Immaculate Conception Church in Kitzmiller.

LIONS HEAR ABOUT GARRETT MINISTRIES — Bob Huebner, above left, recently informed his fellow Lions of the Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park club about Garrett Cooperative Ministries. Huebner, president of Garrett Ministries, explained that the non-profit group collects large household items, clothing, accessories, and other items that can be readily distributed, either inexpensively or freely, to persons in need as a result of crises. The thrift store Christian Crossing, the main project of Garrett Cooperative Ministries, is located in Loch Lynn just across the train tracks. It is open on certain days of the week and staff there can be contacted at 301-334-6339. Huebner said the store is operated solely by 50 volunteers, solely from the funds raised through sales there. These monies are used for the mortgage and utilities at Christian Crossing. More volunteers would be welcomed to help out, he said. Donations are also appreciated and can be sent to Garrett Cooperative Ministries, PO Box 707, Oakland, MD 21550. Pictured with Huebner is Greg Shockey, president of the Lions Club.

Easter Drama Set At Kitzmiller Elementary School

"Lamb of Glory," a dramatic portrayal of the crucifixion of Jesus, will be presented at Kitzmiller Elementary School in a pair of 7 p.m. performances on Saturday, March 27, and Sunday, March 28.

There is no charge for admission, and the free tickets are available only at the door. No advanced ticket sales or reserved seating will be available. Free will offerings will be taken at the performances, which are slated to run for two hours with an intermission. Free refreshments will be served as well.

A biblically based production, "Lamb of Glory" draws on cast and crew members from seven different Garrett County church congregations, representing several different denominations. The drama is directed and coordinated by Carol Sweitzer, and Diane Paugh and Vickie Fletcher are the assistant directors. This is the second year the drama has been presented, and last year's performances filled the 300-seat hall to capacity.

The bride is the daughter of Linda and Charles Overton, Friendsville, and Clay Bosley of Frederick. The groom is the son of Ronald and Denise Blocher of Grantsville. Maternal grandparents are the late Leslie and Elsie Savage and the late John and Elberta Bosley. Paternal grandparents are Olen and Louise Brenneman, Grantsville, and Patsy, and the late William Blocher of Grantsville.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents.

The bridal party consisted of matrons of honor Laura Knotts and Cynthia McCallam, sisters of the bride. Best man was Aaron Blocher, brother of the groom, and groomsman was Chris Sines, cousin of the groom. The flower girls were Ashton and Adria Graham, cousins of the groom. The ring bearer was Jacob Bosley, nephew of the bride. The guest book attendant was Amanda Frantz, cousin of the bride.

Vocalists included Alice Bosley, sister-in-law of the bride, who sang "From This Moment On" and Alison Sines, cousin of the groom, who sang "The Lord's Prayer." The organist was Lynette Karsten.

A reception was held at the Zion Lutheran Church with Ron Robertson, Frostburg, as master of ceremonies.

The rehearsal dinner was held on Friday, March 12, at Smiley's Pizzeria in McHenry and was given by the parents of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Blocher are honeymooning at the Rocky Gap Resort.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED

Mrs. Donna Pook, York, Pa., recently hosted a surprise birthday party for her husband, Bennie Dean Pook. Approximately 23 people attended the celebration, including his aunt, Renelda Thomas, of Uniontown, Pa., her daughter Nancy and husband John of Herndon, Va., another daughter, Lois Stasulis, and her daughter Andrea from Vienna, Va. Also attending were Bennie Dean Pook's parents Betty and Bennie Pook, all former residents of Friendsville. The elder Mr. Pook is now home recuperating after spending several months in the hospital and rehabilitation center resulting from a stroke and hip replacement surgery.

MARYLAND MAYORS MEET - The annual winter conference of the Maryland Mayors' Association (MMA) was held last month in Annapolis. From across the state municipal officials gathered to address legislative issues during three days of meetings and briefings. Governor Parris Glendening and the MMA co-hosted a reception for the mayors at Government House. Friendsville's mayor, Spencer R. Schlosnagle, was the only Garrett County official to attend the conference. In the photo from left are Schlosnagle, MMA preaident Vivian M. Dodson, mayor of Capitol Heights, and the governor.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland hereby gives notice that it will hold a public hearing, on Monday, March 29, 1999 at 7:15 PM at Oakland Town Council meeting room, 15 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland, to discuss or hear concerns regarding proposed Ordinance O99-02, which has been introduced before the Town Council, providing for an amendment to the current Oakland Zoning Ordinance.

A fair summary of the Ordinance is as follows:

An Ordinance of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, amending Article 4, Section 405, Table of Use Regulations. Specifically, Subsection 44 subtitled "Fire Station" is proposed to be changed to "Fire Station, Emergency Rescue Squad or Ambulance Service Facilities. "These facilities will be permitted in the areas zoned CBA, C, and EC, and will be permitted in the area zoned TC, by special exception only. Section 44 (a) Ambulance Service will be deleted.

This notice is in accordance with the policy adopted by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland for the adoption of ordinances, and gives notice of the date and time of the scheduled public hearing of said Ordinance.

The Ordinance in its entirety is available for review at Oakland City Hall during normal business hours, Monday-Friday.

PUBLIC NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE that the Town of Oakland, on the 1st day of March, 1999, introduced an Annexation Resolution, in accordance with the provisions of Article 23A, Section 19 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, for the annexation of the area known as the Route 219 North Annexation, and providing that the area to be annexed shall be zoned as "Town Center" category as defined by the Oakland Zoning Ordinance. The full resolution as introduced is as follows:

BEFORE THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND, RESOLUTION NO.: R99-02 (ANNEXATION NO. A99-01-ROUTE 219 NORTH ANNEXATION)

WHEREAS, pursuant to Section 19(b) of Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland have initiated this Resolution to enlarge the corporate boundaries of the Town by annexation of land adjoining and contiguous to the existing corporate boundaries, and being the area known as the Route 219 North Annexation, as is depicted in detail on a Plat dated October 13, 1998, as revised January 20, 1999, prepared by Morgan C. France, surveyor; and

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Town Council have caused to be made a verification of the fact that the said annexation has been consented to by not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the persons who reside in the area to be annexed, and who are registered as voters in County elections, and from the owners of not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the assessed valuation of the real property located in the area to be annexed, as evidenced by the signatures of said persons on writings establishing their consent.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND, THAT ALL THE LAND LYING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF THE HEREINAFTER DESCRIBED PARCEL OR PARCELS SHALL BE ANNEXED TO AND BECOME PART OF THE TOWN OF OAKLAND.

BEGINNING at a planted round concrete monument found at the end of the ninth line of the description of "AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE EXTENSION OF THE TOWN LIMITS OF THE TOWN OF OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND" passed 9 June 1952, by the Mayor and Town Council, and in the southeasterly margin of Fourth Street (Old U.S. Route 219); thence, with the tenth line thereof, North 65 Degrees 53 Minutes West, 576.48 feet to a six-inch round concrete monument with a bronze cap marked "Town of Oakland Town Corner," hereinafter called a concrete monument, set in the northwesterly margin of U.S. Route 219, and at the southerly corner of the property owned now or formerly by Lois G. AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that from and after the effective date of this Resolution, all persons residing in the area to be annexed shall be and become citizens of the Town of Oakland, and subject to the provisions of the Charter of said Town, and any amendments thereto, and that all real property so annexed and the personal property thereon shall be subject to the municipal property taxes to be levied by said Town, and that all of the said property, real and personal, will be taxed as all other property within the Town of Oakland, at the tax rate legally set by the Mayor and Town Council thereof.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Mayor and Town Council shall extend such services to the residents to be annexed hereby, as are extended to other residents of the Town of Oakland, where available.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, inasmuch as the area to be annexed is designated in the Garrett County Development Plan as "General Commercial" "Rural" or "Suburban Residential" (as shown thereon according to designation of the various tracts thereof), and that at this time there is no actual zoning ordinance within Garrett County which affects the area to be annexed, and consequently no specific land use definitions therefor, and inasmuch as the Zoning Ordinance for the Town of Oakland contains a land use category designated as "Town Center," and inasmuch as the area to be annexed has been designated by the State of Maryland as a "Priority Funding Area" (PRA) because it is expected to experience accelerated development and said area contains such uses as single-family residences, new and used car sales businesses, food and grocery stores, a real estate office and restaurant, etc., and inasmuch as all of these uses are permitted in the zoning category known as "Town Center" as defined by the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland, and, therefore, the Mayor and Town Council have determined that the annexed area shall be zoned "Town Center" (TC) under the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland, as adopted October 23, 1989, and as subsequently amended, and said area shall be designated as such on the official zoning map for the Town of Oakland, as said category is most compatible with the actual character of the area to be annexed.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that Notice of this Resolution shall be published in a newspaper with general circulation within the Town of Oakland and Garrett County, giving notice that the public hearing on this Resolution shall be held in the Council Room at the Oakland Town Hall on the 19th day of April, 1999, which date is not less than fifteen (15) days after the fourth (4th) publication of said Notice as provided for herein.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Resolution shall become effective on the forty-sixth (46th) day following its final enactment.

ROBERT E. WATSON, Town Attorney

The Mayor and Town Council shall hold a public hearing on this Resolution, and the annexation, on the 19th day of April, 1999, in the Oakland Town Hall located at 15 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, at 7:00 p.m.

By the Authority of
Mayor and Town Council of Oakland
By its Town Counsel, Robert E. Watson

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland hereby gives notice that it will hold a public hearing, on March 29, 1999 at 7:00 PM at Oakland Town Council meeting room, 15 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland, to discuss or hear concerns regarding proposed Ordinance O99-01, which has been introduced before the Town Council, providing for an amendment to the current Oakland Zoning Ordinance.

A fair summary of the Ordinance is as follows:

An Ordinance of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, amending Section 213.6, to redefine "Sectional (Double-Wide) Dwelling," and to add Section 213.7, which would allow for a definition of a Modular Dwelling. The proposed amendment would also add Subsection 3.5 under Section 405, Table of Use Regulations, to permit Modular Dwellings in areas zoned CBA, TC, TR, and SR.

This notice is in accordance with the policy adopted by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland for the adoption of ordinances, and gives notice of the date and time of the scheduled public hearing of said Ordinance.

The Ordinance in its entirety is available for review at Oakland City Hall during normal business hours, Monday-Friday.

By Authority:
Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, Maryland

ORDINANCE 99-2
STREET WEIGHT LIMITS

WHEREAS, the streets and alleyways of Mtn. Lake Park are designed and constructed to accommodate passenger vehicles, AND

WHEREAS, significant deterioration is occurring to the Town's street system as a result of non passenger vehicles using the streets on a regular basis, AND

WHEREAS, section 26-59 of the Charter of Mtn. Lake Park empowers the Town to control all public ways except those under the jurisdiction of the Maryland State Roads Commission;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Mayor and Town Council of Mtn. Lake Park that a vehicular weight limit shall be imposed and enforced throughout the corporate limits, as follows:

1) a vehicular weight limit of ten tons may be imposed on any and all streets if, in the opinion of the Mayor and Town Council, such action is necessary to safeguard the integrity of the road, street, alley or other public way. Proper signage shall be posted in conspicuous sites along such public ways indicating the specified weight limit.

2) in such instances where the mayor and council may determine that a weight limit of less than ten tons is necessary to preserve and protect a street, alley or public way, a weight limit of less than ten tons shall be permitted.

Persons found to be in violation of this ordinance shall be subject to a fine not exceeding $500.00 per occurrence.

The effective date of this ordinance is March 29, 1999.

HELP WANTED

Mountain Surf has an excellent opportunity for a dependable person with a positive attitude who knows sewing operations or general operations procedures well enough to supervise people and control the flow of product through our sewing shop.

You are a dependable, hard-working person with experience supervising a sewing shop or supervising other complex operations. You are able to work side by side with the team you lead, able to coordinate operations, and able to keep things moving on track. You can work on your feet to maintain adequate work flow, and to insure quality control. You can do the paperwork to coordinate inventories and to maintain or increase manufacturing efficiencies.

Your pay is competitive, based on verifiable experience and the results you produce. You get 6 paid holidays and paid vacation first year. You work four 10-hour days, but the right person can work flexible hours after they prove what they can do.

We are a 16-machine, 9-person sewing operation in Friendsville, Md. We also employ people who sew at home. We manufacture extremely high quality paddling gear including kayak spray skirts, waterproof apparel, and undergarments made to deal with extreme cold, even when wet. All our products are best of type. World champions wear Mountain Surf gear. We have almost 300 stocking dealers in the U.S. and other countries.

Local BSA Venture Post Being Formed

A Venture Post, sponsored by Garrett Community College in conjunction with the Boy Scouts of America Venturing Program, is being established in Garrett County this spring. Membership in the program is open to young men and women who are 14 through 20 years of age and have completed the eighth grade.

A "First Nighter" meeting for prospective Venture Post crew members and their parents is scheduled for Monday, March 29, from 7 to 8:15 p.m. in Room 154 of the college. The meeting will provide an opportunity for interested persons to get acquainted and to hear how Venturing presents activities designed to help youth pursue special interests, develop leadership skills, and become good citizens, according to Kyle Morrison, District Executive for the Potomac Council Boy Scouts of America.

VENTURE POST FORMING IN COUNTY - Volunteers are hard at work forming a Venture Post in Garrett County, which will be sponsored by Garrett Community College in conjunction with the Boy Scouts of America Venturing Program. A "First Nighter" meeting is slated for Monday, March 29, from 7 to 8:15 p.m. in Room 154 of the college to introduce the program to interested young men and women from 14 through 20 and who have completed the eighth grade. Some of the planners of the initial meeting shown above, from the left, are advisory committee member Paul Shogren, Potomac Council BSA District Executive Kyle Morrison, and Walt Augustine and Alexa Fuerth, GCC Adventure Sports Program students who will serve as Venture Post advisors.

A pair of GCC Adventure Sports students, Alexa Fuerth of Falls Church, Va., and Walter Augustine of Jim Thorpe, Pa., both over 21 years of age, will serve as co-advisors for the Venture Post group, and will discuss ideas for projects and activities at the First Nighter. Among the activities under consideration is an outing to a state park in April.

An advisory committee, composed of Paul Shogren, Steve Storck, and Joan Crawford, has been formed that will assist with the organization and planning of Venture Post activities. For further information on the Venture Post, interested persons may call Shogren at 301-387-3094, or Morrison at the Scout Service Center at 301-729-1300.

USAA Recognizes Sisler As Nat'l Award Winner

Andrew Sisler, a junior at Southern Garrett High School, has been notified by the United States Achievement Academy (USAA) that he has been named a United States National Award Winner in History and Government. The USAA recognizes fewer than 10% of all American high school students for this prestigious award.

The son of Steve and Christine Sisler, Andrew was nominated for the award by Tom Woods, his advanced placement United States history teacher. The student's name will appear in the USAA's official yearbook, which is published nationally.

Winners are selected upon the recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors, as well as upon the standards of selection put forth by the USAA. The criteria for selection include the student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, and motivation to learn and improve.

Sisler is a member of the Runnin' Rams cross country and track teams, the National Honor Society, the Acorn staff, and the Highlander yearbook staff. In addition to the USAA honor, Sisler has been recognized by Who's Who Among American High School Students in both his freshman and sophomore years, and has earned the Minds in Motion award. He is an honor roll student.

Sisler resides in Oakland and is a member of St. Paul's United Methodist Church.

Alcohol Awareness Training Sessions Set In Garrett Co.

Training for Intervention Procedures (TIPS), alcohol awareness training for servers and sellers of alcoholic beverages, will be made available to Garrett County establishments through TIPS of Western Maryland (TWM) next month in a pair of free sessions.

"TIPS is designed to promote confidence and professionalism among servers and sellers of alcohol by enhancing the fundamental 'people skills' which they already possess," said Fred Herath, the instructor for the sessions.

Training for Off-Premises Sales, such as those by package, convenience and grocery stores, is set for Wednesday, April 7, from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Oakland Town Hall, located along Third Street next to the town's police station.

On-Premises Sales training for restaurants, bars, bed and boards, etc., is slated for Thursday, April 29, from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at Garrett Community College in McHenry.

Persons who satisfactorily complete a class receive four-year certification, and notification of certification will be provided directly to the Garrett County Liquor Control Board.

Herath, a certified TIPS trainer and founder of TWM, recently received recognition from the TIPS organization for training more than 100 people in the TIPS program. "We commend you for your willingness to go one step beyond creating awareness, and actually teaching people the skills necessary to prevent the problems associated with the misuse of alcohol," Marcia Travers, TIPS director of training, said in recognizing Herath's efforts.

These alcohol awareness trainings are being subsidized by a grant from the Maryland State Highway Administration through the Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services Systems, Garrett County Highway Safety Program, which makes the free training possible.

Pre-registration is required at least one week prior to the training date of the desired training session, and establishments may register by sending the names of participants to TWM, P.O. Box 191, Oakland, MD 21550, or by calling Herath at 301-334-7933 for further information.

Delayed Harvest Fishery Proposed For Friendsville

Establishment of a delayed harvest fishery along the Youghiogheny River in Friendsville has been proposed to the town's mayor and council by representatives of the Department of Natural Resources. During a town meeting earlier this month, those attending were told about the set up, operation, and economic impacts that can result from such a project.

Currently the DNR manages about 130 miles of waterfront for fishing. "We raise the fish in a hatchery and then release them into a stream, where they are caught. It's what we call 'put and take' fishing," explained Gary Yoder of the DNR. The "put and take" fish are generally rather small, because they are caught almost immediately upon release, he commented.

The delayed harvest program differs in several ways from the put and take system. Though the streams would be stocked beginning in January, there could be no harvest until June. Fish caught earlier than the specified date in June would be put back into the water under a "catch and release" concept, Yoder described. "No live bait can be used. The fish take the live bait deeper, so more damage is done to the fish when the hook is removed," he explained.

June 16 would be the date on which fish caught in the delayed harvest area could be kept at a rate of two per person, per day. This harvest would continue until October. The length of time fish remain in the stream under such a project allows them to grow. "Because the fish is going to be caught multiple times, you run a good chance of catching a trophy-sized fish," Yoder said.

Delayed harvest streams do not become quickly "fished out," so there is more opportunity for busi-

AN OAKLAND BLAST FROM THE PAST — Welcome to the Oakland train station, circa 1900, a mere hundred years ago. Audiences at Our Town Theatre can step back in time this weekend to several different decades at the Vintage Clothing and Costume Revue, slated for Sunday, March 28, at 2 p.m. The event is a fund-raiser for the non-profit theatre to help defray the cost of new stage lighting equipment. Pictured above as they enjoy some quality reading while they wait are Liz Gilbert, Brittany Harvey, and Richard Hill. The photo was taken by Glenn Tolbert as part of the town of Oakland's promotion of its 150th anniversary. See story elsewhere in this section for details of the costume review.

Tractor Trailer Accident Closes Eastbound I-68

Eastbound traffic on Interstate 68 near the West Virginia line was stopped Tuesday morning, after a tractor trailer accident at 5 a.m. blocked the roadway. The driver, Timothy J. Murray, 42, Lisbon, Ohio, was not seriously injured in the incident.

According to the report filed by Maryland State Police at the McHenry barrack, Murray lost control of his vehicle, a 1999 International, ran into the median and struck the guardrail prior to overturning and spilling the cargo of roof shingles.

Friendsville VFD, Bruceton Mills, W.Va., VFD and ambulance, and Northern Rescue Squad responded to the scene, along with the State Highway Administration. Murray was taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital, where he was treated and released. Police charged him in the incident.

Horse, Rider Struck

Dwayne R. Kinsinger, 12, Oakland, was injured last Saturday, when he and the horse he was riding on the shoulder of Route 219 near Paul Friend Road were struck by a vehicle at 9:46 a.m.

Police reported that Kinsinger was riding southbound when he was struck by a 1986 Ford F-150 truck, driven by Earl D. Gordon, 72, Oakland. The impact of the truck threw both horse and rider into the northbound lane of Route 219. The horse was struck by a 1998 Ford Explorer driven by Harold Van Bachtel, 69, Oakland.

Kinsinger was taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital by private vehicle. He was admitted for treatment and has since been discharged, according to a hospital report.

No charges have been filed at this time.

Van Overturns

Crosswinds on Interstate 68 were noted by state police as a significant factor in an accident last Friday morning that resulted in the vehicle overturning.

According to the report, Milton D. Jusino, 28, Brooklyn, N.Y., was operating a 1999 Ford Van westbound on I-68 near the 25 mile marker when a crosswind blew the vehicle across the next lane and partially onto the left shoulder.

Police said that when Jusino applied the brakes, a box in the rear of the van shifted forward and struck the driver in the head. He then jerked the steering wheel, causing the van to

S.C. Crew Surveying Land Near Food Lion For "Retail Project"

A crew from Freeland Engineering of Greenville, S.C., has been surveying land this week along the east side of Route 219 just north of Food Lion in the area of the parcels that Oakland is currently seeking to annex into the town's boundaries. (See page C-7 for the legal notice regarding the annexation proposal.)

In a related development, The Republican obtained a letter yesterday that originated from the State Highway Administration that refers to a "preliminary traffic study" and a "site plan" in connection with a "Wal-Mart" in the same area (See below.)

SURVEY WORK

A pair of survey team members approached this past Sunday morning while working alongside Route 219 in that location told a Republican reporter that they were surveying 65 acres of land very close to Food Lion for a retail project. Identifying their employer as Freeland Engineering, the surveyors said the survey was being conducted at the request of Wyatt Development, the Aiken, S.C., retail store development firm that in the past has attempted to purchase approximately 24 acres of land at Maryland Highway and Weber Road for a proposed 151,980 square foot retail store.

The survey crew members declined additional comment when asked if they were aware of any particulars of the project, saying they were not allowed to discuss it further. Kim Coffman, the president of Freeland Engineering, stated in a subsequent phone interview that "although we are not affiliated with Wyatt Development, I believe they are working on that project." A member of the real estate staff for Wyatt Development stated that Freeland Engineering is currently under contract to survey a proposed retail site for Wyatt in Maryland, but refused to give any particulars and referred further questions to Howard Hill, "the developer in charge of that project."

Hill, who was the Wyatt representative who had asked the state of Maryland to consider granting the company an easement to provide road access for the Maryland Highway site, said that "Wyatt is not involved in any project north of Oakland," and added that "Freeland Engineering is not working for Wyatt, they may be working for Wal-Mart, but definitely not for us. They did work on the Route 219/Route 135 site for us in the past, but they are not working for us now nor are we working on any projects in the Oakland area at this time. I don't know why they identified us."

Oakland and Garrett County officials said they were not aware of the particulars of the survey crew's work or the reason for the survey. Town council member Jay Moyer, speaking on behalf of Mayor Asa McCain (who is out of town this week), said that although he had seen a survey crew working along Route 219 he had no idea who they were or why they were surveying. John Nelson, county planning officer, said that no inquiries have been received by his office for any construction-related permits in that area.

When asked two weeks ago about the possibility of a major retail development in or near the area Oakland is seeking to annex, Mayor McCain stated, "This has to do with a Wal- retail project. idea has l for sev- are only hat have xed. Our out to kland by- ould take off from Route 219, just north of Food Lion: That's the bypass alternative the town prefers, the one that brings the bypass closest to town to keep traffic close to downtown."

A public hearing regarding the annexation proposal is scheduled for Monday, April 19, at 7 p.m. at the Oakland City Hall, and a map of the proposed annexation properties is available for viewing by the public at the town hall.

The mayor and town council will be hearing public comments and concerns at the meeting, and could vote at its conclusion to continue the annexation process, or to either deny the proposal or table it until the next regular town council meeting of Monday, May 3. If the council votes to continue the process, a 45-day period for public input and comment will go in-

Rose Bello To Perform With Choral Society

Rose Bello will perform with the Garrett Choral Society in its presentation of Bach's Magnificat and Vivaldi's Gloria.

Ms. Bello, a native of Maryland, earned master's and doctorate degrees in music from the University of Maryland. She has performed extensively as a soloist in Russia, Germany, Switzerland, Spain, and Italy. She has also appeared in productions of several nationally known opera companies.

Her roles have included the title role in The Medium, the mother in Amahal and the Night Visitors, and Irus in The Return of Ulysses. She premiered the roles of Ms. Oldspecs and the Doctor in an original children's opera, Perfection, at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C., and later appeared in the same roles for a television production. A winner of several honors, she was most recently awarded the Merle Montgomery Doctoral Award, as well as the University of Maryland Distinguished Teaching Award.

The Garrett Choral Society, directed by Nancy Learey, will present these two classical works on April 10 at 7:30 p.m. and again on April 11 at 2 p.m., with both performances to be held at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland. Tickets may be purchased at the door or in advance from Englander's Pharmacy. Prices are $5 for adults and $2.50 for children, age 12 and under.

The concert is funded part by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council and the Garrett County Arts Council.

Oakland Area Public Meeting To Continue Visioning Process

The follow-up to a standing-room-only visioning meeting to develop managed growth guidelines for the greater Oakland area is scheduled for Tuesday, March 30, at 6:30 p.m. at the Oakland fire hall. Organizers stressed that this meeting will provide concrete opportunities for citizen involvement. The meeting is scheduled to run for 90 minutes.

"We will be giving all interested citizens concrete avenues for participation in developing a growth agenda for the area," stated Michael Mullan, the meeting's facilitator and the owner of Open Door Consignments in Oakland. "We also want to make it clear that this is not an anti-Wal-Mart meeting. Oakland needs to do this whether Wal-Mart comes or not. We don't need to be afraid, we have a great town and we can succeed with or without a big retailer."

"We'll be very clear about our goals right up front. We want people to leave with an understanding of what we're trying to do and of the committee structure, made up of local residents and business owners themselves, that we're forming. We'll have the mission statements for each committee that's been formed since the last meeting—economic restructuring, design, promotion, ad hocs—posted for everyone to see, we'll introduce each committee's chairperson, and we'll have sign-up sheets for interested persons to join a committee of their choice," said Mullan, who has a wide background of practical experience as a corporate meeting facilitator and advisor/consultant for work committees, including small group projects.

Two weeks after the sign-ups, Mullan continued, each committee's chairperson will contact those who have signed up, and each committee will prepare to meet and begin working on topics within its field of interest. "Wednesday's meeting will be the last large group meeting until early summer. In the interim, the small groups will be identifying areas of concern and formulating work plans to address those issues; for example, improving design elements in the town, or coming up with ideas for different activities and promotions that will get more people to come downtown."

Wednesday's meeting will also feature a presentation by architect and writer Richard Wagner, who has authored over 90 books and articles on preservation planning and revitalization. Wagner, a partner in the architectural and design firm of David H. Gleason Associates, specializes in design guidelines and preservation ordinances for historic districts and the rehabilitation and restoration of historic buildings. His presentation will outline how design elements fit into good growth policy.

Wagner's background includes service as director of the Manhattan, Kan.,

Garrett Joins 93 Others In Contest For All-America City Designation

Garrett County's application for the All-America City Award has officially been received and counted among the 93 total contestants in this year's competition. News was received this week from the National Civic League (NCL), sponsor of the 50-year recognition program, that Garrett's application has joined the pool of contestants together representing 32 states and a total of 10,200,275 people.

The applications will be forwarded to the initial screening committee, which will announce the 30 finalists on April 20. The 10 1999 All-America cities will be announced on Saturday, June 26, in Philadelphia, Pa.

The All-America City Award has encouraged and recognized civic excellence for a half century, honoring communities of all sizes in which citizens, government, business, and voluntary organizations work together to address critical local issues.

A local committee was appointed in January to compile the lengthy application for Garrett County. The application was open to any sort of community, such as neighborhoods, districts, towns, or counties, so the local team entered the entire county for the award. The group was charged with the task of choosing three projects that have been beneficial to the community over the past several years. The committee surveyed numerous individuals and organizations to pinpoint important projects, and finally agreed upon the three components: the Ecumenical Youth Ministry (EYM), the Garrett County

Chamber After-Hours Event Set In Friendsville

The Business-After Hours gathering of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce has been set for Wednesday, April 7, from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Windrush Gallery in Friendsville. Sponsored by the chamber's board of directors, the evening is designed to provide opportunities for networking and support among current and potential chamber members.

The Business After-Hours will feature the gallery's art exhibits, and refreshments provided by Taste Unlimited and Deep Creek Winery. A pair of drawings will also be held, one for 1,000 full-color business cards produced by Vision Quest Studios, and the other for a free float trip for four with Precision Rafters.

Reservations for the event are requested and may be made by calling the chamber office at 301-387-4FUN no later than Friday, April 2. There will be a charge of $6 per person to offset expenses.

The Windrush Gallery, located at 720 Morris Avenue, is in its sixth year of operation and features many local regional, and internationally acclaimed artists. The gallery hosts monthly art exhibits from May through November.

Education Board Makes Pitch To Fiscal Authority For FY 2000

Members of the Garrett County Board of Education met with the county commissioners this week to make their formal budget request for fiscal year 2000. The board is asking for a total of $1,144,928 from the county, an increase from last year of about 3.9%. The chief item of cost is a 3% across-the-board raise for all education board employees, which was agreed to two years ago as part of a three-year negotiated package.

Other funds will be used to continue the implementation of the technology plan, with emphasis being placed on the administrative system, school wiring, and system networking. The board wishes to fund the capital improvements at Southern and Northern high schools, which include the construction of an auxiliary gymnasium at Northern and the renovation of Southern's gym, foyer, library, and stage areas. The board also hopes to replace Northern's greenhouse, Swan Meadow's heating and ventilation system, and other miscellaneous equipment.

The educators reported that they wish to maintain the current level of staffing. They have no plans to fill any new positions.

The state of Maryland and the federal government provide a large part of the school system's entire budget, in both dedicated/restricted funds and unrestricted monies. The state's unrestricted funds are divided into five categories: basic aid, transportation, compensatory education, special education, and aging schools. Because Garrett County's school enrollment has decreased in the past year, the state aid has also decreased. The amount for FY 2000 is $14,948,518, only $20,172 more than FY 1999, which is a relatively nominal increase, the education officials noted.

Unrestricted revenue also comes from the county, with this money coming from the tax levy, as well as from a variety of other county revenues that equal about 4% of the budget.

Speaking on behalf of the school board were Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent; Ervin Fink, the finance officer; Dr. Brenda McCartney, assistant superintendent; Chuck Trautwein, technology specialist; Michael Sines, building maintenance supervisor; and Charlotte Sebold, associate member of the elected school board. Also in attendance were board members Camilla Rawe and Madeleine Collins.

Fink noted that the major portion of the increase is the 3% raise for the employees, combined with the fringe benefits that are attached to the salaries (Social Security, workers' compensation, and health insurance). He noted that the employees agreed to a higher co-pay for prescriptions, which resulted in a lower increase in insurance debt. Originally the board faced a 14% increase in insurance rates, but because the employees agreed to pay more for medicines, the increase was kept at about 4.8%. The total cost of the salary increase is $802,019. Other expenses in the total budget are $119,112 above last year's request.

Several of the representatives supported the salary increase, citing the fact that Garrett County's teachers are the lowest paid in the state. A beginning teacher salary in Garrett County is $24,519, compared to the starting salary in Montgomery County of $30,891. Beginning teachers in Somerset County earn $25,877 and in Allegany County, $25,174. Teachers who have earned a master's degree and are at step 15 of the pay scale in Garrett earn $38,703, as compared to Montgomery's $56,424, Washington County's $38,929, and Somerset's $40,301.

"It is extremely important that we support our staff," McCartney said. "We must be able to keep and recruit good teachers. The lack of teachers is a major issue facing not only the state of Maryland, but the entire country. We need to be aware of that and stay competitive."

Seboid also noted that the across-the-board increase is important to lessen the disparity between the higher and lower paid people.

"We can't just keep giving increases to the higher-ups and keep our lower-end pay scale low," she said. "If we don't have an across-the-board increase every few years, our lower-paid staff just stay low. We can't do that to them."

In FY '98, the average Maryland educator's increase was 2.4%. In that year, Garrett's educators received a 2% increase. In FY '99, the state average was 2.4%; Garrett received 2%.

"This 3% increase averages out the three-year contract," Fink said.

Trautwein spoke about the numerous technology initiatives in the local school system and discussed the break-down of funding for these projects. Teets mentioned that the computer wiring at several schools has been installed completely by volunteers, which has saved the system a significant amount of money. He said all the county's 15 schools will be wired by next year.

Sines discussed a variety of projects and needs at the school buildings. He showed slides of several school areas and described the measures being taken by his staff to maintain roofs and walls of the buildings. He said his staff is consistently successful at lengthening the longevity of the schools, although major repair work will inevitably be needed at several locations. For example, he expects the roof at Southern to require major repairs in the near future.

In instructional goals, McCartney said the educators hope to develop and implement a comparative foreign language program at the middle school level. They also hope to continue the purchase of elementary math books and update the middle and high school math texts. The educators wish to continue the purchase of general music textbooks for the middle schools, and to review and revise the health program of studies for all grades.

McCartney also noted that through a pending $25,000 grant from the state, the educators are planning to add a dance program to the music and art studies. She noted several other initiatives in the planning stages.

"This is a very basic budget," Teets said. "We have kept it very tight and are simply trying to meet our basic needs. There is not much room for cutting."

The commissioners had little comment on the presentation, but stated that they would study the request at length. They will announce the finalized county budget in early May.

Grantsville Choir To Present Easter Cantata Sunday

Members of the Grantsville Community Choir, representing six different religious denominations, will come together under the direction of Gloria Martin, to present an Easter Cantata this Sunday, March 28, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

This will be the 23rd year for the Grantsville Community Choir to offer songs of praise for the Easter season. "The choir sings for the glory of God — to tell of His greatness to us," said musical director Martin.

In addition to the coral presentation of the cantata "Up From the Grave," by Joe E. Parks, the choir will perform other selections, including "The Love Behind the Cross," "He Didn't Come Down," "God So Loved the World," and "Amen."

The handbell choir of St. John's United Church of Christ, Grantsville, directed by Patty Zimmerman, will also present several selections of Easter music. The bell choir members are Cathy Klink, Sandy Murray, Ronald Gillum, Darren Wilburn, Jean Swauger, Sue Beachy, Patty Rice, Gerry Beachy, Sherry Carey, Helen Bender, and Linda Updike.

The pianist for the presentation will be Gail Ringer, and Pastor Brenda Shreve will narrate the cantata.

A second presentation of the Easter cantata will be on April 11 at St. John's United Church of Christ, Salisbury, Pa. This program will begin at 2 p.m.

At each performance by the Grantsville Community Choir a free will offering is accepted. "The offering will go to help someone less fortunate with a great need," Martin said. The offering in Salisbury will go into the fund to repair the church, which sustained tornado damage last year.

The public is invited to attend both productions.

Garrett CC Team Joins National Technology Project

Garrett Community College was among 21 community colleges selected from over 80 applicants to participate in the Phi Theta Kappa/National Science Foundation Project: Improving Science and Technology Education at Community Colleges. Phi Theta Kappa is the largest honor society in higher education, with 1,200 chapters at community colleges in the United States, Canada, and Japan.

A GCC team, consisting of Jim Allen, director of technology, Jim Davis, assistant professor of computer applications, and Willie Lantz, agriculture instructor, recently attended the three-day National Science and Technology Education Conference in San Antonio, Texas. They worked on an action plan for developing a precision agriculture curriculum using geographic information systems and global positioning system technologies. Members of the group will now focus on curriculum development using materials developed by the National Science Foundation and working with mentor Terry Brase of Hawkeye Community College in Iowa.

The 21 colleges attending the conference will now have sustained access via e-mail, fax, telephone, and site visits to the latest curriculum materials and the persons who created them. At the conclusion of the two-year project, a monograph detailing how these materials have been used will be broadly disseminated to community colleges.

"GCC's efforts will focus on applying the new technologies to developing curricula in the Agricultural Management and Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology programs," Allen said. "GCC, Allegany College of Maryland, and Hagerstown Community College will share in a recent $120,000 grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission for the purchase of global positioning system equipment which will further enhance the project."

Hospice Slates Teleconference At Garrett CC

Hospice of Garrett County and Garrett Community College will join 2,000 other organizations across the United States and Canada as a local host for the Hospice Foundation of America's sixth annual National Bereavement Teleconference, set for Wednesday, April 14, from 1:30 to 4 p.m., in Room 307 of the college.

"Living with Grief: At Work, At School, At Worship," a live-via-satellite video teleconference, will examine the ways that grief influences people in various settings, such as the workplace, schools, or places of worship. The 2½-hour program will offer humane and practical suggestions for those assisting grievers and for organizations who may have those struggling with illness and loss in their midst.

Last year's teleconference, seen by more than 150,000 people in over 2,000 communities, "was excellent," commented Jane Sealing, director of bereavement for Hospice of Garrett County. "The panelists were knowledgeable, topics relevant, [and] it was a great opportunity for people from our community—hospice staff, volunteers, clergy, funeral directors, and families—to hear valuable information from the nation's top experts in the field."

"We often discuss how we grieve, but rarely do we consider the places where we grieve," said Jack D. Gordon, president of the Hospice Foundation of America. "Yet whether at work, at school, in our faith community, or at home, grief not only affects our moods and motivation but our relationships as well. It is essential that hospices and other organizations take the opportunity to explore how the places we grieve have a profound effect on our abilities to function."

Cokie Roberts of ABC News will moderate the program, which will feature a panel of experts, including Kenneth J. Doka, Ph.D., Lutheran minister and professor of geroutology at the College of New Rochelle; Michael Jemmott, B.S., M.Div., senior staff chaplain at the Johns Hopkins Hospital; Michael Kirby, M.S.W., director of the New York State Police Employee Assistance Department; and Marcia Lattanzi-Licht, R.N., M.A., L.P.C., co-founder of Hospice of Boulder County, Colo., and internationally known educator, author, and consultant.

The event is produced by Hospice Foundation of America, a non-profit organization established to assist those who cope either personally or professionally with terminal illness and the process of death, grief and bereavement. It is presented in cooperation with the Association for Death Education and Counseling, The Compassionate Friends, and Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD), with additional support from Service Corporation International Inc.

This teleconference is open to the public at no cost; however, interested persons must register in advance by calling the Hospice office at 301-334-5151. Grantsville area residents may call 800-521-5252, and TTY users may dial 800-735-2258.

Susan Crawford To Speak At GCC Commencement

The speaker for Garrett Community College's 27th commencement Saturday, May 15, will be Susan J. Crawford, judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces, and part-time resident of Garrett County. The occasion will mark the second time she has spoken at a GCC commencement.

Prior to her appointment to the court in 1991, Crawford served in various positions with the Department of Defense. She was first appointed as principal deputy counsel of the Army in 1981, then as general counsel in 1983, a position she held for six years. For three months she served as special counsel to Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney, and then became inspector general, Department of Defense.

CRAWFORD TO SPEAK AT GCC COMMENCEMENT - Susan J. Crawford, judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces, will be the commencement speaker at Garrett Community College's graduation exercises, set for Saturday, May 15. The part-time Garrett County resident has had a distinguished law career in both the public and private sector, including service as assistant state's attorney in Garrett County and employment as an associate with Burnett and Eiswert, an Oakland law firm. This year's ceremony will mark the second time that Crawford, the daughter of Joan Crawford of Deep Creek Lake and the late Bill Crawford, has addressed a GCC commencement audience.

Crawford is a graduate of Mt. Lebanon High School and Bucknell University, where she received a B.A. in history. She taught history at Radnor High School in Pennsylvania and coached women's interscholastic field hockey, basketball, and lacrosse. In 1974 she entered New England School of Law in Boston, where she was elected president of the Student Bar Association and participated in the Honors and National Moot Court competitions. She received a juris doctor cum laude, the Dean's Award, and the McClean Founder's Award upon graduation. In 1987 she was honored at the law school's annual dean's reception as the outstanding alumnus of the year.

Following her graduation she became an associate with the Oakland law firm of Burnett and Eiswert and engaged in general civil and criminal practice of law. In addition to her private practice, she served as assistant state's attorney in Garrett County for two years.

Crawford is a member of the Bar of the Supreme Court of the United States, Bar of the United States Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces, Maryland and District of Columbia bar associations, Federal Bar Association, and the Edward Bennett Williams American Inn of Court. Judge Crawford is also a member of the boards of trustees of the New England School of Law and Bucknell University.

Crawford and her husband, Roger Higgins, have one daughter, Kelley Higgins, and they currently reside in Falls Church, Va. The family also maintains a home at Deep Creek Lake. She is the daughter of Joan Crawford of Deep Creek Lake and the late Bill Crawford.

Hafer, Edwards To Be Guests At LWV Annual Mtg.

Delegate George Edwards and Senator John Hafer will be the guest speakers at the 29th annual meeting of the League of Women Voters of Garrett County. The event will be held Saturday, April 17, at Uno's Restaurant, Deep Creek Lake. The meal will begin at noon with a pizza buffet, and the two officials will speak at approximately 1 p.m.

Hafer and Edwards will provide a wrap-up of the 1999 Maryland General Assembly session, which is to end on Monday, April 12.

After the two men speak, the LWVGC will conduct its annual meeting at about 2 p.m. On the agenda will be the election of officers and the adoption of the local program for 1999-2000.

League members are urged to attend, but the public is welcome as well. Lunch will cost $8.25 per person, and reservations are recommended. Those interested in attending should contact Ginny Grove at 301-334-8269 or ggrove@gcnet.net no later than April 15. Reservations made must be honored.

Violation Of Protective Order Leads To Arrest

Mtn. Lake Park resident Roy L. Friend, 27, was charged by Oakland Police with violation of a protective order on March 12. The investigating officer stated that the victim called at 1:40 a.m. to report that Friend was pounding on her door.

When the police officer arrived at the victim's residence, he found Friend at the door, entering the home. When Friend refused to stop, the officer approached the suspect to place him in custody. The officer reported the smell of alcohol on the suspect. Upon arrival at the sheriff's office, a field sobriety test was administered to Friend. The suspect reportedly did not perform satisfactorily.

In addition to charges of violation of a protective order, Friend was charged with driving while intoxicated and negligent driving. He was later released on a $1,000 bond.

DWI

Oakland Police charged Dayrle L. Lambert, 37, Oakland, last Saturday at 10:50 p.m., with DWI, failure to stop at a flashing red light, and driving a vehicle in violation of an alcohol restriction.

Teleconference Slated At GCC To Address Y2K

The Continuing Education and Training Division of GCC will host "Common Sense, Common Ground: Preparing for Y2K," an interactive satellite teleconference on Thursday, April 8. Designed to bring people together to discuss the issues of fundamental change, the program is a production of Northwest Regional Facilitators and Washington State University. It will air between noon and 3 p.m. in GCC's Center for Community and Continuing Education, Room CE-305. Advance registration is required.

The second stand-alone teleconference of three in the Resilient Communities program, the presentation will serve to link activists who are promoting preparedness and sustainability practices in the face of Y2K. Cynthia Beal, a grocer in Eugene, Ore., and national advocate for community preparedness, will join in discussion with Robert Theobald, socio-economist and futurist.

Program participants will be provided with advice on a variety of Y2K-related topics, including food and water storage, electricity concerns, and the availability of money and medicine. It will also address the need for spiritual resiliency and look at how higher levels of sustainability can emerge from the immediate requirements posed by Y2K challenges. This is an educational program intended for concerned citizens including educators, clergy, elected and appointed officials, business owners, economic development practitioners, tribal leaders, nonprofit directors, community organization officers, community volunteers, and any other interested parties.

Advanced registration at a cost of $14 per person is required. Those who wish to use a credit card may register by phone, while others may register in person at the Continuing Education and Training Division Office, McHenry campus, Room CE-300.

The third Y2K program in the series will air on Thursday, May 27. It is designed to give participants a sense of the ways in which people and communities are approaching the full range of issues related to resilience at personal, family, community, and ecological levels. The program will link those who have been working in communities across North America and enable them to share their experiences, and the tools and approaches that have been most successful in inviting people to a "leaderful" society will be explored. The cost for the May 27 teleconference will also be $14 and pre-registration will be required as well.

County Winner Named In State Poster Contest

Megan Shaffer, a student at Northern Middle School, was named this week by Gov. Parris Glendening as the Garrett County winner in the statewide anti-litter poster contest, sponsored by State Highway Administration. She will receive a $100 U.S. savings bond for her entry.

Megan was an 11-year-old student at Accident Elementary last year when she created her poster, which aims at encouraging people to "Keep Maryland Beautiful" by reducing litter along roadways. "My poster said 'Don't Be a Litter Critter.' I chose a porcupine for the illustration and he has trash stuck all over him," she said.

This is the first poster contest that Megan has entered, and she said she was surprised and pleased when she won. Over 5,000 students had submitted their work for consideration. "Everyone can help reduce litter in our state. These talented young artists are helping get that message across to all ages through their creativity and love of the environment," the governor said.

Megan is the daughter of Robert and Elizabeth Shaffer, McHenry.

GGBA To View Slide Show On County History

A slide show on Garrett County history will be presented to members of the Greater Grantsville Business Association (GGBA) during the group's monthly meeting Tuesday, March 30, beginning at 8:30 a.m. at Penn Alps.

GGBA president Lindy Moebs said the purpose of scheduling a slide show is to share information with all the group's members on the historical significance of various sites in Garrett County in general and Grantsville in particular. "This is to educate ourselves and to be more appreciative of the heritage of the area. We know there are some people who are drawn here because of the history, and it's important that we are able to talk about it accurately," she explained.

The history of Grantsville and the impact of the National Road on the area are a focus of the GGBA this year, as the group works on developing historic site markers and welcome sign for the town. Al Feldstein, a historian of the local area who is a regional planner for the Maryland Office of Planning, will present the slide show.

GGBA business breakfast meetings are held the last Tuesday of each month beginning at 8:30 a.m. at Penn Alps Restaurant. New members who would like to attend the meeting are asked to call Trish Morgan at 301-895-3332 to assure sufficient seating.

Not So Grand...

The first two days of this work week for this writer and 16 other Garrett County citizens were spent in service to Garrett County as members of the 1999 spring term Grand Jury. The days were rather long and rigorous, as tours included six schools in the county, the jail, and the courthouse, and closed-door sessions were held with the leadership of most county agencies, plus the county commissioners. A lengthy report of our experiences, deliberations, and recommendations had to be completed before we were dismissed on the second day.

The two-day task began with a welcome from Garrett County Circuit Court Judge Jim Sherbin, who also explained to us the history of the grand jury system in this country and what our responsibilities would entail. He said that the system actually began centuries ago, but was utilized in the infant years of this country to assist the court judges, who had to cover huge territories. They would travel by horseback in those days and it would take months to complete the "circuit" (ergo, circuit court judges). In the interim times, groups of responsible citizens (grand juries) would issue indictments in criminal cases, which would then be handled by the judge once he finally arrived in town. Over the years, that same group of citizens would be called upon to inspect/investigate local government offices and facilities, and make recommendations to the powers-that-be, suggesting changes, corrections, repairs, and the like.

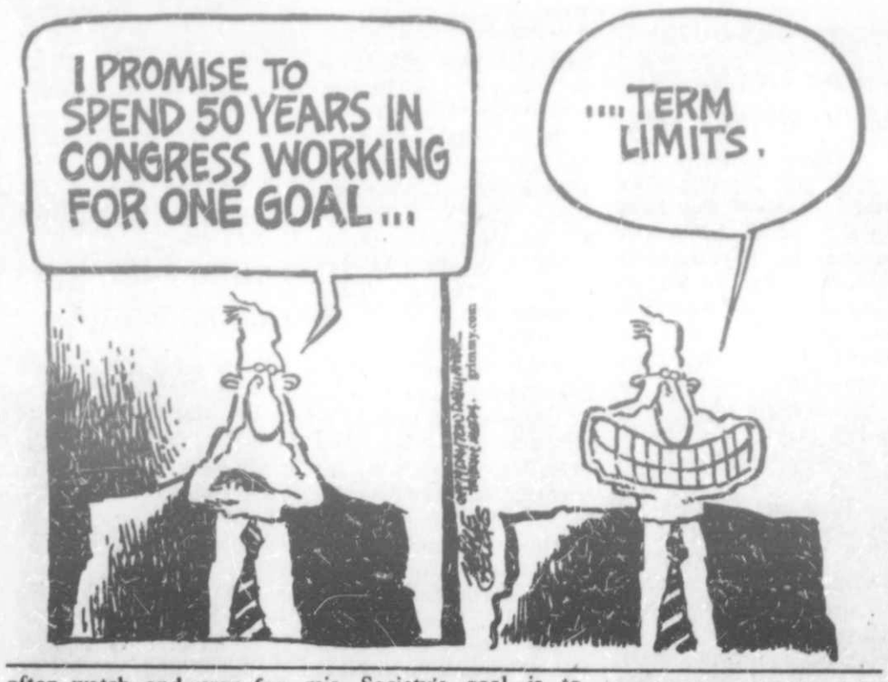
Our jury was informed that there were no potential indictments to be considered, so we would spend our time as described above: touring, meeting with officials, and writing our report. We completed those tasks, and our report is available for all to read.

Judge Sherbin also told us that many states have abolished the grand jury system. This particular jury member, and several others, believe that it's time for Maryland to do likewise.

Our state's attorney's office, along with the Maryland Attorney General's office, are well equipped and empowered to handle indictments and criminal investigations. The fact that we had not a single one to consider helps prove that point.

While it remains to be seen if any of our recommendations, particularly those to the county commissioners, are implemented, we know that they are in no way binding. They can be totally ignored, and few people will ever know or remember.

Admittedly, there was some value to serving. It was an educational experience to the individual members of the jury, and it was a pleasure getting to know and work with this group of bright, interested citizens which represented all corners of Garrett County. The various persons who hosted us, conducted tours, and made presentations were both courteous and informative. But, frankly, the overall assessment by at least one member is that it was generally a waste of time and energy for all involved. It has out-lived its usefulness.



Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Sandy Craver wrote last week, "Marijuana is not a man-made drug." It grows in the ground, just like our vegetables we eat."

Yes, Ms. Craver, marijuana grows from the ground. So does strychnine, poison hemlock, tobacco, and poison ivy.

Do you eat any of those "vegetables"?

Sincerely,
R.C. Speicher

To the Editor:

I am a student at Northern High School and a member of the Allegany Soccer Alliance, which is composed of players from various high schools throughout Allegany and Garrett counties. We have an important home game coming up, and I would like to invite all the students and adults interested in quality soccer to attend and support us.

The game is at noon on Sunday, March 28, at Greenway Stadium in Cumberland. Admission for students is $1, with a fee of $3 for adults. The team we will be playing is a select team from the Martinsburg area of West Virginia. They have a good team, that, by a 3-2 score, earlier defeated a team composed of several of our players in an indoor tournament.

The ASA is a new organization this year and was established with the objective of developing, promoting, and administrating the game of soccer in Allegany and Garrett counties. It also seeks to provide opportunities for players to excel in highly competitive environments. We are in an under-19 age league, with a Maryland state tournament of such select teams later in the spring. We will also compete in the Virginia Soccer Tournament in Springfield, and the Mason Dixon Cup in Hagerstown.

Again, if you wish to see a high level of high school soccer, while supporting those of us players from the various schools in our two counties, please come to our home game this Sunday at Greenway Stadium. We'll try to provide you with a great game.

Sincerely,
Joshua Neubert

To the Editor:

It happened again. I watched from my office waiting room. One of them ran up and down the sidewalk, making laps around the stairs and ramp. One went to the car, shut the doors, and cowered in a corner of the back seat. But the one which grasped most of my attention was the little girl. She was probably 7 or 8 years old with bright blue eyes. But her eyes were filled with tears as she clung tightly to her mother's leg.

There was apparently a custody hearing where one parent had won custody over another. The children, three in all, appeared to range in age from about 5 to 8 years of age. And with all the emotions and embittered feelings flying, the parents were now reduced to an argument over personal property which continued onto the sidewalk.

At this point, there were no lawyers or judges. The parents and the three children whirled and cried and argued about what was whose. The incident lasted about 10, maybe 12 minutes. The little girl left her mother's leg long enough to attach herself firmly to the railing at the end of the ramp. She wouldn't let go. Crying pitifully, she was extracted from her clasp on the railing and wrestled into the custodial parent's car and the door shut. She rolled down the window and cried out to the other parent, who simply walked away.

For two decades I have dealt with "domestic" situations professionally. Personally I have experienced the failure of divorce. Witnessing something like this is never easy. And God help me if I ever become insensitive to domestic situations; these scenarios wrench my stomach and break my heart.

Beyond the emotional aspects, I'm left thinking about the outcome of children caught up in their parents' personal war. Reading papers written on the "transition" of our society as well as some saying that children from single-parent homes are just as "well adjusted" as those from a two-parent home does not offer much comfort. From my experience, I cannot agree.

It might be trite, but I often watch and pray for our culture to prioritize, return to, and desire traditional values. I wish the parents I see would desire things like commitment, perseverance in adversity, and cherishing one's family.

A quote I found in Reader's Digest a couple of months ago probably says it best: "Doing the right thing takes precedence over the strongest emotion."

To the Editor:

To my dear friends and neighbors, thank you so much for the support you are showing to the Leukemia Society of America! I'm raising money for the society by training to run a 26.2 mile marathon, and have been asking local residents and businesses to help sponsor me for the Midnight Sun Marathon in Anchorage, Alaska, on June 19. I am the only one representing Garrett County among 60 Maryland participants. So far I have raised $2,700 of my $4,000 commitment towards research, education, and patient services which bring us closer and closer to a cure.

I'm running in tribute to my "patient hero," sort of a "mascot" to inspire me. Nathan was diagnosed with acute lymphocytic leukemia at age 4½ and fought it with over two years of chemotherapy, which so weakened his muscles that for a long time he couldn't walk. He's 11 now, and plays baseball and soccer. He swims, too, and has even participated in swim meets with some of our own Garrett County Manta Rays. It's looking very good for Nathan.

Nine-year-old Ryan King of Baltimore vacations here in Garrett County with his family, but was just diagnosed with leukemia in October 1998 and is in active chemotherapy at Johns Hopkins Hospital. He wrote a funny song about it, but he's very ill. I desperately want Ryan's story to turn out like Nathan's.

Then there's Becky Diller from right here in Swanton. Becky is just 5 years old and is also trekking the long road to recovery. Her leukemia was discovered in 1997. She went through chemotherapy and into remission. Then she had a relapse and her only hope was a bone marrow transplant. Her brother donated marrow to her this past June. It's still early, but it looks as though she's doing well. Becky celebrated our recent "big snow" by cross-country skiing with her family. She kept going for a full hour. Let's hear it for Becky!

If you've seen me running, you know my dogs, Amber and Jessie, my inseparable companions. They go berserk with joy when I put on my running shoes. Like all working dogs, they work hard and love their job. Like me, they started running just a few minutes at a time, until we were able to do long distances. Unlike me, they are not buffaloed by weather. They prance happily through rain, snow, wind, and hot sunny days. I carry water for them when it's hot, as well as when it's cold and everything is frozen. I condition their paws with "Hoofmaker" and with a sled-dog wax called "Musher's Secret." I'm going to miss them when I go to the marathon.

Leukemia will strike 28,000 Americans this year. Combined with related blood and lymphatic cancers, the number will be 159,000 adults and children. Many will die. The Leukemia Society's goal is to reduce the number of deaths to ZERO. Already the cure rate for children under 15 has increased from 4% in 1960 to 80% today. Your contributions are tax-deductible. I'll send you a receipt. The Leukemia Society itself sends personal letters of thanks to contributors of $50 or more. Checks should be made out to "Leukemia Society of America" and sent to me. I forward your check and they credit it to my fund-raising goal. I'll write your name on my race shirt, which I'll give, along with my finisher's medal, to my "patient hero" when I'm done. These kids are running a marathon of their own that's much longer than 26 miles.

Wave when you see me running!

To the Editor:

Have you ever looked up the small word "try" in the dictionary? It is associated with "tried," "trying," "tries," and other verbs associated with effort or attempt. Case in point: Last fall, the clubs and Student Government Association at Garrett Community College became aware of the plight of a young Mtn. Lake Park girl and her family. The parents of 5-year-old Tiffany Morgan learned that their daughter was suffering with cystic fibrosis, a hereditary disease appearing in childhood, involving the pancreas and lungs. I'm sure that these parents knew in their hearts that failure was not an option. Tiffany has been receiving medical treatment for quite some time. All who know and love her realize that the recovery road ahead for her, her parents, and all who love her is going to be a trying and bumpy road to follow, both financially and emotionally.

They have medical insurance, but soon it became a realization that the limits allowed by the insurance company would not cover all the mounting medical expenses. Remember that insurance companies are a business simply trying to survive. Tiffany's parents are trying to survive, too, and they are doing an outstanding job of it! Tiffany continues to receive the best medical care. There are frequent trips to a Morgantown hospital, as Tiffany battles this disease. However, the toll of the medical bills, as well as regular monthly bills just to survive, has put a tremendous burden on the family. Their personal possessions have been in jeopardy. With this on their minds daily, Tiffany's health still is and will be the most important thing that they are able to focus on.

This is where friends, neighbors, and relatives have stepped in. We were already making plans to have a Halloween dance at GCC. When we heard of their plight, we decided we wanted to become involved and try to help. We decided to donate any profit made to the family of Tiffany Morgan. We decided to hold a 50s, 60s sock-hop dance on Halloween night. We signed a contract with a very popular professional band for this event. We also sponsored a classic car show in the afternoon. Sure, we knew that Halloween was on a Saturday night and other businesses in the area were planning their own events, but we felt we could do it. The projected expenses and the projected income from the dance should have yielded a profit.

We announced through newspaper articles that any and all money after expenses would be given to help the family towards Tiffany's medical expenses. I am sincerely thankful to the local business that joined in ticket solicitation, as well as the businesses that gave gifts towards the costume contest at the dance. The local papers covered the event in feature stories and in paid advertisements, as did the local radio stations. Both media went "beyond" their realm of duty, and did an outstanding job of informing the public. I was very touched by their generosity.

As the event drew closer, ticket sales were sluggish. Trying to offset this dilemma, I decided to discount some of the ticket prices to people who were willing to help. A stage was donated and workers donated their time and expertise to help set up for the event and clean up after the event was over. We also discounted tickets to the owners of classic cars who were willing to bring their cars to the campus for display. We were lucky that in late autumn the skies were clear, even though it was cold and breezy.

Those attending were not disappointed. Later in the evening the attending public was treated to a great show. No one left disappointed, even though we did not have a sell-out crowd as projected.

To quickly summarize,

View From My Window

by Jeffrey Wilson

SUBVERSIVE VIRGINITY

"Okay, I'll admit it: I am 22 years old and still a virgin," begins Sarah Hinlicky in her essay, "Subversive Virginity." Miss Hinlicky goes on to explain that despite the common cultural expectation that everybody have sex as early and often as possible, she has decided to save sex for a lifelong commitment with one man beginning on the day they get married.

Her view is further evidence for my thesis that the only thing really new and revolutionary at the end of the 20th century is tradition. That, too, is part of her point. Sexual license may have been exciting stuff in 1968, but 30 years later it is often boring and always destructive — and shame on those who won't admit it.

Miss Hinlicky's article appeared in the October '98 A.D. issue of the ecumenical journal First Things ($29 per year, Dept. FT, P.O. Box 3000, Denville, NJ 07834-9847). I am glad such noble thoughts have been printed in any form anywhere in America. How I wish her article might appear in Cosmopolitan or Seventeen or in any other of the literary journals which pimp our women and especially our young women.

Everyone knows that so-called "men's" magazines exploit women. More devastating is that so-called "women's" magazines also exploit them. They promote a course of self-destruction and death in the name of the latest vogue. In plain language, they teach our women to think of their goal in life as to become emaciated whores. Such sentiments go beyond sickness and cross into the realm of evil.

Today is the best possible occasion in our annual calendar for thinking about and celebrating Miss Hinlicky's "subversive virginity. Today is one of the premier days honoring that most subversive of all virgins, St. Mary, the mother of our Lord. Today is the Feast of the Annunciation when we remember the words of the angel Gabriel, "Hail, Mary, full of grace." In hearing, Mary believed, and in believing, she conceived a son, Jesus.

I had been reciting the Apostle's Creed 22 years before a professor in seminary pointed out to me that the Christian faith claims Jesus was not only conceived in the virgin Mary, but also born of the virgin Mary. Re-reading one of the classic Reformation creeds, I found a reference to "Mary ever virgin," an idea which, if I had ever thought of it, I had associated only with Catholicism.

Over the years my thoughts have multiplied. I picture that teenaged Jewish girl of first century Palestine enduring the taunts and rolled eyes of her neighbors, accepting the patient fidelity of Joseph (was it really easier for him if he was cuckolded by God and not man?). The Blessed Virgin Mary stood alone with her child, her God, and her husband against the world. Her virginity was her shield and sword by which she confounded the soldiers of Herod and the legions of Caesar.

If we understand virginity that way — as every woman's shield and sword against the world — what the sexual revolution has done is to have disarmed women without giving them any other form of defense. In the ideal of marriage, a virgin surrenders one form of protection (virginity) for another (husband).

So Miss Hinlicky encourages women to join her in rediscovering the strength of virginity to transform the world. That must, in turn, lead to the discovery of how the Blessed Virgin Mary transformed the world with her virginity.

Of herself and of the great female exemplar of faith, Miss Hinlicky writes, "Virgin sexuality has extraordinary and unusual power; ...her strength comes from a source beyond her transitory whims. It is sexuality dedicated to hope, to the future, to marital love, to children, and to God." In such conviction may the daughters of the Blessed Virgin Mary multiply.

What's HAPPENING Our Town Theatre

301-334-5640

Costume Revue To Highlight Century's Styles

The fashions, fads, and styles of the 20th century will be displayed and modeled at Our Town Theatre at the Vintage Clothing and Costume Revue, slated for Sunday, March 28, at 2 p.m. The event, in conjunction with National Women's History Month, is to be a fund-raiser for the theatre. Proceeds will go toward the purchase of new lighting for the stage, according to Melodee Hill, event coordinator.

Local actors and high school students have been recruited to model a portion of the theatre's collection of costume and antique clothing. Displays will also be set up to exhibit clothing too fragile to be worn.

"We have several wedding dresses from different eras that will be modeled by Anna Snyder, Mindy Spano, and Linda Goodrich," Hill said. "We are also doing a special segment representative of the 1930s, with models wearing lounge and leisure wear."

Hill said one segment will showcase the "little black dress," and others will highlight the decades of the 1920s through the 1970s.

Narration for the show will be provided by Barbara Ann Reed and Richard Hill, with period-appropriate music to accompany each segment. Refreshments will be served, Hill noted.

Tickets for the fund-raiser are $15 each. Reservations can be made by calling the box office at 301-334-5640.

Stutzmans' Art Part Of Display At Our Town

The artwork of four women is currently on display at Our Town Theatre in an exhibition titled "Four Women." Artists featured in the display are Laura Stutzman, Falon Stutzman, Betsy Jaeger, and Linda Reeves-Cook. The exhibition, which is part of the Women's History Month events at the theatre, will be opened to the public on weekends and by appointment through this weekend.

Last week's issue of The Republican highlighted Reeves-Cook and Jaeger. This week the Stutzmans are featured.

Laura Stutzman received an associate's degree in graphic design from the Art Institute of Pittsburgh after graduating from Southern High School in 1976. She worked for four years in Washington, D.C., as a freelance graphic artist and full-time staff designer before making a break as a freelance illustrator. She has been successful in that role for 17 years, working in the Mtn. Lake Park studio she shares with her illustrator husband Mark.

Stutzman's client list has been varied over the years and includes art buyers in the entertainment business such as the Washington Opera, CBS and PBS, and institutions like Gallaudet College, National Geographic Society, and the U.S. Mint. She has worked with corporate clients MCI and IBM to create promotional public relations materials.

Her work has also been seen in numerous magazines — trade and consumer — such as American Film, Common Cause, Consultant Pharmacist, Mortgage Banking, and Trial. Publishing projects have been varied as well, with fiction covers for Tyndale House Publishing and Simon & Schuster, in addition to self-help and reference books for Rodale Press.

Recently, the local artist has begun to take private commissions for portraiture outside her commercial work. Two of the pieces exhibited in the show are of local residents Kelly and Sam Taylor and Tina Rebuelta and her dog Noel. These were both paintings commissioned as gifts.

Falon Stutzman is a freshman at Southern High and hopes to pursue a career in some creative field. She has an interest in fashion design and is considering that area of study. She is exhibiting a project at Our Town Theatre that she completed for Robin Spiker's honors English class. The project was intended to explore styles in art through history, using a time line and graphics. In doing so, Falon's goal was to understand each painting from the artist's viewpoint by "copying" a portion of it. The result is a series of paintings depicting the human eye that demonstrates how imagery has changed through the styles of six influential artists and two millennia.

For information about "Four Women," persons may contact the theatre at 301-334-5640.

STUTZMAN BY STUTZMAN — This portrait of Falon Stutzman was painted by her mother, Laura Stutzman, who has apparently passed on her artistic talent to her daughter. Artwork by both Laura and Falon is currently on display at Our Town Theatre as part of an exhibit titled "Four Women." See story.

Actors, Musicians Sought For OTT Country Musical

Smoke on the Mountain, a country-gospel musical by Connie Ray and Alan Bailey, is scheduled for the last weekend of May and the first weekend of June at Our Town Theatre. The production has parts for three adult males, one teenage male, one adult female, and two teenage females, and perhaps extra roles for musicians (banjo, fiddle, bass fiddle, etc.).

Auditions are scheduled at the theatre on March 31, 7-10 p.m., April 3, 1-3 p.m., and April 5, 7-9 p.m.

"We are hoping to cast seven people who can act, sing, and play instruments, but realize that that's quite a wish list. We'll be content if our actors can do one or two out of the three," said Jane Avery, who will direct the project. Auditions will consist of reading, improvisation, singing, and (if possible) playing an instrument. Susan Peterson, who is the musical director of the production, encourages each auditioner to bring sheet music for a song to sing, as well as any string instrument that the individual may be able to play.

Avery said the play takes place in 1938 in Mount Pleasant, N.C., where the Reverend Oglethorpe has invited the Sanders Family Singers to provide an uplifting evening of singing and witnessing at the local church.

"The audience is invited to join in the rollicking good time," Avery said. "More than two dozen songs, many of them vintage pop hymns, and wonderful stories from the devout Sanderses provide a richly entertaining evening that has audiences clapping, singing, laughing, and cheering."

Smoke on the Mountain will be produced by special permission by Samuel French Incorporated. Any questions should be directed to Avery at Our Town Theatre (301-334-5640).

Tax Credit Info Meeting Set For This Evening

A free workshop on federal and state preservation rehabilitation tax credits will be offered tonight, March 25, at 6:30 p.m. in the Oakland City Hall. The program is designed for Oakland property owners who may be interested in securing significant tax credits that may be available for rehabilitation of historic properties within the boundaries of the Oakland National Register Historic District.

A federal tax credit of 20 percent is available for eligible income-producing properties, and a 25 percent state rehabilitation tax credit is available for eligible owner-occupied residential property and income-producing property.

The workshop is sponsored by the Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) and the Main Street Program. Interested persons who are unable to attend tonight's meeting may obtain further information on the tax credits by calling GOBA president Mikal McCartney at 301-334-9431 or Main Street program manager Glenn Tolbert at 301-533-4470.

Bill To Increase Penalty For Red-Light Running

The Maryland House of Delegates last week overwhelmingly approved legislation (HB 227) to increase the penalties assessed by the Motor Vehicle Administration (MVA) against drivers convicted of running red lights. The new law would increase the number of license points assessed by the MVA from one to two.

"Red light running causes about 250,000 crashes nationwide annually, resulting in about 900 deaths," said Delegate Dana Lee Dembrow of Montgomery County, a co-sponsor of HB 227. "Unfortunately, the death rate continues to climb at an alarming rate. We need to put the brakes on red light running."

According to a report from Dembrow's office, nearly 38,000 Maryland drivers were given citations for running red lights in 1998. This does not include individuals ticketed by automated systems, in which case civil fines are imposed.

"Red light runners tend to be younger, more risk-taking, and less likely to use safety belts," stated Delegate William Bronrott, also of Montgomery County and another co-sponsor of the bill. "They are also more likely to have multiple speeding convictions. In short, they are typically the most dangerous drivers on our roads. By increasing points assessed for red light running, we are moving one step closer to getting these dangerous drivers off the road, or, better yet, encouraging drivers to remember that red means stop."

The House vote was 129 to 3. The bill now goes to the Senate.

St. Paul's United Methodist Slates Visit By Bishop

Bishop S. Clifton Ives, resident bishop of the West Virginia area of the United Methodist Church, will be the guest minister for the 10:45 a.m. Palm Sunday service at St. Paul's United Methodist Church on March 28. A covered dish fellowship dinner following the service is set to begin at noon.

Bishop Ives was born in Farmington, Maine, and earned his bachelor's degree in history from the University of Maine and M.Div. and D.Min. from Boston University. He served churches in Maine from 1961 to 1986, then served as district superintendent until 1992. He was a delegate to the General and Jurisdictional Conference from 1972 to 1992 as well.

At the 1992 Northeastern Jurisdictional Conference, Bishop Ives was elected a bishop and assigned to the West Virginia area. He also currently serves as president of the General Commission on Religion and Race.

Addiction Svcs. To Host Alcohol Awareness Event

An educational program providing information on alcohol-related problems has been set for Thursday, April 8, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., at the Addiction Services office at 221 South Third Street in Oakland. The program is designed for the general community, and the public is invited to attend the event, which is sponsored by the Garrett County Health Department Addiction Services program.

The program is being offered in conjunction with National Alcohol Awareness Day, and "is aimed at helping people in a way that is non-threatening, easily accessible, and offers [a] direct connection with treatment resources in the community.

Light refreshments will be served at the event. For further information interested persons may call Patty Sines at 301-334-8115.

Mr. Frazee Marks 90th Birthday

Glen D. Frazee, Friendsville, celebrated his 90th birthday on Thursday, March 18. Described by friends as "a quiet man, who is always seen with a big smile on his face," Mr. Frazee was the center of attention when 60 of his family members and friends helped him celebrate the occasion at Glisan's Restaurant.

Born in Frazee's Ridge in 1909 to Issac and Kate Frazee, he has lived in the vicinity of his childhood home all of his life. Mr. Frazee grew up on a farm with his parents and one sister, Mary Hoff, Friendsville, and farming became an important part of his life. At age 25 he married Helen Umbel, and together they raised dairy cows and grew food for the essentials of living.

Mr. Frazee became the father of three children — Dale Frazee, currently of Lake Wales, Fla.; Glenna Ringer, who resides in Bruceton Mills, W.Va.; and Dorothy Glotfelty of Accident.

After his wife Helen died, he later married his present wife, Doris Hinebaugh, who gave him three step-children: Gary Hinebaugh of Leesburg, Fla., Phyllis McCarty, Friendsville, and Carla McCully of St. Augustine, Fla.

Mr. Frazee was employed by the Garrett County school system as a bus driver for 32 years and worked as a mechanic at Yough Motor in Friendsville, also for 32 years. He has served on the election board for the past 34 years and attends the Asher Glade Church of the Brethren.

Mr. Frazee has 11 grandchildren and eight step-grandchildren, and 18 great-grandchildren and eight step-great-grandchildren. He remains active in their lives, but still finds time for his new hobby of making knotted quilts.

With all of the publicized excitement of the turning of the century, Mr. Frazee said he feels that he doesn't have time to worry about that; he just "takes one day at a time and lets the Lord take care of the rest."

Miss Buckingham, Mr. Sypolt To Marry In May

Sandra E. Valentine of Terra Alta, W.Va., and Guy V. Buckingham of Tunnelton, W.Va., announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Iva Elaine Buckingham, to Travis J. Sypolt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dailey Russell Sypolt Jr. of Terra Alta.

The wedding ceremony will take place at the Terra Alta Assembly of God at 1 p.m. on Saturday, May 8. A reception will follow immediately at the Terra Alta Community Building, located at the Terra Alta Park. The couple will reside in Terra Alta.

Invitations are being sent, but all relatives and friends are invited to attend.

Miss Garlitz To Wed Mr. Orner

The parents of Katie Garlitz and Jerry Orner announce the forthcoming marriage of their children.

Miss Garlitz is the daughter of Angela Garlitz of Avilton and the late Harry Garlitz. She is a 1997 graduate of Northern High School and is currently attending Allegany College of Maryland. She is employed by the Casselman Inn, Grantsville.

Mr. Orner is the son of William and Madeline Orner, Grantsville. He is a 1988 graduate of Northern High School. He is employed by Orner and Sons Trucking Inc., Grantsville.

The couple are planning a September 25 wedding. Invitations will be sent.

AIDS Education Performances Slated At GCC

Pandora's Box, the teen health theater troupe sponsored by the Garrett County Health Department and AmeriCorps, will perform "Lurking in the Shadows: AIDS," at 7 p.m. on Friday, March 26, and Saturday, March 27, in the Garrett Community College auditorium. The 2-hour performances are free and open to the public.

"Lurking in the Shadows: AIDS" is a series of health-related vignettes written, directed, and performed by the student volunteers of Pandora's Box. The participating student volunteers are Northern High School's Julie Green, Emily Haydel, Jesse Bowes, Mike Fratz, and Malia Collins; and Rilene Lloyd, Devon McClive, Brian Rollman, Tiffany Holtschneider, Josh Peck, Mickey Chapman, Brian Oxford, and Allison Ulino, all of Southern High.

Representatives from the Garrett County AIDS Council will be on hand for both performances, and will sell refreshments during the intermission to raise funds for their AIDS-related service and education programs.

expenses were greater than revenue. We were not able to generate any profit from the ticket sales. On a positive note, the event did generate $1,330.25 for the family, including a generous $1,000 donation from an anonymous caring person(s), as well as money from other donors and revenue from the 50/50 tickets sold. This money has been given to Tiffany's family. We wish it could have been more.

Looking back at the event, I personally considered it a failure, as we did not make any profit. However, I also can say that we honestly tried and we were successful in helping Tiffany and her family in some small way.

It has been the mission of Garrett Community College to bring out the best in each student who attends. The administration and the instructors are committed to helping students achieve their goals and providing positive opportunities that benefit students, as well as our community and county. We are indeed very fortunate to have this campus in the central part of our county. It has been a tremendous benefit to me personally, as I recovered from head trauma following a plane crash. I will always be grateful to those who helped me regain much of my self-esteem as I struggled to recover from my injuries. So even though the dance was not profitable, I am thankful that at least I was able to be part of a group that tried to make a difference, small though it may have been.

To the friends of Tiffany Morgan, God speed!

Respectfully submitted by,
H. Vaughn Vitez, Event Chairman

Rehab Specialist Forming Service, Support Network

Rebecca M. Price, a rehabilitation specialist for the state Department of Education, is currently working to increase awareness in Garrett County of the needs of persons who have suffered traumatic brain injuries (TBI), and to create a network of professionals who serve the needs of those individuals. There is currently no formal brain injury program in Garrett County.

The results of severe head injuries vary widely, Price explained. "There are no two alike. Results can be physical. Memory and personality changes can take place. Some people with brain injures need to learn to count, walk, and speak all over again," she said.

More traumatic injuries to the brain result from automobile accidents than from any other cause, and the victims are more likely to be male than female, as indicated by statistics from the Brain Injury Association of Maryland Inc.

Serving Garrett County residents, as well as the rest of the western region, Price works at the Division of Rehabilitation Services in Cumberland. "I have clients in Garrett County that I work with by piecing together a program for each one. I think there are more people out there with brain injuries who could use help, and they are often very isolated. I'd like to find them."

Professionals in Garrett County who serve clients and patients with brain injuries do so individually, Price noted. "I would like to get to know the professionals now providing services and maybe combine resources," she explained.

Listing those who may offer support needed by vicitms of TBI, Price included physicians, speech therapists, occupational therapists, social workers, and guidance counselors.

A regional town meeting next Monday night at 7 p.m. at Allegany College of Maryland will address the needs of people with TBI. The session is free and open to the public. Anyone from Garrett County wishing to speak to Rebecca Price may call toll-free 1-800-244-4048.

4-H Names Area Competitors In Speech Contest

The regional 4-H public speaking contest in Hagerstown, set for Saturday, April 17, will include several Garrett County 4-H'ers who earned championship honors in the recent county 4-H competition (see photo spread).

The roster of local youth set to participate include: Angie Jordan-Nunez and Dana Hannibal, junior division, prepared speech category; Daniel Skipper and Jesse Woods, intermediate, prepared; Melissa Collins and Sarah Pysell, senior, prepared; Robert Glotfelty and Ben Hannibal, intermediate, extemporaneous; and Autumn Rizer, senior, extemporaneous.

DNR Stocking Fishing Pond In Oakland

The Glades Park Pond, located along Liberty Street in Oakland, has been designated as a Youth and Blind Persons Put and take Fishing area by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources.

Within the past several days, DNR Fisheries Service personnel have stocked the pond with 250 rainbow trout, for angling by persons under the age of 16 and blind persons. The daily creel limit for trout taken from Glades Park Pond is five fish per day with no minimum size restrictions. During the week of April 4 DNR will be restocking the pond with an additional 250 rainbow trout.

VISITING THE HOSPITAL - When Mrs. Piper's first grade class from Yough Glades Elementary School visited Garrett Memorial Hospital for a tour, emergency department nurses Dave Betz, at right in photo above, answered questions for the students as part of CHOPS (Children's Hospital Orientation Program. Alison Roth, below, a possible future doctor, learned about sterile procedures and the need to grow a bit.

First Graders Introduced To Hospital Care

First grade students at Yough Glades Elementary School had the opportunity recently to see first-hand how a hospital provides medical services through the Children's Hospital Orientation Program (CHOPS), offered by Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Through this program, first grade classes are invited to take a field trip to the hospital, visit several departments, and take part in an orientation designed to ease their fears about receiving medical treatment.

"Through the CHOPS program we have an opportunity to introduce them to the services in a non-threatening situation. Students visit the emergency room to see first hand how a cardiac monitor works, how blood pressures are taken, and how bandages are applied. They visit the X-ray department and see what their bones look like on X-ray film," explained Kathy Greaser, director of the public relations department at GCMH.

When the students finish their orientation, they receive a "goodie bag" that includes a doctor or nurse cap, a hospital coloring book, and other items that help them to share their experience with others at home.

CHOPS is held every Wednesday morning during the school year. Teachers may obtain more information about the program or schedule a visit for a class by contacting the hospital's public relations department at 301-334-2155, ext. 464.

Richter Earns FCSI Promotion

Kim Richter has been promoted to communication team leader status at Financial Computer Support Inc., an Oakland-based software company. Richter joined FCSI in 1994 as a technical consultant and was a member of the quality assurance team. Her communication team is responsible for maintaining corporate reference materials and documents, evaluating and developing in-house processes, and assisting in the research and implementation of corporate projects.

In her new position, Richter will also direct recently appointed communication specialists Lisa Park and Janet Freeland. Park joined FCSI in 1994 and has served as an administrative assistant and a technical consultant while working closely with the marketing, training, and data import teams. Freeland has been with the company since 1996 and has served as a technical consultant, as well as administrative assistant to various departments.

Richter and Freeland have been responsible for the creation and development of the on-line help system included with FCSI's dbCAMS+ software. "Together, the team members bring a diverse background and knowledge level to the communication team," an FCSI spokesperson said.

Eating Disorder Support Groups Merge Sessions

Two area groups offering support for persons with eating disorders have merged, and will meet for a single session on the second and fourth Mondays of each month at Garrett Community College.

One group had previously been scheduled to meet on Tuesdays at St. Paul's United Methodist Church. "We decided to hold the meetings together," said Suzanne Tomb, LCSW-C, who will help facilitate these support group meetings.

The sessions will held in the Continuing Education building of GCC beginning at 7 p.m. For further information, persons may call Tomb at 301-387-2996.

Yoga Course Set At GCC Campus

The Continuing Education and Training Division of Garrett Community College will offer a Hatha Yoga Course on Tuesdays and Thursdays, from March 30 through April 15. This six-session course will meet at the McHenry campus from 5 to 8:30 p.m. Early registration is encouraged since enrollment is limited.

The instructor will be introducing this Tibetan form of Yoga, which harmonizes body and mind through breath and motion. This system of yoga is complete and can accommodate a variety of people, according to the instructor. It contains technical posturing simplified to three areas of the spine: the neck, between shoulder blades/chest, and hips. Additional topics covered are: systems of the body and how they are affected by each pose, breathing techniques, and meditation.

For additional information and registration, persons may contact the Continuing Education and Training Division at 301-387-3069.

Death Of Jesus To Be Depicted By Area Church

Members of the Cherry Grove Church of the Brethren will create a live tableau depicting the crucifixion of Jesus on Good Friday, April 2. This re-enactment, scheduled to take place regardless of the weather, will be staged in front of the church, which is located along Route 219, one-half mile north of the Grantsville Plaza.

The dramatization of the final hours of Jesus will take place from noon until 3 p.m.

BOE Previews VICA Contest Presentation

Members of the VICA (Vocational Industrial Clubs of America) Club at Southern High School, preparing for a state competition, found a responsive audience for their practice presentation in the members of the Garrett County Board of Education.

The demonstration, which was given to the board members during their meeting earlier this month, was a team public speaking activity. Public speaking and leadership skills are developed through facets of the VICA programs, teacher Mary Ann Shipe explained.

The seven member team has been mastering the enactment of an opening and closing ceremony that would be used for a formal assembly. It is this project that will judged at the state VICA competition at the end of this month. "It's a 10-minute ceremony that they have been practicing. They needed an audience, and it gave the board members an opportunity to see what the students are working on," said Shipe.

The VICA team members who will compete in the state contest are Arley Stimak, Steve Lilly, Audrey Shipe, Ashley Stimak, Sarah Pysell, Nick Oliverio, and Faryn Shaffer. There are also two alternates: Erica Green and David Simmons. The role of the alternate is to know each person's part in the presentation so that if anyone is absent, the alternate is able to step in and take over that part.

To Provide Music For Club Meeting

Oakland resident Karyn Seilhamer will perform the musical segment of the program during the upcoming meeting of the Christian Women's Club, to be held April 7 at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club, Cumberland.

The title of Seilhamer's presentation will be "Showers of Joy," in keeping with the theme of the "Showers of Flowers" luncheon. The speaker for the event will be Sue Johnson, a business owner from Bellemeade, N.J.

The cost of the luncheon is $7.50 per person and reservations may be made by calling 301-777-1936 or 301-729-1731. Deadline for reservations is April 5. Child care is available also by reservation.

OPEN YOUR HOME TO AN INNER CITY CHILD.

All you need is a little room in your heart and in your home to volunteer as a host family for The Fresh Air Fund. Without your help, some children will never get to experience the freedom of playing outdoors or life outside the city streets. It only takes two weeks to give a city child an unforgettable summer. Please call or write to host a Fresh Air Fund child.

•Important Notice: The After Prom party will be canceled this year, unless more parents attend the next After Prom planning meeting on Tuesday, March 30, at 7 p.m. in Room 118 at NHS. At the last meeting only six parents attended. If more parents do not attend this meeting to help plan and organize the event, the After Prom will not be held this year.

•The February Students of the Month were recently named. They are: freshman Trey Brenneman, sophomore Brandon Hoover, junior Adam Brenneman, and senior Lester Lewis.

•Despite the recent number of snow days, senior graduation was set for Sunday, June 6, at 4 p.m. at the March Board of Education meeting. The last day of school for underclassmen is currently set for June 16; however, future weather-related closings will push that date back.

•Garrett County schools will be closed for Easter vacation on April 2 and 5.

•Swing dance lessons will be held in the Northern High School cafeteria for four consecutive Tuesdays, beginning on March 30 from 3:45 to 4:45 p.m. The cost is $4 per person, per lesson (come as often as you like). Lessons are open to the general public. All students under 18 must turn in a signed permission form prior to the lessons. All persons over 18 (and non-students) must register in the main Office prior to the lessons. For more information please contact Teresa Roberts at NHS.

•The Northern High School Creative Writing Class will be doing the literary magazine this year. More information on price and order information will be released at a later time.

•Due to safety concerns, a change was made concerning student drivers. Only those students who leave prior to 3 p.m. are permitted to park in the lot where the school buses used to park. All other drivers must use the parking lot behind the school. No vehicles are permitted to be parked in the lot in front of the school between 3 and 4 p.m. There are no exceptions to this rule, and any student found in violation of this rule may have driving privileges (to school) revoked.

•Parents who pick up students at the end of the school day are required to meet them in the student parking lot, located behind the school.

•The Maryland High School Students Showcase is accepting entries for the 1999 Showcase. The contest is open to all students in grades 9-12. Students should submit only original work, and this year all entries must be mysteries. Poems should be no longer than 500 words, and short stories should be no longer than 1,800 words. Winning entries will be published in the Festival Chapbook, and selected winners will read their work at the Baltimore Book Festival, Sept. 24-26, 1999. Entries will not be returned. Deadline to enter is Tuesday, June 1. Mail entries to: Maryland High School Students Showcase, Baltimore Office of Promotion, 200 West Lombard Street, Baltimore, MD 21202. If you have any questions call 1-410-752-8632.

•Tonight the Northern Blue and Gold mock trial teams will face each other in the Mock Trial regular season finale at the District Court in Oakland.

•The Northern Gold mock trial team recently lost to top-ranked Allegany, 50-49, in a trial at Cumberland. The Blue team lost to Bishop Walsh, also at Cumberland, 51-42.

Blue Ribbons To Signify Child Abuse Prevention

As declared by President Ronald Reagan in 1982, April is Child Abuse Prevention Month, and the Garrett County Commission for Women (GCCW) is again this year promoting awareness through the Blue Ribbon Campaign.

A Virginia grandmother began the blue ribbon project in the spring of 1989 as a tribute to her grandson, a 3-year-old who died at the hands of his mother's abusive boyfriend. Since that time, concerned citizens across the United States have worn the blue ribbon as a symbol of the need to prevent child abuse and neglect.

"Please wear a blue ribbon," said "Bonnie," the grandmother. "Put one on your car. Give them to your friends. Tell them my story. . . . In this small way, you may save a child's life."

The GCCW has sponsored the Blue Ribbon Campaign locally for the past four years.

"It is one way everyone in the community can play a role in child abuse prevention. Wearing a ribbon can be a reminder to think about the problem of child abuse," a GCCW spokesperson said.

Persons interested in obtaining ribbons can get them at the Ruth Enlow Library or by e-mailing their requests to sao@gcnet.net.

RAM Notes

•The annual freshman civic trip to Annapolis is scheduled for tomorrow, Friday, March 26. Students will be leaving SGHS at 6 a.m. and will return to the school around 10 p.m. During this trip, students will visit the House of Delegates and the Senate, participate in discussions with Del. George Edwards and Sen. John Hafer, and take a walking tour of historic Annapolis. This trip has been organized by Ms. Heather Miller.

•The prospective members of the Foster D. Bittle Chapter of the National Honor Society at SGHS are collecting items for the Dove Center from March 17 until April 9. Items to be collected include infant/children's items, office supplies, and household items. Items will be collected in Ms. Miller's room at the school. Please contact a National Honor Society member or Ms. Miller if you would like to contribute an item or find out more about the Dove Center.

•The senior class trip has been scheduled for Friday, May 14, until Sunday, May 16. Students will visit Ocean City, take an ocean cruise, and spend Saturday at King's Dominion.

•Michael Farah, educational specialist form the Military Entrance Processing Station (MEPS) in Pittsburgh, Pa., will be at SGHS on Tuesday, March 30, to interpret ASVAB test results for our 10th grade students who were tested in November. Mr. Cain will also do an interpretation, which will include a career explanation activity using test results. There will be two interpretations — one, first period and one, second period — both of which will take most of the period. Mr. Farah will do his presentation in the cafeteria, and Mr. Cain will do his in Room 1187 (the Foods Room). Required materials will be distributed to students when they arrive at their designated sites. The first presentation will begin at approximately 8:45 a.m. The beginning of the second presentation will be announced over the PA system. Should presentations conclude prior to the end of the period, the main office will be notified and students will be dismissed back to class by way of a PA announcement.

•The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at SGHS on Wednesday, April 14, from 8 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. The sign-up deadline is Tuesday, April 6. All students ages 17 and up, along with faculty members, are encouraged to consider participating in this life-giving endeavor.

•Juniors from Northern and Southern Garrett high schools will attend a countywide Career Expo on April 16 at Garrett Community College. Speakers representing an array of career fields will conduct seminars to discuss typical job tasks, training, and entry requirements for their field. Field trip permission forms will be distributed to juniors during the last week of March. Parents are asked by school personnel to encourage the students to return the forms by April 1 to ensure adequate transportation arrangements. Parents with questions about this event may contact the guidance office at SGHS by calling 301-334-1660.

•Plans are again under way for the eighth annual After Prom party at SGHS. Planning meetings will occur on March 25, April 1, April 14, April 29, and May 5. Meetings will be held in Mrs. Bender's classroom (1171) at 6 p.m. All interested parents and community members are encouraged to attend. Questions may be directed to Mrs. Bender at the school.

Rams To Open Friday; Key Players On Injured Roster

Baseball has always been a strong athletic program at Southern High School, especially over the past two decades with Jim Bosley as head coach of the Rams, and that winning legacy should continue this season, as a number of top players are back from last season's 16-5 squad. The Rams are slated to open their campaign this Friday at Keyser.

The numbers certainly support the claim of Ram baseball prowess, as the Southern teams have won the five consecutive area championships, have won the Western Maryland Interscholastic League title the past three years (all three years that the Rams have been members of the league), captured the 1A West Region title last season with a 10-5 defeat of Williamsport, blanked Cambridge South Dorchester in the state 1A semi-finals, 5-0, and were finally edged in the 1998 state championship game with Glenelg, 6-5 in eight innings.

Bosley, who is the area's winningest baseball coach, has a 19-year overall mark of 263-94 for an impressive 74% win average.

Only five seniors from last year's state runner-up team were lost to graduation, including one of the area's top pitchers in Chad Warnick, short stop Derek Everd, twins Mike and Chris Bittinger (first base and catcher, respectively), and second baseman Scott Beitzel.

However, before the first ball has been tossed onto the field to start the 1999 season, several of Bosley's players are already nursing injuries, and the most seriously injured is junior Josh Bosley, a first-team All-Area selection who led last season's team in six offensive categories, including hitting (.471 average). Bosley was diagnosed just this week with a fractured vertebra sustained as a result of a sledding accident two weeks ago. He is expected to miss about the first half of the season.

"That was a major blow to us," Coach Bosley said. "We're hopeful that Josh will be able to return sometime in mid-April. Of course, it could have been a lot worse."

Also contending with injuries are last year's second leading hitter, senior Jason Weaver, another first-team All-Area pick and a member of this year's pitching corps; Jason Hinebaugh, a junior who is expected to start behind the plate; and sophomore Jared Fike. Weaver is having arm problems, Hinebaugh hasn't been able to swing a bat yet because of back problems, and Fike is sporting a cast on his throwing hand, forcing him to miss all preseason workouts.

A TRADITION OF WINNING in the sport of baseball is longstanding at Southern High School, and the varsity Rams and their coaches are expected to continue that tradition this season, as a number of starters from last season's 1A Maryland state runner-up squad have returned for the 1999 campaign. Coach Jim Bosley, the area's most successful active coach, is beginning his 20th season at the helm of the Rams, who are slated to open their season this Friday at Keyser. Pictured from left above, kneeling, are: Mike Shahan, Jordan Uphold, Christian Warfield, Keith Parks, Jason Rohrbaugh, Todd Tasker, and Nathan DiSimone. Standing, same order, are: Jason Hinebaugh, John Andrews, T.J. Riley, Billy Stoner, Jason Finch, Josh Bosley, and Jason Weaver. See story for pre-season details.

Returning starters include Weaver, who hit .429 last year, senior Keith Parks, who is an outstanding defensive player, Bosley, junior Jordan Uphold, who batted .313, and senior Nathan DiSimone, who recorded a .381 mark at the plate last season.

"Pitching is once again a real question mark for us," Bosley said. "We have five possible candidates, but Josh was our number one guy and he's out, and Jason (Weaver) is another one of our five, and he's out right now."

The other three expected to spend time on the mound are Uphold, Jason Finch, and Christian Warfield, all juniors.

"Josh had gotten a lot of innings in both high school and Legion ball last year, so we believe he would have been our number one pitcher," Bosley said. "Weaver still hasn't been able to throw, and Finch, Warfield, and Uphold are in no particular order right now. All of them have the potential to be pretty good."

Bosley is confident of his starter behind the plate, Jason Hinebaugh. "Defensively, we think he can be as good as anyone we've ever had, and we've had some outstanding ones," he said. "Todd Tasker (senior) is also competing at this position."

Senior Billy Stoner and Finch will be used interchangeably at first base. "This is a very important position, and we believe we have two who will do fine there," he said.

Several talented Rams are competing for the second base spot, with senior John Andrews, Warfield, and Bosley as the candidates. Andrews and Warfield will also see time in the outfield.

Either Warfield or Uphold, when not on the mound, will start at the short stop position, while Parks, junior T.J. Riley, and Finch are all available for third base.

"Keith is as good as there is at third base, but he has some good back-ups," Bosley said.

Starting in the outfield will be Weaver, when not pitching, and DiSimone, along with either Mike Shahan or Jason Rohrbaugh, both juniors.

"Mike hit the ball extremely well in American Legion ball, and Jason can also hit," Bosley said, "so either one could be used as designated hitters."

Bosley is being assisted this year by Dan Holler, Steve Weaver, and Keith Cain. Tom Bosley is again heading up the junior varsity program, assisted by Billy Bittinger and Seth Hansen.

Friday's opening game at Keyser is slated to be played at the high school field, but could be moved to the Potomac State College diamond if conditions are better there. It will get under way at 4 p.m.

The Rams will then play at Preston County High School in Kingwood on Saturday (2 p.m.). They will open their home schedule Easter Saturday (April 3) with their own three-team tournament. Meyersdale and Petersburg will be the two visiting teams, and games are slated for 10 a.m., 1 p.m., and 4 p.m.

The Southern jayvees will open their campaign Friday, April 2, with a doubleheader at Keyser.

Oakland Little League Tryouts Slated April 3

Oakland area youngsters who enjoy playing baseball are reminded that the Oakland Little League will hold a second tryout session for the 1999 season. It is scheduled for Saturday, April 3, at the Southern Middle School gymnasium.

All children ages 5-8 who wish to play T-ball and who have not yet registered must do so at this time. (T-ball players do not have to try out.) All children ages 9-12 who wish to play Minor League or Little League, and who have not played before, must try out at this time. Any child who played last year in the Minor League and has never attended a try-out session must do so at this time. Players who do not try out will not be eligible for the 1999 season.

Those reporting to the tryouts must have with them a copy of their birth certificate, a glove, tennis shoes, and be accompanied by a parent. Parents must bring a driver's license or some other proof of residence that indicates street address to ensure that their child is in the league geographical playing area.

Persons desiring more information may telephone one of the following OLL board members: Dan Miller, 301-334-4400; Ron O'Brien, 301-387-5390; Ken Tressler, 301-334-6510; Ed Wildesen, 301-334-8785; Jeff Browning, 301-334-9199; Stan Ford, 301-334-6323; or Kathy Shaffer, 301-334-2121.

Southern Girls' Games Postponed

Games scheduled for the Southern High School girls' softball team this week have been postponed because of wet field conditions. The games that were to have been played at Westmar have been postponed until next Tuesday. A game that was to have been played Monday at Keyser has been postponed until Wednesday, April 7.

The Rams will attempt to get their season open this Saturday at Allegany when they play in an Easter tournament with the Campers, Salisbury, and Berlin. Game times are 10 a.m., noon, 2 p.m., and 4 p.m.

Northern Girls Edged, 4-3, In Softball Opener

The girls' softball team of Northern High School played well against the defending Western Maryland Interscholastic League champions, the Allegany Campers, on Tuesday in Cumberland, but the Huskies lost a 3-2 lead in the bottom of the sixth and went down to a 4-3 defeat. It was the opening game of the season for both squads.

The key to Alco's victory was the performance of pitcher Corinthia Kendall, who recorded 11 strike-outs, allowed no walks, and yielded just five hits.

Each team scored a run in the first inning and it remained deadlocked at 1-1 until the bottom of the fifth, when the Campers took a 2-1 lead. The Huskies answered with two runs in the top of the sixth to go up 3-2, but Allegany answered with two runs to make it 4-3.

The Huskies had the tying run on base in the top of the seventh, but a double play by the Campers secured their victory.

Mimi Harvey rapped a triple and a single for the Huskies. Accounting for Northern's other three hits were Heidi Frazee, Andrea McRobie, and Kista Knox, each of whom singled.

Heather Nugent went the distance for the Huskies and allowed seven hits, including a triple and a single by Erin Rhodes, two singles by Manda Widmyer, and a triple by Cassie Murray.

Lakers Win Final Five During Spring "Marathon;" Record 8-3

After a somewhat sluggish start to the 1999 baseball season, the Garrett Community College Lakers completed a week-long, spring-break "marathon" in three southern states by winning five straight games and upping their record to 7-3. After dropping three of their first five games early last week, the Lakers crushed the junior varsity of St. Andrew's Presbyterian College in Laurinburg, N.C., last Thursday; swept the Methodist College jayvees in Fayetteville, N.C., on Friday, 16-2 and 13-7; and then coasted to double victory in Fredericksburg, Va., on Saturday over Germanna Community College, 16-5 and 13-2.

The Lakers also played Wednesday in Buckhannon, W.Va., against the junior varsity of West Virginia Wesleyan College (see separate story).

In last Thursday's romp over St. Andrew's, Andy Blackwell paced the Lakers' 20-hit offensive performance by going 5-for-7 with a three-run homer, a double, and three singles for a total of six runs batted in.

HR - Andy Blackwell, Mike Stumpo (Garrett); Brian Hinson (St. Andrews).

Mike Stumpo hit a solo blast, plus two singles, while Matt DiAngelo brought home four runs with a double and a single. Gary Lee, Jon Atkins, Josh Pearson, and Drew Rainey each finished with two singles.

The Lakers trailed briefly, 1-0, but took the lead for good with a two-run second inning. They put seven more on the board in the third, five in the fifth, and three each in the sixth and ninth frames.

Earning the win on the mound was Chris Nutter, who tossed eight innings before being relieved by Rainey. The pair allowed 14 hits, with Brian Henson smacking a solo home run and two doubles. Spanky Chavis had a double and two singles.

The first game against Methodist College on Friday lasted only five innings because of the five-run rule, as the Lakers' big innings were the third and fourth, in which they recorded six and seven runs, respectively.

Garrett's fourth was highlighted by a solo home run by Darnell Bratton. Bratton also had a single, Joe Eisner finished with a double and a single, Lee Pennington had three singles for three RBI, Gary Lee contributed two singles and four RBI, and Blackwell also rapped a pair of singles.

Tossing a two-hitter for the Lakers was Michael Maravich, who struck out six for the win.

The Lakers took the momentum into game two and scored three runs in the first inning, but Methodist matched that feat in the bottom of the first and took a 4-3 lead in the second. The Lakers took the lead for good with two runs in the third, scored two more in the fourth, and secured their victory with a six-run sixth inning.

Blackwell finished with a double and a single for three RBI for the Lakers, while Bratton doubled and singled for two runs, Pennington hit three singles for the second time that day, and Rainey chipped in with two singles.

Trent Void and Brent Chandler each had two singles in Methodist's eight-hit effort.

Laker James Bruckey pitched from the second through the sixth innings, after relieving starter Chad Ord. Jon Atkins tossed the seventh frame.

Eisner led the Lakers' 16-hit performance in Saturday's first game against Germanna CC, as he hit a solo homer and two singles, while Josh Pearson singled three times, scored three runs, and knocked home three more.

After a scoreless first inning, the Lakers erupted for seven runs in the second inning and never looked back. They led 10-2 after five innings and 14-3 after six.

Also getting multiple hits for the Lakers were Gary Lee with a double and a single and Chandler Ratliff with two singles and three RBI.

Getting the win on the mound was Brian Tarajack, who allowed just two runs in the first five innings. Danny Brown had two singles for Germanna.

Ratliff finished with a 5-for-5 afternoon by hitting three more singles in the second game, and he also scored three runs. Matt DiAngelo hit a triple and a double, and scored four times, Lee added a double and a single, and Pearson singled twice.

The Lakers scored one run in the first inning, five in the second, four in the third, and three in the fourth while Scott Sisler held the home team scoreless. Sisler allowed just two hits in going the five-inning distance, one in the first inning and one in the fifth. The former Northern High School standout struck out four and had a shutout going into the final frame.

Coach Ed Wildesen and the Lakers are scheduled to play a doubleheader at Allegany College of Maryland in Cumberland this Friday, beginning at noon, travel to CCAC-South on Sunday for another twinbill, and then play two more games next Tuesday at Montgomery Rockville. Their home opener is scheduled for Saturday, April 3, against Anne Arundel CC.

Huskies Give Up 4-0 Lead, Drop Opener To Allegany

A four-run third inning gave the Northern High School Huskies a 4-0 lead over the Campers of Allegany in their season opener Monday afternoon in Cumberland, but the home team rallied for two runs in the bottom of the third, six in the fourth, and one in the sixth to hand the Huskies a 9-4 Western Maryland Interscholastic League defeat.

The Huskies were held to six hits by a pair of Alco pitchers, while the Campers recorded 13 hits off three Northern hurlers. P.J. Workman stroked a two-run double, Ryan Butler had a run-producing single, and Matt Settle, Levi Schmuck, and Josh Henderson each hit a single.

The Campers' big fourth inning featured an RBI single by Adam Schmitt, a two-run single by Jeremy Strother, a two-run double by Sam Long, and an RBI single by Matt Wright. Schmitt finished with two triples and a single, and Long hit three doubles to lead Allegany's hitting attack.

"We played fairly well, considering the amount of time we've had outside," stated Northern coach Phil Carr. "It was about the first time out pitchers were actually on a mound, and they allowed only two walks. Defensively we played reasonably well, again considering how little outside time we have had.

"We had a chance to win the game after taking a 4-0 lead, but they got the hits when they needed them in the sixth," he said. "Allegany is going to be a very good hitting team this year."

Coach Carr and the Huskies are scheduled to play another WMIL contest today at Westmar, one on Friday at Mt. Savage, and a non-league game at Hancock next Tuesday.

Pen-Mar League To Meet Today At Keyser's Ridge

The Pen-Mar Baseball League will hold a meeting today, March 25, at the Keyser's Ridge McDonald's at 7:30 p.m. The league will decide the wood bat-only proposal for the 1999 season and conduct other routine business.

Dr. Joe Litton was added as a league officer at the last meeting. Litton first joined the Pen-Mar League in 1980 with the Franklin Life team in Cumberland. Litton had a successful baseball career as a left-handed pitcher for many years in the league. He also managed the Cumberland team in 1984. In addition to his commitment to the Pen-Mar League, Litton is heavily involved in youth baseball in the Cumberland area.

The other league officers for the 1999 season are: John Culp, president; Harry "Henskie" Ritchie, vice-president; and Terry Helbig, secretary-treasurer. "I'm extremely happy to have Dr. Litton joining the league as an officer. Dr. Litton and Mr. Ritchie are both so active in the community, they really bring a lot of credibility to the Pen-Mar League," Culp said.

Others interested in joining the league as a player or starting a team should contact Helbig at 301-334-3343 or Culp at 301-334-6023.

Lakers Get By Wesleyan Junior Varsity Squad

The Garrett Community College Lakers, who won five in a row this past week on their 10-game spring break road trip (see separate story), added yet another win yesterday in Buckhannon, W.Va., by edging the junior varsity of West Virginia Wesleyan College, 8-7. The victory upped the Lakers' record to 8-3.

It was a six-run sixth inning that won the contest for Garrett, as the Lakers went into that frame trailing 4-2. The Lakers out-hit their hosts by a 7-6 margin, with Darnell Bratton recording a home run. No other details of that game were received by press time.

The Lakers are slated to play a doubleheader this Friday in Cumberland against Allegany College of Maryland.

Winners In Rec. League Contests Are Announced

Recreational Basketball League teams sponsored by the Mettiki Coal Company and Patterson Boat Company each recorded victories on Sunday, with Mettiki nipping K&H Rentals, 64-62, and Patterson getting by Gonder Insurance, 45-39.

Mike Saturday's tip-in at the buzzer gave Mettiki its win. Saturday also led the team in scoring with 21 points, while Justin Liller netted 18, and Stan Skiles and Gary Newcomb also reached double figures with 10 each. Mel Evans paced K&H offensively by finishing with 20 points, Mark Hickman contributed 12, and Stan Eggleston netted 10.

Greg Shockey scored 22 points to lead Patterson Boat. Gonder's top scorers were Jason Shank and Billy Braithwaite with 12 and 11 points, respectively.

Games set for this Sunday, Mar. 28, will pit Gonder Insurance against Dan Bosley Construction at 6 p.m. and K&H Rentals vs. Patterson Boat Company at 7 p.m.

Garrett County Outdoors

By Robert Yonke

Spring is having a hard time getting out of the egg this year. After a winter of minimal snowfall, it seems like the averages are catching up with us in March regarding snowfall anyhow.

What does this mean to the outdoors person? Well, trout fishermen will find that the area streams are high from a combination of runoff and the fact that reservoirs are full and the releases are increased. When flow levels permit, though, the fishing has been pretty good. As has been the situation all winter, large streamers, sculpins, and woolly buggers that fished slowly in deep pools produce well. On the North Branch, large stonefly nymph imitations are also producers. Beadheads and hare's ear nymphs along with midge imitations continue to produce on the Savage. Craig Collins at D & B Sports Shop reported a 27-inch, 7-pound brown trout taken somewhere near Bloomington.

Put and take trout fishing begins this Saturday, March 27.

SPRING TURKEY SEASON

Maryland's spring turkey hunting season will open April 17 across the state. Garrett County is expected to provide good opportunities as usual.

Some things to remember are: (1) Even though fluorescent orange isn't required for hunting, its use is a good idea. Wear it while moving, put it on your bird when leaving the woods, band a tree next to your blind. (2) Avoid black, white, red, and blue on clothing, as these are natural colors of the tom turkey and can lead to accidents. (3) Use of decoys is OK; however, bait and electronically recorded/amplified calls are taboo. (4) Remember, birds must be tagged and checked in at a checking station.

ANNUAL TROUT UNLIMITED BANQUET

The Yough Chapter of Trout Unlimited will hold its annual banquet on April 30 at Uno's on Deep Creek Lake. Information is available from Spring Creek Outfitters at 301-387-2034.

"BECOMING AN OUTDOORS-WOMAN" UPDATE

The DNR is holding a "Becoming An Outdoors-Woman" workshop at Broad Creek Scout Reservation in Harford County April 16-19. The program encourages women to learn more about outdoor adventures while building their confidence in skills needed to fully enjoy the environment. Women comprise the fastest growing market for outdoor equipment and clothing. Workshop participants learn about fish and wildlife-based recreation in an encouraging, enthusiastic, and supportive atmosphere. Typical activities include firearm safety and handling, backyard habitat and wildlife gardening, kayaking and canoeing, outdoor cooking, backpacking, and mountain biking.

The campground features dormitory-style cabins with wood stoves. Meals are provided. Registration is limited and advance registration is required. Participants must be at least 18 years old. The workshop fee is $175. For more information and to register, call Nancy Smogor at 301-478-2146.

ARCHERY LEAGUES

D & B Sports Shop's winter archery league finished its competition this past week, and the AMC league has one more week to go.

Finishing first at D & B was the team of Jamie Streets, Ricky Jones, and Michael Droppleman; second place went to Tom Layton, Dan Layton, and Don Kisner; and the third place team included Don McKenzie, John Sines, and Lonnie Artice.

Jimmy Iden of AMC reported that top shooters there going into the final week were Drew Sheally, Tim Cosner, and Greg Iden. Top female archers were Cheryl Iden, Sandy Iden, and Kelly Fulmer.

SUNDAY HUNTING QUESTION

Two bills have been introduced in the state legislature regarding Sunday hunting. As of this writing, the DNR has not taken a position on this issue. If you have an opinion, now is the time to contact your state representative. Also, the Maryland Wildlife Advisory Commission is interested. Contact Spaulding Goetze, Chairman, at Maryland Dept. of Natural Resources, Wildlife and Heritage Division, Tawes State Office Building, E-1, Annapolis, MD 21401.

THE ONE THAT DIDN'T GET AWAY - This surely was a prize catch for Douglas DeWitt, a former Garrett County resident, who reeled in this first place winning bass from Falls Lake near Raleigh, N.C., during a tournament. The fish measured 25½ inches in length, 20 inches in girth, and weighed in at 10 lbs. 1 oz. A native of Garrett County, DeWitt now resides in Raleigh with his wife Rebecca. His father is Joe DeWitt Jr., Oakland, and his mother is Loretta DeWitt, Virginia Beach, Va.

Md. Trout Season Opening Saturday

Maryland's trout season officially begins Saturday, March 27, at 5:30 a.m. Last year more than 80,000 anglers packed their rods and tackle and went trout fishing in Maryland.

"On opening day, your chance of success is quite high," said Bob Lunsford, director of Restoration and Enhancement for the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Fisheries Service. "I'm really excited about the size of the trout stocked this year, and anglers can look forward to a great spring of fishing."

During the last three weeks more than 170,000 trout have been stocked in streams and ponds across the state in preparation for opening day. By later this spring more than 465,000 brown and rainbow trout will be stocked.

DNR's trout stocking program is funded entirely by the sale of freshwater fishing licenses and trout stamps, and federal Sportfish Restoration Program (Wallop-Breaux) funds, which are generated by anglers' and boaters' tax dollars.

"DNR's trout stocking program and commitment to improving the water quality of Maryland's streams and rivers has helped Maryland develop some of the best trout fisheries on the East Coast," DNR Secretary John R. Griffin said. "The department is also working to bring quality fishing opportunities closer to the metropolitan areas of the state.

Since 1990, the state has added 30 lakes and rivers, most close to metropolitan anglers, to the list of areas stocked across the state. A stocking schedule, including a list of rivers, streams, and lakes that are stocked, the number of trout stocked, and the weeks in which stocking will take place, is available at DNR Regional Service Centers, area fishery offices, licensing agents, or on DNR's Internet site at www.dnr.state.md.us.

Clean Marina Status Sought By DNR Facilities

Maryland Department of Natural Resource (DNR) managers Paul Durham of Garrett County's Deep Creek Lake Recreational Area and Steve Hamilton of Jennings Randolph Lake Boat Ramp have joined the ranks of boating facilities seeking recognition for their environmentally responsible operations. Both managers have pledged to do their part to "keep Maryland's waterways free of harmful chemicals, excess nutrients, and debris."

Forty-three marinas, including 38 private marinas and yacht clubs, have signed the Clean Marina pledge to date, a component of Maryland's Clean Marina Initiative (CMI). To fulfill this pledge, each marina operator will implement measures to control pollution associated with vessel maintenance and repair; petroleum storage and transfer; sewage disposal; solid, liquid, and hazardous wastes; stormwater runoff; and facilities management.

CMI is a new program coordinated by DNR in partnership with the marine industry. CMI promotes and celebrates voluntary adoption of measures to reduce pollution from marinas and recreational boats. As the first step toward becoming a certified Clean Marina, marina operators are asked to sign a pledge indicating they will strive to prevent pollution. To achieve full standing as a Clean Marina, they must adopt a number of the recommendations in the Maryland Clean Marina Guidebook. The guidebook provides a comprehensive review of pollution prevention measures. Recognized Clean Marinas may use the Clean Marina logo in their advertising and on their letterhead. They also will receive a CMI flag to fly from their facility, a page on the Clean Marina web site (www.dnr.state.md.us/boating), and promotion in Clean Marina publications. Boaters are encouraged to patronize Maryland's Clean Marinas.

"Participation by state-run facilities is extremely important," said Elizabeth Fuller Valentine, Clean Marina coordinator. "Their involvement demonstrates to the public that the state of Maryland practices the same types of pollution prevention measures that DNR recommends for private facilities."

To learn more about the Clean Marina Initiative, interested persons may call DNR toll free at 877-620-8DNR, ext. 8770.

nesses to grow around the fishing industry. People can go on outings where they can just sit in a boat with a guide and fish, Yoder said.

A section of the Casselman River in Grantsville has a delayed harvest fishery program. "It has worked beautifully in Grantsville. We know this works. It's a management tool that also permits economic growth," Yoder stated.

Some residents of the Friendsville area have registered concern about a delayed harvest fishery in the town. These concerns will be heard during a public hearing and the town council has delayed any response to the DNR proposal until after discussion with the residents.

RAM FRESHMEN HAVE GREAT SEASON - The 1998-99 basketball season came to an end recently for the Southern High School freshman boys' team, with the Rams recording an overall record of 17-3. Among the highlights of the season was a first-place finish in the Blackhawk Tribe 131 Tournament in Westernport, in which Southern defeated Allegany and Frankfort, with Joel Helbig being named the MVP of the tournament. Two other big victories were a 42-32 decision over the Preston County freshmen behind a 16-point scoring effort by D.R. Parsons, and a 51-41 win over Tucker County, with Ricky Reams leading the Ram scoring with 13 points. Pictured from left above, kneeling, are: Brian Hauser, Chad Panther, J.B. Dribblers Finish Season; Maryland Team Takes Title

The Northern Dribblers Club, composed of students in grades 3 to 6, ended its 1998-99 season recently with the team wearing the University of Maryland colors taking the championship title for the four-school "league."

The Dribblers combines talents from Accident, Friendsville, Grantsville, and Route 40 elementary schools under the coaching skills of Northern High School basketball players, assisted by adults.

Starting in early fall, the Northern Dribblers took to the courts at NHS on Saturdays for three hours of practicing passing and developing a critical eye for the basket. Teamwork, an essential ingredient in any sport, was enhanced for the Dribblers' six teams, when each chose a college name and colors for its T-shirts at the start of the season.

The players T-shirts were bought with money donated by the following local businesses and individuals: Deep Creek Pharmacy, Grantsville Foodland and McHenry Foodland Fresh, Mettiki Coal Company, The Print Shop, Accident's Bakery, First United Bank, Grantsville Lioness Club, Gonder Insurance Agency, Hershberger Agency Inc., Keyser's Ridge McDonalds, Newman's Funeral Home, Phenix Technologies Inc., and Sandy and Larry Nesline.

The high school basketball players, who shared their knowledge and skill on the courts, received service learning credit hours for working with the Dribblers.

Community Partnership for Children, and the recovery project brought on as a result of the closing of Bausch & Lomb. The list of possible projects was lengthy, and, according to Bob Stephens, chairman of the committee, the decision-making process was difficult.

After the three projects were chosen, the committee set to work writing the text of the application and answering the many demographic questions posed on the form. After several weeks of editing and rearranging, the application was completed and mailed four days before the deadline.

Since 1949, nearly 500 communities have earned the All-America City designation. The program is supported nationally by the Allstate Insurance Company.

"As I travel around the country, I have found that Americans are reinventing democracy one community at a time," said Christopher T. Gates, president of the NCL. "At the local level, citizens, government, businesses, and non-profit organizations are finding ways to creatively work together to take on their challenges. The fact that so many different communities, 93 in all, have applied to become All-America cities shows just how widespread the commitment to collaboratively face difficult issues has become."

Headquartered in Denver, Co., the NCL is a 105-year-old non-profit, nonpartisan organization dedicated to strengthening citizen democracy by transforming democratic institutions. Gates said the NCL accomplishes its mission through technical assistance, training, publishing, research, and the All-America City Awards.

The Allstate Insurance Company has been the sole corporate supporter of the All-America City Awards since 1988.

Downtown Development Project, which played an instrumental role in helping that town's community development and planning department secure a $100 million revitalization project for the town's central business district. He is also the former program manager for the National Main Street Center, where he was responsible for creating and directing the Urban Main Street Program, which established business district revitalization and preservation programs in 33 cities throughout the country, and for directing National Main Street's planning and design programs.

Organizers of the meeting, which is sponsored by the Oakland Main Street Program and the Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA), reiterated that the meeting will actively seek and begin to utilize the talents of the local citizenry in planning the area's future. "The main purpose of the meeting is to get some help to continue the momentum," said Oakland Main Street manager Glenn Tolbert. "This is not an evening of lectures. It will be a couple of hours devoted to getting the ball rolling on having the community develop a sense of what it wants for itself in the next few years. It is imperative that everyone attending leave the fire hall feeling that something very real is happening."

At an initial meeting in February on the subject of growth in the Oakland area, the hall was filled to overflowing when background information on the issues facing the area was presented by local and state officials. "Since last month's meeting our community volunteers have been making the best of an opportunity to enhance our economic environment and to protect our rural heritage," said Tolbert. "But they could use more help. This won't be accomplished by leaving it up to government. It must have the continued support of our community."

In addition to the general public, representatives of Garrett County's Chamber of Commerce, Economic Development Corporation, board of commissioners, and officials from the region's townships and municipalities have been invited to attend.

Anyone seeking more information about the March 30 gathering may call Tolbert at the Oakland Main Street office at 301-533-4470.

We've watched you grow from an infant to a grown woman. We've seen each other through happy times and sad. But nothing could be better than you becoming a bride.
You touched our heart when you asked us to be a part of your special day. We hope happiness and love will be a part of your lives today and forever.
Our best wishes for the happy couple.
Your sisters Brenda & Debbie

If anyone sees
JIMMY OTTO
on April 3, wish him a HAPPY BIRTHDAY!
Love you, Mom

Southern Band Boosters Slate Basket Bingo

The Southern Garrett Band Boosters will conduct a Longaberger Basket Bingo thus Sunday, Mar. 28, at the National Guard Armory in Oakland. Doors will open at 1 p.m. and games will begin at 2 p.m.

Prizes to the winners will be Longaberger baskets. The cost to play 23 games is $20. There will be refreshments available, plus raffles that will award additional baskets.

Tickets are available now at Englander's Pharmacy in Oakland, and will also be available at the door. In the event of inclement weather, the games will be postponed until April 18.

Senior Center Increases Meal Service Days

Flowery Vale Senior Center, Accident, has added one day per week to the meal program. Hot noon dinners are now served on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays for persons age 60 and over. A voluntary contribution is asked of each participant to help defray the cost of each meal.

Meal reservations and cancellations are to be made at the site no later than 9 a.m. on the service day by contacting Arlene Georg, the site manager, at 301-746-8824.

Flowery Vale, which is open from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on days that meals are served, also offers a variety of activities. Mondays from 9 a.m. to noon Edna Bendel instructs an oil painting class, which is offered through Garrett Community College.

Walk Across Garrett County, a walking program, will be introduced on April 19 by a representative from the health department. Grains and herbs will be examined, and flavors and recipes discussed on April 28 when Ronnie Padmos is the guest speaker.

Blood pressure screenings are offered the first Tuesday of each month, and Bingo and cards are played after every meal.

Mary Browning Center Notes April Events

The activities for the Mary Browning Senior Center for the month of April have been announced. They are as follows:

Tole painting classes are held every Wednesday and Friday, 9 a.m. until noon, with instructor Louise Kitzmiller. Craft classes are held every Wednesday and Friday from 11 until 11:30 a.m., and water acrobics are held every Monday, 6:30-7:30 p.m., at B&R Resort. Line dancing will be held every Monday at the center, 6:30-8:30 p.m.

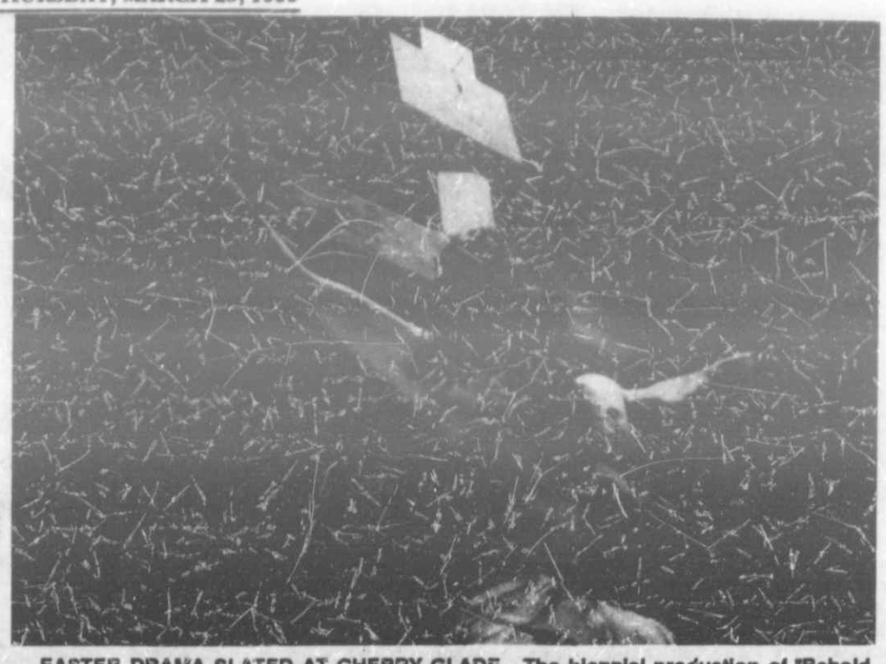
Free tax aid is available through April 15. Volunteers are at the center every Tuesday and Thursday, noon until 4 p.m., and on Wednesdays, 5-7 p.m.

A get-together with special readings will be hosted on Friday, April 2, from 11:30 a.m. until noon. Debbie Wolf will speak about "Lifelines Poetry" on Monday, April 5, from 11:15 a.m. until noon. She is interested in starting a class at the center, according to a spokesperson.

World Health Day is Wednesday, April 7, and the center will offer a seminar titled "Healthy Aging, Healthy Living, Start Now." This will be for seniors, and will start at 8:30 a.m. with a continental breakfast. Lunch will be served by reservation only. Persons interested in attending morning and/or afternoon sessions should call the center for a registration packet. The seminar will conclude at 3 p.m.

Joanne Harsh will conduct games on Friday, April 9, 11:30 a.m.-noon, and on Monday, April 12, Irmgard Koscielniak of the Garrett County Extension Service will give a presentation on humor. Dawn Metzger of Rehab Solutions will on April 16 (11:30 a.m.-noon) offer a talk on the good points of therapy.

Michael Gibbons of the Garrett County Health Department will be at the center on April 16 from 11:30 a.m. until noon to take blood pressures, speak about nutrition, and discuss the "Walk Across Garrett County," a project slated in the near future.



EASTER DRAMA SLATED AT CHERRY GLADE - The biennial production of "Behold the King," an original Easter drama written by local resident Esther S. Yoder, will be presented this Easter season at the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church. Portraying the final days of Christ's life, his death, and resurrection, the play features performances by local residents and members of the church's congregation, and Darrell Yoder is shown above in his role as Christ. Performance dates are set for April 1-4 and 8-11, and seating begins at 6:45 p.m. each evening for the 7:30 p.m. curtain. Reservations are required because of limited seating, and although admission is free, donations will be appreciated. For reservations and further information persons may call 301-895-3949 or 301-245-4340.

Table games — including Bingo, cards, checkers, and dominos — will be played on April 19, 11:30-noon. Donna McClintock of the health department will be at the center on April 21 (11:30 a.m.-noon) to discuss sexually transmitted diseases and HIV-AIDS. Ronnie Padmos will present a talk on April 23 from 11:30 a.m. until noon titled "Eating on a Budget." She will highlight easy, economical, and appetizing menus possible even on a limited budget.

Table games will be hosted again on April 26, 11:30 a.m.-noon, and Scott Winters of the Garrett County Planning and Zoning office will be at the center on April 28, 11:30 a.m.-noon, to discuss home safety. On Friday, April 30, Michael Gibbons will return to the center to discuss alcohol awareness.

Violinist Set To Perform At FSU

The Frostburg State University Cultural Events Sunday Afternoon ShowCase Series will present violinist Michael Avagliano on Sunday, April 11, at 3 p.m. in the Lane Center Greenhouse.

Avagliano was co-concertmaster of the Carrollton Chamber Players and the Lafayette Symphony Orchestra before relocating this year from Indiana to New Jersey. He was selected as co-concertmaster for the 1998 edition of the prestigious National Orchestral Institute at the University of Maryland, College Park.

For information and ticket reservations, interested persons may contact the FSU Lane Center Box Office at 301-687-4411, weekdays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The FSU Sunday ShowCase performances for this season are sponsored by the FSU Foundation. The FSU Cultural Events Series also acknowledges the Peabody Institute of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore for its support of the performing arts. The 1998-99 CES is funded in part by the Maryland State Arts Council and is presented in association with WFWM 91.9.

FSU is committed to making all of its programs, services, and activities accessible to persons with disabilities. Accommodations may be requested through the ADA Compliance Office at 301-687-4102, TDD 301-687-7955.

Garrett Rehab Slates Activities For OTA Month

Garrett Rehab Services, Oakland, is observing Occupational Therapy Awareness Month throughout April. According to a spokesperson for the agency, occupational therapy is structured to increase independence in those who have experienced a loss of ability caused by aging, illness, injury, or developmental disability. In addition, OTs' abilities to restore function to individuals who have sustained finger, hand, and wrist injuries help separate these therapists from others in the health professions. Occupational therapists provide skills for individuals to work toward returning to daily tasks of living, such as buttoning a shirt, tying a shoelace, brushing of hair or teeth, putting on makeup, or other activities of daily living. GRS is the area's only provider of outpatient occupational therapy, the spokesperson said.

GRS is offering a variety of activities for the public during the month. Throughout April during the wellness screenings, which are being held at GRS every Wednesday in April from 6:30 to 9:30 a.m., there will be a booth providing information regarding the purpose of occupational therapy, outlining whom it can help and how it may help. The wellness screenings are sponsored by Garrett County Memorial Hospital and may be scheduled by contacting Debora Nichols at 301-334-2155, ext. 408.

Additionally, on April 8, 15, 22, and 29, Garrett Rehab Services will be hosting free hand screenings. These screenings will focus on a variety of diagnoses, including carpal tunnel, arthritis (osteo and rheumatoid), general hand pain, RSD, and any other painful problem experienced in the hand region. These free screenings may be scheduled by calling GRS at 301-334-1863.

Occupational therapist Dawn Metzger will speak at the Mary Browning Senior Center on April 14 regarding the discipline. This talk will be at 11:30 a.m., and refreshments will be provided.

Finally, the occupational therapy staff at GRS will host Diagnosis Day at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. People who attend will choose a card that will have written on it a problem that has a debilitating arm or hand injury. These individuals will then be responsible for making an ice cream sundae with the assistance of the therapists while demonstrating their debilitating injury. The date and time of this event is yet to be determined.

All are invited to join the staff in celebrating Occupational Therapy Awareness Month by participating in the planned activities for the month of April.

Head Start's Easter Egg Hunt Is Relocated

Garrett County Community Action's Head Start Easter Egg Hunt, scheduled for March 27, has been moved to a new location. Originally to be held at Broadford Park, the hunt has been relocated to the Veterans Park in Mtn. Lake Park.

Veterans Park is located off Rt. 135 at the crossing of Philadelphia Avenue and K Street.

For more information, persons may call Virginia or Jody at 301-334-9431.

Services For Holy Week Set at DCL United Methodist

Holy Week services at the Deep Creek Lake United Methodist Charge will begin with Palm Sunday worship services at the Hoyes United Methodist Church at 9 a.m. and at the Paradise United Methodist Church at 10 a.m. Palms will be distributed to those in attendance, and Rev. R. Samuel Wachter, pastor, will deliver the Palm Sunday message.

Sunday school will be held at Hoyes church at 10 a.m. following worship services.

An Easter party featuring an Easter egg hunt will be held Palm Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Becker at 11 Klotz Road, Friendsville. Boys and girls from fifth grade and younger are invited to join in this activity. Children enrolled in the Big Brothers/Big Sisters program of Garrett County have been invited to participate in this party.

A Maundy Thursday Seder Meal will be held at the Hoyes United Methodist Church on Thursday, April 1, at 7 p.m. This evening program will be a re-enactment of the Last Supper Passover meal which Jesus shared with his disciples before his crucifixion. All are welcome to join in this experience.

An Ea...er sunrise service will be held behind the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wright along Route 42 at 6 a.m. Following the service, a light breakfast will be served at the Hoyes United Methodist Church.

Easter morning worship services will be held at Hoyes United Methodist Church at 9 a.m., followed by Sunday School, and at the Paradise United Methodist Church at 10 a.m. The churches will be adorned with Easter lilies, and the services will include the singing of many Easter hymns, listening to scripture readings, prayer, and an Easter message by Rev. Wachter. All are welcome.

GCC Schedules Summer Sessions

Courses scheduled for the 1999 summer sessions at Garrett Community College have been listed in the summer schedule of credit classes published last week. Three sessions have been scheduled this year, an early session, May 17-June 11, and the regular summer day and evening sessions, June 7-July 28.

In the early session four math courses and one adventure sports course will be given. Introduction to Algebra (MAT 95), Geometry (MAT 97), and Intermediate Algebra (MAT 98) are scheduled every day from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. so that a student could take all three courses in that time. Calculus III (MAT 192) is scheduled from 9 a.m. to noon each of those days. Calculus I (MAT 190) will be given from May 5 to June 11, 8-10 a.m. Rock Climbing Instruction Development for Maryland State Certification (AVS 225) will be given May 26-28 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

In the regular summer day session, three adventure sports courses will be offered. Basic Sailing (AVS 145) and Intro to Sea Kayaking (AVS 146) will be given at arranged times, and Swiftwater Rescue (AVS 280) is set for June 4-6 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Two agricultural management courses, Supervised Work Experience (AGEC 114) and Integrated Pest Management (AGRO 109) are scheduled at arranged times. Intro to Business (BUS 101) will be given Mondays through Thursdays from noon to 2:40 p.m., ending July 1. Accessing the Internet (CA 251) is scheduled on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 1 to 2:45 p.m. at both the McHenry campus and the Oakland National Guard Armory.

Two English courses, Expository Writing (ENG 101) and Argumentation and Persuasive Writing (ENG 104) are scheduled Mondays through Thursdays from 3 to 4:30 p.m., and General Psychology (PSY 101) will be given those same days from 9 to 10:30 a.m. Math courses to be given on Mondays and Wednesdays are Intro to Algebra (MAT 95) and Intermediate Algebra from 1 to 4 p.m., and Geometry (MAT 97) from 9 to noon. Special interest courses given during this session are Personal and Family Storytelling (ED 191) on June 22-23 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Wildflower and Plant Identification (NRW 180) at arranged times, and Personal Health & Fitness on Mondays through Thursdays from 10:30 a.m. to noon, ending July 7.

In the evening session, Principles of Biology (BIO 104) and lab are scheduled for Mondays and Wednesdays from 5 to 10 p.m. Expository Writing (ENG 101) will be given Mondays and Wednesdays from 5 to 8 p.m. Three computer courses are being offered: Intro to Computers (CS 105) on Mondays and Wednesdays from 5 to 8 p.m., Windows 98 on Wednesdays from 6 to 9:30 p.m., and Microsoft Excel on Mondays from 6 to 10 p.m.

Intro to Literature (ENG 102) and Intro to Communication (SPC 101) will be given Mondays through Thursdays from 5 to 6:30 p.m. College Algebra (MAT 105) and Human Growth and Development (PSY 102) are scheduled for Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5 to 8 p.m., and Personal Health & Fitness on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5 to 7 p.m.

Students may register for these summer courses at the Student Assistance Center beginning Monday, April 5. Anyone desiring further information may call 301-387-3044.

Library Book Sale Continuing At Ruth Enlow

The sale of outdated and other books at the Ruth Enlow Library, started this past Saturday, has been deemed a success thus far, according to Martha Makosky, library director. It has been so well-received, Makosky said, that the sale will continue as more books are selected as replacements.

While the books have been sold at nominal prices, the costs have gone down farther to as little as $.50 per bag. This was done to further encourage patronage. Hundreds of publications are still available, including some on American antiques, embroidery, and other arts and crafts.

In addition to selling the books at the low prices, the library staff is also willing to make donations of the publications to local nonprofit organizations that might be able to use them. If any organizations such as nursing homes or care centers would like to examine what is available, arrangements can be made by calling the library during regular operating hours at 301-334-3996.

Masons Slate Friendship Night

An event called Friendship Night will be hosted by the members of Oakland Lodge #192, Ancient, Free, and Accepted Masons, next Tuesday, Mar. 30, at 6:30 p.m.

According to Charles (Tom) Tressler, Worshipful Master, every Master Mason is invited to attend and bring with him one or more family members, friends, or acquaintances who could be recommended for Masonry membership, or has expressed any interest in learning more about the fraternity.

The evening will begin with a meal of bean soup, corn bread, sandwiches, apple dumplings, and a beverage, and continue with an informative program on Masonry for those who are not knowledgeable about the organization. The meal will be provided free of charge for all of those Masons who invite a guest, as well as all guests. Members who attend without a guest will be asked to pay $5 for their meal.

Visiting Masons are welcome to participate, even if their guests may petition another lodge.

"There will be absolutely no pressure placed on anyone to join our lodge," Worshipful Master Tressler said. "It will simply be an opportunity for anyone eligible for membership to learn more about us and our fraternity."

Young men not yet 21 years of age (minimum age required for membership) may still attend as guests.

Although reservations are not required, members are encouraged by lodge secretary Jack Fridinger to leave a message on the lodge answering machine (301-334-1770) by Sunday, Mar. 28, indicating how many in the caller's party are expected to attend. Fridinger said this will assist the lodge in estimating the amount of food that will be needed.

MOTHER

As I look back through all the years
I think of all the trials, joys, and tears.
I thank God for someone dear,
Who gave me what no other could,
She taught me to be kind and good.
I marveled at her strength and faith,
As she lived peacefully day by day.
Always there to mend and fix,
Always came running when I called,
The love I know was always there.
Though often we failed to show we cared,
Oh . . . thank God I know what it means to be a mother.

Sadly missed by children and grandchildren

Town of Loch Lynn

To the town of Loch Lynn, the members of the 243rd CSE DET from Oakland would like to apologize for the mud and mess that was all over your streets this past weekend. We had nothing to do with that; that project was taken from us by Master Sgt. Forrest and Major Hinze, and it was given to the unit from Cumberland (121st Co. B). If the 243rd is asked to help finish this project, I promise you it will be done with pride, because we care what our community thinks of us. We hope that the way things were done last weekend will not give you a bad impression of the 243rd. We do not do things that way.

Sincerly Yours,
A Concerned Member of the 243rd

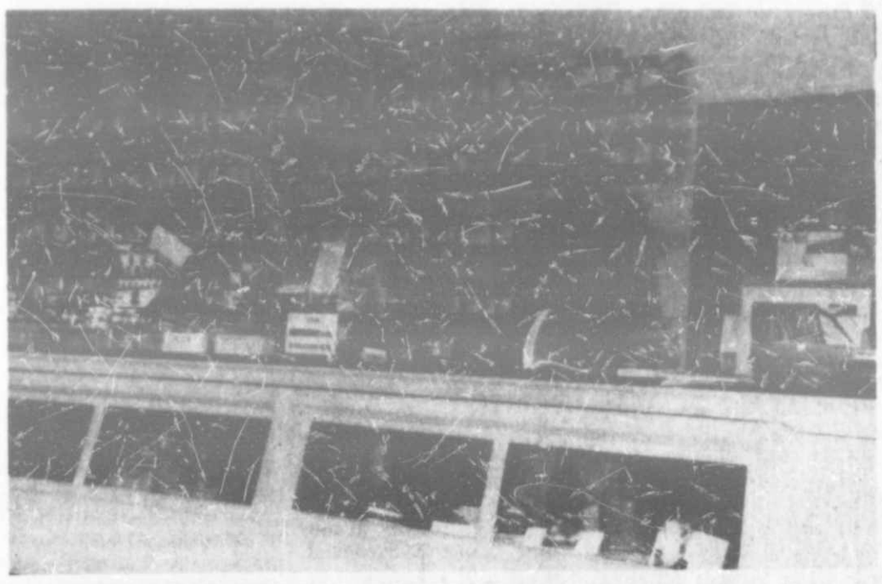
Wihinape Natural Foods



HISTORY AND TECHNOLOGY COME TOGETHER in Wihinape Natural Foods in Friendsville. Shop owner Jim Naeseth offers dried herbs, essential oils, and foods that seem to belong in the 19th century former hardware store. But Jim is also developing his internet business for sale of such items as essential oils. The atmosphere at Wihinape has brought many people together, as a shopping trip easily extends into a visit on a summer afternoon. While relaxing on the 1930s glider on the porch of the shop, visitors leisurely talk and make new friends.

Pushing open the glass-paned wooden door and stepping into Wihinape natural food store in Friendsville, a visitor may experience a sense of stepping back in time. The shop with its hardwood floors and soaring ceilings has changed little since Frederick G. Fox opened his hardware store there in the late 1800s.

A long glass display case counter stretching the length of the room holds vintage toys, shiny gemstones, hand-crafted jewelry, and assorted bric-a-brac of the past. Wooden shelves lining the wall behind the counter display jars and jars of dried herbs of just about any sort.

A huge black wall safe, standing in testament to the first shop-keeper, bears the name Fred G. Fox in faded gold lettering. This dates back to the time when there was no bank in the town. Because the railroad tracks ran directly behind the Fox establishment, much business was conducted and cash changed hands as timber, coal, and other materials were loaded on the train. Mr. Fox's safe was well-used in this busy location.

Running perpendicular to the glass case are tall wooden shelves lined with fragrant soaps, dried foods, teas, canned soups, essential oils, a myriad of dietary supplements, and other "all natural" personal products like deodorants and toothpaste. One can find among the tubes, boxes and bottles traditional ointments and creams like arnica or Tiger Balm to relieve arthritis pain or tennis elbow.

Beginning his 10th year as shop keeper at Wihinape, Jim Naeseth contends that one of the best things his store has to off is not jars or bottles. "It's the books — all these books — and the information I have here. There are so many resources," he said.

Those who shop regularly at Wihinape may attest to the fact that Jim (few even know his last name) is always willing to listen, to talk, to share the wealth of knowledge at his finger tips. Customers stop in to research such things as traditional methods of reducing the discomforts associated with menopause or encouraging the digestive tract to function more efficiently.

This business offers more than its natural products and information, Jim noted. "This is sort of a connection place. People stop here to talk — old people and young people," he said. Over the years he has been in business, he has seen many people fall into conversation and find mutual interests. Many strangers have become friends while sitting on the old metal glider on the front porch of the shop on a summer afternoon.

The large side room of the store has hosted lectures, yoga classes, and vegetarian dinners, where friends come together to share interesting recipes catered by Taste Unlimited. The next dinner is scheduled for April 9, and those wishing to be included may make reservations by calling 301-746-6311.

Far from living in the past, Jim, who is computer literate, has used that technology to establish his niche in the cyber market place. "I may eventually need to get some help in here so I can spend more time handling the business on the Internet," he said. Most of the market will be in essential oils used for aromatherapy.

There is one more venture that Jim wants to embark on — Radio Friendsville. "It is something that my father and I have talked about for years. It would just be right in the area — maybe up to the Interstate. I would like to have local people like Ina Hicks and Pappy Ross tell stories and talk about local history," he mused. But the future of this endeavor is in the hands of the regulators who grant radio licenses.

There is a sense about Wihinape that those who go there are more like visitors than customers. They take their time. It is a stop that should not be rushed.

Year-round hours at Wihinape are Friday and Saturday from noon to 6 p.m., with the addition of Sunday afternoons in the summer. Anyone wishing to stop by at another time may call 301-746-5084 for an appointment.

4-H Club News

BITTINGER
by Darryl Glotfelty

The monthly meeting of the Bittinger 4-H club was held on March 2 at the Bittinger fire hall. The regular meeting was held, followed by speeches. Jody Brenneman reported on our successful buckwheat cake dinner which made over $300 for our club's treasury. Many thanks to our cooks, Don Sealing and Patsy Lohr, as well as those attending.

A visit to Goodwill Mennonite Home is planned for March 27. We will sing songs to welcome spring. Our club leader, Vicki Teets, passed out projects and state membership cards. Achievement Night will be on April 10 at Northern High School. We will provide coffee and drinks.

The club voted to donate $150 to the Bittinger Volunteer Fire Department and $100 to the Ladies Auxiliary. Following the meeting we were honored to have Linda Buckel and Kim Collins evaluate our speeches.

The following speeches were given by members: Robbie Glotfelty, A Chincoteague Vacation; Nick Maxim, Rockets; Darryl Glotfelty, 4-H Camp; Matthew Bass, Trading Cards; Caitlin Sussman, My Cat Tigger; Mariel Hady, My Cat; Caroline Maxim, Cats; Claire Sussman, Edgar Allan Poe; Derek Buckel, My Small Engine Project; Andrew Hady, My Garden; Scott Bass, Basketball; Elliot Glotfelty, Pet Broiler; Jody Brenneman, My Market Steer; Jordan Brenneman, Why I Joined 4-H; Charlie Hockman, Should I Get an Allowance; Trey Brenneman, My First Steer; Brian Beitzel, Teenage Driving; Rob Doser, Why You Should Join 4-H; Eric Beitzel, How to Help the Environment; and Ryan Brenneman, The Internet as an Educational Tool. Mrs. Buckel encouraged the club to participate in the county level speech contest.

GCC Offering Poetry Writing

April is National Poetry Month, and in recognition of that designation, the Continuing Education and Training Division of Garrett Community College is offering a poetry writing class, Understanding the Ways to Write Poetry. This course will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays, April 6-22, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the McHenry campus.

The instructor for this course is Debra Wolf, a local resident who is experienced in teaching and writing poetry. The class is designed towards reading and interpreting poems by great poets, writing and sharing them in class, and working on an artistic poetry presentation. Participants will have an opportunity to develop their skills and create their own poems.

For additional information and registration, persons may contact the Continuing Education and Training Division at 301-387-3069.

FORCES OF NATURE

Rated PG-13 - Running time: 1:46

Sandra Bullock has established herself well as a quirky star of of romantic comedies; sort of Julia Roberts's crazy sister. That style suits her well in Bronwen Hughes's Forces Of Nature; she gets a great deal of enjoyment out of an enjoyable role. Opposite her and not having nearly as much fun is Ben Affleck, who is forced to play straight and miss out on most of the film's many good lines.

Affleck is Ben Holmes, a nice guy from New York about to be married to a nice girl from Savannah. He and his fiancée Bridget (Maura Tierney) are so in love it's sickening. He's so devoted, he can't even enjoy the raunchy bachelor party thrown for him the night before he flies south for the wedding. But the party finally ends, and Ben gets ready to confront his fear of flying and make the trip. In Savannah, as the nuptial plans enter the final stages, Bridget anxiously awaits his arrival.

On the plane Ben meets Sarah (Bullock), apparently still wearing her costume and makeup from Practical Magic. After some uncomfortable conversation, Ben's worst fear is realized—the plane wrecks during takeoff. No one is seriously hurt, though Sarah does suffer a minor head injury, but all flights are canceled and everyone must find alternative transportation.

So Ben and Sarah begin a journey plagued by difficulties, using every mode of transportation from car to train to bus to spinning sombrero. During their odd odyssey, they predictably become more than friends, and Bridget and the wedding party are left waiting at the altar, wondering with increasing skepticism whether the ceremony is going to happen at all.

Written by Marc Lawrence, Forces Of Nature has a decidedly anti-marriage message until the final 10 minutes, when Lawrence caves in to the pressure of political correctness. Every character in the film except Ben and his betrothed Bridget, including their parents, are either 1) divorced and bitter about marriage, 2) married, but unhappy, or 3) married and happy, but only because they're having extramarital affairs. I won't pass judgment on this choice, but it does seem interesting, since the "me generation" is coming of age (and divorce seems to be more and more a natural consequence of marriage), that so many films adopt such a stance.

As I mentioned, Bullock seems to really be enjoying herself in this role, and Affleck is uncomfortable. I don't know whether this is because his role dictates it or if it's just a natural reaction, but it works. Supporting characters are mainly two-dimensional with the possible exception of Tierney, who plays Bridget with a modicum of depth. Forces Of Nature features nice music (by John Powell) and some interesting cinematographic choices (by Elliot Davis), and, mixed messages aside, provides a nice diversion. ★★★★

TRUE CRIME

Rated R - Running time: 2:07

At the risk of being called unAmerican, I have to admit I've never been much of a Clint Eastwood fan. I can see the value of his directing efforts in films like Unforgiven and Midnight In The Garden Of Good And Evil. But in judging Eastwood as an actor, I have had trouble seeing very much range in the guy. If squinting his eyes and saying, "Do you feel lucky, punk?" is the most expressive he can get, that just doesn't do it for me. And True Crime, starring Eastwood, produced by Eastwood, directed by Eastwood, doesn't do it for me, either.

True Crime gives us the same perspective as Dead Man Walking: the humanity of the death-row inmate. But unlike Dead Man, which contained real, heartfelt emotion, this film is a melodramatic mess. Written by Larry Gross (The Game), Paul Brickman (Risky Business), and Stephen Schiff (The Deep End Of the Ocean), based on the novel by Andrew Klavan, this script has people saying things no human being in his right mind would ever say, and doing the impossible (like attempting to solve a case and exonerate a death row inmate within 6 hours of his execution). Eastwood's camera consistently lingers too long on people's suffering, until you think the actor's going to finally look up at the camera and say, "Are we done yet?" It's as if, to make up for his own stony indifference, he encourages scenery-chewing among the other actors (especially Frank's wife Bonnie (Lisa Gay Hamilton) and his daughter (Penny Bae Bridges), wallowing in their drippy passions until long after the point is made.

Eastman plays Steve Everett, a reporter for the Oakland Tribune in California (and a recovering alcoholic, of course; every actor over 60 has to incorporate that into his character these days), who is assigned an interview with San Quentin inmate Frank Beachum (Isaiah Washington) on the day before his lethal injection. Within minutes of getting the assignment from his angry city editor (Denis Leary), he begins cogitating about this case where Beachum allegedly shot a pregnant girl, killing her and her baby. Even though the case has long since been over and years have gone by, he re-interviews the witnesses (primarily an edgy Michael Jeter) and figures out vital information that the attorneys missed. Even though they worked for months uncovering every clue they could find, he discovers this key evidence in one afternoon, based on his "hunch." Even though he doesn't seem to care about his wife (Diane Venora) leaving him, and his preschool daughter (Francesca Ruth Eastwood) almost getting a concussion from his carelessness, he suddenly has all the compassion in the world for a stranger on death row.

What this film is trying to illustrate is the speed at which the racist public jumps to the conclusion that if a black man is on the scene at a murder, he must have done it. But the text is so insipid and the emotional posturing so overdone, they mock the subject. The exchanges between Eastwood and James Woods, who plays his boss, is pretentious and rehearsed, like vaudeville patter. This would be okay if the film were a comedy. But no—it's got moral issues and axes to grind; it's got a message for us ignorant chumps. And if that's the case, then this flippant dialogue is inappropriate. ★★

THE KING AND I

Rated G - Running time: 1:27

I have no idea what inspired Warner Brothers to undertake a cartoon version of The King And I, but it seems to have been an ill-advised venture from the start. Adapted from Walter Lang's Oscar-winning 1956 musical, the story barely resembles its predecessor, seeming more like a second-rate version of Disney's Aladdin with the famous Rogers & Hammerstein score tacked on.

This film was directed by Richard Rich (creator of the Swan Princess series) and written by a host of generally undistinguished cartoon writers after an adaptation by actor Arthur Rankin, who died in 1947. Perhaps Rankin's son, Arthur Rankin Jr. of Rankin/Bass (one of the film's production companies), found the dusty manuscript among his dad's possessions and decided to add another quick credit to his resume. But this was a script that Rankin Sr. had the good sense not to produce.

The story is thus: In the mid 19th century, a British teacher named Anna Leonowens (voice of Miranda Richardson, sung by Christiane Noll) travels to the country of Siam (now Thailand) to teach the king's children about Western culture. King Mongkut (Martin Vidnovic) is a proud, scientific-minded ruler, but one bound by the traditions of his dynasty. He is happy to expose his children to such enlightenment, but insists that certain rules be obeyed: Visitors must cowtow to him, no one's head may be held higher than his, his children must marry whomever he chooses, etc. Anna, equally strong-willed, insists that she be afforded the respect she is due, even by the king, or she will return to England. The two begin to butt heads soon after Anna arrives, but eventually come to a mutually respectful agreement.

Meanwhile, an evil advisor to the king, the Kralahome (Ian Richardson) and his fat, clumsy sidekick, Master Little (Darrell Hammond), plan to convince Anna that the king is a barbarian so that England will choose to overthrow him and the Kralahome will be named provisional ruler. Finally, in the necessary romantic subplot, the king's son, Prince Chululongkorn (Allen D. Hong, sung by David Burnham) falls in love with a servant girl named Tuptim (Armi Arabe, sung by Tracy Venner Warren), and must appeal to his father to forego the tradition that royalty and commoners mustn't marry.

Besides the fact that this is not a very appealing subject matter for its target audience (in other words, it's just plain boring), the production quality is awful. The backgrounds are beautiful, but the character animation looks like something you'd see on Saturday morning TV. There is no depth to the graphics; the character drawings are downright crude, and very little attempt at visual characterization is made. Add to this the fact that the songs seem to have been improperly mixed, so that one can hardly hear Hammerstein's famous words over the orchestra. Why this was not fixed in post-production is beyond me, but it could be to mask the fact that the singers' voices don't match those of the actors portraying the speaking parts. You know it's a low-budget film when it's cheaper to hire two performers for the same part than to get someone who can sing and speak. The movement is choppy and background colors are often ill-matched with those of the motion animation.

I would think that in the wake of such animated cartoon masterpieces as The Prince Of Egypt and the two recent insect-related features, that the producers of this dog would send it directly to video. It lacks style, it lacks quality, and it lacks appeal. ★½

HONORED IN TRIPLICATE - Grantsville town clerk Gloria Martin was surprised to receive the first citation and astounded when three arrived within days — in all she was congratulated and thanked by Sen. John Hafer, Del. George Edwards, and Gov. Parris Glendening for her 30 years of municipal service. Del. Edwards wrote a personal note of thanks and appreciation on his official citation from the House of Delegates. Martin said she has enjoyed her many years of working for the town. "It really doesn't seem like that long," Martin said of her three-decade tenure. Though she may not have noticed the years multiplying, she certainly did notice the responsibilities of office compounding. "There is so much more paperwork now than years ago. Don't let anyone tell you that computers reduce the work load," she laughed. The tributes received she will add to the ones given her by the town in recognition of her accomplishments. "At home my husband has a wall where his awards and certificates are hanging. My children have told me that it is time for me to get my own wall," she smiled. Martin said she will frame these commendations and hang them on "her" wall at home.

Legion Post 71 To Host Bloodmobile

A Red Cross bloodmobile has been scheduled at the Oakland American Legion Post 71, located along Memorial Drive, on Wednesday, March 31, from noon to 6 p.m. This bloodmobile is open to the public.

To donate blood, individuals must be at least 17 years of age, weigh a minimum of 105 pounds, and be in generally good health. Donors may donate blood as often as every 56 days. Donors who donated blood at the January 8 Oakland American Legion visit are eligible to donate at the upcoming March 31 Legion visit. Donors who donated at the February 19 visit at the Oakland Elks will not be eligible for this bloodmobile.

"Blood collected at the Oakland Legion visit will help regional hospitals meet patient needs during and immediately following the Easter holiday weekend," a Red Cross spokesperson said. The American Red Cross reminds donors that the need for blood at regional hospitals often increases over holiday and long weekends because of accidents and other emergencies.

THANK YOU!

I would like to thank all of my family and friends who remembered me with cards and prayers during my recent hospital stay. I'm thankful to be home and feeling much better.

Area Cancer Survivor, Research Advocate Speaks To W.Va. Group

The importance of early and regular screening for cancer detection, particularly prostate cancer, was underscored during a recent meeting of the Potomac Highlands Cancer Support Group (formerly the Grant County Cancer Support Group). Ralph Burnett, Garrett County (Md.) District Court judge, spoke of his own experiences as a prostate cancer survivor and as a nationally-known advocate for increased cancer research.

Ralph Burnett

"I was diagnosed with prostate cancer three years ago," Burnett told the gathering. "It has taken me from the court room to the halls of Congress. We need to politicalize cancer to get money for research and find cures.

"People are caring and speaking about the fact that money for prostate cancer research, as well as other cancer research projects, must become a political issue. Over 41,000 Americans died last year from prostate cancer while only 10,000 died with AIDS, yet there was four times the money that went into AIDS research. That is politics," said Burnett, chair of the board of directors of the National Prostate Cancer Coalition.

"Junk bond king and prostate cancer survivor Michael Milken has donated over $150 million and formed CaPCURE (the association for the cure of cancer of the prostate), a research group that is run as a business, as it should be, and has politicalized the organization. He has enlisted corporate men and women who have had cancer to get financial support and help with putting the pressure on for political support. You can find more information about this organization on the Internet at www.capcure.org," continued Burnett.

"You have a great research facility right here in West Virginia at West Virginia University. You, as cancer survivors, can influence your elected officials to put in place a special tax with a major amount of the tax money going for cancer research to support the work that is going on right here in your own state. One suggestion is to put in place the Tobacco Tax and do away with the Provider Tax (a tax that is collected from all who provide any medical services in the state). A Tobacco Tax would generate much more money for cancer research projects and the absence of the Provider Tax would give additional financial support to medical facilities in your state."

Burnett added that the state of Maryland was forced to drop its restrictions on insurance companies paying for cancer patients to take part in medical trials. Maryland residents can now go to such places as John Hopkins and take part in research trials.

"The American Cancer Society is going through a needed change now that could open the line of communications between all those in the nation involved in cancer research," commented Burnett. "There are over 80 cancer institutes in the nation, and they aren't all communicating with each other to share information."

Doctors currently rely on a pair of diagnostic tools, a digital examination and a PSA blood screening, to initially check for the presence of cancer in the prostate. "A digital [exam] doesn't show much," Burnett said, in replying to a question over the controversy in the medical community of a man having a PSA blood screening without a digital exam. "A PSA test will indicate that there is an elevation in the prostrate protein— that indicates there may be something going on with the prostate. The elevation can indicate if further testing is necessary.

"I encourage all men ages 40 or older to get a PSA screen done every year. If their immediate family has one male with prostate cancer then I recommend that all males in that family have their first PSA screening at the age of 30. Prostate cancer runs in families, but like other forms of cancer there are no accurate predictions of who will get the disease. Being vigilant and keeping in touch with your doctor will assure you of early detection."

Born in Baltimore, Burnett has been a resident of Oakland for the past 30 years, is married with two grown children, and has practiced law for the past 25 years.

The Grant County Cancer Support Group changed its name recently to the Potomac Highlands Cancer Support Group to encourage all survivors and families from the tri-county area of Grant, Hardy, and Pendleton counties to join. Its next meeting will be Tuesday, March 30, at 7 p.m. at the Grove Street Methodist Church, Petersburg, W.Va. The Look Good — Feel Better program will be provided by the American Cancer Society. The public is invited.

AURORA/EGLON NEWS

EASTER DRAMA

Because of a conflict with Grasshopper basketball, the Easter drama will be held at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren, not at Aurora School as previously announced.

"Some Kind of Happenin' is Happenin' in Jerusalem" will be presented on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 30, at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome to attend.

EASTER SUNRISE SERVICES SET

St. Paul's Lutheran Church will host Union District's Easter sunrise services at 6:30 a.m. (Easter Daylight Time) on Sunday, April 4. Everyone is welcome to attend services and invited to stay for breakfast following.

SOUP AND SALAD DINNER APRIL 10

A soup and salad dinner, sponsored by the youth of the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren, Eglon, will be April 10 from 4 until 8 p.m. at the church. Everyone is invited for this event, which includes a dessert and beverage.

AYL SIGN-UPS

Sign-ups for Aurora Youth League's summer T-ball and older baseball-softball teams are being held today and tomorrow, March 25 and 26, from 6:30 until 7:30 p.m. Anyone who wishes to participate and is unable to make it to the sign-up may contact one of the following to enter a child in the program: Wickey Myers at 735-3410, Buddy Fauber at 735-5730, Renee Mullenax at 735-6281, Mike Rocha at 735-3109, or Terry Harsh at 735-6025.

BECKMANS FEATURED

The March 14 issue of the Dominion-Post featured an article by Norman Julian titled "How to succeed in business? By really, really trying," which was about Lee and Wade Beckman, natives of Eglon, and the business they built in Sabraton. Beginning with a feed store that was a Tuxedo feed agency, their business progressed into a general farm supply and eventually into Southern States Cooperative, the successor which continues to serve the area at present.

The brothers are sons of the late Otto and Clara (Teets) Beckman who had lived in Eglon.

Wade died while in Florida in 1993, but his widow, Mary Frances (Martin) Beckman, and Lee and Dean (Martin) Beckman still live in Morgantown. They have many relatives in the Eglon-Aurora area.

TA SENIORS

The March 18 meeting of the Terra Alta Senior Citizens was called to order by Dorothy Hauser, president. Gertrude Hamrick read a scripture selection, and the group pledged allegiance to the flag. "It Had to Happen" was a reading by Susie Powell.

Betty Sereno gave the treasurer's report and acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Murphy, who is recuperating at home from hip surgery. Others remembered who are ill were Violet Bishop, a patient in a Cumberland Hospital, and John Mullenax, who had recently returned from the hospital. "Happy Birthday" was sung to Dorothy Hauser.

Peanut butter and coconut Easter eggs will be for sale at the senior center at a cost of $1.25 each, and will be made by senior members.

Senior camping and a senior citizens conference were announced. Betty Sereno will represent Terra Alta in the judging at the Preston County Senior Center.

Applications for the summer home repair program were distributed. Those who wish to have repairs made to their homes may contact the local center. On April 27 a bus will be provided for Terra Alta seniors to have a shopping day at the Bridgeport-Clarksburg malls. Cost for the trip will be $5, and those who wish to go should contact Ruth Sypolt at 789-2567 for further particulars and to make reservations.

The meeting adjourned with all praying "The Lord's Prayer."

VFW-AUXILIARY

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 578 will have an election of officers on April 5 at 7 p.m. at the post home in Terra Alta.

Election of officers for the VFW ladies auxiliary will be held at its regular meeting on April 12 at 1 p.m. at the post home.

Members of each of these organizations are urged to attend.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEETS

The second general meeting of the Aurora Area Historical Society was held at the Aurora Lutheran Church on March 7. Lawrence Cosner spoke about the Civil War in West Virginia, and several tables of displays were available for viewing.

A short business session included the acknowledgment of the society's incorporation with the state of West Virginia. Ideas were proposed for the summer, and membership dues were collected. Anyone wishing to join for regular annual dues of $5 or lifetime, $100, will both be declared charter members if joining in 1999. Money may be sent to Alice Penzo, president, RR 1, Box 66, Aurora, WV 26705, or to Joann Helton, treasurer, RR 1, Box 177.

The AAHS will have a table of displays and sign-up sheets at the May 8 craft show at the Union Ambulance squad hall.

LIBRARY NEWS

The Aurora library, located in the community building, will re-open on Saturday, April 3, from 10 a.m. until noon. New materials, including the 1985 Encyclopedia Britannica, have been donated, as have local history materials purchased with book sale funds.

PERSONAL MENTION

David L. "Davy" Stemple of Aurora underwent surgery at Garrett County Memorial Hospital last Wednesday. His father, David F. Stemple, was taken to GCMH for treatment on Friday morning, and both have returned to their homes.

Walter "Bill" Hauser of Aurora underwent surgery for hip replacement last week and remains a patient at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. He is reportedly recuperating satisfactorily.

Nancy Winters of Manassas, Va., and her mother, Ilene Fint, Old Fields, visited Thursday in Aurora with the latter's sister and brother-in-law, Violet and Roy Fint. They also visited at Eglon with Claude and Jean Winters, Linda Lewis, and Barbara Hauser.

Shirley Harsh of Stemple Ridge had been a patient in Garrett Memorial Hospital, but was transferred Monday to Monongalia General Hospital in Morgantown.

Michael McCollum and Deanna Shipley, Scottsville, Ky., visited last Tuesday and Wednesday in Eglon with Michael's grandparents, Claude and Jean Winters.

Hancell and Mildred Teets were overnight visitors with Jackie and Alma Snyder last Wednesday. They returned to their North Carolina home.

A family reunion in miniature took place Sunday at Melanie's Restaurant when Dr. Clayton and Betty Connelly, their daughter Suzanne Pantler of Columbia, Mo., and her three children came for a visit to become acquainted with local relatives. The Connelleys live near St. Louis and are descendants of Patrick Conley, a brother of Margaret Conley Wilt, wife of David S. Wilt. Local relatives who met them there were Hazel and Lewis Durst, Lois and Bob Strawser, Dorothy Spaid, and Ralph and Barbara Lee of Oakland. Patrick had changed the spelling of his name when married, which has perhaps led to the confusion about their relationship.

Tom, Linda, and Sara Lewis of Eglon were weekend visitors with Emily Lewis at her home in Martinsburg. Also visiting was another daughter, Julie Baker, and her son Grayson, Virginia Beach, Va.

A family dinner was held Sunday at the home of Jeff and Gloria Uphold in Crellin with Bob and Cheryl Knotts of Burlington, the honored guests in observance of Bob's birthday.

Ellis and Marie Teets of Silver Lake went this weekend to Bridgewater, Va., where they visited their daughter and her family, Martha and Meriin Reish, and Micah, Marilyn, and Matthew.

Opal Myers, Martha Bolyard, Nina Layman, Alma Snyder, Mary Radford, and Wilda Stemple, all of the Aurora United Methodist Church, were in attendance Saturday for the spring meeting of the Potomac Highlands District United Methodist Women held at Christ United Methodist Church, Rowlesburg. The theme for the day, "Called by God to be Neighborly," was highlighted by guest speaker Beth Grayson, Keyser, who has been a member of a medical mission to Africa. Aurora came home with an attendance banner for having a high percentage of its membership there.

A St. Patrick's Day party at the Kingwood Senior Center was attended by Bernadine Bachtel, Bea Ball, Delores Douglas, Janice Tackett, Martha Bolyard, Wilda Blamble, Mary Jane Hanline, and Wilda Stemple.

Eugene and Linda Wilt hosted a covered-dish dinner Sunday at their Rowlesburg home for their son Travis, who is home on leave. He has completed basic training in the Air Force and will be stationed at Camp Polk.

Bonnie Douglas of Ashland, Ky., is visiting at Aurora with her mother, Maxine Hauser.

Brandon Strawser was injured while playing at the home of his parents, Brian and Amy Strawser, Eglon. On Saturday evening he was taken to Garrett Memorial, then to Morgantown, and the family spent Sunday with Amy's mother, Connie Stemple, at Morgantown. Brandon is reportedly doing fine.

Eugene and Bernadine Bachtel of Eglon made a Monday business trip to Middletown, Va.

TERRA ALTA

LIBRARY NEWS

The Terra Alta Public Library will once again sponsor a story hour each Wednesday morning, starting April 7, at 10 a.m. The hour will consist of reading and craft-making. Persons interested in helping with the story hour are asked to call the library at 789-2724.

The book and audio cassette titled "The Greatest Generation," by Tom Brokaw, was recently presented to the library by Richard and Shirley Hardesty in memory of Joseph Everly and Brydon Hardesty. Cathy Nardi also donated several videos and audio cassettes.

Patrons donating books or magazines include: Alecia Hart, Jane Hauger, Sharon Roy, Barb McCartney, Pearl Gordon, Jasen Nice, Joyce Cole, Wayne Carney, Winnie Wilhelm, Lori Himelrick, Rick Lantz, Mr. Ossman, Lisa Gardner, Becky Harriman, Eve Rafferty, Lucille Wright, Peggy Nagel, John Kehoe, and Christy Hileman.

Terra Alta Church Schedule Noted For Palm Sunday, Easter

The Palm Sunday and Easter schedule for Terra Alta First United Methodist Church has been announced by Rev. Michael Daniels, pastor.

The rite of baptism for all interested friends of the church will be performed on Palm Sunday, Mar. 28. The service will also include a sermon, youth play, and children's creative moments.

There will be a Maundy Thursday communion service on Thursday, April 1, beginning at 7 p.m.

Rev. Daniels will be the guest minister at a Good Friday worship service sponsored by the Terra Alta Ministerial Association. The service will be held at the Terra Alta Nazarene Church on Friday, April 2, at 7 p.m. Rev. Josh Lively, of the Nazarene church, invites all to attend.

Terra Alta First UM will hold an Easter sunrise service on Easter Sunday, April 4, at 7 p.m. on Loudermilk's Hill near Alpine Lake. Then at the 11 a.m. worship hour, new members will be received.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Army Pvt. Tammy S. Virts has graduated from the rough terrain cargo specialist advanced individual training (AIT) course at Fort Eustis, Newport News, Va.

During the course, the soldier received instructions in terminal operations safety, rigging and stowage of cargo, winch operations, and the loading, securing, and discharging of cargo, and heavy lifts for rough terrain operations.

The student learned to check, tally, and document cargo using manual and automated data processing systems; rig, load, and unload supplies and equipment from ships, docks, beaches, railheads, boxcars, warehouses, motor vehicles, and aircraft; and operate, maintain, and handle all types and sizes of rough terrain cranes, forklifts, and containers.

Virts, the daughter of Cathy S. and Donald W. Virts, Terra Alta, W.Va., is a 1998 graduate of Preston High School.

AFTER-SCHOOLERS EXPLORE FIRE FIGHTING — Students at Southern Middle School who participate in the AmeriCorps After-School Program were recently visited by Jim Crabtree who spoke to them about fire fighters. A fire instructor for the University of Maryland, Crabtree was able to answer numerous questions. He also demonstrated how a fire fighter dresses for his or her work. Pictured above at right is Crabtree after having helped Geni Uphold, coordinator of the after-school program at Northern Middle School, get into full gear. Crabtree is pictured below with student Rachale French and Ken Collins, chief of the Deer Park Volunteer Fire Department. Collins brought his company's truck to the school and allowed the students to view it and learn about the equipment. The AmeriCorps program is open to any SMS student. Those interesting in learning more are invited to call Elizabeth Gibbons at 301-334-8122.

SHA LETTER

In a related matter, yesterday The Republican obtained a copy of a cover letter that originated from the District 6 office of the State Highway Administration addressed to Robert L. Morris of Robert L. Morris Inc. of Bethesda. Copies of the letter were sent to several state highway officials and the county's planning office. (No listing for a Robert L. Morris Inc. appears in the Montgomery County business listings, and the state highway official who signed the letter was unavailable for comment as of today.)

The letter states that the Maryland Department of Transportation, District 6 Traffic Section, has performed a preliminary review of a traffic study in regard to a "Wal-Mart" project along "U.S. 219 (east side) at Old Route 219." In accordance with standard state highway access permit granting procedures, an entity requesting access to a state highway must conduct its own preliminary traffic study and submit it to the state for review and comment.

Signed by District 6 SHA engineer John Wolford on behalf of Michael Lenhart, acting chief of the Engineering Access Permits Division, the letter indicates that the state has sent a copy of its comments to Robert L. Morris Inc. and has twice requested a site plan for the project, which apparently had not been submitted as of March 11, the date of the letter.

Keith Morris, Wal-Mart's director of public relations for the northeastern United States, said that he had no knowledge of any current surveying work in Garrett County on behalf of his company, nor were there any projects currently under consideration in the county that he was aware of. He went on to say that he would check with Wal-Mart real estate personnel who handle affairs in Maryland, and in a conversation this morning he said that he was still waiting for those persons (whom he said were traveling on business) to return his call.

The Republican is continuing to investigate this matter.

Maryland Work With Pride

Social Security

by Elizabeth Augustine
District Manager

It's tax filing time and if you're self-employed, it's up to you to make sure you report your earnings accurately and on time for Social Security credit. Otherwise, when it's time to collect Social Security benefits, you may not get all the benefits you are entitled to receive. Social Security benefit amounts are calculated on the earnings reported to your Social Security record.

If you find that you have not reported all of your self-employment income in a particular year, you have some time to get it corrected. The deadline for reporting self-employment income for Social Security purposes is 3 years, 3 months, 15 days from the last day of the tax year in which the income was earned.

You are considered self-employed if you operate a trade, business, or profession, either by yourself or as a partner. Self-employed persons, unlike individuals who wor for an employer, do not receive Form W-2s listing their earnings. Thus, self-employed persons whose net earnings are $400 or more in a year must report those earnings on an IRS Schedule SE along with their regular tax form IRS-1040. The Social Security tax rate for 1998 (and 1999) is 15.3 percent on self-employment net earnings up to $72,600. If your net earnings exceed $72,600, you continue to pay the Medicare portion of the Social Security tax, which is 2.9 percent, on the rest of your earnings.

If you need more information about self-employment income reporting, call or visit your local Social Security office or call our toll-free number — 1-800-772-1213 — during business hours.

Employers Sought For County Job Fair At GCC

The Garrett County Job Fair will be held Saturday, April 17, from noon to 3 p.m. at Garrett Community College. This job fair marks the eighth year of the annual event, which is designed to bring together employers and persons seeking work, whether full-time, part-time, or seasonal employment. Registration will take place in the Student Assistance Center beginning at noon.

This year's job fair has expanded to include two locations on the GCC campus. The Continuing Education building will host employers hiring part-time and seasonal positions, as well as some full-time positions, while the gymnasium will host full-time, year-round permanent positions.

Employers are being sought for the job fair, and participating employers have the choice of interviewing candidates on the spot or scheduling interviews for a later date. Employers who did not receive an information packet on the job fair but are interested in participating may contact the GCC Career Placement Office at 301-387-3132.

Job seekers attending the job fair are encouraged to prepare a resumé and come dressed for an interview. For those who do not have a resumé, a one-page application will be available the day of the fair for participants to complete and have photocopied at a cost of 5 cents per page. A complete list of employers attending the fair will be released the week prior to the event.

For more information on this year's job fair, interested persons may contact Stacie Haskiell of the GCC Career Placement Center at 301-387-3132 or Julie Yoder of the GCC Small Business Development Center at 301-387-3101.

The Garrett County Job Fair is a collaboration of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, the GCC Career Placement Office, the GCC Small Business Development Center, the Maryland Job Service (DLLR), and the Western Maryland Consortium.

Friendsville To Host Bloodmobile

An American Red Cross holiday bloodmobile visit to Friendsville is scheduled for Good Friday, April 2, as donors will be welcomed at the Friendsville fire hall from noon to 6 p.m. All blood types are needed.

"This Good Friday we hope a lot of people will give life to others in need of blood," stated Esther Benedict, coordinator of the visit. "We hope we can top our goal of 40 units."

To donate blood, persons must be at least 17 years of age, weigh at least 105 pounds, be in generally good health, and must not have donated within the past 56 days. Donor identification is required, so donors should being with them their Red Cross donor card of their driver's license.

Surviving Domestic Violence Program Slated At GCC

A presentation titled "Awakening Women: Surviving Domestic Violence" has been scheduled for Monday, April 26, from 1 to 3:30 p.m. in the Garrett Community College auditorium. The event is sponsored by the Business and Professional Women of Oakland to heighten understanding concerning issues of family violence and is approved as co-curricular credit for GCC students. It is open to the public free of charge.

The keynote presentation will be given by Angela Brown, survivor and author, who has spent the last 10 years speaking out as an advocate for victims of domestic violence. In her book, When All the Doors Close, Look to the Windows, she depicts the suffering and recovery of battered women. A nationally renowned speaker, Brown has appeared on many television shows including 20-20, 60 Minutes, Larry King Live, and Good Morning America.

Brown, who specializes in cases of domestic violence and addiction, is a certified lay legal advocate for battered women in Prince George's County and a court observer in Montgomery County. She is a recipient of both state and national awards, including Department of Juvenile Justice "Outstanding Achievement Awards" and the "Secretary's Citation," and Washington D.C.'s WJLA-TV "Working Women of the Year for 1998." She has also testified as a congressional witness for victims' rights and has received citations for her involvement in a national roundtable.

The program will also include a dramatic reading by Jane Avery and skits related to family violence by Pandora's Box teen theater.

The program is part of the second annual Women's Lecture Series, a yearlong potpourri of events planned to celebrate and highlight women and family issues. For more information, interested persons may contact June Heselbach at 301-334-9431, ext. 142.

Library, Head Start Promoting Family Literacy

To promote literacy with its families, Garrett County Community Action's Head Start has been working with the Ruth Enlow Library, Oakland, to arrange special programming. "Get to Know Your Library" presentations by library personnel have been scheduled at all the Head Start parent meetings during the month of April.

The presentations will include how to use the card catalog by book title or author, how to access the library's computers, how to use the desk references, and how to check out videos or books on tape. Parents are encouraged to bring along a form of identifications and be issued a library card.

"Ruth Enlow Library possesses a wealth of information and it's situated right here in Oakland with branches in various communities in the county. All one needs to know is how to use it; therefore, we are making it our goal to teach Head Start families about this very valuable resource," stated a Head Start spokesperson.

In May, the Oakland branch of the Ruth Enlow Library will be hosting two instructional tours of its facility for Head Start families. Parents will have the opportunity to walk through the library with staff to learn first-hand what the library can offer them and their children. Head Start will be providing childcare during the tours and a small reception immediately afterwards.

The tours will be conducted after the library will have completed extensive renovation and will have added resources for children and for their parents. The children's section will be located at the front of the library, making it more visible and accessible, said library director Martha Makosky. "We want to make this a highly visible, welcoming area for children and their parents. New computers are being purchased which may be used for homework purposes and for connection to the Internet. In addition, reference staff will be nearby to help children find the resources they need."

Dates for the Head Start Get to Know Your Library tours will be set when renovations are complete. Head Start parents wishing more information may contact Dodie Burrell, parent involvement coordinator, at 301-334-9431, ext. 106.

Notes from Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

Supposedly spring has arrived at last; however, we have an awful lot of snow for the first day of spring. It is very difficult for me to get out to my car or even get it out of the lane that is filled with slush, ice, and snow. But last week I heard a flock of geese passing overhead. The last few days it was great to awaken to birds singing. I saw two robins this week, but they looked a little upset with all the snow. I think they decided to go back south for a little while longer.

Saturday my girls and I, plus Kelsey Morrison, made a trip to Beth Green's home on Bill Beitzel Road to see their three baby goats. I think baby goats are the cutest of all barn animal babies. Speaking of baby animals, a bunch of new baby lambs have arrived in Jimmy Glotfelty's herd. It always cheers me up to see those little babies running around.

It is now maple syrup making time in Bittinger. I saw a grove that was tapped on Foxtown Road. In the Brenneman Grove those wonderful maple trees are being tapped with the new method of plastic pipes to funnel the sap to a main tank, and then taken by a farmer in Pennsylvania to finish the process. Both Ellen Housley and I feel deep sadness that the Grove can't be worked like it was when we were growing up, with buckets and even a team of horses pulling the sap wagon. Our ancestors depended on maple syrup for all their sugar needs.

The little Sussman girls, as usual, had a busy social life last weekend. They had a great time with a host of their best friends. On Saturday afternoon they had entertained here on the farm, Kelsey Morrison, Jamie Haydel, and Colleen McLister. They played "dress up" and they can really put some great outfits together. The Oscars had nothing on them. Pat and Ann McLister took the whole gang to swim at the Wisp pool. Then they went out for dinner at Burger King. Sunday afternoon Meredith and Kelsey helped their friend, Ashley Friend, celebrate her birthday at a party at Smiley's, featuring Smiley's Pizza, arcade games, and Lazer Tag.

Emmanuel Lutheran Church had its First Communion class on Sunday afternoon. Caitlin, along with her cousin, Scott Bass, attended. Other members absent due to being out of town were Tyler Southeriy and Darryl and Elliot Glotfelty.

Rodney and Marci Glotfelty and children spent the weekend in Baltimore to celebrate the 75th birthday of Marci's father, George Farmer. They were also busy helping with plans for the upcoming wedding of Marci's sister Lynn.

The Bittinger 4-H Club is planning to visit the Goodwill Mennonite Home on Saturday to sing and entertain the residents of the home. They will meet at the fire hall for practice before going to the home.

For the last 10 years or so, I have enjoyed the sighting of a visitor from far away, the Arctic. A rough-legged hawk is a full-time resident of the Arctic; however, it regularly hangs out in a tree on Accident-Bittinger Road, but either the weather up there in the Arctic Circle has been too mild for it to need to go south, or else this winter in Garrett County has been too mild for its liking.

Speaking of birds, the bird songs of last week have stopped. This Monday morning all signs of spring have disappeared with cold wind and a new snow covering, and no birds singing. So much for the groundhog, who predicted an early spring.

If our neighbors notice a strange dog around with our dogs, Emily and Boo, he is a large shaggy black dog with adorable brown eyes. He is Gismo, and belongs to our friend who had to go on a trip to California. Gismo will be spending a few weeks with us. He is so sweet that I am afraid Amy may have trouble getting him back.

About 20 women of the Bittinger Lutheran Parish attended a covered dish dinner on Friday evening at Emmanuel's educational building.

Adults' Fun and Game Night Round #2 will be held this Friday, March 27, at 7 p.m. at Emmanuel's educational building. Come and join in the fun, fellowship, and a free night out. Bring something to drink and munch on, plus yourself, a friend, and any game you'd like to share. Any questions, call Meredith at 301-387-2527 or Sally at 301-245-4645.

Easter caroling for our shut-ins will be held immediately following Palm Sunday services at Emmanuel Lutheran Church. We are inviting one and all to help spread the good news and joys of Easter.

Emmanuel's WELCA plans to go to the Goodwill Mennonite Home on Monday had to be canceled due to a quarantine of the home. A later date will be scheduled.

The Community in Harmony Chorus will present a concert on Sunday, March 28, at 3 p.m. at the Flowery Vale Senior Center in Accident. It is co-sponsored by AAL Branch 5821 and the Accident Cultural and Historical Society. Offering will be matched by AAL, and donated to a cause yet to be decided.

Lenny and Sally Poholsky attended a 90th birthday celebration for Wilma Calhoun at the Will O' the Wisp on Saturday evening.

The body of Mosella Buckel, LaVale, was buried in the Bittinger Cemetery on Saturday. Mosella was the widow of Blake Buckel, former resident of Bittinger.

Other "over-90" birthdays for a few more of our ladies in the Bittinger area: Lucretia Stanton and Edna Beitzel will each be observing their birthdays this weekend.

Still another birthday for one of the "Grand Dames of Bittinger" as Mrs. Ida Reckner celebrated her 94th birthday last Saturday. I talked with her today. She complained about her back aching today and that sometimes she forgets things. Well, it happens that my back aches today, too. I heard quite a few little complaints from my friends around here and we are at least 50 or more years younger than she. So it is not "old-age," as she said. She is a quaint lady.

Family members gathered for a covered dish dinner at the home of Ida Reckner Saturday evening, March 20, to help Ida celebrate her 94th birthday. Present for the occasion were William and Linda Oester, Salisbury, Pa.; Jeff, Sheli, and Ashlin Gray, Hanover; Dwaine, Lisa, Adam and Amanda Platter, Smithsburg; Jodi Platter, Grantsville; Lillian Reckner, McHenry; Charee Reckner and Michaele Puliti, Coopersburg, Pa.; and Jim and Donna Glotfelty. The Karl and Cathy DeBoeser family of Allentown, Pa., were unable to attend because of Cathy's involvement with the Pottstown Symphony Orchestra, which is celebrating the 35th anniversary of the orchestra. During the evening, Cathy made telephone connections with Ida while the "Happy Birthday" song was being rendered. Also, the Gary Reckner family of Sarasota, Fla., telephoned and joined in singing their own rendition of the birthday song for Ida.

Karmen Carey, Frostburg, visited her grandmother Ida Friday afternoon, prior to leaving for Springfield, Mo., to visit her son, Anthony, at Evangel College. Tom Glotfelty also visited with his grandmother Ida before returning to his flying position in Atlantic City on Wednesday. Neighbors and friends dropped by during the week, and Ida received many gifts, cards, phone calls, and well-wishes.

Glimpse of The Past . . .

A FAMOUS NATIVE AMERICAN, whose profile is still seen from time to time all over the United States, visited Oakland in 1927. Two Gun White Calf, pictured third from right above, was the Native American who posed for the Indian head (or buffalo) nickel. He passed through Oakland on the train during the centennial celebration of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. Pictured behind White Calf, left, is Lawrence Fraley, who was mayor of Oakland at the time, and, right, Benjamin Sincell, who was the editor of The Republican newspaper. Arthritis Pain Mystery Solved

Horse Liniment is the secret!

OCALA, FL. -- An ingredient used to treat inflammation in thoroughbred racehorse legs, is now recognized as safe and effective for human use. The ingredient has been formulated into a product called ARTH-Rx™ and comes in a strength designed for humans. Researchers are excited and say the formula can relieve arthritis pain for millions.

Developed by the Phillips Gulf Corporation, ARTH-Rx is a breakthrough in the treatment of painful disorders ranging from minor aches and pains to more serious conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, tendonitis, backache and more.

Scientists suggest that ARTH-Rx works by intercepting the pain messenger substance that sends pain signals to the brain. Although the mechanism is not totally clear, pain is relieved in the affected area because the pain signal actually disappears.

ARTH-Rx is the only product on the market with Neurocaine and is available in a convenient, pleasant scented roll-on applicator without a prescription. According to a spokesperson for the company, ARTH-Rx is available in pharmacies, nutrition stores, and even some feed stores. ARTH-Rx can also be ordered by calling 1-800-729-8446. © 1999 PGC

Farm Bureau Heralds Crop Ins. Legislation

Producers who say that the current crop insurance program is too expensive, bureaucratic and does not adequately address their risk management needs now may have reason to be optimistic. Legislation introduced last week proposing sweeping changes to the current system is being heralded by Farm Bureau as a great starting point to help producers who incur significant economic losses.

The Crop Insurance for the 21st Century Act, introduced by Sens. Pat Roberts (R-Kan.) and Bob Kerrey (D-Neb.), "is a positive first step to fixing many of the shortcomings in the existing program," said Mary Kay Thatcher, senior governmental relations director for the American Farm Bureau Federation.

During a press briefing last week, Sen. Roberts conceded that the diversity of American agriculture proved difficult in producing a bill. He acknowledged that while this bill cannot fix all of the problems facing producers, Congress needs to address "serious shortfalls in the crop insurance program."

Roberts added that this bill was one attempt to address the economic problems currently facing U.S. producers, including fallout from historically low prices for grain and livestock created by weak export markets in Asia and Latin America and weather-related disasters in several regions of the country.

Roberts said the bill attempts to make crop insurance more flexible and responsible to the needs of producers. While acknowledging that there is not a one-size-fits-all solution, the current system can be significantly improved to meet more risk management needs of farmers and ranchers, he said.

"In this time of low prices and global economic woes, farmers and ranchers deserve effective risk management tools they can depend on," he added.

Kerrey said that this legislation is a "vast improvement" over the 1994 bill. "Our bill increases the likelihood that farmers will find it a better way to manage risk. I am confident that Sen. Roberts and I can build bipartisan support to pass a bill this year that will help producers better manage their risk in the future."

Under the act, producers are encouraged to increase their coverage levels—because higher levels of coverage will be more affordable. The bill also will enable producers who suffer multiyear crop losses due to natural disasters to adjust their average production history.

Livestock producers will now be able to purchase coverage, because the bill removes the current program's livestock exclusion—a major improvement to the current program, according to Thatcher.

"This could prove to be significant in providing price protection, especially in light of record-low hog prices and continuing low prices for cattle."

Thatcher added that another attractive feature of the bill is that it addresses concerns that many rural communities are underserved by the current system due to unfair rating systems and high premium prices. The bill calls for the federal government to establish a pilot program to develop a new rating system to factor in lower-risk growers who do not participate in the current program.

Crop insurance has been the focus of the Senate and House Agriculture committees' radar screens this year. House Agriculture Committee Chairman Larry Combest (R-Texas) said that he was giving priority to strengthening crop insurance and related risk management programs. However, financial support has yet to appear from the White House.

Roberts expressed disappointment that while President Clinton acknowledged that U.S. producers need effective crop insurance, he included no money for the program in his recent budget proposal. Roberts also questioned the administration's decision to cut funds for the export enhancement program.

"Europe is not going to back off giving help to their producers," he said. "(U.S. producers) cannot compete if we do not have an aggressive export program."

Thatcher agreed and said this is evidenced by recent numbers that show that the European Union subsidizes their producers at $47 billion per year, while the United States provides farmers and ranchers around $6 billion.

Manure Matching Service Started

The Maryland Department of Agriculture has started the Manure Matching Service to link farmers with excess manure with those farmers who can safely use manure as a nutrient source. The goal of the program is to protect water quality by fostering efficient land application of manure and alternative uses. Farmers and entrepreneurs developing alternative uses wishing to participate may obtain a registration form simply by calling the Matching Service toll free at 1-877-7MANURE, or by visiting MDA's website at www.mda.state.md.us.

South Of The Border Soy Foods Boost Health Of Hungry Children

The directors of the offices of the American Soybean Association across the globe constantly search for, and develop, projects to increase the use of soybeans and soybean products in their far-flung lands.

Every so often, however, one such project falls into their laps, as it did for Lloyd Luckett, director of ASA operations in South America.

Luckett, who journeyed to ASA headquarters in St. Louis in January to join his 13 other fellow regional and country directors for the organization's annual International Marketing Staff Conference and Global Review, noted that due to the poverty rampant in Columbia, 80 percent of the population of that Latin American country is vegetarian.

Testifying to the respect in which the ASA and its soybean promotion efforts are held, and knowing that soybeans could provide an important and inexpensive alternative food source, the wife of Columbia's president, Andres Pastrana, approached Luckett about establishing a pilot program to improve the nutrition of Columbia's children.

So, Luckett related, beginning last July, 400 children, ages 2 to 6, from day care centers were enrolled in the program. To establish baseline data, each child was given mental and physical examinations and physical activity tests.

The mothers of the children were taught to prepare soy foods such as milk, cookies, cake, soup, pasta and other foods using soy and soy-based products.

The children now are getting 200 grams of soy protein a day in their diets and their health is showing marked improvement, Luckett said.

Ultimately, Luckett hopes to expand the program to include not only other mothers but pregnant women and elderly women as well and, eventuallly, to extend the Columbian model to Venezuela, Peru, and Ecuador.

The regional and country directors who gathered in St. Louis in mid-January also represented offices in the Caribbean, western central and northern Europe, Russia, Turkey, the Middle East, South Africa, China, Japan, Southeast Asia, Taiwan, Korea, India, and Pakistan.

There were these reports:

* ASA opened an office in Istanbul, Turkey, last November. It was followed by the sale of 750,000 metric tons of soybeans, with the projection of a million tons in the near future.

* Western Europe last year purchased 900 million metric tons of soybeans and 1.8 million metric tons of soy meal. On the downside, Norway is refusing shipments of genetically altered beans or bean products.

* Despite the country's economic problems, China soy imports continue to increase. China is the No. 1 customer of U.S. soy oil, and, as the country's livestock industry grows, sales of U.S. soy meal are expected to increase as well.

* In Southeast Asia, where national economies are struggling to survive and where the U.S. has claimed an 80 percent share of the soybean market, regional director John Lindbloom expects another "difficult year."

* In Brazil, a major world market competitor of the United States, Lloyd Luckett is forecasting reduced planting this year because of a lack of credit for Brazilian growers, the devaluation of the country's currency and adverse weather conditions.

State Farm Income Down

Lower grain prices caused farm income to drop in Maryland last year, according to Associated Press information received from a report issued by state agriculture officials.

The state's poultry farmers and dairymen did much better in 1998, according to preliminary figures released last week by the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service.

The drop in farm profit last year was blamed primarily on low commodity prices and a summer drought that destroyed grain crops in southern Maryland and the Eastern Shore.

"Grain prices were down, down, down last year," said Ray Garibay, head of statistics services for the Agriculture Department, in releasing his net income estimate. He added that the prospects for prices are no better for this year as a result of large supplies of grain in storage.

Total farm income in Maryland fell $8.2 million last year to $265.4 million.

It was the second consecutive year that Maryland farmers have been hurt by low commodity prices and drought. Farm income last year was 26 percent lower than in 1996.

"This is going to have a serious impact on our rural economy," Maryland Department of Agriculture Secretary Henry A. Verts said. "The farm equipment dealers are going to suffer. The feed dealers are going to suffer. The truck dealers, restaurants and furniture stores are going to suffer, too. Anybody who serves the farm industry is going to feel the decline."

The year was much kinder to poultry and dairy farmers.

"Last year was our best in the past 10 or 12 years," said Lewis R. Riley, an Eastern Shore chicken grower and former state agriculture secretary. "Poultry prices stayed healthy throughout 1998, and in most cases farmers were paid a price bonus by the processors."

His bonus, which is like a profit-sharing plan, totaled between $5,000 and $6,000.

"It's a windfall for good prices," Riley said, "and it made 1998 a very good year for poultry growers."

State dairy farmers also benefited from record milk prices late last year due to a shortage of milk caused by weather problems in southern California.

The price per hundred pounds of milk in November and December 1998 and January 1999 reached the highest levels since 1970.

Farmers also profited from a shortage of cheese and butter last year, said Ed Fry, who operates a dairy farm near Kennedyville.

"High milk prices, coupled with low grain prices, made for a very good year for the dairy industry in general," he said.

However, Maryland dairy farmers are bracing themselves for a sharp drop in dairy prices over the next month.

The U.S Department of Agriculture has announced that the basic milk price that producers receive will drop from $16.27 per hundred pounds of milk to $10.27. It will be the steepest monthly decline ever.

Hutzel Reports Garrett Livestock Association News

The February meeting of the Garrett County Livestock Association was held on the 24th at 7 p.m. at GCC. All committees gave a report and the Scholarship Fund-raising Committee presented the draft of the proposed "policies and procedure," according to President Dale Hutzel. A vote was tabled until the March meeting.

It was decided that future livestock meetings would be held at GCC and the Extension office alternately. The March meeting will be held on March 30 at 7 p.m. at the Extension office. All members are urged to attend.

The Scholarship Fundraising Committee will hold a public auction sale on May 22. SFC Members are asked that as they spring clean out basements and attics and find hidden treasures they can no longer use and don't need, they donate them for the auction. No clothing or bedding will be accepted. For further details, those interested may call Vonda at 301-334-5978 or Millie at 301-334-8682.

Marketbasket Prices Increase 36 Cents During First Quarter

Grocery shoppers had to dig a little deeper into their pocketbooks during the first quarter of 1999, according to the American Farm Bureau Federation's Marketbasket Survey. The average price of selected grocery items increased 36 cents from last year's fourth quarter.

The 16 selected items on the survey averaged $32.87, up from the $32.51 figure turned in during the fourth quarter of 1998. It marks the fourth consecutive quarter where the average survey price increased.

Some of the prices on the survey contradict price trends on the farm. The survey was conducted in mid February, and average retail prices may be slower to react to commodity prices, according to Terry Francl, an economist with the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The average price of a gallon of whole milk, which jumped 15 cents to $2.78, is a cast in point. The increase, the largest on the survey, occurred despite falling milk prices at the farm level.

"Milk prices have dropped during the past two or three weeks," said Francl. "This increase is obviously just a short-lived phenomenon."

While retail prices have been slow to respond to the falling dairy prices hitting dairy producers, shoppers are finally seeing the impact of rock-bottom hog prices producers have suffered during the past six months or so. A pound of bacon fell 23 cents to $2.05, the sharpest drop on the survey.

"We're finally seeing the impact of the lower hog prices that farmers have experienced during the past six months," said Francl. "It's unfortunate that it took this long for the lower prices to show up at the retail level.

"Bacon right now should be about a half or a third of what it was six months ago."

Eleven of the 16 items on the survey increased in average price. In addition to the price of milk, a pound of sirloin tip increased 11 cents to $2.80. Other increases included mayonnaise, $2.87 per 32-ounce jar, up 9 cents, white bread, $1.16 per 20-ounce loaf, up 8 cents; cereal, $2.87 per 20-ounce box, up 7 cents; flour, $1.32 per 5-pound bag, up 6 cents; corn oil, $2.69 per 32-ounce jar, up 5 cents; pork chops, $2.76 per pound, up 4 cents; whole fryers, $1.06 per pound, up 4 cents; russet potatoes, $1.52 per 5-pound bag, up 4 cents: and vegetable oil, $2.35 per 32-ounce jar, up 3 cents.

In addition to bacon, other decreases were eggs, 91 cents a dozen, down 13 cents; ground chuck, $1.64 per pound, down 3 cents; and cheddar cheese, $3.26 per pound, down 2 cents.

The price of red apples was unchanged at 83 cents per pound.

AFBF, the nation's largest general farm organization with more than 4.8 million members, conducts its informal quarterly Marketbasket Survey to help track retail food prices to ensure they are in line with prices received by the nation's farmers and ranchers. While many grocery prices increased during the past year, the farmers' and ranchers' share remains fairly steady.

The farm value of each food dollar spent in the United States is approximately 21 cents. Labor, at 38.5 cents, is the largest component of the consumers' food dollar.

Volunteer shoppers from 34 states participated in this latest survey. The average total price of this quarter is only $4.37 higher than the $28.50 average price of the inaugural survey conducted during the first quarter of 1989. That averages into just a 44-cent increase in prices per year over a 10-year span.

Maryland Crop Prices Continue To Decline

Maryland prices received by producers continued to decline for wheat, soybeans and poultry. However, corn, oats, barley, meat animal, and milk prices were improved compared to January.

Only prices for milk, broilers, and calves were above 1998. The U.S. Index shows only dairy, poultry, and fruits and nuts above 1998.

Number Of Natl. Farm Workers Up in Survey

There were 844,000 hired workers on the nation's farms and ranches during the week of Jan. 10 through 16, 1999, up 5% from a year ago. There were 689,000 workers hired directly by farm operators.

Agricultural service employees on farms and ranches made up the remaining 155,000 workers. Farm operators paid their hired workers an average wage of $7.90 per hour during the January 1999 survey week, up 29 cents from a year earlier.

Field workers received an average of $7.21 per hour, up 22 cents from last January. Livestock workers earned $7.31 per hour compared with $6.97 a year earlier. The field and livestock worker combined wage rate was up 26 cents from last year. The number of hours worked averaged 37.9 hours for hired workers during the survey week compared with 36.6 hours a year ago.

Production Of Chicken & Eggs In Md. Reported

Maryland laying flocks produced 85 million eggs during January 1999, of which 78 million were table eggs and 7 million were hatching eggs. The average rate of lay was 75.9%. The average number of layers on hand during January 1999 was 3,611,000. On Feb. 1, 1999, 4.5% of layers in Maryland were being molted and 37.0% of all layers had been through a molt.

Here are the warning signs of cervical cancer:

Your body gives no early warning signs that you are developing cervical cancer. And once you start feeling bad enough to go to a doctor, it could be too late. That's why it's so important for all women, especially those over 40, to continue getting a Pap smear each and every year. If you are 40 or older, call your local health department to see if you qualify for a free Pap smear. And stop cervical cancer before it ever starts.

Ask for a Pap smear every year. It's the only way to know.

SWANTON

On Tuesday, March 16 in observance of "National Employ the Older Workers Week," an older workers' dinner was hosted by the Area Agency on Aging. Attending the dinner from Swanton were Louise Beckman, and Harley and Betty Wildesen. Louise and Betty were presented a certificate of recognition as "workers over 70" by Adina Brode.

Orval Teets attended the Retired Railroaders' breakfast at the Shrine Club, Cumberland, last Thursday.

Sandra Schofield and Mary June Harvey traveled to Hagerstown Thursday evening to visit the husband and family of Helen Hoopengardner, who died in Florida and whose body was buried in Hagerstown Friday.

Following surgery on Friday, Harley Wildesen was a patient in Garrett Memorial Hospital overnight. He returned to his home Saturday.

Orval and Mareva Teets attended the Chessie Credit Union's annual dinner Friday at the Shrine Club in Cumberland.

Helen and Bob Winters visited Harvey Wilt at his home in Oakland on Sunday afternoon.

April Tichnell and A.J. Fleming were Sunday dinner guests of Steve, Lucinda, Amber, and Jacob Davis at their home in Augusta, W.Va.

Mareva and Orval Teets visited Bob and Fannie Rizer on Saturday afternoon.

A son, Daniel Patrick Duggan, was born Sunday to Susan and Dan Duggan at Garrett Memorial Hospital.

A son, Roy Scott Davis Jr., was born March 15 to Cheri and Roy Davis at Garrett Memorial Hospital.

Gary Friend, Glenwood Springs, Colo., is visiting here.

Clara and Charles Coddington, Lanham, were weekend visitors of Amy and Artie Sweitzer.

Holly Wilson returned home from Reidsville, N.C., Sunday, after a week-long visit with her sister Addy. Holly and Addy visited their uncle, Charles Teets, in Chesapeake, Va., before she returned home.

OTTERBEIN METHODIST CHURCH

Wanda Maphis, Maxine and Meredith Ball, and Mareva and Orval Teets attended a meeting of the Burlington United Methodist Family Services Auxiliary in Keyser, W.Va., on March 11.

The administrative board met Tuesday, March 16. The following services were announced: April 1, 7 p.m., Maundy Thursday; Easter Sunrise Service, April 4, 6 a.m., followed by breakfast, Easter Cantata, and worship service, 11 a.m. There will be an egg hunt on Friday, April 2, at the Community Center.

The United Methodist Women met for the Call to Prayer and Self-Denial service on Thursday, March 18. "Called, Served, and Still Serving" was the theme of the program, which honored retired U.M. deaconesses and missionaries. A covered-dish luncheon followed the program. After the luncheon a baby shower was held for Lois Custer.

The next United Methodist Women meeting will be April 13, 1 p.m., at the Community Center. Shirley Lipscomb will be the program leader.

Rev. Meredith and Maxine Ball, Wanda Maphis, and Mary June Harvey attended the spring meeting of Potomac Highland District United Methodist Women at Christ Church, Rowlesburg, W.Va. on Saturday. The theme of the meeting was "Called to be Neighborly."

A Brotherhood breakfast will be served Saturday, March 27, 7:30 a.m., at the Casselman Restaurant, Grantsville.

SHARE pick-up will be this Saturday, March 27, 11 a.m. to noon.

The Community Association did not hold a March meeting because of inclement weather. Members are planning a fried-chicken dinner for April 10. The next regular meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., April 19, at the center.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED TARIFF FOR RATE CHANGES

Notice is hereby given that on March 17, 1999, Bell Atlantic filed Federal Communications Commission (FCC) required revisions to its Interstate Access Service Tariffs FCC No. 1, to be effective April 1, 1999. The revisions result from changes in the Bell Atlantic Universal Service Fund obligations and provide for rate increases to the following Subscriber Line Charges (SLCs). Bell Atlantic also proposed decreases in access charges paid by long distance carriers. Therefore, Bell Atlantic does not receive any new revenue from increases in SLCs.

Monthly Subscriber Line Charge (SLC) for Multi-line Business & Centrex will increase by $0.01 from $6.36 to $6.37 per line.

Monthly Subscriber Line Charge (SLC) for ISDN Primary Rate will increase by $0.05 from $31.80 to $31.85.

These rates apply to customers in Maryland and are subject to FCC approval. The proposed tariff filing is available for inspection during the hours of 9:00 A.M. and 4:30 P.M., Monday through Friday at the FCC Public Reference Room located at 1919 M Street, NW, Washington, D.C. If you wish additional information, contact your business office by calling the number on your bill.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland hereby gives notice that it will hold a public hearing, on Monday, March 29, 1999 at 7:15 PM at Oakland Town Council meeting room, 15 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland, to discuss or hear concerns regarding proposed Ordinance O99-02, which has been introduced before the Town Council, providing for an amendment to the current Oakland Zoning Ordinance.

A fair summary of the Ordinance is as follows:

An Ordinance of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, amending Article 4, Section 405, Table of Use Regulations. Specifically, Subsection 44 subtitled "Fire Station" is proposed to be changed to "Fire Station, Emergency Rescue Squad or Ambulance Service Facilities. "These facilities will be permitted in the areas zoned CBA, C, and EC, and will be permitted in the area zoned TC, by special exception only. Section 44 (a) Ambulance Service will be deleted.

This notice is in accordance with the policy adopted by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland for the adoption of ordinances, and gives notice of the date and time of the scheduled public hearing of said Ordinance.

The Ordinance in its entirety is available for review at Oakland City Hall during normal business hours, Monday-Friday.

U.S. Department of Justice - Federal Bureau of Prisons Notice of Availability - Final Environmental Impact Statement

The U.S. Department of Justice, Federal Bureau of Prisons (Bureau) has made available to interested governmental and private bodies and individuals a Final Environmental Impact Statement (FEIS) for the proposed development of a new federal correctional facility to be located at one of three sites in Preston County, WV. The FEIS studies potential environmental impacts associated with the construction and operation of either a new medium-security Federal Correctional Institution to house approximately 1,152 inmates or a high-security U.S. Penitentiary to house approximately 1,000 inmates, and a minimum security satellite prison camp to house approximately 150-300 inmates. The FEIS considers potential impacts to the natural and manmade environments including land use, economics, air quality, noise, utility services, transportation, cultural, aesthetic, hydrological and biological resources, among other topics at each of the three alternative sites. The FEIS will be the subject of a 30-day review period which begins March 26 and ends April 26, 1999. Comments concerning the FEIS and the proposed action must be received during this time to be assured of consideration and should be sent to: David J. Dorworth, Chief, Site Selection & Environmental Review Branch, Federal Bureau of Prisons, 320 First Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20534, Tel: 202-514-6470, Fax: 202-616-6024. All written comments received during this review period will be taken into consideration by the Bureau. Copies of the FEIS are also available for public viewing at the Kingwood Public Library, 205 West Main Street, Kingwood, WV and the Terra Alta Public Library, 1220 East Washington Avenue, Terra Alta, WV. Thank you for your interest.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that from and after the effective date of this Resolution, all persons residing in the area to be annexed shall be and become citizens of the Town of Oakland, and subject to the provisions of the Charter of said Town, and any amendments thereto, and that all real property so annexed and the personal property thereon shall be subject to the municipal property taxes to be levied by said Town, and that all of the said property, real and personal, will be taxed as all other property within the Town of Oakland, at the tax rate legally set by the Mayor and Town Council thereof.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Mayor and Town Council shall extend such services to the residents to be annexed hereby, as are extended to other residents of the Town of Oakland, where available.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, inasmuch as the area to be annexed is designated in the Garrett County Development Plan as "General Commercial" "Rural" or "Suburban Residential" (as shown thereon according to designation of the various tracts thereof), and that at this time there is no actual zoning ordinance within Garrett County which affects the area to be annexed, and consequently no specific land use definitions therefor, and inasmuch as the Zoning Ordinance for the Town of Oakland contains a land use category designated as "Town Center," and inasmuch as the area to be annexed has been designated by the State of Maryland as a "Priority Funding Area" (PRA) because it is expected to experience accelerated development and said area contains such uses as single-family residences, new and used car sales businesses, food and grocery stores, a real estate office and restaurant, etc., and inasmuch as all of these uses are permitted in the zoning category known as "Town Center" as defined by the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland, and, therefore, the Mayor and Town Council have determined that the annexed area shall be zoned "Town Center" (TC) under the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland, as adopted October 23, 1989, and as subsequently amended, and said area shall be designated as such on the official zoning map for the Town of Oakland, as said category is most compatible with the actual character of the area to be annexed.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that Notice of this Resolution shall be published in a newspaper with general circulation within the Town of Oakland and Garrett County, giving notice that the public hearing on this Resolution shall be held in the Council Room at the Oakland Town Hall on the 19th day of April, 1999, which date is not less than fifteen (15) days after the fourth (4th)-publication of said Notice as provided for herein.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Resolution shall become effective on the forty-sixth (46th) day following its final enactment.

ROBERT E. WATSON, Town Attorney

The Mayor and Town Council shall hold a public hearing on this Resolution, and the annexation, on the 19th day of April, 1999, in the Oakland Town Hall located at 15 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, at 7:00 p.m.

By the Authority of
Mayor and Town Council of Oakland
By its Town Counsel, Robert E. Watson

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland hereby gives notice that it will hold a public hearing, on March 29, 1999 at 7:00 PM at Oakland Town Council meeting room, 15 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland, to discuss or hear concerns regarding proposed Ordinance O99-01, which has been introduced before the Town Council, providing for an amendment to the current Oakland Zoning Ordinance.

A fair summary of the Ordinance is as follows:

An Ordinance of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, amending Section 213.6, to redefine "Sectional (Double-Wide) Dwelling," and to add Section 213.7, which would allow for a definition of a Modular Dwelling. The proposed amendment would also add Subsection 3.5 under Section 405, Table of Use Regulations, to permit Modular Dwellings in areas zoned CBA, TC, TR, and SR.

This notice is in accordance with the policy adopted by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland for the adoption of ordinances, and gives notice of the date and time of the scheduled public hearing of said Ordinance.

The Ordinance in its entirety is available for review at Oakland City Hall during normal business hours, Monday-Friday.

By Authority:
Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, Maryland

Surface of the area to be mined is owned by WESTVACO, 300 Pratt Street, Luke, Maryland and G&S Coal Company, Inc., 21557 Maryland Highway, Bloomington, Maryland and the mineral is owned by WESTVACO, 300 Pratt Street, Luke, Maryland.

The permit is located within US Geological Survey Kitzmiller, MD 7.5 minute quadrangle, the boundries being as shown on the attached sketch.

The application includes plans to construct 4 ponds to control sediment and stormwater on the mining area. In addition to a surface coal mining permit the construction of the ponds will require a separate small pond approval from the Bureau of Mines.

A copy of the application, which includes the pond plans for the small pond approval, is available for public review at the Garrett Soil Conservation District Office, 1916 Maryland Highway, Mountain Lake Park, Maryland 21550 during normal office hours. Questions concerning any aspect of the application may be directed to: Robert L. Dugan, Jr. DUGAN ASSOCIATES, 301-689-1568 or the Maryland Bureau of Mines, Permit Section, 301-689-6405. A public hearing will not be held on this activity unless requested. Written comments, requests for a public hearing, and requests to be included on the interested persons list regarding this application will be received until May 8, 1999 by the Director, Maryland Bureau of Mines, 160 South Water Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532. Attention: OPA-97-06.

Future notices about this application will be provided by mail to those persons that submit comments, request a public hearing or request to be included on the list of interested persons.

ORDINANCE 99-2
STREET WEIGHT LIMITS

WHEREAS, the streets and alleyways of Mtn. Lake Park are designed and constructed to accommodate passenger vehicles, AND

WHEREAS, significant deterioration is occurring to the Town's street system as a result of non passenger vehicles using the streets on a regular basis, AND

WHEREAS, section 26-59 of the Charter of Mtn. Lake Park empowers the Town to control all public ways except those under the jurisdiction of the Maryland State Roads Commission;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Mayor and Town Council of Mtn. Lake Park that a vehicular weight limit shall be imposed and enforced throughout the corporate limits, as follows:

1) a vehicular weight limit of ten tons may be imposed on any and all streets if, in the opinion of the Mayor and Town Council, such action is necessary to safeguard the integrity of the road, street, alley or other public way. Proper signage shall be posted in conspicuous sites along such public ways indicating the specified weight limit.

2) in such instances where the mayor and council may determine that a weight limit of less than ten tons is necessary to preserve and protect a street, alley or public way, a weight limit of less than ten tons shall be permitted.

Persons found to be in violation of this ordinance shall be subject to a fine not exceeding $500.00 per occurrence.

The effective date of this ordinance is March 29, 1999.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF VALUABLE FEE-SIMPLE DWELLING
1364 FOSTER ROAD
OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND 21550

Pursuant to the power of sale contained in a Deed of Trust from Donald A. Nuce and Marianne Nuce to John S. Burson, Trustee, dated October 3, 1990 and recorded in Liber 720, folio 618 among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, default having occurred thereunder, the undersigned duly appointed Substitute Trustees will offer for sale at public auction

AT THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY AT THE COURTHOUSE DOOR, OAKLAND, ON MONDAY, APRIL 12,1999 AT 1:03 O'CLOCK P.M.

ALL THAT LOT OF GROUND AND THE IMPROVEMENTS THEREON situated in Garrett County Maryland and more fully described in-the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property is improved by a dwelling and is in fee-simple.

The property will be sold subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $6,000 will be required at the time of sale in the form of cash, certified check or other form as the Substitute Trustees determine acceptable. If the noteholder and/or servicer is the successful bidder, the deposit requirement is waived. The Substitute Trustees reserve the right to reject any and all bids. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten (10) days of sale ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. Time is of the essence as to the purchaser. If the purchaser defaults' the deposit will be forfeited and the property will be resold at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase price at the rate pursuant to the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received by the Substitute Trustees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason (and the property is purchased by someone other than the noteholder), there shall be no abatement of interest. Taxes, ground rent, water rent, condominium fees, public charges, assessments and/or homeowner association dues, if applicable, shall be adjusted to the date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Purchaser shall pay for all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses. Purchaser shall be solely responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. If the Substitute Trustees are unable to convey marketable title, purchaser's sole remedy shall be limited to a refund of the deposit, afterwhich, the sale shall be deemed void and the purchaser shall have no further claims against the Substitute Trustees or the noteholder. The property will be sold in an "AS IS" condition without either express or implied warranty, including, but not limited to, the description, structural integrity, physical condition, habitability, zoning, subdivision, environmental condition, merchantability, compliance with building codes, ordinances, regulations, or other similar matters. The Substitute Trustees, their attorneys and/or the noteholder shall not be liable individually or otherwise for any matters relating to this sale and/or the property. DCL Methodist Charge Slates Easter Schedule

Holy Week Services at the Deep Creek Lake United Methodist Charge will begin with Palm Sunday worship services at the Hoyes United Methodist Church at 9 a.m. and at the Paradise United Methodist Church at 10 a.m. Palms will be distributed to those in attendance and Rev. R. Samuel Wachter, pastor, will deliver the Palm Sunday message. Sunday School will be held at Hoyes Church at 10 a.m., following worship services.

An Easter party featuring an Easter egg hunt will be held Palm Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Becker at 11 Klotz Road, Friendsville. Boys and girls up through fifth grade are invited to join in this activity. Children enrolled in the Big Brother/Big Sister program of Garrett County have been invited to participate in this party.

A Maundy Thursday Seder Meal will be held at the Hoyes United Methodist Church on Thursday, April 1, at 7 p.m. This evening program will be a re-enactment of the Last Supper Passover Meal which Jesus shared with his disciples before the crucifixion. Everyone is welcome to join in this meaningful experience.

Easter Sunrise Services will be held behind the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wright on Route 42 at 6 a.m. on Easter Sunday. Following the service, a light breakfast will be served at the Hoyes United Methodist Church.

Easter morning worship services will be held at Hoyes United Methodist Church at 9 a.m., followed by Sunday School, and at the Paradise United Methodist Church at 10 a.m. The churches will be adorned with Easter lilies and the services will include the singing of Easter hymns, scripture readings, prayer, and an Easter message by Rev. Wachter. The public is invited to attend.

BEANIE BABIES DONATED TO WALK FOR HOSPICE - Hospice of Garrett County has received a donation of a basket of Beanie Babies™, which will be one of the top three prizes in the upcoming Walk for Hospice, set for Saturday, April 17, beginning with registration at 9 a.m. at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Shown above, Hospice volunteer Irma Hull, left, presents the basket containing the selection of 15 Beanie Babies™ and the spring 1999 edition of the Collector's Value Guide for the stuffed toys to Hospice executive director Brenda Butscher. For more information on the Walk for Hospice, persons may call the Hospice office at 301-334-5151, or from the Grantsville area, 800-521-5252. The TTY number is 800-735-2258.

FSU Sets Final Open Houses

Frostburg State University will host two final Open Houses for all prospective students and their families on Saturday, April 10, and Saturday, April 24. Registration will begin at 8:45 a.m. in the FSU Lane Center. Programs will convene at 9 a.m. and conclude by 1 p.m.

Visitors will have an opportunity to tour the campus and facilities and to meet with departmental representatives, staff, and students. Group sessions will be held on financial aid and admissions procedures. An optional brunch will be available at the program's conclusion.

For further information and registration, interested persons may contact the FSU Admissions Office, Pullen Hall, 301-687-4201. Private tours are also available on other dates. Please call for arrangements.

FSU is committed to making all of its services and activities accessible to persons with disabilities. Accommodations may be requested through the ADA Compliance Office at 301-687-4102, TDD 301-687-7955.

On Dean's List

Among the students at Moravia College, Bethlehem, Pa., named to the dean's list for outstanding academic achievement during the fall term was Kerry Graybill, daughter of Thomas and Joanne Graybill, Oakland. She is a 1997 graduate of Southern High School and a sophomore at Moravia.

Fire Deaths In Maryland Show Slight Increase

After collecting and analyzing fire death data from all 23 Maryland counties and the city of Baltimore, the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office reports a slight rise in the number of fire deaths since the state reached a 21-year low of 62 in 1996. Calendar year 1998 reported 78 fire deaths, which is a 5 percent increase over the 74 recorded in 1997. The 1997 fire death total was 19 percent higher than that of 1996.

The leading causes of fire deaths last year were the careless use of smoking materials and cooking. Sixteen people (20%) died as a result of careless use of smoking materials, and 14 people (18%) died because of cooking-related fires.

The ages of fire victims in 1998 vary; however, two groups stand out. Children under 5 years old account for more than 10 percent of the state's fire deaths, and seniors, 65 and older, accounted for 27 percent.

Living rooms and kitchens are where almost 40 percent of fire fatalities occurred in 1998. Additionally, bedrooms accounted for more than 14 percent.

In almost 40 percent of the fire deaths, smoke alarms were either nonexistent or were inoperable because of the lack of a battery. Accordingly, more than half of the fire deaths were the result of smoke inhalation and another 28 percent were the combination of smoke inhalation and burns.

Upon reviewing and releasing fire death information for calendar year 1998, State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele stated; "I am greatly concerned about all fire deaths, but the most vulnerable portion of society, the children and the senior citizens, deserve our immediate attention in order to protect them from the horror of death and injury by fire." Gabriele urges Marylanders to be diligent in protecting children from fire and in assisting seniors in protecting themselves. He also stresses once again the need to have working smoke alarms on all levels of every home and to provide visual smoke alarms for the deaf and hard of hearing.

A copy of the fire marshal's 1998 report "Fire Deaths in Maryland," as well as other information on fire in Maryland, is available by contacting Allen Gosnell at 800-525-3124.

Hospice Slates Training Sessions For Caregivers

Hospice of Garrett County Inc. will sponsor a three-day training class for Hospice volunteer caregivers over three consecutive Saturdays, beginning April 10.

A welcoming session, presented by Molly Lilly, RN, director of clinical services at Hospice, will open the training class on Saturday, April 10. Lilly will also be covering universal precautions, infection control, documentation, confidentiality, safety, personal care, signs and symptoms of approaching death, and spiritual aspects. "Listening Skills" will be presented by Rev. G.S. Cummings, pastor of the Apostolics of Oakland church, and Nancy Elizabeth Nimmich, MSW, Hospice social worker, will present a program on family dynamics and stress management.

The following Saturday, April 17, Ida Maust, volunteer coordinator, will present "Working with the Volunteer Coordinator." A session in legal and financial planning will be presented by Shirley Fitzwater, representative of First United Bank & Trust. An introduction to physical therapy will be provided by Tracy Umstot, PT, representative from Garrett Rehab Services, and an AIDS awareness session will be presented by Jennifer Hartshorn, registered AIDS educator.

The final day of training, set for Saturday, April 24, will feature a variety of topics such as "Children and Death," which will be presented by Willis Beitzel, and participants will visit Stewart Funeral Home to learn funeral home skills. Brenda Butscher, executive director of Hospice, will provide an overview of Hospice, and a class on grief counseling skills will be lead by Jane Sealing, director of bereavement.

"Hospice extends an invitation to you to become part of the Hospice team and to be a volunteer caregiver," Butscher said. "You will find working with the terminally ill and their families is very rewarding. Keep in mind that doing good for others is doing good for yourself."

To register for the training class, or to obtain more information, interested persons may call the Hospice office at 301-334-5151. Residents of the Grantsville area may call 800-521-5252, and TTY users may dial 800-735-2258.

WMCALA Needs Board Members

The Western Maryland Citizens Against Lawsuit Abuse (WMCALA) is inviting all interested parties to apply for membership in the organization and specifically its board of directors. There is specific need for geographic and occupational balance, for which current board members will be screening applications.

A potential member should be a Maryland resident of Allegany, Frederick, Garrett, or Washington County. Board responsibilities include participating in the annual events in May, "Juror Appreciation Day," and in September, "Lawsuit Abuse Awareness Week," helping to raise awareness about the costs to all citizens for abusive and frivolous lawsuits, and about the importance of jury service to the function of the courts. The board meets quarterly and rotates those meetings throughout the region.

In addition, WMCALA offers its Speakers' Bureau to organizations that would like to hear more about the subject of lawsuit abuse. WMCALA has developed proposals for changing attitudes about using the civil justice system for financial gain as opposed to the fair restitution for which is was intended.

For either an application for volunteer opportunities or to access the Speakers' Bureau, interested parties may write to WMCALA at 5 Public Square, Suite 212, Hagerstown, MD 21740, call 301-745-4660, or fax 301-745-5044.

YOU ARE TAKING A 65,000 MILE HIKE

Your feet carry you about 65,000 miles in the average lifetime. That's a lot of use for such a small part of your body. To protect your feet do not overlook infection producing bruises, cuts and cracks.

Corns and callouses form if the skin on your feet is dry. Apply an antiseptic foot balm at night. Dry your feet carefully, especially between the toes to avoid athlete's feet. Have any foot troubles quickly taken care of. We carry many products that are helpful to foot care.

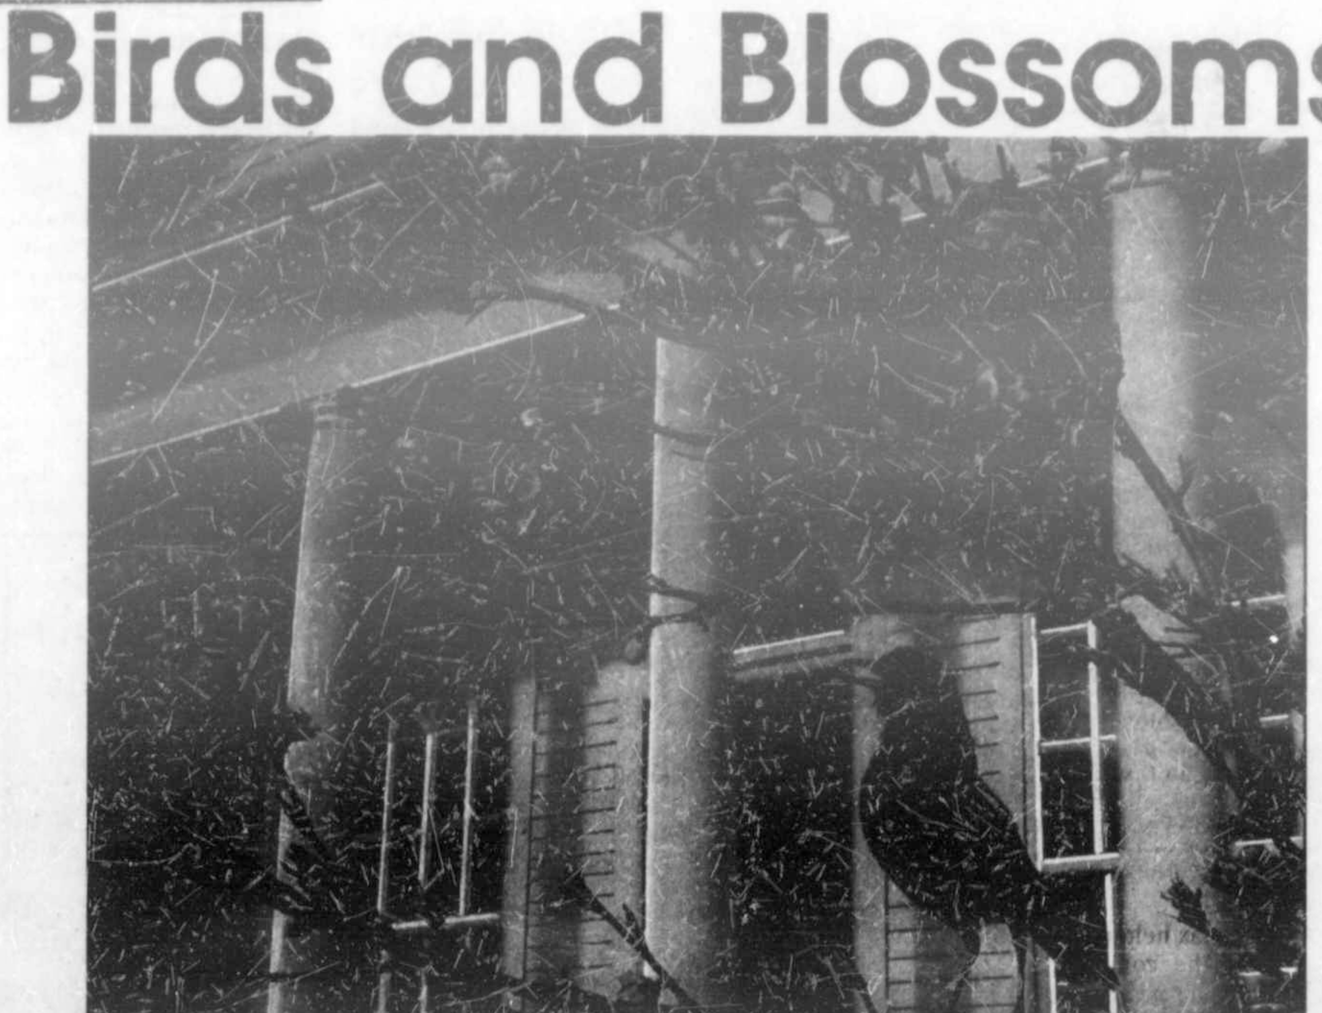
Birds and Blossoms



A bird carols its heart out. Pale pink blossoms proclaim the newness of life returning to dormant branches. Spring sunshine reflects on the white pillars of the church. Joy and gladness abounds as earth prepares to celebrate the Easter season.

Yet, somewhere hearts are heavy. Pain can make us blind to the beauty of spring. Bird songs torment minds dulled with grief. What message can the Holy Day bring them?

In the darkest hour of the first Good Friday, Jesus, deserted by His followers, rejected by those He came to save, tortured and suffering, said, "Father, into Thy hands I commend my spirit."

Follow His example this Easter. Whatever the situation, however bleak the outlook–commend your spirit, your very self to God. Your load will be lightened, your being restored.

Your church is an open door which calls you to the joyous realization of God's love as an unassailable source of strength in your life.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

TALKING A GOOD GAME
March 28, 1999

Background Scripture:
John 4:1-42
Devotional Reading:
Revelation 7:13-17

Some of us would rather talk Christianity than do it. It's easier and doesn't cost anything. And, most important of all, it can become a substitute for the doing of it.

Christ, however, makes us choose one or the other.

That's what he did to the Samaritan woman whom he encountered at the well of Jacob. The conversation began on a very elemental level. "Give me a drink." Jesus asked her. Simple as it was, the request unsettled her. He was a Jew and she a Samaritan. Jews avoided all contact with Samaritans, looking down upon them because of historical, racial and religious differences.

Actually, there was still another barrier between them: she was a woman. It was unseemly for any conversation between a man and a strange woman. "How is it that you, a Jew, ask a drink of me, a woman of Samaria?" Furthermore, she was not only a woman, but marked locally as a woman of loose sexual morals. Presumably he did not know of her bad reputation.

Instead of answering her question, Jesus takes the initiative, saying that if she had known who he was, she would have been asking him for a drink. "Sir" she protested, "you have nothing to draw with, and the well is deep; where do you get that living water?" One senses a bit of sarcasm: "Are you greater than our father Jacob who gave us this well?" Once again, Jesus shocked her: "Every one who drinks of this water will be thirsty again, but whoever drinks of the water that I shall give him will never thirst." Yes, he is greater than Jacob. Is it in contempt that she asks: "Sir, give me this water, that I may not thirst, nor come here to draw"?

Perhaps she thought she had put him in his place, until he said these fateful words: "Go, call your husband and come here." I'm sure there was a weakness in her voice as she said, "I have no husband." Did she sense what was to be his next reply? "You are right in saying, 'I have no husband'; for you have had five husbands, and he whom you now have is not your husband."

At last the awful truth is out! Although he was a stranger and a Jew, he seemed to know all about her. That is scary!

So, when we are in the presence of someone who seems to know too much about us, we try to change the subject. Let's talk religion! "Sir, I perceive that you are a prophet. Our fathers worshipped on this mountain; and you say that in Jerusalem is the place to worship." If she could get him going on this controversial subject, perhaps he would forget about her unsavory, but well-deserved reputation.

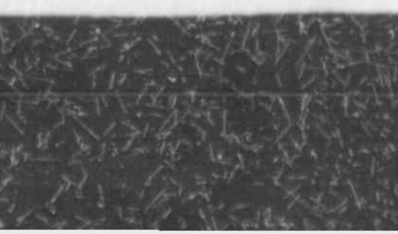
'I AM HE!'

But Jesus says that the day is coming when true worship will not depend upon being on the right mountain. Unprepared for that answer and nervous about the direction in which it is leading, she says, "Well, when the Messiah comes, he will answer this question." We can almost feel the deadly silence in which his words are spoken: "I who speak to you am he!"

Just as the new wine of the gospel is superior to the purification of the old rites (as at the wedding at Ana), and the gospel's saving grace of God is superior to the legalism of the Pharisees (as in Nicodemus's visit by night), so the Father's "spirit and truth" will supersede all the distinctions and quarrels about 'the right way' to do religion.

When the disciples arrive with provisions, they tell him, "Rabbi, eat." But he startles them as he startled the woman, saying "I have food to eat of which you do not know." Misunderstanding him—as had the wedding guests at Cana, Nicodemus, and the woman at the well—they are confused until he tells them: "My food is to do the will of him who sent me, and to accomplish his work."

In Christian discipleship as in so much else, it is doing it, not talking a good game that is required of us.



Electronic Filing Of Returns Tops Last Year's Total

With less than a month of the tax filing season left, Maryland State Comptroller William Donald Schaefer announced that the number of returns filed electronically by state taxpayers has exceeded last year's total. So far, 222,321 Marylanders have filed their state returns electronically, compared to 222,067 for all of last year.

"The number of returns filed electronically is about 28% over the same period last year. Electronic filing has been made even more popular this year because this is the first time taxpayers have been able to e-file their Maryland returns from their home PCs," said Comptroller Schaefer. "Another popular reason is, taxpayers filing electronically can choose to have their state refunds deposited directly into their bank accounts — usually within 48 hours of receiving the return."

Over 55,000 of the taxpayers who have filed electronically so far have elected the direct deposit option. "The average direct deposit refund is $661, compared with an average refund of $522 for returns filed on paper," said Schaefer. "We have issued 727,512 refunds totaling $387 million so far. Taxpayers due larger refunds are obviously electing direct deposit as the quickest possible way to receive their refunds."

Schaefer noted that electronic filing can also benefit those who owe additional taxes since they receive an acknowledgment that their return was accepted and the assurance that the amount they owe is accurate, eliminating the fear that a mistake will result in additional tax penalty and interest charges after April 15. "You can file electronically now and wait until April 15 to pay," said Schaefer. Nearly 5,100 taxpayers have taken advantage of this option and will submit their payment with a voucher (Form 502PV) provided by the tax preparer.

Schaefer reminded taxpayers that 24-hour, convenient assistance is readily available. Taxpayers seeking answers or forms can get help at Comptroller Schaefer's website www.marylandtaxes.com or by e-mail at taxhelp@comp.state.md.us. Forms are also available through the Forms-by-Fax system at 410-974-3299, as well as in local libraries and many post offices.

Free state tax help is also available at the comptroller's 20 taxpayer service offices Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. The addresses and telephone numbers are listed on the back of the Maryland tax booklet and in most local phone directories. Taxpayers can also call 410-260-7980 in central Maryland for free assistance or 1-800-MD TAXES from elsewhere.

"If you bring a completed copy of your federal return and all W-2 statements to any of our offices, we'll prepare your Maryland income tax return for you free of charge," said Schaefer.

Lakefront Easter Service Slated By DC Baptist Church

An Easter sunrise service on the shore of Deep Creek Lake, next to Uno's Restaurant, has been scheduled by the Deep Creek Baptist Church for April 4 from 7 to 7:30 a.m.

Participants are encouraged to dress warm, wear boots, and bring a folding chair if they so choose. Breakfast will be served in the church immediately following the service.

The Deep Creek Baptist Church is located along Garrett Highway across from Uno's.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

U.S. Marine Sgt. Christopher E. Hinebaugh, son of Ernest B. and Ruth A. Hinebaugh, Oakland, recently was promoted to his present rank while serving with 1st Battalion, 8th Marines, 2nd Marine Division, Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Hinebaugh was promoted based on sustained superior job performance and proficiency in his designated specialty.

The 1995 graduate of Southern High School joined the Marine Corps in May 1995.

Coast Guard Seaman Robert C. Swiger, son of Jerry W. and Jann L. Swiger of Mountain Lake Park, recently completed a 38-day patrol to the Caribbean Sea while assigned to the U.S. Coast Guard cutter Dependable, home ported in Portsmouth, Va.

While participating in Operation Frontier Shield, Swiger and his fellow crewmembers assisted in the repatriation of 13 Haitians and 63 Dominican nationals. They also boarded a stateless vessel suspected of drug smuggling and escorted it to Puerto Rico, where it was seized by U.S. Customs officials.

Swiger also had the opportunity to conduct training with an embarked aviation detachment and two French naval vessels. During the training operation, Swiger's ship shared information on law enforcement and counter drug operations, and conducted familiarization training on each nation's aircraft.

During the deployment, Swiger had the opportunity to visit St. Martin, St. Thomas, and St. Eustatius, where his ship became the first U.S. military vessel to visit that port in 20 years.

Coast Guard cutters like Swiger's are primarily assigned law enforcement operations including drug and illegal immigrant operations, fishery enforcement operations, defense operations and search-and-rescue operations. They are equipped with a sophisticated command, display and control computerized ship-control system which provides maximum operational effectiveness.

A 1996 graduate of Southern High School, Swiger joined the Coast Guard in October 1998.

FSU Foreign Film Series Schedules Spanish Movie

The Frostburg State University International Film Series will show Ay, Carmela! on Tuesday, April 6, at 7 p.m. in Room 201 of the FSU Lane Center. The event is free and open to the public.

Directed by Spanish filmmaker Carlos Saura, Ay, Carmela! presents the poignant story of a hilarious vaudeville performer who entertains the partisans during the Spanish Civil War, only to be eventually caught behind enemy lines. The film is in Spanish with English subtitles.

For further information, interested persons may contact the FSU Lane Center Information Desk at 301-687-4411.

FSU is committed to making all of its programs, services, and activities accessible to persons with disabilities. Accommodations may be requested through the ADA Compliance Office at 301-687-4102, TDD 301-687-7955.

BECAUSE IF HE DOESN'T SMILE IN CLASS, HE LOSES A BET WITH HIS STUDENTS AND OWES THEM A PIZZA.

Why such an extraordinary deal? Because Dave Plumby, Dean of Students and economics teacher, believes nothing is more important in a child's development than a teacher ready to teach—a teacher willing to do almost anything to see that his students learn. And guess what? It works. As one student put it, "He's the funniest teacher. He's very animated. You can't fall asleep. You can't even get bored. You know he wants you to learn because he's so enthusiastic. He'll do just about anything."

Terrific teachers ready to teach. Maybe that's why Linsly students come to class ready to learn.

Panelcraft Building Systems

The time to be concerned about how to keep from using so much heating fuel is when you build. Use Panelcraft's Structural Insulated Panels (SIPs).

SIP structures are known for their structural integrity. Nature's storms, earthquakes, tornados, etc., just need a little greater force to do the same amount of damage to SIP structures versus conventional.

Faster - Stronger - Warmer

SIPs consist of Polystyrene laminated between two pieces of structure board, thus creating a very rigid, super insulating panel which is used for Walls, Roofs, Ceilings and Floors, virtually any aspect of your project!

Md. Income Tax Contributions To Benefit Bay Up

"Contributions to the Chesapeake checkoff feature on the Maryland income tax return so far this year are up 21 percent compared to this time last year," State Comptroller William Donald Schaefer said recently as he observed the checkoff's tenth anniversary. "And with a month left in the tax filing season, contributions will go even higher."

Schaefer and former state senator Larry Levitan, who sponsored the legislation that created the checkoff in 1989, made the announcement at a demonstration of marsh grass restoration along the Severn River shoreline in the company of student volunteers.

"These students have learned about and become expert in shoreline planting projects thanks to grants from the Chesapeake Bay Trust," noted Billy Moulden, a Prince George's County teacher and director of the Sherwood Forest Naturalist Program. "We couldn't do this without the generosity of Marylanders using line 40 of their state tax form."

Schaefer, who as governor signed the checkoff legislation into law, noted that the dramatic increase was spurred by a 23 percent jump in the average contribution from $12.85 this time last year to $15.77 so far this year. This increase comes after relatively flat contributions for the previous three years.

To date, 13,650 taxpayers have contributed more than $215,214 to the Chesapeake Bay and Endangered Species Trust Fund on line 40 of their Maryland income tax form. The largest number of contributions, 2,142, have come from Montgomery County taxpayers. Baltimore County came in second with 2,130 contributions to date. The largest average contribution, $57.98, has come from Somerset County taxpayers.

"In 1989, Larry had a great idea that would help Marylanders help the Bay and endangered wildlife," Schaefer said. "Since then, people have donated almost $10 million to help volunteers like these students restore the Bay and preserve wildlife habitat throughout the state.

"When I was a kid, we called this seaweed and thought it got in the way of swimming and boating. Now, we know how important it is as a nursery for young crabs and rockfish. And it's great to see those young people help teach us all as they help the Bay."

"I always knew the program would be a success, but it took over three years to get my colleagues to agree," commented Levitan. "I'm prouder of this legislation than any other I've worked on. It has produced important income each year for a great cause."

Each year, the contributions from the checkoff have been evenly divided between the Chesapeake Bay Trust and the Wildlife Heritage programs of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources. The Chesapeake Bay Trust uses its share to make grants to schools, community associations, and nonprofit organizations that get Marylanders involved in restoring and protecting the Bay and its tributaries across Maryland. The Trust made 460 such grants in 1998.

Line 40 checkoff contributions support grants in every jurisdiction. In addition to the marsh grass planting in Anne Arundel County, the checkoff helps support the Stream Striders program and the Audubon Naturalist Society's water quality monitoring program, both in Montgomery County. In Prince George's County, the Alice Ferguson Foundation coordinates the Great Potomac Cleanup with checkoff funds. In Baltimore City, the checkoff helps thousands of students learn Bay ecology on the work boats of the Living Classrooms Foundation.

"I urge the 1.5 million Marylanders who haven't filed yet to contribute to the Chesapeake Bay and Endangered Species fund on line 40 of the Maryland return," Schaefer said. The checkoff contribution either reduces taxpayers' refunds or adds to the tax due. The contribution is deductible on next year's return for taxpayers who itemize.

For more information about the checkoff feature or the grant programs it supports, interested persons may contact the Chesapeake Bay Trust at 410-974-2941 or visit the Trust's website at www2.ari.net/home/cbt.

GCHD OUTREACH REACHES OUT TO SCHOOLS - Third graders at Dennett Road Elementary School discussed the dangers of alcohol, tobacco, and other drugs during a visit by Michael C. Gibbons, outreach specialist with the Garrett County Health Department. The students, from Mrs. Foley's, Mrs. Smith's, and Mrs. Bosley's classes, all pledged to make healthy choices in their lives by remaining drug free. "It is essential that we reach these kids early enough to prevent them from making unhealthy or dangerous choices," Gibbons commented. "When I hear kids pledge to be drug free, I feel confident that our prevention strategies work and are worthwhile." Shown above are some of the students who helped Gibbons distribute gifts, such as pencils, erasers, and toy airplanes, that bore alcohol and drug abuse prevention messages. Standing in the foreground is Krista Ridder, while in the middle group, from the left, are Drew Proudfoot, Taylor Cabe, Daniel Tichnell, Desiree Lewis, and Michael A. Gibbons. In the background stands Michael C. Gibbons, the program's presenter. Gibbons and fellow Health Department outreach team members Nancy Brady and Gail Dever have also been working in local schools through the Families and Staff Together (FAST) and Circle programs, which bring parents and children together to promote positive interactions through discussion and activity groups.

Tandy Rewards Students For Top Level Work

Names of four Garrett County seniors from Northern High School were among those announced this week as winners in the RadioShack/Tandy Scholars program.

Joshua R. Neubert earned certificates as Outstanding Mathematics/Science/Computer Science student nominee and as a senior with top 2 percent class standing.

Also receiving certificates from the Tandy Corporation recognizing their ranking in the top 2 percent of the graduating class were Janelle Renee Bender and James Lee Railey III.

This is the 10th year that the RadioShack/Tandy Scholars program has made awards to teachers and graduating seniors at American high schools. Currently 17,010 public and private secondary schools have been certified to participate in the awards program.

The academic top two percent of graduating seniors are eligible to receive certificates recognizing their academic achievements. Maryland is listed among the states with the greatest percentage increase since 1998 in schools nominating their academic top two percent.

Each school may nominate a senior who is outstanding in mathematics, science or computer science. These students receive a certificate recognizing them as a RadioShack/Tandy Scholars. In addition, they were eligible to compete for the one hundred $1,000 scholarships awarded annually.

Each certified school also may nominate an outstanding teacher in mathematics, science or computer science. These teachers receive a certificate of recognition and are eligible to compete for the one hundred $2,500 cash awards presented annually.

"Ten years ago, the RadioShack/Tandy Scholars program was created to inspire innovation, quality, and competitiveness in math and science," said Leonard Roberts, president and chief executive officer of Tandy Corporation/RadioShack.

The program is funded by Tandy Corporation/RadioShack, administered by Texas Christian University and endorsed by the National Association of Secondary School Principals. The program is open to all accredited high schools. Prize recipients were selected by a panel of distinguished educators and approved by the National Advisory Council.

COVER STORY

Moyers finds power of truth-telling in South Africa

By Suzanne Gill
©TVData Features Syndicate

Bill Moyers

While the United States was being tantalized with a scandalous government inquiry that ended in disgust and exhaustion, the people of South Africa were telling stories of murder, torture and oppression in hearings that South African leaders hope will lead to healing and forgiveness.

Hosted by veteran journalist Bill Moyers, Facing the Truth gives viewers a unique insight into the hearings of South Africa's Truth and Reconciliation Commission headed by Archbishop Desmond Tutu. The special airs Tuesday, March 30, on PBS (check local listings).

Nelson Mandela's government established the TRC as a compromise between those who wanted amnesty for the crimes of the apartheid era and those who wanted justice. The hearings brought catharsis to both victims and oppressors.

"I was struck by the magnanimity," Moyers says, "of so many black South Africans who had lost loved ones, who had been tortured, who had been harassed, detained – imprisoned – and their willingness to accept truth as a form of justice, instead of vendetta."

This spirit of forgiveness took him by surprise. "I knew that the black South Africans had taken the best of Christianity and brought it into their world," he says. "I just wasn't prepared for the largeness of spirit that they demonstrate."

Apartheid, the system by which whites dominated the black majority from 1948 to 1994, reminded Moyers of slavery and segregation in America.

"I thought often while I was there, 'If (Americans) had just done this in the late 1860s or early '70s, if we had gathered the stories of what it was like to be a slave and a master, faced it, we might have avoided the next hundred years of repeating (slavery) in another form,' " he explains.

Moyers says the extent to which the apartheid system had turned South Africa into a police state shocked him. "I kept being struck by how much of this was happening in the late 1980s. What was I doing, going nonchalantly about my work and my family and my life, enjoying a ball game, going to the movies, picnics, while all this was happening?" he asks.

Even today, he says, schools, housing and, at times, food remain in short supply. Economic opportunity is limited, and the wealthy minority resents using taxes to fund change.

In a meeting with young white South African students, the journalist says he heard the voices of those who were exempted from the pain yet must deal with its legacy. They reminded him of his own childhood in segregated Marshall, Texas.

"I just didn't have any sense of the deprivation or the humiliations visited on half the people in my little town," he recalls. "The question has always been for me, 'How is it possible to be well-loved, well-taught and well-churched and still be so ignorant of other people's realities?' "

In South Africa, the TRC has worked to answer that question.

"(Most people) want to face the truth and then move beyond it to create a new moral order in South Africa," Moyers says, "to make out of South Africa a country that is an example of how the world can move beyond the wounds of this century."

Disney's Balloon Farm a buoyant family fable

By John Crook
©TVData Features Syndicate

A 12-year-old girl and an eccentric farmer teach the residents of a drought-stricken farm town about the power of hope and belief in Balloon Town, a delightful fable premiering Sunday, March 28, on ABC's The Wonderful World of Disney.

Emmy winners Rip Torn (The Larry Sanders Show) and Laurie Metcalf (Roseanne) star with Mara Wilson (Matilda) in the TV movie, adapted from a book by Jerdine Nolen.

Torn stars as Harvey Potter, who startles the residents of tiny Waterston when he arrives in town and announces he plans to start a farm in the middle of a yearlong drought.

Harvey immediately captures the fancy of imaginative Willow (Wilson), especially after he grows, overnight, a crop of brilliantly colored balloon plants.

Willow's parents (Metcalf, Fredric Lane), like most of the other locals, see the inexplicable plants as a much-needed sign of hope. As the drought continues, however, town misanthrope Wheezle Mayfield (Roberts Blossom) plants seeds of suspicion, turning the townspeople against Harvey.

Only Willow keeps the faith, ultimately discovering the real purpose of the balloons.

Despite the presence of such stars as Torn and Metcalf, Balloon Farm obviously was filmed on a limited budget, but the simple presentation works in favor of this slender story, which easily could be overwhelmed by special effects.

Balloon Farm is a charming parable with a bumper crop of fine acting that should buoy the spirits of families suffering through a dry TV season.

Mara Wilson (Matilda) stars in Balloon Farm, the story of a magical crop that brings hope to a drought-stricken farm town. The movie premieres Sunday on ABC.

Robson Green

Q: I am mesmerized by British actor Robson Green, who has starred in Reckless and The Prince of Hearts on Masterpiece Theatre and Touching Evil on Mystery! What can you tell me about him, and when will we see the proposed sequel to Reckless? –Rose Inman, Whiting, N.J. (similarly from B. McFarland, Alameda, Calif.)

A: Robson Golightly Green was born Dec. 18, 1964, in Hexham, Northumberland, England, but grew up in Dudley, a small mining village outside Newcastle-upon-Tyne. After acting in school plays, he played in a couple of bands, then acted in regional theaters before landing his breakout role of hospital porter Jimmy in the BBC series Casualty.

That led in turn to Soldier Soldier and other TV roles, but Green also found time to start a singing career with friend and partner Jerome Flynne. The duo's award-winning record "Unchained Melody/White Cliffs of Dover" sold nearly two million copies in the United Kingdom.

Green and his wife, Alison, an occupational therapist, make their home with their dog, Fern, in the Simonside Hills of Northumberland.

Masterpiece Theatre airs the original Reckless on Sundays from March 28 to April 11. A week later, on April 18, the two-hour sequel premieres. Mystery! also will air new episodes of Touching Evil next season.

Q: Does the actor who plays Jimmy James of NewsRadio also provide the voice of Bill on King of the Hill? –Scott in Colorado Springs.

A: Yes, that's Stephen Root in both roles.

Q: I thought the new Babylon 5 "sequel" called Crusade was supposed to premiere in January. Where is it? –Joan Hansen, Amherst, Mass.

A: Crusade, starring Gary Cole, now is scheduled to premiere on TNT Wednesday, June 9. The chief reason for the delay is the complexity of the show's special effects, according to TNT publicist Denise Godoy.

Q: In recent Frasier reruns, I was surprised to hear mention that Frasier Crane had been married and divorced twice. I know of Lilith, but who was the other wife? –Charlie in Fort Myers, Fla.

A: In a Cheers episode, Frasier and Lilith took their son, Frederick, to see kiddie entertainer "Nanny Gee," played by Emma Thompson. To Lilith's horror, a stunned Frasier recognized "Nanny" as an old college girlfriend with whom he had had a brief but torrid marriage. (Lilith subsequently dubbed her "Nanny G-Spot.")

TRIVIA

Writers for the sketch comedy series Your Show of Shows (1950-54) included Woody Allen, Mel Brooks, Larry Gelbart and Neil Simon.

IN FOCUS

Peter Jennings hosts an overview of the past 100 years in The Century, a six-part series beginning Monday, March 29, on ABC.

The series revisits the people and events that shaped modern society, starting with Charles Lindbergh's historic trans-Atlantic flight.

It contrasts early events with more recent ones to show how far the world has come and what role mass media have played in society's development.

IN FOCUS

A minister (John Ritter) undergoes a crisis of faith in Holy Joe, airing Sunday, March 28, on CBS.

The faltering of the Rev. Joe Cass' (Ritter) ministry due to lack of attendance causes him to doubt his ability to make a difference in the lives of others, despite the encouragement of his wife (Meredith Baxter).

When his work as a volunteer firefighter brings him face to face with death, Cass receives aid from a mysterious source that may be divine intervention.

Laurel Run Church of God Slates Services

The Laurel Run Church of God has scheduled services for its upcoming Maundy Thursday and Easter Sunday observances, as well as a spring revival, which will follow later in April. The public is invited to all the services, said Pastor Cathy Harman.

The Maundy Thursday service of communion and foot washing will be held at the church on April 1 at 7 p.m. The Easter sunrise service will begin at the church at 7 a.m Sunday, April 4. A special Easter morning Sunday School for all ages will begin at 10 a.m., followed by a special Easter worship service for children and adults, which will get under way at 10:45 a.m.

The church will host a spring revival from Sunday, April 18, through Wednesday, April 21, at 7:30 p.m. each evening. The guest evangelist will be Tanya Shupe of Oak Hill, W.Va. "There will be special singing, great fellowship, and dynamic preaching each service," said Harman.

The Laurel Run Church of God is located at 4292 White Rock Road, just off Blooming Rose Road in Friendsville. For further information, interested persons may call Harman at 301-746-5320.

State General Fund Revenue Estimates Up

The Maryland Board of Revenue Estimates, composed of State Comptroller William Donald Schaefer (chairman), State Treasurer Richard N. Dixon, and Budget Secretary Frederick W. Puddester, recently increased its estimate of state General Fund Revenue by $22.6 million for the current fiscal year (1999) and by $5 million for fiscal year 2000, which begins this July 1. The revised estimates total $8.2 billion in general fund revenues for fiscal year 1999 and $8.4 billion for fiscal year 2000. The board reported its revised estimates in a letter to Governor Parris Glendening.

"We are continuing to see continued strong growth in the state's economy," said Schaefer. "Our economy has been relatively unaffected by the international economic problems of last year; in fact, some of those problems have actually helped us through lower energy and import costs. This has made more money available for consumers to spend, providing a stimulus to the economy."

The board increased its estimate of personal income tax revenue for the remainder of fiscal year 1999 by $10 million for a total of $4.12 billion. Corporate tax revenue was also adjusted upward by $5.5 million to $288 million.

"The board's original revenue forecast called for continued strong growth, though slightly slower than the pace achieved in 1997 and 1998," the board reported. "Coupled with the fact that revenue are generally on track with the estimates, major revisions are not necessary at this time. The board has, however, revised estimates for the personal and corporate income taxes and interest upwards, and estimates for the lottery downward."

In its report, the board increased its estimate of interest earnings by $12 million for fiscal year 1999 for a total of $80 million. It also increased the estimate of interest income for fiscal year 2000 by $10 million, for a total of $67 million.

Lottery revenues are expected to total $352.2 million in fiscal year 1999 and $362.2 million in fiscal year 2000, a downward revision of $5 million for both years. "This change reflects year-to-date performance, which has consistently lagged behind both expectations and last year's results," the board reported. Lottery sales and revenues through February are down 2.4 percent and 1.3 percent respectively, compared to the same period last year. All lottery game revenues are below estimates, with the exception of Pick 3 and the Big Game.

The Board of Revenue Estimates said all other revenues are performing largely as expected and warrant no further revisions. The board will continue to monitor the revenue situation closely and advise the governor of any changes in Maryland's economic outlook.

GC Centenarians Sought By Area Agency On Aging

Garrett County Community Action Committee's Area Agency on Aging is seeking to identify all Garrett County residents who have reached the age of 100 or over, to invite those persons to be honored guests of the Maryland Department of Aging at a special luncheon at Martin's West in Baltimore County on Thursday, May 13. The annual recognition luncheon to honor centenarians from across the state is one of the many celebrations being scheduled in observance of Older Americans Month.

Family members are encouraged to attend the luncheon, and the public is invited as well. Reservations are required and must be received by Thursday, April 15, and the Area Agency on Aging will assist in making reservations for Garrett County centenarians and their family members who wish to attend. Centenarians will not be charged for reservations, but the cost for family members and the public is $17.50 per person. To register a centenarian or to obtain further information, interested persons may call the agency at 301-334-9431 or toll-free at 800-877-8403.

The luncheon is sponsored by the Maryland Department of Aging, Social Security Administration, Morgan State University, WJZ-TV, Afro-American Newspapers, and Area Agencies on Aging.

The Garrett County Area Agency on Aging will also record brief living histories of local centenarians to present to the Department of Aging and Governor Parris N. Glendening. A release will be required to allow the Agency to tape and reproduce the history.

Dr. R. Williams Participates In Milestone Study

Ronel R. Williams, DC, a chiropractic practitioner in Mtn. Lake Park, recently participated in a milestone research project for the chiropractic profession.

Dr. Williams was among approximately 10 percent of the nation's licensed chiropractors that represented the profession by providing information for a Survey of Chiropractic Practice.

Working in conjunction with state licensing board members, educators, and field practitioners, the survey was developed and conducted by the National Board of Chiropractic Examiners (NBCE). The NBCE is the international testing agency for the chiropractic profession.

The NBCE project was undertaken to define the tasks, duties, and professional responsibilities common to licensed U.S. chiropractors. The resulting Report of Chiropractic Practice in the United States will have numerous applications in chiropractic testing, education, research, and other areas.

NOTICE

TO ALL PROPERTY TAX PAYERS OF MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK

Pursuant to Tax-Property Article 10-204.3 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, counties and municipal corporations are required to notify taxpayers of the availability of the semi-annual property tax payment option for owner-occupied residential property that is the principal residence of a homeowner.

If a taxpayer elects to make semi-annual property tax payments, ½ of the municipal taxes will be deferred until January 1. The second payment, due January 1, will incur a service charge reasonably equivalent to the anticipated lost interest income associated with the delay in the payment of the second installment and covering administrative expenses associated with the semi-annual payment not exceeding 10% of the charge of the lost interest.

To be eligible to make this election of semi-annual payment, all previous year taxes must be paid in full by June 1. Taypayers not making their first semi-annual payment by September 30 are automatically waived out of the semi-annual plan and must pay the full tax bill.

Selection of payment schedule for property taxes may be made upon receipt of tax bill. If taxpayer wishes to pay in full, he must choose the appropriate coupon and return it with the proper payment. If the taxpayer wishes to participate in the semi-annual payment option, the appropriate coupon should be returned with the payment before the September 30 deadline.

It is the responsibility of the taxpayers to notify their mortgage company of their wishes to pay on a semi-annual basis if they have an escrow account. The town is not responsible for any involvement in the semi-annual payment process.

Whatever payment plan the taxpayer elects shall remain in effect until the taxpayer decides to change it.

Residents Ask About State Tax Cut, Benefits For Low-Income Families

Maryland State Comptroller William Donald Schaefer says that more than 300 people have contacted the state income tax representatives in his office in Cumberland so far this filing season. "Many of those folks have been asking about the state income tax cut, electronic filing, and benefits for low-income families," said Comptroller Schaefer.

The comptroller noted that his Annapolis headquarters has received more than 987,000 state and local income tax returns so far. More than 225,715 of those returns were filed electronically by taxpayers so far, exceeding the 222,067 that were filed electronically for all of last year. More than 12,516 returns were filed from home computers, using approved software. The on-line filing is new this year.

"More than 4,236 taxpayers in Allegany and Garrett counties have taken advantage of the speed and convenience of electronic filing so far to get their refunds quickly. If you request direct deposit, you can have your refund deposited in your bank account within just a couple of days," Schaefer said.

The comptroller's office has issued 737,390 refunds so far, including 123,119 that were deposited directly into bank accounts by taxpayer request. The refunds are averaging $531, up 15 percent compared to last year's average at this time. Approximately 75 percent of Maryland's 2.25 million income tax returns generate refunds.

Maryland income tax cut

"The cut in the maximum Maryland state income rate to 4.875 percent and the increase in the personal exemption to $1,750 are good news for Maryland taxpayers. That means lower state taxes and higher refunds. But it also means you have to calculate the local income tax separately, which has generated a lot of calls to our Cumberland office," said Schaefer.

Under the Tax Reduction Act, the state income tax cut does not flow through to the local income tax. Taxpayers must figure their state income tax and local income tax separately on Form 502. To figure the state income tax, taxpayers must complete lines 1-22 of Form 502 and enter the Maryland tax due on line 23, using the tax table in the instructions section of the Maryland tax booklet.

Taxpayers must use the special worksheets in Instruction 19 to figure their local income tax amount by using lines 28-38 to recalculate their exemptions, taxable income and tax (as if there were no state tax cut). Local income tax rates are listed in Instruction 19. The local income tax rate for Allegany County is 58 percent and Garrett County's rate is 50 percent. Maryland short Form 503 was eliminated because the separate state and local income tax calculations required the two-page Form 502.

The comptroller's office offers a brochure, "What the Maryland Tax Cut Means to You," which can help you calculate your state and local income tax correctly. It's available free of charge at our office in Cumberland. It can also be downloaded from the office's web site at www.marylandtaxes.com, or it can be faxed to persons who call the Forms-by-Fax system at 410-974-FAXX (410-974-3299).

Benefits for low-income families

"A lot of folks have been asking about the earned income credits which were expanded this year on the state and federal tax forms," Schaefer said. At least 330,000 individuals could benefit from expanded earned income credits of as much as $4,132 on their Maryland and federal income tax returns this year. Thousands more could get the Maryland benefit for the first time.

Schaefer added that Maryland's earned income credit can eliminate the state tax liability for eligible taxpayers and, for the first time, even generate a tax refund for some individuals. "Some folks are eligible to get the benefit even if their income isn't high enough to require them to file a tax return. However, you need to file a tax form to get the benefit," he said.

Last year, 189,592 taxpayers claimed earned income credits totaling $61 million on their 1997 Maryland returns. Of those filers, 2,686 Allegany County taxpayers claimed $833,773 in earned income credits, while 1,282 Garrett County taxpayers claimed $414,240.

"Generally, if you're eligible for the federal earned income credit, you can qualify for Maryland's earned income credit, which is equal to 50 percent of the federal credit," Comptroller Schaefer noted. To claim the Maryland earned income credit, taxpayers must complete their federal return first and calculate the amount of their federal earned income credit on line 59a of their federal Form 1040 or line 37 of federal Form 1040A. Next, they should enter 50 percent of that amount on line 24 of Maryland Form 502. A special worksheet is included in Instruction 18 of the Maryland tax booklet to help taxpayers figure their Maryland earned income credit correctly.

"Another benefit for low income families that is available only on the Maryland return is the poverty level credit," added Schaefer. Taxpayers whose earned income and federal adjusted income are less than the poverty level income for the number of exemptions claimed on their federal return may be eligible for a special credit on line 26 of Maryland Form 502. Taxpayers can use Part 2 of the special worksheet in Instruction 18 to correctly figure their poverty level credit.

High-tech help by e-mail and Internet

Taxpayers can send state tax questions to the comptroller's taxpayer service e-mail address at taxhelp@comp.state.md.us 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The comptroller's office has received more than 4,754 e-mail inquiries this filing season, nearly twice as many as last year. "Most of our filing season correspondence comes from e-mail now. This is a great use of technology to make our services available to taxpayers when it's convenient to them," Schaefer said.

Taxpayers can download Maryland tax tip brochures, tax forms, and other information from the state comptroller's web site at www.marylandtaxes.com 24 hours a day, seven days a week or have them sent by fax by calling the comptroller's Forms-by-Fax system at 410-974-FAXX (974-3299). Maryland income tax forms are also available at local libraries, from the comptroller's taxpayer service offices, or by telephone at 410-260-7951.

The telephone numbers of all of the taxpayer service offices, including the one in Cumberland, are listed on the back of the Maryland state and local income tax booklet and in the blue pages of most local telephone directories.

The Cumberland office is located at 112 Baltimore Street in Cumberland. The telephone number for Garrett County residents is 301-334-8880. The statewide toll-free number for Maryland tax assistance is 1-800-MD TAXES. Taxpayers can also check the status of their state tax refund by calling 1-800-218-8160 any time 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Cosner Honored For Achievement

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Nick Cosner, son of Rick and Becky Cosner of the Deep Creek Lake area, has been named a United States National Award winner in History and Government. The academy recognizes fewer than 10 percent of all American high school students.

A junior at Southern High School, Cosner was nominated by history teacher Tom Woods. His name will appear in the USAA official yearbook, which is published nationally.

Cosner is an honor roll and distinguished honor roll student and has been listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students in 9th and 10th grades. He is a member of the U.S. Amateur Snowboard Association and is a part-time employee at TDEC in Oakland. He plans to attend Garrett Community College and Frostburg State University and major in accounting.

The academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified, sponsors, and upon the standards of selection set forth by the academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Biography®

JFK, JR.: CAMELOT'S HEIR

From the day 3-year-old John F. Kennedy, Jr. saluted his father's coffin while the world watched, he became an American icon. Some say he squandered his unique legacy; others say he's done his best to become his own person despite that legacy.

The cover of May's Biography magazine, John Jr., son of a young, charismatic president and the most glamorous First Lady, was born in 1960. After his father's assassination, he moved to New York with his mother and sister. Jackie did her best to raise her children to be different from the carousing Kennedy clan. In contrast to the self-destructive impulses of so many Kennedy men, John Jr. quietly earned a law degree, passed the New York bar exam after three tries (a fact he gracefully handled in the press) and went to work as a Manhattan assistant D.A.

At 34, he left and drifted for two years, partying and dating, including actress Daryl Hannah, whom many thought he would marry until he met Caroline Bessette, now his wife and "soulmate." When he was single, he was considered the most eligible bachelor in America and encouraged his beefcake image. Though he professed to hate the paparazzi, few men in New York have been seen without a shirt more often than JFK, Jr.

In the mid-'90s, he founded George, a glossy magazine about politics and public affairs. Though each issue includes some serious articles, George has garnered more attention for publishing a nude photo of Kennedy than for its conent. While he has yet to make his magazine an unqualified success, JFK, Jr. appears to be a stable married man of 38, secure in his chosen profession. As he stands on the brink of middle age, the world will continue to follow this prince of Camelot.

Antiques

Q. I bought an old plastic radio at an estate sale. It is shaped like a globe on a stand. The globe is cream-colored and the contiments are painted gold. The metal bottom is marked "The New World Radio." Can you tell me the age and value?

A. Your Bakelite radio was made about 1933 by the Colonial Radio Corp. of Buffalo, N.Y. It came in black and gold, maroon and gold and old ivory and gold.

If it is in excellent condition, with unworn paint, it is worth more than $1,000.

Q. My bronze vase is overlaid with a sterling silver floral decoration. The art nouveau designs make me think it was made by Alphonse Mucha. it has a diamond-shaped mark on the bottom that surrounds the letters "AHSM." There is a patent date – Aug. 27, 1913.

A. Mucha did not design your vase. The mark on your vase is actually "HAMS." It was made by the Heintz Art Metal Shop of Buffalo, N.Y.

The company was in business from 1906 to 1929. Its silver-on-bronze vases and other wares were made in art deco, art nouveau, and Arts and Crafts styles. They are all prized by collectors.

Your vase is worth about $200.

Q. I have a figurine of a little girl dressed in an old-fashioned dress with a very full skirt. The top of the skirt has six openings about the size of a penny. The bottom of the figurine is marked "Josef Originals." What was its use?

A. You have a lipstick holder. It is a figurine made to hold tubes of lipstick on a dresser.

Josef Originals were made in California from 1945 to 1962. After that, they were made in Japan until 1985. Later, they were made in Taiwan, Korea and Mexico.

Home Tips

CANDLE CONTROVERSY – Thank you, Jill D., Morris Plains, N.J. Her tip works wonderfully. I can use my very fancy ceramic candle holders and not spend a lifetime trying to clean up the candle mess! N.V., San Dimas, Calif.

I tried the home tip about the candle. I put the candle with water in my microwave. The candle exploded! Wax went all over the microwave. The wax went into the vents causing the microwave to burn up. The cost of a microwave is a lot more than the cost of a candle. I'm very disappointed! Melinda D., Bastian, Va.

EDITOR'S NOTE: I tried this tip before printing it and had no problem. It worked very well. The only thing I can think about Melinda's problem is the microwave was running too high or the candle was in there for too long. For best results, only try this one minute at a time.

FROZEN PEAS – A bag of frozen peas can serve as a fast ice-pack. They mold around the body and you can even lie on top of the bag. It works better than anything I've tried before. N.V., San Dimas, Calif.

EASY CHILI – Fry one pound of hamburger meat. Add a can of chili beans (or red beans) and one can of stewed tomatoes. This includes tomato juice, onions, celery and green pepper. Season to taste. If you prefer, add more liquid – tomato juice or water, etc. Mary C., Omaha, Neb.

NHS Names January Students Of The Month

Northern Garrett High School Student Council and American Trust Bank recently announced the Students of the Month for January. They are seniors Charles Wilt and Kara Gilpin, junior Tim Umbel, sophomore Toby Gilpin, and freshman Micah Plevyak.

Kara Gilpin is the daughter of Ken and Donna Gilpin, Grantsville. She is secretary of the National Honor Society, president of the Athletic Trainers Club, and is also a student athletic trainer. She is a member of the yearbook staff, the theater, and the Science Bowl Team.

In addition, Kara is a member of the Cherry Glade youth group, and Jennings United Methodist Church. Her prior awards include Student of the Month and Student of the Year, when she was a junior; a listing in Who's Who Among American High School Students; and being named to the regular honor roll for the second nine-week grading term.

She will attend Frostburg State University and major in biology, and eventually in sports medicine/athletic training. Kara's hobbies include shopping, bowling and camping.

Toby Gilpin, the son of Ken and Donna Gilpin, Grantsville, is a member of the varsity football and track teams, and participates in the shot put and discus throw.

Toby is a member of the Jennings United Methodist Church, a volunteer at New Germany State Park, and a past winner of a Success in School award.

Charles Wilt is the son of Charles and Diana Wilt, Grantsville. He is president of the Northern Garrett VICA club and a member of the Maryland State Police Barrack "W" Explorer Post 94. Charles is employed as a cook at the Casselman Restaurant, and notes that his hobbies include being with friends and researching new features on automobiles.

Micah Plevyak is the son of Bruce Taliaferro and Vicki Teets, McHenry, and a member of the NHS golf team. His other activities and hobbies include snow boarding, mountain biking, and computers (Internet). He is a member of the youth group and lector of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church.

Editor of the yearbook while at Northern Middle School, Micah won Pride awards all three years at NMS and the Minds in Motion Award.

Tim Umbel is the son of Rick and Mary Ann Umbel, Friendsville. He is a member of the boys' basketball, baseball, and golf teams. He is also a member of the Letterman's Club and the Asher Glade Church of the Brethren. He won the Student of the Month award as a freshman and sophomore.

Tim's hobbies include participating in sports, riding four wheelers, and playing video games.

Woodmen's Net Income Increases More Than 37%

Woodmen of the World/ Omaha Woodmen Life Insurance Society reported record gains in three major areas during 1998. The society's 1998 gross income was a record $954,476,582, an increase of $110.8 million over 1997; net income totaled more than $49 million, a 37.8 percent increase over 1997; and the society's special reserve — funds set aside to cover fluctuations in business — reached a record $513.7 million in 1998.

Woodmen assets increased 5.7 percent, from $4.53 billion in 1997 to $4.79 billion in 1998. Life insurance issued during 1998 was $2.4 billion, bringing the total life insurance in force to $29.97 billion. Premium income reached a record $513 million in 1998, an increase of $85 million, or 19.9 percent, over the $428 million reported in 1997.

Net investment income after expenses increased 2.9 percent from $318 million in 1997 to more than $328 million in 1998, a net rate of return of 7.3 percent. The society returned $127.9 million in refunds (dividends) to policyholders/ members in 1998.

"1998 was an excellent year," said national president and CEO John G. Bookout. "Because of Woodmen's outstanding financial achievements, we were able to return nearly 77 percent of our net gain back to members in the form of refunds on their insurance plans.

Woodmen of the World, founded in 1890, is one of the largest fraternal benefit societies in the United States and offers insurance protection with fraternal benefits. Insurance products include whole life, flexible premium life, term life and hospital supplement insurance, and annuities.

The society's 845,000 members, who hold nearly one million insurance and annuity certificates, belong to 2,600 lodges throughout the United States. Woodmen lodges across the country conduct fraternal projects of benefit to people and their communities. These projects include presenting American flags to civic and community organizations; donating equipment to police, fire, and rescue units; providing assistance to senior citizens, the physically impaired, and orphans; and assistance through a disaster relief partnership with the American Red Cross.

First United Corp. Declares Dividend

The board of directors of First United Corporation, a one-bank holding company headquartered in Oakland, declared a cash dividend of $0.155 per share at its board meeting on March 17. The dividend will be payable on May 1, 1999, to shareholders of record as of April 20.

First United Corporation operates one full-service commercial bank, First United Bank & Trust. The bank has a network of community offices in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, and Frederick counties in Maryland, as well as Mineral, Hardy, Hampshire, and Berkeley counties in West Virginia. First United's website can be located at www.mybankfirstunited.com. As of February 28, 1999, the corporation posted assets of $657 million.

SHARING YOUR LOSS

I've watched tall sailing ships
With sails full blown and white
Reach some horizon's edge
And then drop out of sight.

But when those white-winged ships dropped down behind the hill
I knew without a doubt that they were sailing still.

So I've watched friends depart
And like great ships at sea,
They vanished from my sight
And sailed away from me.

Until we meet again
Upon some brighter shore
I know they're with the Lord
And sail on evermore.

Medical Center In Grantsville Slated To Close

Family Health Care, which provides medical services in Grantsville, one of three community-based health facilities in the area owned by Conemaugh Health System in Johnstown, Pa., is scheduled to close its doors.

Patrick Kane, director of marketing communications for Conemaugh Health System said last week in a phone interview that though he could not confirm the date of July 1, he could confirm that the office in Grantsville will be closing. "It was a difficult decision," he noted.

When asked what lead to the decision to close the Grantsville facility, Kane cited the negative impacts of the balanced budget act on reimbursements to medical service providers as well as the effects of managed care on the medical service industry. "If we don't make this decision today, it will only make for a more difficult one tomorrow," he stated.

Grantsville mayor Gerry Beachy affirmed the concern of town officials over this decision by Conemaugh. A meeting was held last week in Grantsville in immediate response to information on the pending closing. "Western Maryland Health Care Corporation had its meeting last night and this was definitely a topic of discussion," Beachy said on Friday.

W.Md. Health Care Corp. is a non-profit group, which was originally formed in the mid 1970s to establish and staff a medical center in Grantsville. The facility was built on Miller Street and later sold by the corporation to Northern Rescue Squad, which is also

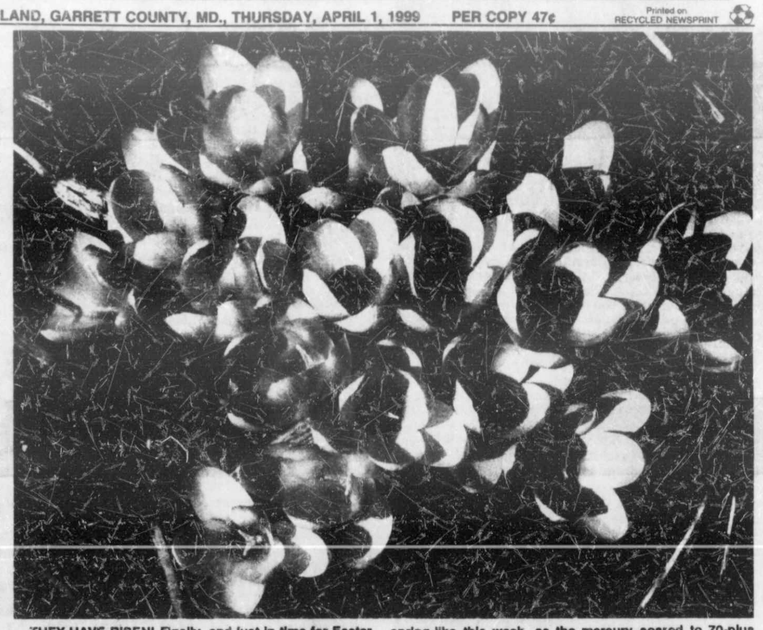
Don't forget to turn your clocks forward 1 hour this Saturday evening. Daylight Savings Time resumes Sunday morning at 2 a.m. and you won't want to be arriving when everyone else is leaving.



THEY HAVE RISEN! Finally, and just in time for Easter, these local crocuses (croci?) have burst forth to symbolize new life after death, which is the focus of the Christian religion's Good Friday and Easter holidays. After weeks of extended winter weather that featured record snowfall in the month of March, conditions finally became much more spring-like this week, as the mercury soared to 70-plus degrees yesterday. The rainfall this morning was welcomed by area fire fighters, who were summoned to four brush fires yesterday. More rain is predicted for the Easter weekend, but temperatures are to remain pleasant. Amanda Stewart Wins National High School Brass Competition

The winning ways continue for Amanda K. Stewart, Southern High School junior and daughter of Brad and Patsy Stewart, Oakland, who last weekend won top honors at the Music Teachers National Association (MTNA) Foundation High School Brass Competition. The competition was held in Los Angeles, Calif., on Sunday, March 21. Traveling west with Amanda were her parents and her private trombone instructor, Dr. H. Keith Jackson, professor of trombone and euphonium at West Virginia University.

The contest in the high school brass competition placed Amanda against a trombonist from Texas and a French horn player from Kentucky. Following the three performances, the local musician was declared the national winner.

As a national competition winner, Amanda received $1,000 and an invitation to perform on the new Public Radio International program "From the Top," which features talented young classical musicians. The program is based in Boston in association with the new England Conservatory of Music and WGBH Radio. It will be hosted by Christopher O'Riley, a critically acclaimed concert pianist. The series will be launched in January 2000 and will be distributed to public radio stations throughout the nation. The program management will provide all accommodations for Amanda to travel to Boston for the recordings.

While in California, she also performed in a winners' recital at the Westin Bonaventure Hotel in L.A.

The MTNA National Student Competitions consist of three levels: state, division, and national. Categories include student composition as well as performance competitions with a variety of instruments.

Oakland Main Street Visioning Groups Formed, Members Sought

An Oakland Main Street program community visioning meeting drew over 50 participants to city hall Tuesday night, where architect and downtown design advisor Richard Wagner shared his ideas of how a struggling downtown can revitalize its small business district, and how citizens and officials can work together toward that goal.

"You can plan for growth here in Garrett County, and you have a great resource already available to you," Wagner said as he held the county-produced New Development Plan for Garrett County above his head. "It's a great start, and there are a number of good vision statements in it that you can utilize.

"The book's policies for growth areas are especially applicable to the visioning process as you work to revitalize your downtown. The 'town center' concept, designed to intensify commercial growth in existing town centers, can create more tax revenue and centralize jobs, while at the same time preserving open lands that surround a town.

"You need to work together and discuss what you want for the future of your community, and then be aggressive about going about getting it. For instance, there are a lot of developers out there looking to locate sites all over the country. If you can come up with a plan to make your town attractive to them, you can conceivably have them competing for your area on your terms, as we did in Manhattan, Kansas.

"In Manhattan, we came up with a plan of a downtown anchor site for potential development at the time we had several developers looking into putting shopping centers outside of town, which was not what we wanted. The 'phenomenon of the freeway' was something we wanted to avoid, because it's been demonstrated that a new shopping center is located out on a town's outskirts, downtown businesses may not die but many tend to pick up and relocate out of town near a new shopping center along a freeway.

"After studying the trade flow, and marketing and population demographics of the town, our Downtown Design Project team issued RFP's (Requests for Proposals) to developers, saying we would help them acquire downtown property that wasn't being utilized, but we wanted to have 'a piece of the action'. You have to play hardball with

County Wins $1 Million Plus For Children's Centers, Rehab Loans

Child care facilities and the housing rehabilitation program in Garrett County will get a boost from a Community Development Block Grant awarded last week through the Department of Housing and Community Development.

Garrett County's share of the $3.2 million disbursed among seven counties totals over $1 million, which will be used to fund three projects through Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc.

The major portion of the grant, $715,000 is earmarked to build a facility to house Head Start and Early Head Start programs, child care services, and a family support center at the Overlook housing site in Oakland.

Composed of rental units and single-family homes, Overlook will offer not only child and family services but educational opportunities for high school students. Duane Yoder, executive director of Community Action, explained that students in the Southern High School child-care curriculum will be able to work at the Overlook center as part of their program. "The food service students will also be able to work at the site," he said.

Another part of the DHCD grant will be used to purchase and renovate the Jennings Community Building, which houses the Jennings Head Start Center. The facility, owned by the Highland Association, has previously been used for multiple purposes, including a senior nutrition site. Additional Head Start classroom space was secured when the senior activities moved to the Grantsville Senior Center. The DHCD funds will enable Communi-

Plan Obtained For Wal-Mart In Oakland Area

A South Carolina engineering firm's preliminary concept drawing which outlines a 152,415 square foot Wal-Mart Supercenter directly across from Food Lion along North Fourth Street (old Route 219) has been obtained by The Republican. The proposed store site is within one of the many land parcels that Oakland is seeking to annex north of town. Annexation, which will be discussed in a public meeting at City Hall at 7 p.m. on Monday, April 19, would make town water and sewer services available to the proposed store site.

The concept site plan, dated Nov. 18, 1998, and produced for "Wal-Mart Stores Inc.," does not in itself serve as confirmation that a Wal-Mart is actually going to build a Supercenter or any structure at that site at any point in the future. (For the purposes of size comparison, the Food Lion store is 29,500 square feet, and Treasure Island, Garrett County's largest department store, is 34,000

GPU And State Settle On Selling Price Of Deep Creek: $7.8 Million

The Garrett County Board of Commissioners held a special press conference Tuesday to announce the final settlement on Deep Creek Lake. The state of Maryland will purchase the lake from GPU Inc. for $7.8 million. Governor Parris Glendening announced the action on Tuesday as well.

The purchase, which has been sealed via a signed Letter of Intent, will include the lake, the buffer strip along the shore line, and other parcels. The final agreement will permanently place over 4,400 acres into the state's park system, according to the governor.

Commissioner Chairman Ernest Gregg stressed what he said were two important aspects of the sale: Dock fees will remain the same, and the county will now glean 25% of the revenue generated by Deep Creek Lake.

"We have wanted all along to maintain the status quo," stated Commissioner Wendell Beitzel. "This agreement does that."

Gregg said the final sale will be completed by the end of June. The commissioners noted that GPU apparently still owns about 600 acres of undeveloped land around the lake. The company has five years to sell the parcels, after which it reverts to the state. The commissioners said persons who own land adjacent to the GPU property will be given first refusal.

The lake will essentially become a state park, with the Department of Natural Resources controlling its use. This has already been the practice for many years. The commissioners noted several times that there will be little change, if any, in the management and use of Deep Creek Lake.

Concerning revenue to the county, Monty Pagenhardt, county administrator, explained this morning that GPU pays approximately $90,000 in taxes annually — about $70,000 on the generating plant and $20,000 on the lake. Sithe Energies will now pay the approximate $70,000 on the plant, and the county will now recoup more than the remaining $20,000 with its 25% of revenues.

Delegate George Edwards several years ago put a bill into legislation that made it possible for Garrett County to earn 25% of all revenues from the use of state land. Now that the lake is state-owned, this law will be enacted. The dock fees currently bring in about $600,000. The county has never received any of that amount in the past, but will now glean 25%.

The commissioners said legislation is currently being drafted that will solidify the scope of local control of the waterway, specifically through the formation of a local management board consisting of property owners, commissioners, DNR personnel, and other

Committee Recommends New Health Dept. Complex Be Built In McHenry

Garrett County Health Officer Rodney Glotfelty met with the county commissioners this week to inform them that the recently appointed members of a committee charged with the task of locating a site for a new health department complex have agreed the facility should be built next to Garrett Community College in McHenry.

Glotfelty presented the commissioners with a letter, which opened with his gratitude to the fiscal authority for its "continued support" in the development of a plan to consolidate the health department services and programs into one central building location. He said the steering committee has met several times, and prior to putting together a comprehensive funding package for the project, the commissioners must select a building location.

"The committee's efforts up to this point have been focused on making a sound recommendation to you on this future site," Glotfelty said. "By a wide majority, the committee recommends that the Board of Garrett County Commissioners pursue location of the Health Department Complex on the Garrett Community College property at McHenry."

According to the health officer, the committee based this recommendation on a number of factors. The members studied an internal assessment, conducted by the health department management, and, apparently, strong cases were made for both delivering services from a central county location, and for keeping those services in the Oakland area. Personnel in programs such as Mental Health, Addictions, and Personal Health, where the currant client base is reportedly concentrated in the Oakland area, favored maintenance of services there. Programs where interaction with other state and county agencies is important, such as Adult Evaluation Services and Healthy Families, also tend-

Garrett Container System First In Nation To Be HUBZone-Certified

Garrett Container Systems (GCS), Accident, has become the first company in the country to be certified in the Small Business Administration's HUBZone Program (Historically Underutilized Business Zone). The program gives participants up to a 10 percent preference in the federal contract bidding process.

Producers of all-aluminum shipping containers, GCS has contracted the major portion of its business with the Department of Defense. Co-owners of the business Mark Tonkovick and Don Morin have pursued the HUBZone program since its inception in 1997 as part of the Small Business Reauthorization Act.

A seminar for small business owners interested in becoming HUBZone certified was held in Garrett County in March. The forum was co-sponsored by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce and the offices of Senators Paul Sarbanes and Barbara Mikulski. During this meeting, the 50 participants were assured that the HUBZone application would be available on-line no later than March 31.

"Don (Morin) was on the computer the first thing every morning searching for the application. Yesterday morning he found it," said Jim Kesselring, quality/support manager for GCS. Describing the Internet application process, Kesselring noted the existence of the anticipated "glitch." The process was brand new and Morin was the first to try it, so they were not surprised to encounter difficulties, Kesselring said. The problems were quickly rectified. "Allan Stephenson (SBA's Baltimore district office director) got right on it," he said.

Rick Miller, chief of procurement for SBA's Baltimore district office was also instrumental in getting GCS application through the process, Kesselring emphasized. Both Miller

CHANGING THE FACES of various buildings in downtown Oakland to make them look more like they did when originally constructed is the goal of the Maryland Main Street Facade Rehabilitation Program, which affords the owners of those buildings an opportunity to renovate them and receive considerable financial assistance via tax credits. The program, available to only five communities in the state, also provides free architectural services to assist owners if they choose to participate. Above, Oakland Mayor Asa McCain, left, accompanies Main Street Maryland architect Richard Wagner of Baltimore, center, as they confer with Clint Englander, owner of the Englander's Pharmacy building at the corner of Second and Alder streets. Wagner and Cindy Stone, Maryland Main Street coordinator, were here this week to meet with Oakland business owners. The visit was coordinated by Glenn Tolbert, Oakland Main Street manager, who may be contacted at 301-533-4470 for more information about the program.

Mental Health Plan Ready For Local Review

The Mountain Top Mental Health Associates Inc. (MTMHA), the public mental health system management agency for Garrett County, is preparing to submit to the Maryland Mental Hygiene Administration its plan of operation for the next fiscal year. According to David Dubé, MTMHA executive director, the agency is submitting an aggressive agenda, which includes goals and objectives, how MTMHA will determine community mental health needs, and a budget proposal to fund services for persons with mental illness.

The goals for the next fiscal year are broad, Dubé said, and are from the perspective of a consumer of mental health services. They are: 1) Consumers will have access to a system of care in Garrett County that includes a full continuum of quality services; 2) Consumers will be empowered to have maximum choice to establish and achieve personal goals, and to achieve a quality of life affording full citizenship with all the rights and responsibilities of such status; 3) Consumers will be served by a system of care that is responsive to their needs; and 4) Consumers will be served by a system of care that is effective and efficient.

Specific and measurable objectives have been identified for each goal, with activities and timelines listed.

Because the MTMHA was a new agency last year, the members were unable to participate in the funding cycle from the Mental Hygiene Administration. This year, they are prepared to propose a broad range of new funding initiatives to improve the public mental health system and services to seriously mentally ill adults and seriously emotionally disturbed youth in Garrett County.

These initiatives include additional funding to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Emergency Psychiatric Services Program, funds for psychiatric medications and transportation to appointments, intensive mental health services to the most seriously mentally ill persons in the community, services within the jail, and community education and best-practices training for mental health and substance abuse treatment workers.

"Although not all of these initiatives are likely to be funded, we expect that consumers will have access to a more comprehensive range of services next year than they have available now," Dubé said.

The MTMHA board of directors will discuss the fiscal year 2000 Plan of Operations at its April 21 board meeting, to be held from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Grantsville Senior Center. The meeting is open to the public. Persons wishing to obtain a copy of the MTMHA Fiscal Year 2000 Plan of Operations are invited to contact the MTMHA office at 301-334-8144.

ARBOR DAY IS APRIL 7 — The Garrett County commissioners and representatives of the county forestry board joined with the state Tuesday to proclaim Arbor Day on April 7. The proclamation states that Maryland "is extremely proud of its vast array of cherished natural resources, and the commemoration of Arbor Day serves as a fitting tribute to our mighty trees and other treasures. . . ." This year marks the 116th celebration of Arbor Day in the state. According to the proclamation, Maryland has made a pledge to lead the Bay states in reforesting 600 miles of streams and rivers by the year 2010 through the Stream ReLeaf project. Pictured left to right are Ernie Metz, Department of Natural Resources Forest Service project manager; Commissioner Wendell Beitzel; Michael R. Kozier, chairperson of the Garrett County Forestry Board; Commissioner Fred Holliday; Alan Arnson, member of the forestry board; and Commissioner Chairman Ernest Gregg.

EYM Youth To Lead Walk For Peace On Friday

The Ecumenical Youth Ministry will sponsor its fourth annual "Walk For Peace" on Good Friday, April 2, in the town of Oakland. The walk will begin in the sanctuary of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church at noon. All members of the community — youth and adults — are invited to attend. The walk will be lead by student members of the EYM.

"Participants recreate the walk Jesus took on his way to the cross," stated EYM director Lynn Broderick. The path crisscrosses through the town of Oakland, guiding walkers past sites in the community as reminders of issues and people that "need our peaceful attention." Songs and prayers will be recited by the EYM members at each stopping point.

The 1½-mile walk will conclude at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, where lunch will be served. "This is the fourth walk for many of the youth," Broderick said. The walk is open to all youth and adults, regardless of church affiliation. It is recommended that participants dress for the weather in layered clothing and comfortable walking shoes.

The Dove Center Offices Move To New Location

The Dove Center, Garrett County's domestic violence and sexual assault resource center, has relocated its business offices to the A&A Realty Building, Oakland, along Route 219 adjacent to the Food Lion parking lot. Previously these offices were housed in the Dove Center's residential shelter.

The new site will accommodate the business offices of the center as well as the counseling department. Clients who are not staying in the Dove Center's shelter, will attend group discussions or individual support groups in this new office area.

The 24-hour phone lines to the center, 301-334-9000 and 1-800-894-3872, will remain unchanged. Support counselors and information on services may also still be accessed by calling these numbers.

Business offices and the office of Linda Spassil, executive director of the Dove Center, may be reached by calling 301-334-6255 or 6256.

The new office space will allow for smoother functioning of the agency and expansion of the housing capacity for individuals and families in need, Spassil said. There were times when the shelter was very crowded that using part of it for offices caused great inconvenience, she explained. "We have had shelter clients sleeping on the floor of a staff member's office at night," she said.

Spassil noted that once again it was community response that helped solve a problem for the center. "I really want to thank Karen Spiker (Myers) for helping us get the space in the A&A building. She really made this possible," Spassil concluded.

Auditions For OTT Musical Set For April 3, 5

The Our Town Theatre (OTT) management has issued a reminder that auditions for its production of Smoke on the Mountain will take place on Saturday, April 3, 1-3 p.m., and on Monday April 5, 7-9 p.m. The show is a musical and has parts for three adult males, one teenage male, one adult female, and two teenage females.

Jane Avery, artistic director of OTT and director of this production, said extra roles may be available for musicians (those who can play banjo, fiddle, bass fiddle, or other stringed instruments).

"We are hoping to cast seven people who can act, sing, and play instruments, but realize that's quite a wish list," Avery said. "We'll be happy if our actors can do one or two out of the three."

Auditions will consist of reading, improvisation, singing, and, if possible, playing an instrument. Each person auditioning should bring along sheet music to sing a song. Susan Peterson will be the musical director of the show.

Smoke on the Mountain takes place in Mount Pleasant, N.C., in 1938, and centers on the events of a small rural church where a family singing group brings a "rollicking good time" to the congregation, Avery said.

For more information, persons may contact Avery at the theatre: 301-334-5640.

Injuries Result From Route 135 Vehicle Mishap

Dennis R. Stottlemeyer, 17, Oakland, was injured in a one-vehicle accident on Route 135 in Deer Park last Thursday morning. Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, reported that Stottlemeyer apparently fell asleep while driving, traveled off the road, and struck a large tree at about 5:45 a.m.

Southern Rescue Squad and Deer Park VFD responded to the scene, and Stottlemeyer was taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital and admitted for treatment and later released.

Fuel Spills On I-68; Emergency Teams Respond

Local emergency crews responded early Wednesday morning to a diesel fuel spill from a truck on I-68 near the 29-mile marker. Eastern Garrett Fire and Rescue Department, Grantsville VFD, Maryland State Police, and the State Highway Administration were called to the scene of the 3:50 a.m. mishap.

According to the report from the Garrett County Office of Emergency Management, approximately 165 gallons of diesel fuel spilled as a result of a ruptured fuel tank. Damage to the tank was said to have occurred when the vehicle struck a deer.

All fuel was reportedly contained and no environmental damage resulted.

Easter Sunrise Service Set At Memorial Gardens

The annual Easter sunrise service, conducted by the Mountaintop Ministerial Association in cooperation with the management of Memorial Gardens, Oakland, will be held at 7 a.m. this Sunday, April 4, at Memorial Gardens. Local pastors who will participate include Rev. Richard Tepper, Rev. Mark Hickman, and Rev. Art Evans, with Rev. Evans delivering the sermon.

All are invited to attend. Memorial Gardens is located along Memorial Drive just east of Oakland.

The service will be held regardless of weather conditions.

Historical Soc. Slates Spring Benefit Dinner

The Garrett County Historical Society will hold its spring fund-raising dinner on Friday, April 23, at the Pleasant Valley Community Center, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Guest speakers for the evening will be Rev. John Grant and Dr. Lawrence Sherwood, whose focus will be the founding family of Oakland and stories about the Oakland B&O Railroad station.

Tickets are $20 per person, which covers the turkey dinner, the program, and a chance to win a special limited-edition print. They are available at Gregg's Pharmacy, Hershberger Insurance, and Gonder Insurance, or by telephoning the society at 301-334-3226.

Persons interested in joining the society or serving on one of its committees are invited to telephone Robert Boal, president, at 301-334-9051.

A Sweet Deal...

We were pleased with the announcement this week of the near-finalized deal for the state of Maryland to purchase Deep Creek Lake from GPU Inc., for it appears that the new ownership will afford both more money for the county and more local input into the management of the lake.

We were concerned about the loss of property tax revenue to the county with the ownership changing from private to state; however, the county stands to gain considerably more with state ownership. GPU Inc. paid an estimated $90,000 per year in property tax, but the majority of that was taxes on the dam and power plant. The plant has been sold to another power company, however, meaning that at least two-thirds of that $90,000 will continue to be collected by the county. What's more, thanks to a 1980s bill introduced by Delegate George Edwards and adopted by the legislature, 25% of the money generated by the lake will also be given to the county. With dock slips generating an estimated $600,000, that means the county will pick up an additional $125,000 annually.

Another aspect of this deal that makes it a better arrangement than it was previously is that there will be a local lake management board consisting of elected officials, lake property owners, chamber of commerce representatives, and others that will set policies, fees, and procedures. Thus, for the first time, local residents, and particularly the people who reside at the lake, will have some means of providing real input into the management of the lake, which seems only fair to us.

Thirdly, the policing of the lake will remain in the hands of DNR personnel, who have the benefit of decades of experience and know-how.

We congratulate and thank Del. Edwards, the Honorable Fred A. Thayer and his Deep Creek Lake Advisory Committee members, Ed King and the Deep Creek Lake Advisory Board members, Senator John Hafer, lake manager Paul Durham, past and present Garrett County commissioners, Governor Glendening, and all others who had a role in putting together what we believe is a sweet deal for Garrett County and for the state of Maryland.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Well, once again, western Maryland has sold out to Big Tobacco. Shame on Delegate Casper Taylor, Delegate Kevin Kelly, and Delegate George Edwards. Perhaps Delegates Taylor, Kelly, and Edwards are unaware of the serious health effects attributed to tobacco. Perhaps, they're comfortable with the lies of Big Tobacco. Or perhaps they're concerned with the dollar bill and not the children of western Maryland. Whatever their reasons, it's a disgrace that all three of them voted against the tobacco tax. Tobacco is Maryland's and America's #1 Killer...and as long as our elected officials fail to educate themselves, it will remain that way.

On the same note, despite the voting of our delegates, the bill passed the House. It is in the Senate this week. I urge everyone who knows how Big Tobacco lies and kills our children with a life-long addiction, to call Senator John Hafer and encourage him to vote in favor of the tax. His number is 1-800-492-7122.

Editor's note: the writers of the following letter to the Garrett County commissioners requested that it be published in this column.

Commissioners:

This letter is to urge you all to seriously consider allotting monies for the Dove Center to help victims of domestic violence. We would like this as a line item in the budget.

It is foolhardy to withhold financial support for this badly needed service and end up spending more in the long run because of the permanent and long-term damage that will occur as a result of not dealing with these issues in a timely manner.

Garrett County's mental, as well as physical, health services are already seriously overburdened, and a few dollars spent in support of the Dove Center will prevent much more serious and long-lasting problems and expense down the line. We are speaking from experience and meet these problems on a daily basis. Patients who are abused repeatedly suffer long-term damage. It does not have to be this way. You can help.

Thank you for considering our concerns.

Sincerely yours,

To the Editor:

On the morning of Sunday, April 11, 1999, I will be joining thousands of other Americans as they participate in the MS WALK for multiple sclerosis.

Multiple sclerosis is a chronic, often disabling, disease that randomly attacks the central nervous system. MS is still a mystery disease: no known cause, no means of prevention, and no cure. Its progress, severity, and specific symptoms are unpredictable. The onset of symptoms occur most often between the ages of 20 and 40 years. Symptoms may vary from mild alteration of sensation to paralysis of limbs and interference with vision, speech, walking, and other basic functions?

A diagnosis of MS affects everyone in that family. Most diagnosed individuals and their families find themselves suddenly thrust into an unfamiliar, unprepared situation that usually changes their entire lifestyle.

My daughter, Melody Flinn Zimmermon, was diagnosed with MS eight years ago, and she has experienced many triais and tribulations that accompany multiple sclerosis. However, her contagious enthusiasm for life continues! Because of MS, she has missed many weeks of teaching in Montgomery County this school year, but looks forward to returning to her fourth graders.

The pace of MS research is accelerating. In the meantime, however, MS and time march on. I have made a commitment to fighting multiple sclerosis by participating in the MS WALK, and I will appreciate your financial support. Checks should be made to the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Thank you for your time, consideration, and support.

To the Editor:

Children depend on those who care for them to provide for their health, safety, and emotional well-being. When parents and other caregivers are not able to meet this responsibility, the result to children and to society is often tragic.

Last year in Maryland, according to People Against Child Abuse, more than 30,300 children were victims of abuse and neglect. Abused and neglected children often carry the burden of their experiences into adulthood in the form of substance abuse, depression, physical disabilities, learning difficulties, criminal activity, and the continued cycle of child abuse. This cost to the lives of children also means increasing costs of care systems such as child welfare, education, health care, and juvenile justice. Clearly, when a child suffers, our community suffers.

April is Child Abuse Prevention Month. It is a time to reflect on what we are doing as a community to support children and families. Children don't come with instructions and too many parents face raising their children without the knowledge and support they need and deserve. We all have opportunities to reach out to parents in our families, neighborhoods, places of worship, and places of employment. This April, let's make sure all parents know that their hard work is valued. Think of what it will mean for the future of children and the future of our community.

The Garrett County Commission for Women is sponsoring the Blue Ribbon Campaign again this year. Please wear a blue ribbon and send a clear message that we have no tolerance for child abuse in our community.

Sincerely,

To the Editor:

We feel compelled to respond to your recent editorial about Allegany County's commitment of Program Open Space monies to the Rocky Gap Lodge & Golf Resort. The county's decision to earmark POS development funds was made by a previous board. It provided the only alternative for the $4.5 million local share needed other than having the General Fund support this. All actions of those previous commissioners were done in public session and ample notice provided to the towns and areas interested in receiving POS monies.

We appreciate the concern of the Garrett County newspaper for our POS allocations and your warning to our local communities (labeled bigger losers) who were encouraged to seek "some kind of legal recourse." Although our hands have been tied to some degree by the commitment to Rocky Gap, we stand behind the development of this resort and the economic boost it has pro-

MAUNDY THURSDAY

"Your columns have been controversial lately," my brother told me. He's right. They have been. The world's rattled, and I'm rattled, and it shows in my writing.

I had determined to write a nice, bucolic sort of column for Maundy Thursday. I long to describe the gentle teasing of spring in concert with the three final days of Lent, the most sorrowful and prayerful time of the Christian year.

Christians endure three days of severe fast because they can see past the fast, past betrayal and death to the day of resurrection when Christ sealed his victory over sin, death, the devil, and hell. About the three-day vigil that begins today, I wanted to write in a spirit of hope and joy in Christ which sustains me through the trials of life.

For the past week we have been at war. Our leaders have eschewed that word. They have even repudiated it, but war it is, nonetheless. My heart is filled with quiet sorrow over this war. That sorrow is all the greater because I believe this war to be necessary, even essential, to the maintenance of freedom and democracy in the world.

I have visited eastern and central Europe three times in my life. What I can say is that central and eastern Europe is the frontier of freedom and democracy. The Czech Republic is clearly on our side of that frontier. Her former partner republic, Slovakia, is the frontier. Ukraine is on the other side of the frontier. The condition of that frontier is easily analyzed by measuring the rule of law there.

Americans take the rule of law so much for granted that most of us do not even know what it is. In a word, the rule of law means no one is above the law's obligations and no one is beneath the law's protection. A poor person, when robbed, is entitled to expect the government to bring the robber to justice. The rich person if he robs is liable to being brought to justice.

The rule of law is so fundamental to our understanding of society that we have an automatic reaction when the poor victim is not vindicated or the rich criminal goes scot-free. "It isn't right," we say. Such occurrences offend our sense of fairness and justice.

In the Czech Republic they have the rule of law. In the Republic of Slovakia they are successfully seeking to establish the rule of law. In Ukraine they are failing in their attempt to establish the rule of law.

The rule of law does not exist in Yugoslavia. Slobodan Milosevic is a dictator. He creates and enforces what laws he chooses. He is also a dictator with a vision, a dangerous combination.

The visionless dictator usually maintains his power within borders. The dictator with vision seeks to break out of his borders to realize that vision. The borders may be those of the nation-state (e.g., Saddam Hussein's invasion of Kuwait) or of the standards of civilization (e.g., Milosevic's genocide of Bosnians a few years ago and of Kosovars today).

These rogue dictators have to be hit hard, early and repeatedly, toward two goals. First, such dictators must be contained. Second, they must be made an example so that other dictators do not get "the vision thing."

If we fail to pound Milosevic into submission, then his kind will multiply like rats. Not only will there be too many of their like to keep in a corner, but one or more of such rogue dictators will have the means of mass destruction (i.e., nuclear, chemical, biological). They will also have the long-range missiles to deploy those weapons anywhere in the world.

These are grim considerations, but standing in Prague they are grimmer. Whether we like it or not, eastern Europe is the frontier of our freedom. So we have to defend Prague and Bratislava and Budapest and, yes, even Pristina.

At a time when Christ before Pilate is vivid in my mind, I am torn by the necessity of participating in the principalities and powers of this world. Until we leave this world for another, we have to do painful things to prevent a descent into an abyss of chaos from which human civilization might not emerge.

Child Abuse: Acknowledging The Unthinkable

by Heather Hanline, M.S.
Dove Center Counseling Staff

Imagine yourself as a child, curled up in the corner of your bedroom, wrapped in a blanket, clenching your fists, trying to choke back your tears as you wonder what will happen next. Imagine a fear so strong that your heart nearly pounds out of your chest and your body shakes uncontrollably.

Imagine being the age when life should be carefree and fun, but carrying a burden heavier than most shoulders can handle. Imagine asking yourself, "Why me? What have I done?" Imagine being at this age when you want and deserve protection. Imagine feeling as if there is no one in the world to protect you.

You have imagined yourself the victim of child abuse. For many of you, this may not have hit far from home.

Child abuse is any action toward a child that injures him or her physically, emotionally, sexually, or that interferes with his or her vital needs being met. Unfortunately, millions of child abuse cases are reported each year, and many more go unreported. This is why it is so important to become educated on the issue so that we can begin preventing further cases.

A powerful perpetrator inflicting harm on a powerless child = child abuse. This is the equation, and the child is the innocent, defenseless victim, with no exceptions. This is why it is so crucial for you as a parent to believe and support your child if or when he or she discloses any victimization issues.

Disclosure may be the most difficult thing a child will ever do. He or she will experience fear, guilt, shame, anxiety, and pain. It may take a great deal of time to build up the courage to speak. The response to the disclosure that the child gets will make a major difference in how he or she approaches recovery.

It may be difficult for you as a parent to accept a child's disclosure because often the perpetrator is someone you know and love. It is important to keep in mind that it is very rare for a child to lie about being abused. It is also very important for you as a parent to discuss child abuse issues with your child, encouraging him or her to confide.

There are important physical and behavioral signs of abuse. Bruises, burns, welts, cuts, broken bones, many injuries at once, or untreated injuries are among the physical signs. Others include itching, redness, or burning in the genital area, with or without venereal disease and pregnancy.

Garrett County Chamber of Commerce UPDATE

by Kenneth Wishnick
Executive Director

"Be your own boss; control your own future; become financially independent."

Most everyone has heard these callings to start your own business and they certainly have a lot of appeal. I know, because I too took the plunge when I purchased a screen printing and embroidery factory in Owings Mills, Maryland, after leaving a corporate vice president position that I had held for 12 years.

"What could be so hard," I told myself. I had marketing skills, could manage people, and was familiar with basic accounting. Since the business I was acquiring had some financial trouble, I figured I could buy low, build up sales, and sell high for a big profit.

Things didn't quite work as planned. First there was the UPS strike. That was followed by worker absenteeism due to substance abuse. Things were further complicated by numerous misrepresentations by the sellers, frequent equipment breakdowns, and a tremendous number of other daily issues that challenged me more than anything I had ever faced in my life.

Together with Fran, my wife and business partner, we eventually managed to accomplish what we had set out to do, though less profitably than originally envisioned. The point of the story is how this was accomplished.

As chamber members, we took advantage of a service that saved the day. Both the Howard County and Pikesville chambers offered "Business Dialog Groups." In essence, each BDG was composed of 7-10 small business owners from non-competing operations that would meet once a month to help solve each other's problems. In many ways the group functioned as a rotating board of directors for each participant.

In Howard County, our BDG included an accountant, attorney, travel agent, telemarketing operation, educational facility, and an office supply distribution center. In Pikesville, we were grouped with a band leader, Mail Box Etc. store, conference planning agency, marketing firm, and others.

Participation in the groups allowed us to test and fine tune our marketing strategies, gave us creative ideas on how to handle recurrent problems, and provided some great referrals to both customers and outside professionals. Despite all our advance research and preparation prior to acquiring our business, Fran and I agree that without our support groups, there was a pretty good chance that we would have gone the route of many first time entrepreneurs.

This brings me to the Garrett County Chamber. As executive director, I feel it is essential to expand the organization's role in helping small businesses to thrive in our local economy. Assessing existing support, I see revolving loan programs and loan packaging assistance available from the Garrett Community College, Garrett County Development Corporation, and Community Action. For larger business initiatives, the excellent assistance of Jim Hinebaugh and the county's Economic Development Department is available.

However, I am not aware of any program that encourages entrepreneurs to work together in small groups to find solutions to each other's problems. This will soon change.

The Garrett County Chamber is initiating Business Dialog Groups. I have very high expectations for this program and intend to make it even more successful than the initiatives implemented elsewhere. I encourage all business owners/entrepreneurs that would like to participate to contact me at 301-387-4386 for more details.

People helping people is what makes Garrett County a great place to live and work. This program will build on our way of life to help ensure the future vitality of our business community.

Low-Interest Home Repair Loans Available

Homeowners in rural areas who need repairs to their houses but can't afford regular loans may be eligible for a U.S. Department of Agriculture loan at only 1 percent interest, according to Timothy T. Taylor, community development manager.

"These loans are only available to very low income people," Taylor said. "In this area, very low-income is defined as about $23,900, depending on the number of people in the household and other factors."

Home repair loans can be used for such things as fixing or replacing a roof, replacing siding, installing insulation, storm windows and doors, replacing a heating system, repairing electrical wiring or plumbing, hooking up to sewer or water systems, or making a house more handicapped-accessible.

"Even people who may have trouble repaying a 1 percent loan may be eligible if they have someone to cosign the loan who could help repay if necessary," Taylor said. "Only a written promise to repay the loan is required on loans up to $2,500. Loans above that require a mortgage security. The maximum loan is $20,000."

There is a "very limited" grant program to help very low-income homeowners 62 years or older. The grant limit is $7,500. Anyone interested in the program or wanting additional information should call Taylor or Sylvia Guthrie, community development technician, at 301-334-6970, or stop by the Rural Development Office located at 1916 Maryland Highway, Suite D, Mountain Lake Park, MD 21550.

WORLD HEALTH DAY PROCLAIMED — April 7 is the annual date for World Health Day, a celebration sponsored by the World Health Organization, of which the United States is an active member. Local representatives of the elderly population of Garrett County met with the county commissioners this week to include Garrett County in the international observance. According to the proclamation, the World Health Organization has designated this year's event to focus on promoting healthy aging and healthy living, "realizing that the aging population is a major concern around the world." The county Area Agency on Aging is celebrating World Health Day with an all-day program addressing healthy aging. The program will feature speakers from various disciplines in health care. Nutrition, exercise, hearing loss, Medicare, medication use, wellness, and depression are some of the topics to be addressed. The Mary Browning Senior Center in Oakland will host the event, starting at 8:30 a.m. with a continental breakfast. The program will follow at 9 a.m. with a keynote address by Kathy Greaser, director of development at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. To register for the program, persons should call 301-334-9431, ext. 137, or pick up registration forms at the Mary Browning Center. The commissioners are pictured seated left to right: Wendell Beitzel, Fred Holliday, and Ernest Gregg. Standing in back are Veronica Padmos (left), coordinator of the Older American Act, and Adina Brode, director of the Area Agency on Aging.

Fellowship Added To Garrett's Promise Program

Maryland's Promise, the statewide initiative of America's Promise, has awarded an AmeriCorps Promise Fellowship to Garrett's Promise, a program organized by the county's Office for Children, Youth, and Families. This award was one of seven given in the state.

The award has provided OCYF with a promise fellow, Crystal Shaffer, for one year of national service. Shaffer will create marketing materials for the Promise, coordinate sites and schools of Promise, establish partnerships with other agencies in the county, recruit volunteers for various programs, develop projects, and promote the importance of the five goals of Garrett's Promise.

"America's Promise — The Alliance for Youth" is a national, not-for-profit organization dedicated to improving the lives of the nation's more than 15 million at-risk youth. Garrett's Promise is the local component of the national program. According to published information about Promise, the effort aims to provide young people with access to the fundamental resources needed for them to lead happy, healthy, and productive lives.

The five "fundamental resources" for a child identified by Promise are as follows: an on-going relationship with a caring adult, safe places and structured activities during non-school hours, a healthy start, a marketable skill learned through effective education, and an opportunity to "give back" through community service.

For more information, or to become an identified "Site of Promise, persons may contact Shaffer or Susan Athey-Oxford, Garrett's Promise coordinator, at the OCYF office: 301-334-1189.

Hospital's New Wellness Program Seeking Members

As part of its observance of World Health Day, Wednesday, April 7, Garrett County Memorial Hospital will be unveiling a new Wellness membership program at the Healthy Aging, Healthy Living—Start Now! seminar, set for 8:30 a.m-3 p.m. at the Mary Browning Senior Center. Details on the new program will also be available that day at the annual Wellness' blood screening, which will be held at Garrett Rehab Services.

"Under the new Wellness membership program, participants have the opportunity to create a package that best suits their needs. Participants select a blood screening component, a physical exam component, and/or a membership component," said Kathy Greaser, GCMH's director of development.

"The blood screening component includes 38 different lab tests, a blood pressure measurement, and a hearing test. The physical component includes a routine physical examination with a Pap smear for women. The membership component includes a one-year subscription to a health magazine, a self-care book, and a flu shot, back care appointment, Wellness totebag, and the opportunity to sign up for a walking event where a free Wellness T-shirts will be given away to participants. Special pricing is available when all three components are purchased," Greaser said.

Further information on the new Wellness membership program can be obtained by calling the hospital's Wellness office at 301-334-2155, ext. 231 or 408. Persons interested in attending the Healthy Aging, Healthy Living—Start Now! seminar at the senior center may call the Area Agency on Aging at 301-334-9431.

Clarification Of Accident Report

In last week's edition of The Republican, an auto accident involving a horse and rider was reported. It should have been noted the horse ran onto the road and into the path of the vehicle driven by Earl Gordon, Oakland. Gordon was not charged in the incident.

Smith Is Not Prosecuted For Sexual Assault

Charges against an Oakland man accused of sexually assaulting a woman in 1996 were not prosecuted last week in Garrett County Circuit Court proceedings. David Allan Smith, 32, faced a variety of charges stemming from the alleged assault, but the state's attorney's office did not pursue conviction.

Smith, who is currently serving a prison sentence of approximately four years on other charges, is alleged to have accosted a woman at a Deep Creek Lake hotel in October of 1996. According to the victim's statement, she and the defendant were both in the weight room at the hotel, where he began to make sexual comments to her. She left the room and entered the women's locker room to change. When she looked in the mirror, she reportedly saw Smith standing behind her. At that time, he allegedly grabbed her, attempted to sexually assault her, and exposed himself. She reported that she continued to yell loudly and then the defendant left the room.

The victim did not report the incident immediately, but then relayed the experience to police in November 1997. The defendant was then charged with attempted second degree rape, fourth degree sexual offense, third degree sexual offense, and indecent exposure. The first count was then amended to assault with intent to rape, according to the court document.

According to a spokesperson at the state's attorney's office, officials were unable to prosecute the defendant because there was not enough evidence to convict him on these specific charges.

In other circuit court news, Judge James Sherbin accepted a guilty plea from a man charged with intimidating a state's witness. Thomas E. Gank, 19, was then sentenced to the Garrett County Jail for five months.

Gank allegedly threatened James E. Reed in October 1998 at the Southern High School athletic field. Reed was slated to appear in court proceedings involving Gank, and the defendant apparently threatened Reed's life.

NATIONAL ALCOHOL AWARENESS/SCREENING DAY is April 8, and several representatives of area health organizations met with the Garrett County commissioners Tuesday to proclaim the event. The county health department's Addictions Service office and Addictions Advisory Council have joined the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism to designate the special observance. The proclamation signed by the commissioners states that the two local organizations "have shown dedication to helping individuals and families in need of professional addictions treatment; and, by providing proper screening, assessment, and treatment services, the [Addictions Service and Addictions Advisory Council] constantly work to improve lives and restore families in the community." The proclamation goes on to urge the public to "become fully aware of the value of gaining information about this serious subject." Pictured seated left to right are Commissioners Wendell Beitzel, Fred Holliday, and Ernest Gregg. Standing in the same order are Rodney Glotfelty, county health officer; Patty Sines, social worker; Debra Smith, secretary; Linda Bolding-Colaw, addictions counselor; Michael C. Gibbons, prevention specialist; and Alan Arnson, M.D., addictions advisory council.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express sincere thanks and gratitude to all relatives, the many friends and neighbors who were so kind and thoughtful during the illness and following the death of our mother, granddmother and great grandmother, the late Hazel V. Sharpless. A special thanks to all the people with Home Health, the Rescue Squad, Stewart Funeral Home, Rev. Charles Teets, Darlene Coddington, to the many who sent flowers, contributed food, sent contributions to various charities in her name and those who visited during her illness and so many that showed love, help and concern to Hazel and her family throughout. Much gratitude especially to Pastor Mike Robinson of Friendsville, Md., for his comfort and fellowship during the illness and after Hazel's passing.

GARRETT COUNTY NOTICE OF A PROPOSED PROPERTY TAX INCREASE

The County Commissioners of Garrett County propose to increase property taxes.

1. For the tax year beginning July 1, 1999, the estimated assessable base will increase by 3% from, $785,056,316 to $809,089,480.

2. If Garrett County maintains the current tax rate of $2.59 per $100 of assessment, property tax revenues will increase by 3%, resulting in $622,460 of new property tax revenues.

3. In order to fully offset the effect of increasing assessments, the property tax rate should be reduced to $2.51, the constant yield tax rate.

4. The County is considering not reducing its property tax rate enough to fully offset increasing assessments. The County proposes to adopt a tax rate of $2.59 per $100 of assessment. This tax rate is 3% higher than the constant yield tax rate and will generate $622,460 in additional property tax revenues.

A public hearing on the proposed property tax increase will be held at 11:00 a.m. on April 20, 1999, at the County Commissioners' Meeting Room, County Courthouse, Oakland, MD. The hearing is open to the public, and public testimony is encouraged. Persons with questions regarding this hearing may call 301-334-8970 for further information.

In Memory of Our Butterfly,
Meghan Elizabeth Price,
on her 21st Birthday (March 31, 1999)

You, wanton quiet memory that haunts me all the while
In order to remind me of her to whom love I send Perhaps when you caress me sweetly, I will smile,
You are my confidante today, my very dearest friend.

You, sweet remembrance, tell a fairy tale
About my girl who's lost and gone, you see.
Tell, tell the one about the golden grail
And call the swallow, bring her back to me.

Fly somewhere back to her and ask her, soft and low,
If she thinks of me sometimes with love,
If she is well, and ask her, too, before you go
If I am still her dearest, precious dove.

And hurry back, don't lose your way,
So I can think of other things,
But you were too lovely, perhaps, to stay.
I loved you once. Goodbye, my love!

(Poem taken from the book that inspired the play of the same name, "I Never Saw Another Butterfly," in which Meghan gave an inspiring performance)

WE MISS YOU, MEG!!!
With Loving Memories and Thoughts Always,
Kelly Ryan, Derek Spirk, C.T. Granke, Adam Harvey, and Brad Bell

In loving memory of our Mother and Grandmother
DAISY IMOGENE "JEAN" ALEXANDER who passed away April 6, 1998.

When tomorrow starts without me and I'm not here to see, if the sun should rise and find your eyes all filled with tears for me.
I wish so much you wouldn't cry the way you did today, while thinking of the many things we didn't get to say.
I know how much you love me, as much as I love you, and each time you think of me I know you'll miss me, too.
But when tomorrow starts without me, please try to understand, that an angel came and called my name and took me by the hand.
And said my place was ready in Heaven far above, and that I'd have to leave behind all those I dearly love.
But as I turned to walk away, a tear fell from my eye, for all my life, I'd always thought I didn't want to die.
I had so much to live for, and so much yet to do, it seemed almost impossible that I was leaving you.
I thought of all the yesterdays, the good ones and the bad,
I thought of all the love we shared, and all the fun we had.
But when I walked through "Heaven's Gates" I felt so much at home, when God looked down and smiled at me from His "Great Golden Throne."
He said, "This is eternity and all I've promised you, today your life on earth is past, but here it starts anew;
I promise no tomorrows, but today will always last,
and since each day's the same, there's no longing for the past.
But you have been so faithful, so trusting and so true, though there were times you did some things you knew you shouldn't do.
But you have been forgiven, and now at last you are free, so won't you come and take My hand and share My life with Me..."
So when tomorrow starts without me, don't think we're far apart, for every time you think of me, I'm right here in your heart.

Sadly missed by children & grandchildren

AURORA/EGLON NEWS

EASTER SUNRISE SERVICES

A celebration of Jesus' resurrection is set for Sunday morning, April 4, at 6:30 a.m. (daylight time), at the St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Aurora. Following the sunrise services there will be breakfast served at the church. All are welcome.

98TH BIRTHDAY

Homer Fike will observe his 98th birthday on April 17. To help him celebrate the occasion friends may address cards to him at P.O. Box 44, Eglon, WV 26716.

SOUP, SALAD MEAL

The youth of the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren, Eglon, are sponsoring their annual soup and salad dinner at the church on Saturday evening, April 10, from 4 until 8 p.m. Cost for adults will be $5, for children 12 and under, $3, and pre-schoolers 5 and under may eat free.

WOTRING BIRTH

Kenny and Melissa Wotring of Aurora became parents of their third daughter who was born March 17 at Monongalia General Hospital. She weighed 9 pounds, 6 ounces, and has been named Laura Hope. Her sisters are Amy Joy and Anne Janae.

Maternal grandmother is Jenny Wamsley of Stone Henge, N.J. Paternal grandparents are Tom and Carolyn Wotring of Aurora. Madeline Wotring of Aurora is a paternal great-grandmother.

MYERS SERVICE

A memorial service will be held Saturday, April 10, at 2 p.m., in the Aurora United Methodist Church for James "Jim" Russel Myers, 75, who died January 9, 1999, in Floral City, Fla. The body was cremated and the remains will be interred in the Texas Cemetery beside his first wife, Beulah Evans Myers, and their infant son.

WELCOME PARTY

A shower and family party were held at the Maple Spring Church on Saturday evening, March 27, to welcome Blake Alan Hauser into the church and community family. His parents, Brent and Marcia Hauser, live at Scherr and were weekend guests here. Blake was born January 26 and was welcomed by grandparents, other relatives, and friends.

90TH BIRTHDAY

Earl Hauser of Gnegy Church was honored on his 90th birthday with an open house at the St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House, on Sunday, March 28. Relatives and friends of the couple, Earl and Merle (Slaubaugh) Hauser, were greeted by their children, Naomi and Finley Ames and Robert Hauser, who had planned the affair.

PERSONAL MENTION

Shirley Harsh of Stemple Ridge is a patient in Monongalia General Hospital where she expected to undergo surgery for a heart valve replacement on Wednesday.

Walter "Bill" Hauser returned Friday to his home at Eglon after having hip surgery at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Grover and Nada Evans of Elkins were Sunday visitors at Eglon with Ruth Teets, and at Horse Shoe run with Mary Hauser.

A birthday dinner on Saturday evening honored Don Beckman. Hostess was "Kitty" Myers, and family members in the surrounding area attended.

Guests this weekend of Terry, Jill, and Andrew Hauser at Eglon were her parents, Sam and Patricia Masters, of Organ Cave.

Bruce, Mary, Shawn, and Craig Rembold were weekend visitors in Pittsburgh with Bruce's mother, Eileen Rembold.

Returning to their home at Aurora on Saturday were Hancell and Mildred Teets who had spent several months at their North Carolina home.

Brian Fike, son of Gary and Cleta Fike, Terra Alta, and grandson of Louella Fike, Aurora, graduated last week from basic training at Lackland AFB in Texas. Attending the ceremonies were his mother, sister, and a friend.

Sunday visitors at Aurora with Jessie Fedorow and others were Geraldine Evans Kemphfer and Lois Shaffer of Cumberland.

"Ladies Night Out" on March 26 at the Kingwood Community Building was attended by Delores Douglas, Ressie Conrad, Opal Myers, Wilda Stemple, Dorothy Spaid, Mary Jane Hanline, and Alice Penzo of the Aurora CEOS.

There is quilting on Monday and Friday afternoons at the Union Ambulance Service squad hall in Aurora. Persons who have something to contribute for the silent auction or other portion of the May 8 Craft Fair may contact a member. The women have been busy making small crafts which will be available for sale.

The body of Daisy S. (Keyser) Hebb, 86, was taken last Friday to the Limestone Cemetery for burial. Mrs. Hebb died March 24 at the Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home. She was preceded in death by her husband, Jerry J. Hebb, and had resided for many years near Red House. She is survived by two daughters and five sons.

A native of Aurora and former Horse Shoe Run resident, Norman Helmick, 62, of Kingwood, died March 20 at Ruby Memorial Hospital. He was the son of Ted and Louise (Hauser) Helmick and is survived by two sisters, Virginia McCabe of Kingwood and Mary Ruth Ball of Terra Alta.

Harry Allison "Mose" Delaney, 80, of Terra Alta died March 24. He was a son of the late Clark and Lena (Lawrence) Delaney and is survived by one daughter, Janet (Mrs. Paul) Teter of Terra Alta; six grandchildren; and nine great-grandchildren. A son, Jerry Delaney, preceded him in death in 1984. Interment was in the Davis Cemetery.

A Rowlesburg native, Franklin Hall Proudfoot, 79, of Leesburg, Va., died March 23. He was a son of the late Ira A. and Eva Proudfoot and is survived by a daughter, Dianna Ragsdale, Leesburg; a sister, Joretta Allwine, Chincoteague, Va.; a brother, Robert Proudfoot, Oakland, Md.; four grandsons and a granddaughter. His wife and one son preceded him in death. Services will be held at Arlington National Cemetery at a later date.

Tina DeBaggis, daughter of Clair and Lois Knight who were former Lantz Ridge residents and now live in Montana, has recently undergone breast surgery and is now taking chemotherapy treatments for malignancy. Cards may be addressed to her at: 248 Bradford Street, Pittsfield, MA 01201.

Ryan Simmons, Eglon, who was injured recently in a farm accident, received a skin graft at Garrett County Memorial Hospital last week and is continuing his recuperation at his home. He is the son of Allen and Debbie Simmons.

George Crowe of Somerset, Pa., is reportedly quite ill and hospitalized. He is an uncle of Pastor John Crowe of Eglon and brother of Ross Crowe, Gortner.

Special Event Scheduled At Blackwater Falls

The Thomas Business Committee, Blackwater Falls State Park, and the West Virginia Association of Museums will sponsor an Antiques and Collectibles weekend, May 21-23. One of the activities planned is an outdoor flea market on Saturday, May 22, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Non-profit groups are invited to participate as vendors in the flea market. Appropriate activities are white elephant, crafts, and used book sales. Informational booths are also welcome.

Other activities for the weekend will include antique appraisals, seminars in caring for antiques, a historical walking tour of Thomas, shop open houses, and entertainment.

To register for the flea market, persons may phone 304-463-4522,304-463-4668, or 304-463-4696 by April 15. Booth space is available on a first-come, first served basis. For more information on other activities, persons may phone Blackwater Falls State Park, Pat Hissom, 304-259-5216, or 1-800-CALL WVA, or fax 304-259-5881.

PSC To Host John Hartford

Highland Arts Unlimited, Keyser, will present its final program of the 1998-1999 season when John Hartford appears at Potomac State College on Monday, April 19, at 8 p.m.

Hartford has been a regular on a number of TV shows, such as the Glenn Campbell Goodtime Hour, the Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour, David Letterman, Hee-Haw, The Grand Ole Opry, and as a guest of Ralph Emery on Nashville Now. He has also written a special for the Nashville Network (TNN) "Banjos, Fiddles, and Riverboats." In May of 1991, the Gasoline Alley comic strip featured him in a story line which paralleled that of a children's book written by Hartford, Steamboat in a Cornfield. In addition to multiple television and radio appearances, he was one of the voices on Ken Burns' Civil War series on PBS.

This event is funded by Highland Arts Unlimited memberships, Potomac State College, the West Virginia Commission on the Arts, and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Tickets may be purchased at the door, and will not be sold any other place. Adult tickets are $10 and student tickets are $5. Highland Arts members need only show their membership cards, and Potomac State students just show their IDs to be admitted to this performance. The auditorium is handicapped accessible.

Alpine Lake Road Recovery Plan Approved

The 1999 Road Recovery Plan has been approved by members of the Alpine Lake Property Association with a vote of 412 to 233. Now the association will notify the winning bidder and arrange for work to begin early this month.

The project will involve the paving of 30 miles of road at Alpine Lake, which comes in conjunction with recent improvements to the golf course and the motel at the resort area.

Currently, Alpine Lake Resort is a community with more than 300 residential homes, a 35-room motel, a lodge with a restaurant and bar, conference rooms, a fitness center, an indoor heated swimming pool, and the 150-acre lake.

The resort can be reached at 1-800-753-7179 or 304-789-2481.

The Family of

would like to express their sincerest appreciation to those who comforted and supported us with their prayers, donations, cards, flowers, calls, and visits by relatives, friends & neighbors in the difficult time of our loss.

We would like to sincerely thank the doctors and staff at both the hospital and Manor Nursing Home for their care of our mother, grandmother, great grandmother and great-great grandmother, and for the compassion and comfort to us all.

Also with many thanks to Pastor Wally Weeks, Brother Ray Worton, and Youth Pastor Mark Watkins for their spiritual guidance and personal involvement.

Thanks to the pallbearers for your help. A big thanks to the Stewart Funeral Home for all you have done to help.

May God bless you all for your efforts.

Low Back Pain: Millions in US Affected

According to information from the American College of Rheumatology, low back pain disables between 4 and 5 million Americans each year at a cost of approximately $16 billion. Work-related pain is one of the most common of all occupational disorders, according to the National Institute for Occupational Safety. Risk factors for low back pain include certain diseases (e.g., spinal osteoporosis), sports activities like cross country skiing, jobs that require repetitive lifting, and driving a car or truck for prolonged periods of time.

Medicines frequently prescribed for low back pain include the nonprescription pain relievers acetaminophen, aspirin, ibuprofen, naproxen, and ketoprofen. With the exception of acetaminophen, all of these pain relievers relieve inflammation at labeled doses. A narcotic pain reliever such as hydrocodone or codeine may be prescribed if pain is moderate to severe. Other medicines used for low back pain include steroids such as prednisone, muscle relaxants, and certain antidepressants. Exercise may be better than bed rest. And physical therapy may be prescribed to increase muscle tone and strength. A surgical implant that stimulates the spinal cord may be recommended for chronic pain.

vided. We have also managed to fund, through POS, most of the projects that have been submitted by phasing them in over several years. Acquisition funds have more than covered the requests of our communities. We have worked with all municipalities and taxing areas to try to minimize the effects of this on-going commitment.

We have been commissioners long enough to know that, no matter what the project, there will always be pros and cons as well as supporters and protesters of any major project. We wonder what your position will be to a potential state purchase of Deep Creek Lake. Millions and millions of our tax dollars could potentially be removed from the state treasury to fund this project. Will you label the rest of Maryland as the "big losers"?

To the Editor:

On March 27th the Garrett County Commission for Women held their 5th Annual Hall of Fame Breakfast, an event I look forward to each year. When notified that I was to be honored along with Ruth DiPaolo and Mary Love, I experienced many different emotions. When it was announced in The Republican, I admit to running out and buying a whole stack of papers to send to children and grandchildren. Panic set in when I realized I might be called upon to say something. Deep feelings are the most difficult to express.

I would like to thank the Hall of Fame Committee for this honor, my friends from Civic Club, League of Women Voters, and Lighthouse who wrote such supportive letters and members of the Commission, especially Beverly Beard and Sandi Flockhart who made it such a relaxed and enjoyable event.

Eleven years ago on August 5th I moved to Garrett County wondering what in the world I would do with my time. Phyllis Trickett, the first person I met, channeled me into the Civic Club of Oakland and by the end of August I was attending my first meeting.

Working with the women of this county has been a privilege and a learning experience. I've had the opportunity to work with Dorothy Leighton and Edith Brock, who have spent a lifetime working to preserve our heritage and improve this county. I've shared projects with Jane Avery, who is keenly sensitive to the needs of our youth, and determined that our young women will grow up knowing the joy of success. I've worked under the leadership of exceptional women like Betty Malloy (VIVA) and Martha Jachowski (Civic Club and Lighthouse), and strong women like Phyllis Trickett and Susan Athey-Oxford, who have the courage to speak out on women's issues and willingly share ideas. To know her is to love her...I immediately fell in love with the feisty Polly Hanst, who at 92 is still ready for a challenge and is always there with an open heart and an outstretched hand to welcome and encourage the newcomer.

In Garrett County we cherish our children, dignify our elderly, struggle to improve the life of the mentally ill, and are not afraid to identify problems such as addiction and domestic violence. We have a network of agencies and organizations that work well together and an outstanding number of volunteers. On the lighter side, we even have an editor willing to literally "jump in the lake" in the middle of winter to support a cause. The bottom line is, we are a community that Really cares. All this and we are surrounded by beauty and wildlife all year long.

This transplant from Long Island with just a trace of a New York accent thanks you for allowing her to become a part of this wonderful community and rightfully shares this honor with all the dedicated people she has worked with.

HIGH-POINTERS UPDATE COMMISSIONERS — Gene and Lillian Elliot, a Silver Spring couple who has worked for the past two years to preserve and promote the highest geological point in Maryland, met with the Garrett County commissioners last week to update them on their progress. The high point is located on Backbone Mountain, close to the West Virginia line in the southern most point of Garrett County. The Elliots have garnered the support of the Garrett County Historical Society in their efforts, as the society has agreed to sponsor Boy Scout troops to maintain the current trail to the point. Presently the site is on land owned by Western Pocahontas, a coal mining company in West Virginia. The management is currently not interested in selling the approximately nine acres of land that would secure a walking trail from Rt. 219 up to the point, where a historical society sign, erected in 1952, marks the spot. The Elliots have also garnered the support of the state, which, according to John Braskey, special liaison to the Department of Natural Resources, is willing to purchase the land should it ever be available for sale. The Elliots have asked the commissioners to perhaps pen a letter to the W.Va. company to encourage its consideration of making the land available to the state. (Hikers seeking the high point should note that they should not attempt to reach the spot on the Maryland side of the mountain, as much of the land there is privately owned. They should enter from the W.Va. side in the Monongahela Forest along Rt. 219.) Braskey was at last week's meeting, as was Tim Magrath of Senator Paul Sarbanes's office, and members of the W.Va. State Highway Administration, who are willing to work with Garrett County in developing a safe entryway to the high point trail. Pictured left to right are Commissioners Fred Holliday and Wendell Beitzel, Magrath, the Elliots, Commissioner Ernest Gregg, and Robert Boal, representing the historical society.

APPEAL MADE FOR DOVE CENTER — A group of local residents representing a variety of groups and organizations met with the Garrett County commissioners this week to issue an appeal for the fiscal authority's consideration of adding the Dove Center to its budget this year. In a statement read by Mary McEwen (pictured standing), a request was made that the commissioners at least provide a small token of funding to the shelter, combined with "publicized, vocal, and enthusiastic support" of the county's ongoing effort to break the cycle of family violence. She asked the commissioners to "challenge the community" to join them in their support, and to offer "innovative, creative ways to inspire people to perhaps match your token, or offer to match others." The meeting was brief and non-confrontational, and included comments by a woman who, along with her children, had benefited greatly from her month-long stay at the local shelter, after having left an 11-year-long abusive relationship. Liz Biser, a family violence counselor, also spoke briefly, encouraging the commissioners to take a positive stance in the issue, even if they don't allot any funds to support the shelter. The commissioners stated that they do understand the scope of domestic violence, but that they have a tight budget and have to be prudent in their allotment of funds. Commissioner Chairman Ernest Gregg said his board will seriously consider the issue.

Behavioral signs of abuse include sleep disturbances, fatigue, aggressive or withdrawn behavior, inability to concentrate, poor performance in school, changes in social behavior, crying, appetite changes, physical illness, phobias, stealing, knowledge, talk of sex beyond one's age, low self-esteem, running away, depression, promiscuity, and substance abuse.

If you suspect child abuse and observe these signs, it is important to have a child evaluated by a professional. If you become aware of, or suspect, a case of child abuse, it is very important to report. Reporting will help ensure the well-being of the victim who discloses, as well as other potential victims. It will also end the abuse and allow the healing process to begin. It may also be a catalyst for the perpetrator to get help for issues such as lack of anger control, unresolved abuse issues from his or her own life, poor stress management and parenting skills, and substance abuse.

Reports of abuse may be disclosed to the local social services agency, law enforcement, or domestic violence center, or to a trusted counselor who will provide assistance in taking further steps.

It is also important to consider children who are "secondary" victims of abuse, that is, children who live in homes where there is violence. These children may not be directly abused, but are witnesses to abuse, and the emotional impact is often monumental.

Witnessing domestic abuse often leads to low self-esteem, poor coping skills, unmanageable feelings of guilt, substance abuse, "acting out" behaviors, depression, inability to get along with others as a child or to function in relationships as an adult, and overwhelmingly inappropriate feelings of responsibility for the well-being of others — especially family members.

If you are involved in a violent relationship, it is important not to underestimate the impact on your children and to get yourself and your children the help you need to become happy, functional, and above all, SAFE individuals.

Parents who have become aware that their children are victims of abuse often experience denial, shock, anger, fear, guilt, sorrow, remorse, and other emotions. It is important that once aware of the abuse, the parent seek help for him- or herself as well as for the child. Anyone who is aware of abuse of a child should assume the important role of reporting the situation.

Abuse and its devastation can be worked through or prevented if we all become educated and work as a team to stop it.

For more information, or to get help for yourself or for a child victim, please call the Dove Center at 301-334-9000 or 1-800-894-3872.

To the Editor:

We write to you, for the third year of our local affiliation with the National Committee on Pay Equity, to let you know that the observance of Equal Pay Day is just seven days away!

Women must work until April 8, the point into the new year that a woman must work to earn the salary paid to a man in the previous calendar year. The median earnings of women working full-time, year-round are 74% of the median earnings of men working full-time yearround.

Unfortunately, women are short-changed routinely across the country. In a new report released by the AFL-CIO and the Institute for Women's Policy Research, Equal Pay for Working Families: National and State Data on the Pay Gap and its Costs, progress towards equal pay for women has slowed in this decade. The study confirmed that nationally, the average woman earns $431 per week compared with the $579 weekly earnings of the average man. Yet, at the same time, families depend upon women's earnings to make ends meet. More than two out of three mothers in the United States work. Two wage earners are the norm.

Let's not ignore the evidence of unfair pay practice and related unfair (illegal) personnel policies. We cannot ignore a mountain of evidence documenting that a wage gap exists even when comparing women and men who have the same job, education, qualifications, and time in the workforce.

Evidence of wage discrimination can be found in Department of Labor audits. In compliance reviews, violations are apparent. Texaco, Trigon Blue Cross Blue Shield, U.S. Airways, Marriott, American University, and American Greetings Corporation have been remanded to pay millions of dollars to women who have been systematically underpaid even in instances where the women had more seniority or better performance reviews. And, let's not kid ourselves to think that unfair pay and related discriminatory personnel practices exist only at the urban, big business level. From banks to schools, from restaurants to mining companies, and from service stations to human services, local women can recount stories of similar discrimination.

Unequal pay robs women and families at the tune of $400 billion annually. The average 29-year-old woman with a college degree will lose $986,000 over her lifetime to the pay gap. In general, women are paid $13,000 less per year than their male counterparts.

Working women live the outdated attitudes that still exist today. Administrators tell women that men make more money because they have families to support. Women are asked about their "family-life" in interviews. Women are told that they are not capable of doing the "higher paying jobs" and oftentimes placed in lower pay grades. They are ignored or retaliated against when they pursue equal pay or other related grievances.

As the leaders in Garrett County explore opportunities to grow our local economy and to attract employers, it is imperative that they seek gainful employment opportunities that are women and family friendly. They must take seriously their gatekeeper responsibilities and only promote business that views the welfare of their employees as essential in their bottom-line; business that provides basic benefits packages and reinvests in the future of our community.

Let's ensure that our leadership in policy and practice demonstrate that women are hired equally, paid equally, and promoted equally.

On behalf of the Garrett County Commission for Women,
Susan Athey-Oxford
Equal Pay Day Coordinator

To the Editor:

With piety Pres. Clinton says we must intervene in Kosovo, else more people will be killed and innocent children driven from their homes. With an equally willing blindness he ignores the 4,000 innocent daily driven from their homes, (permanently), in his abortion clinics in America. The right to choose who lives or dies is now man's, as most don't believe in a God other than man himself.

The one-world system man has sought for nearly 6,000 years is here — NOW. The only unfinished business is the choosing of its dictator leader. That too will be accomplished upon the removal of God's church very soon. America will then become the military third of the unholy trinity called Mystery, Babylon the Great; Rome will be the religious third; and the European Union the economic third. The leader (Satan) will direct the politics of all three.

Dead or alive I won't be here to see the Hell on Earth that follows. Psalm 9:17 is about to occur. Which God do you choose to follow?

Respectfully,
Bob Groves

THE NACILBUPER

VOLUME 60 GALLONS — APRIL FOOL'S DAY, 1999 — NO. 4

We don't publish The Nacilbuper every year, but with April 1 falling right smack on a Thursday this year, we just couldn't resist. This is our newsstaff's attempt to have some fun and, we hope, provide some chuckles to our thousands of readers. There might even be some raucus laughter, complete with knee slappings, which would make us quite happy.

We rib some folks, particularly some of our elected officials, but we hope they realize it is all just for fun and without malice. If they don't...well...sorry.

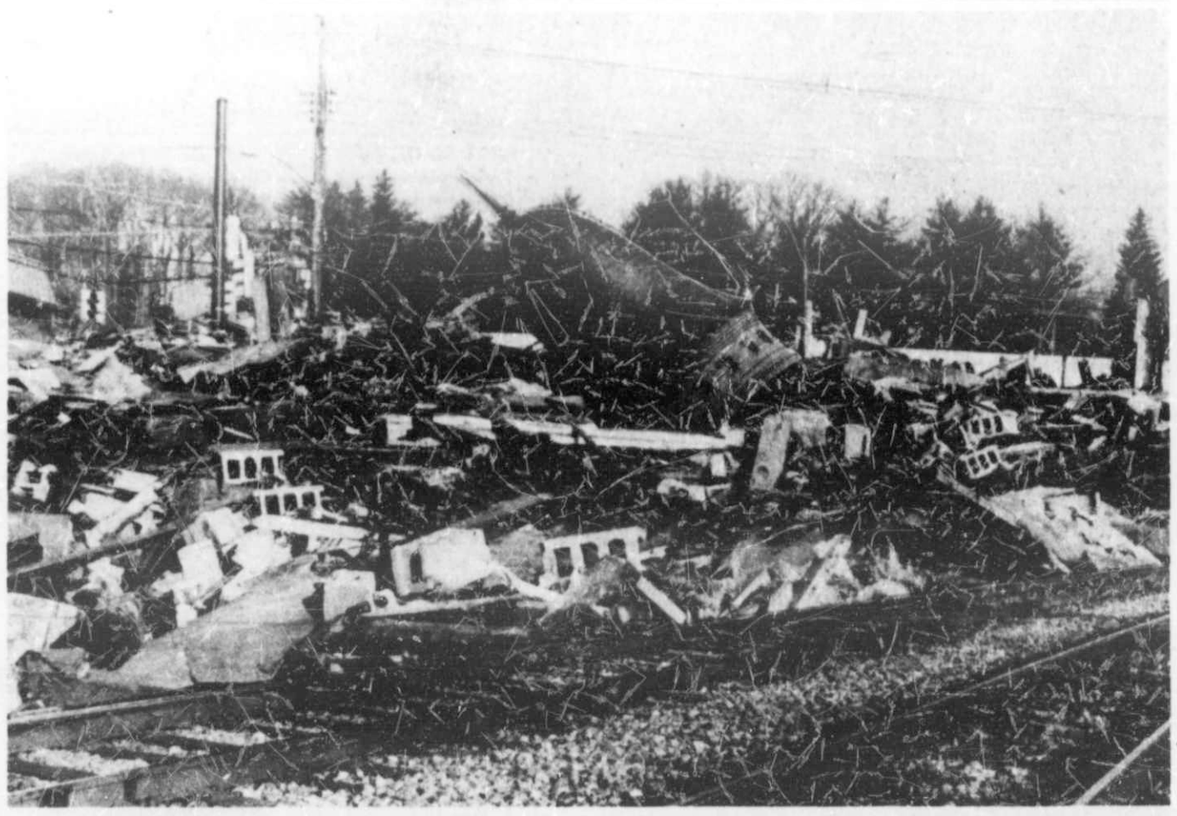
"Drop Bears On Annapolis," Says Del. Saidwords

In response to taxpayer concerns regarding bears getting into trash and hot tubs, Delicate George Saidwords has proposed to capture bears, outfit them with parachutes, and fly them out of the Gortner Internation Airport to be dropped onto the Maryland State House in Annapolis.

"It's a foolproof concept," said Saidwords. "Bears don't have thumbs, so they don't do too well when they try to hitch-hike. They won't be finding their way back up here soon."

"This is a great idea," said Thomas Touron III, a part-time resident of Deep Creek Palatial Estates—Where Every Door of Every Home Fronts the Lake, Even the Back Door™. "Just the other day, my wife was lying in the yard with a jelly donut sticking out of her mouth for the whole afternoon, just minding her own business, and do you know that a bear came up and took that donut right out of her mouth?

"Really, I have it on film, and so do all the people that paid $20 each to stand in our yard and take pictures to show their friends back home. I tell youze guys, it's dangerous out here in the wilderness," said Touron.



DOWN SHE CAME! - The effort to restore the historic B&O Railroad Station in Oakland came to an abrupt end this week when the 100-plus-year-old structure was bulldozed to the ground to make way for a new Bob Burgers and Canker Ointment store. "We just didn't see any point in pouring good money into such an old building, especially when we learned about this fantastic economic opportunity," stated Oakland Mayor Ace In-The-Hole McCrane. "Bob's will bring jobs, jobs, jobs into town, not to mention some of the finest burgers and canker ointment available." Construction on the new store is expected to begin within the next few weeks. See story for details.

Oakland Station Razed To Make Way For Bob's Burgers

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland announced this week that, instead of attempting to restore the newly historic Oakland B&O Railroad Station, it has decided to sell the property to Bob "Let's Make a Deal" Brazen, Podunk, Ky., who plans to erect one of his well known Bob's Burgers and Canker Ointment establishments on the site. The 118-year-old station was demolished on Monday (see photo).

"We just couldn't see any good reason to pour money into such an old structure like the B&O Station," stated Oakland Mayor Ace In-The-Hole McCrane, who recently assumed the chairmanship of ROS (Raze Oakland Station), "especially when Mr. Brazen offered such a wonderful opportunity for our community. Every single member of the Town Council, each of whom was placed into office by a vote of the people, according to the U.S. Constitution and the sovereign laws of our town, county, state, and nation, prefers Bob's Burgers hands down over McDonald's, Burger King, and even over Dottie's Englander's burgers. We were struck by that realization via an extensive taste-testing session of the council members at Monday's regular meeting, after which the choice was absolutely clear.

"And we hear that their canker ointment is among the finest money can buy," he added.

McCrane said that Bob's also provides employment opportunity for Oakland area residents. "Bob told us personally that, with training, experience, determination, perseverance, and a few good breaks here and there, a guy could move from moppin' floors all the way up to burger flippin' or ointment stirrin' in no time; less than 10 years in some cases," he said. "Plus, you only have to work one year before you start getting paid.

"That's just the kind of job opportunities our council has been after for a long time."

The Mayor and Town Council were so enthusiastic that they voted to pay to have the station torn down, and to donate all the monies raised thus far by the Save Oakland Station organization to Mr. Brazen, who vowed that, with that kind of support, he believed he could have his new establishment built and open for business by the summer of 2005.

It was alleged by some that Mayor McCrane held considerable stock in Bob's B&CO, but when questioned about that, he responded, "None of your bee's wax."

Name Change Of Town To Be Voted On Soon

In light of the recent changes in the environmental surroundings of Oakland, the town leaders have suggested a name change.

"I was driving into town the other day and realized we don't have many oaks left at all, so our name is just plain silly," said a town spokes-human. "Just take a look around — it's obvious what the place ought to be called."

"Stumpland" is the new name expected to be unanimously agreed upon.

"It has a nice ring to it, don't it? And it fits so nice to the view we have now," the human spoke. "We're real happy about it."

Courthouse Being Moved To Lake Site

To keep up with the continued exodus of major agencies and offices to the lake area, a crane the size of Delaware will be hoisting the county courthouse from Oakland to the lake area this spring.

"Well, everything else is moving down there and we just thought we'd get on the stick and move the county seat, too," said Commissioner Ted Vacation. Commissioner Wander Bitzeal hopes to see the courthouse put down next to his family's watering hole at Sleep Creek.

"What the hey? Folks can get lunch at my place and then go get their marriage licenses or landfill tags, all in one trip. Sounds good to me," he said.

The hole left by the courthouse will be used as a new landfill, where vacant town buildings can be tossed by the crane.

"We know we'll need the space for that," laughed Commissioner Earnestly Begg. Glad Tallbert, former head of a restoration effort in the town, has been promised the job of landfill operator.

Sign-up for the crane will take place after Whale-Mart opens its doors. All signers will receive a coupon for a mug of cappuccino and a half-pound bag of spicy peat moss.

Read. Then flush.

Fowl Accident On Interstate Stops Traffic

All traffic was stopped on I-68 Saturday when a tractor trailer spilled its load of penguins into the eastbound lane.

Police reported that the truck driven by Oma Gosh, Oshkosh, Wisc., was transporting a community of 75 penguins to the Baltimore Zoo at 6 a.m. when he came to a sudden stop while crossing over the Casselman River. The rear door of his trailer fell open in the jolt, loosing his feathered fowl cargo onto the roadway.

Gosh said that he had stopped suddenly because he saw in the westbound lane a pick-up truck driven by Stu Pithead, Kissimmee, Fla., who was fly fishing from his vehicle.

Pithead told police he had never been able to resist the opening day of trout season in Garrett County and just wanted to slow down enough on the interstate to catch a couple as he crossed the well-stocked Casselman River.

The penguins, once free to roam, also were attracted to the trout and began diving from the bridge. Rescue units were called in from all surrounding districts to recapture the escaped cargo. In all, 72 penguins were transported to nearby medical facilities following their ordeal. No injuries were found — three penguins are still at large.

Police charged Oma Gosh with driving while stupid (DWS) and cited Stu Pithead with fishing from a moving vehicle on an interstate.

OTT Plans New Project

Jane Aviary, artistic director of Our Town Theatre in Oakland, has announced plans to turn the theatre into a roller derby arena.

"I'm tired of directing plays, watching plays and reading plays--that's all I ever do, I never get to read any Harleyquinn romance novels," she complained. "Wait until you see the death-defying loop-de-loop we're going to build over the front entryway. Of course, it means we will have to tear out the lighting booth and start a new set of renovations. Sometimes, you just have to keep trying until you get it right and that's what we're doing."

Tryouts for skaters will be held in the near future to build up a quality local team. "You must be a great skater and very aggressive and you can't be afraid to get hurt," a spokesperson said. "Having a sense of showmanship is an asset, too. We hope to build a local team that can challenge and be triumphant over some of the more famous local teams. I can't wait to see players in the Our Town Theatre jerseys shoving and tripping and skating their way to victory."

To the Editor:

Why can't people respect one another anymore? Why, I had a terrible experience this weekend during which some ignorant, no-good, oily, knotty-pated, smelling, stupid, onion-eyed, mewling, rump-fed, milk-livered, lunk-headed, befouled, clueless, pox-covered, swollen, maggot-pied, whey-faced pigs actually took issue with my opinions. I'm a proud resident of this county and I don't understand why people have to show such intolerable disrespect. There's just no place for it in any sort of debate or discussion. Until these fly-bitten, common, barefoot, kissing cousins respect my opinions and hold enough public hearings to finally agree with all my ideas, I say to the dogs with them, the spleeny, bile-snorting, puny, beslubbering, canker blossoms.

Respectfully,

Study Reveals All-You-Can-Eat Meals Lead To Obesity

The federal government has just announced the results of a $35 million study on dieting habits of Garrett County residents.

"Our 5 years of research proves that 'all-you-can-eat' meals, common throughout the county, lead to alarming high rates of obesity, heart disease, and NASCAR decals on the back windshields of vehicles," one of the scientists said. "At this rate, within 20 years there won't be any native Garrett Countians left alive.

"You're looking at a future influx of bean sprout eating, cappuccino sipping, fine wine tasting people becoming the majority in the county. All-you-can-eat rice cake and tofu brunches will likely replace buckwheat cake and sausage suppers," the researcher said.

Grantsville Grant Grants Grant Beachy Beeches For Beachy Beach

Grantsvillian Mayor Grant Beachy announced this week that the town has awarded a grant to purchase trees for the purpose of dressing up the community, and he has decided to use the funds to purchase beech trees that will be planted around the pond in his back yard along Main Street.

"We have a little beach around our pond, and my wife and I have always loved beech trees," Beachy said.

The mayor said he also wants to use any residual funds to buy a case of beach balls for the local children to play with whenever they come to visit. Any leftover monies will be used to purchase bleach to sanitize the beach balls.

"This Grantsville grant grants Grant an opportunity to buy beeches, beach balls, and bleach for Beachy Beach," said Bea Beachy, wife of Mayor Beachy. "We will want to make sure the children always put the balls away when they are finished playing with them, though, so we Beachys won't have to contend with unbleached, beached beach balls on the beach at the base of the Beachy Beach beeches," Bea Beachy bleated.

She said that still additional monies are being provided to plant some vegetables, and the Beachys have decided to plant their favorite: beets. "In the warm summer months, children will be able to beat the heat and eat a beet after bleaching beached beach balls on the beach under the Beachy Beach beeches," Bea Beachy added.

Some believe that the grant funds should be spent for other things, but Mayor Beachy disagreed. "Any departure from the specifics of the grant would probably be illegal. We just don't think it would be wise to try to beat a Beachy Beach beeches/beach balls/bleach/beets breach of contract," Beachy preached.

The council agreed unanimously.

So's yer old man.

Beauty Tips

By Constance Conceita

Dear Miss Conceita,

I have problem hair. My dog's hair is more manageable than mine. I've even tried to go to his groomer. I have bed head 24 hours a day. My hair hurts and I just can't stand it another minute. Can you help me?

Dee Greaser

Dear Miss Greaser,

I have wonderful news for you! I have just invented a wonderful shampoo hair treatment! The best part is you can make it yourself because I don't have time for all the activity going on in your hair. Your dog placed an order with me last summer, I believe it was during Dog Days. I understand your pain but I don't care. Try my Envigorating shampoo but please don't bother me again. And remember I'm always here to help.

Constance Conceita was born on a 2x4 very close to her mother in Swaller Fallers. Having gone to beauty school in Plaster, Paris, she is very educated and informed. She can also help you with drywall questions.

Envigorating Sampoo

Here are the ingredients required:

1 case of horse linament
Ear wax from a family of 5
5 cups of comet
1 tub of lard
1 dozen rotten eggs
1 bug off a windshield
3 bottles of murphy's soap
1 tube of ben gay
3 sparklers
1 winter of static electricity

Get all the ingredients together and stand on one leg for two minutes.

Simply place each ingredient into a rusty wash tub. Blend together with your feet (take shoes off first) Tip: If you have corns add 1 stick of butter and a dash of salt & pepper. Once blended well use a scoop shovel to fill in containers of your choice. Use a sledge hammer to tap the lids on.

With the approach of Y2K you will want to make plenty.

For added color enhancement use one of the below ingredients for your hair color.

Black Hair: Add 5 gal. bucket of driveway sealer.

Brown Hair: Add 1- 16 oz. bag of brown beans. Cook first.

Blonde Hair: Add 27 crookneck squash.

Brunette Hair: Add 1 row of beets.

Red Hair: Add 1 quart of barn red paint. (use baby carrots for children under age 41)

Adorable Adoptables

THIS IS A FIRST for the Garrett County animal shelter, which has always had plenty of dogs and cats available for adoption, but this week has this giant rodent for which they hope to find a friendly home. The animal, found in the Finzel sewer system, has reportedly had all of its shots, and the staff at the animal shelter personally made a nice Easter outfit for the critter to help celebrate the season and to show just how pretty she really is. Persons interested in adopting this fuzzy little friend are invited to telephone the shelter immediately. (The shelter recommends that this particular animal should not be adopted by families with small children.)

STOCKING AT DEEP CREEK - A brand new species was introduced in Deep Creek Lake during the lake's annual spring stocking this past week. Some 165 of the new breed, scientifically known as homo-crazicus-what-were-they-thinkingcus, were placed in the lake near Arrowhead Plaza with great hopes by the DNR that they would be an excellent new addition to the game population in the lake. Lake manager Saul Durpork said that the waters of Deep Creek were thought to be "ideal" for the new species; however, much to his surprise, nearly all of the 165 turned around and crawled back up onto shore within moments after being introduced into the water. "We were shocked by this response," Durport said. "So, it's back to the drawing board to try to find another species that will take to the lake. Maybe next year."

Huskies Top Westmar, Fall To Indians, Whip Panthers

After opening their season with a loss to Allegany, the Northern High boys' varsity baseball team was on the road three more times this week and came away with a pair of victories. The Huskies defeated host Westmar last Thursday, 13-10, in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League contest, were edged by Mount Savage in another WMIL game on Saturday, 4-3, on the Indians' diamond, and then rolled over Hancock on Tuesday, 12-0, on the Panthers' field.

The results left Coach Phil Carr and his squad with a 2-2 overall mark and a 1-2 record in the WMIL.

The Huskies were out-hit by the Wildcats of Westmar, 18-13, but they took advantage of six errors and never trailed in the game. Northern put three runs on the board in the first inning, one in the third, two in the fourth, one in the fifth, four in the sixth, and two in the seventh.

Two Huskies finished with three hits apiece, as Levi Schmuck rapped a double and two singles, and P.J. Workman recorded three singles.

Pacing Westmar's attack were Jamie Clark with a triple and two doubles, and David Ziler with a double and a single. It was the season opener for the Wildcats.

It was a grand slam by Joe Shaffer in the fifth inning that led Mt. Savage to its one-run victory over the Huskies on Saturday.

The Huskies had a 2-0 lead going into the bottom of the fifth, and after Shaffer's blast, they rallied for a run in the top of the sixth, but that was the final run of the game. Brian DeHaven took the mound for the Indians in the fifth inning and struck out eight batters.

After three scoreless innings, the Huskies put their first run on the board in the fourth when Josh Henderson doubled and then scored on a two-out single by Tim Umbel. They made it 2-0 in the fifth when Workman singled, stole second, and scored on a bad throw from the catcher after a strike-out.

Shaffer's grand slam was set up on back-to-back singles by Jason Skidmore and Adam Moulden, and a walk drawn by Steve Bennett to load the bases.

The final run of the game was a solo homer by Northern's Matt Settle in the sixth.

John Emerick led the Indians' 12-hit performance by recording four hits, all singles, and Shaffer had a single to go with his grand slam.

Settle had a single to go with his round-tripper and Henderson finished with a double and single for the Huskies.

DeHaven earned the win in relief, as he struck out eight and walked none. Workman took the loss and finished with five strike-outs and two walks in five innings of work.

The victory upped the Indians' record to 2-0 (1-0 WMIL).

The game with Hancock was called after five innings because of the 10-run rule on Tuesday, as the Huskies pounded the home team for 11 runs in the second inning alone. The inning featured a grand slam by Corey Sisler, a three-run homer by Levi Schmuck, a two-run triple by Paul Beitzel, and an RBI double by Ryan Butler.

Schmuck had a single to go with his homer, and Workman finished with a double and a single.

Jeff Carr and Keith Artice combined for a two-hitter on the mound for the Huskies, with Carr tossing the first four frames, striking out four, and allowing just one walk.

The Huskies will play again this Saturday in the Hancock Easter Tournament. They will meet Williamsport at 11 a.m. and Hancock at 1 p.m. They will travel to Fort Hill next Wednesday for another WMIL contest.

HUSKY WRESTLERS HONORED - Special guests of the Garrett County commissioners this week were the members of the Northern High School wrestling team, which captured second place as a team in the Maryland State 1A/2A Championships last month, as well as two individual titles. The Huskies finished with a regular season record of 14-0 and a dual meet record of 16-1, plus the Bi-County and West Region 1A/2A title before competing so well in the state tournament. Individual champions were 140-pound senior Jesse Shimrock, who finished the season with a perfect 37-0 record and his Husky career with a school record 110 wins and only 22 defeats; and junior Brandon Stein, who won the 125-pound division title, finished with a 29-4 record for the season, and upped his career mark to 89-11. Others placing among the top six in the state for Northern were: sophomore Blake Huber (103 pounds), third; senior Matt Kauffman (160), third; sophomore Mark Wolf (152), fifth; and junior Paul Beitzel (130), sixth place. The Huskies, coached by Scott Stough, finished the 1998-99 season ranked eighth in the state among the scores of public and private high schools, 1A through 4A.

Rams Open With Victories Over Keyser And Preston

Off to an excellent start this baseball season are the Southern High School Rams, defending Area champions and 1A Maryland state runner-up, who opened their 1999 campaign with a 10-6 victory over host Keyser on Friday at Potomac State College, and then blanked Preston County High, 11-0, in Kingwood on Saturday.

Southern wasted no time taking control of the game against Keyser, as the Rams scored five runs in the first inning and three in the second to assume an 8-1 advantage. The Golden Tornados' best inning was the sixth, when they scored three runs.

The Rams were out-hit by an 8-7 margin, but put four hits together in their five-run first inning. Jordan Uphold led off the game with a double and reached home on a double by Keith Parks. Parks then came home on a single by Mike Shahan, Nathan DiSimone followed with another single, and Christian Warfield sent home the third run with a fielder's choice. The fourth and fifth runs were scored via bases-loaded walks.

A three-run homer by Shahan accounted for the Rams' three runs in the third inning.

Keyser's three runs in the sixth were also recorded on a three-run blast by Tony Haywood. He also had a single and Gerald Mayhew finished with two singles.

Shahan led the Ram offense with his homer and single, while Uphold and Parks each contributed a double and a single.

Jason Finch, who pitched into the seventh inning for the Rams, struck out seven in earning the victory.

The Rams needed only five innings to dispose of the Preston County Knights on Saturday, as Jordan Uphold fired a three-hitter, struck out six, and allowed no walks.

Again the Rams put runs on the board in their first at-bats, with two in the first frame, and then seven more in the second.

Keith Parks smacked a home run, a double, and a single for two RBI, Jason Weaver stroked a double and a single, and Christian Warfield and Billy Stoner each contributed two singles in the Rams' 11-hit effort.

The only multiple-base hit for the Knights was a double by Scott Benson.

The Rams will play again this Saturday when they host an Easter Tournament involving Petersburg and Meyersdale. They will entertain Preston County next Tuesday and travel to Allegany on Wednesday.

Mountain Top League Reports Playoff Results

First- and second-round playoff action in the Mountain Top Basketball League was held Sunday, with the Aquatic Center, Midas, and Dawson Trucking being eliminated.

Dawson Trucking, seeded fourth, met the fifth-seeded Aquatic Center in one of the first-round contests and rolled to a 72-58 victory. The game was tied at 15-15 at the end of the first quarter, but Dawson moved ahead by 10, 50-40, by halftime and held at least a seven-point advantage the rest of the way.

Jared Beckman hit a game-high 20 points in a losing effort, while Kris Upole paced four Dawson players in double figures by hitting 19 points. Scott Shahan was right behind with 18 points, while Mark Dawson and Brian Reams each scored 13.

Second-seeded Midas was upset in the second game by the third seed, 219 Motors, 69-61. Midas could not control Joe Refosco on the inside, as he poured a season-high 29 points. Midas trailed by only three at halftime, but was soon down by as many as 20, as Jon Hegeman sunk four three-pointers. Jason Brenneman and Mike Harvey paced Midas with 19 and 17 points, respectively.

Top-seeded Condoerr survived a valiant upset attempt by Dawson Trucking in the first semi-final game, but held on for a 67-62 victory. The score remained close from the opening tip-off, but with less than a minute to play, Condoerr held a five-point lead. A three-point bucket by Doug Copeland of Dawson cut the margin to three points with 11 seconds remaining. On the ensuing inbounds, Condoerr's Pete Brosnihan was fouled, and he hit both free throws to conclude the scoring. A last second-second, three-point attempt by Mark Dawson was off the mark.

Dennis Gibson led the winners' offense with 19 points and Tom Stem netted 16. Kris Upole also recorded 19 points for Dawson Trucking, Scott Shahan scored 11, and Dawson finished with 10.

Rams Win First Pair Of Season By Downing Fort Hill 3-1, Westmar 7-5

A season opener marked by a two-hit pitching performance by Jennifer Bosley put Southern High School's varsity softball team over Fort Hill by a 3-1 margin, which was followed by a 17-5 thumping of Westmar with Bosley's bat leading the way. Boasting a 2-0 record, the Rams were scheduled to play at Northern this afternoon as they seek to continue a strong spring start.

It was a pitcher's duel at Fort Hill on Saturday, as Bosley and the Sentinels' Carrie Liller hooked up to strike out a total of 18 batters throughout the contest, while Liller allowed only five hits as she nearly matched Bosley's two-hitter.

Bosley scored the first run of the contest herself after doubling in the second inning and then scampering home on a Sentinel error. The Rams scored what became the winning run in the fifth inning when lead off hitter Nicole Kitzmiller walked and later scored on Ashley Liller's single. Bosley scored again in the top of the sixth after she singled and Kitzmiller drove her home on a single of her own.

Fort Hill dented the scoring column with its only run in the bottom of the sixth inning after Fort Hill's Kristie Stone, who had stretched a bunt to second base on a throwing error, scored on a single by Gretchen Pryor. Bosley held on through the end of the inning for the complete-game win, aided by the catching of batterymate Jenn Sanders.

On offense, Bosley tallied a double and a single, Liller a pair of singles with one RBI, and Kitzmiller had a single and an RBI. Fort Hill's production amounted to Pryor's RBI single and a single by Angie Hines.

The Rams laid waste to Lonaconing on Tuesday by blasting the Wildcats with 10 runs in the first inning of the five-inning victory. Jennifer Teagarden went the distance, allowing only four hits by the hosts, while catcher Jennifer Sanders remained at her post behind the plate throught the contest.

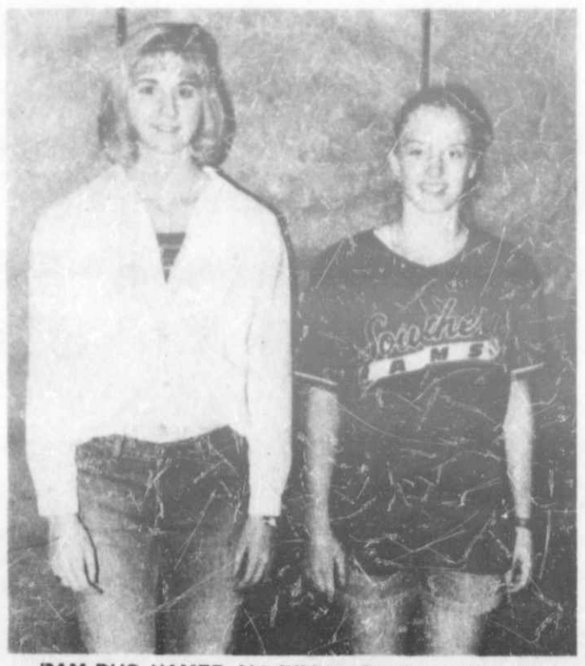
Local Grapplers Fare Well At District Event

Thirteen local wrestlers traveled to Martinsburg, W.Va., on Saturday to compete in the Mid-Atlantic Wrestling Association's District Qualifier Wrestling Tournament. The local athletes represented the Southern Mat Club youth team (8) and the Southern High School varsity team (5). This qualifying tournament serves as a stepping stone to the Regional Qualifier, which then leads to the National Tournament. The local grapplers fared well, winning 25 of 31 individual bouts, while 12 of the 13 wrestlers qualified for the regional event.

Individually, seven of the 13 athletes won all their matches and were crowned District champions. First-place award winners representing the Southern Mat Club were: Sean Sisler (8/9, Unl), Justin Ratliff (8/9, 70#), Scott Wildesen (10/11, 91#), Lex Ozias (7/U, 40#), and Jeremy Gregory (10/11, 86#). Champions representing Southern varsity were Nick Sines (14/15, 130#) and Eric Bendler (Open, 177#). Finishing in second place on Saturday were Daniel Carr (8/9, 70#) from the SMC and Justin Gregory (14/15, 110#), Shawn Shiflett (14/15, 130#), and Ricky Hamilton (16/18, 189#) from the Southern varsity. Jakob "Bubba" Scheffel (7/U, 48#) placed third, while George "Brutus" Scheffel was eliminated by the wrestler who placed second in his class.

"It was a great showing by these kids," stated Southern Mat Club coach Dave Taylor. "Having 11 out of 13 wrestlers in the finals makes quite a statement to these other teams. These kids have accomplished so much and they are not done yet," he added.

The 11 qualifiers will take this week off and will travel to the regional tournament in Millersville, Pa., on April 10 and 11. The top three places in each class there will then move on to the Nationals the following week. For more information on the Southern Mat Club, persons may visit the club's web site at www.gcnet.net/SMC.



RAM DUO NAMED ALL-WMIL - Southern High School basketball standouts Jessica Saturday, left, and Ashley Liller have been selected to the All-Western Maryland Interscholastic League girls team recently, as Liller earned first team honors and Saturday was named to the second team. Liller, a freshman, led the Rams in scoring—257 total points for a 12.4 per game average; assists—81 for a 3.5 average; and steals—77 for a 3.3 average. Her 257 points ranks only second behind Jenny Hillen's 313 points as a freshman, and her total places her in the 22nd spot on the Rams all-time scoring list already. Senior Saturday finished her career by leading the Rams in rebounding and taking runner-up scoring honors, helping her teammates to a third-place WMIL finish with a 7-5 record. Saturday finished her career with 654 points, which puts her in ninth place on Southern's all-time scoring list.

Lakers Fall Below .500 With Six Straight Losses

After winning eight of their first 11 games, most of them on a southern road trip over spring break, the Garrett Community College Lakers suffered three doubleheader defeats this past week, losing a Maryland JUCO Division I twinbill to host Allegany College on Friday, 6-5 and 5-0, falling twice to CCAC-South on Sunday, and dropping two more JUCO games to Montgomery-Rockville, 6-2 and 12-0, in Rockville on Tuesday.

After trailing 4-1 in the first game, the Lakers took a brief 5-4 advantage with a four-run sixth inning. Allegany knotted the score at 5-5 with a solo home run by Rob Shrawder in the bottom of the sixth, however, and won the game with another single run in the bottom of the seventh.

The Lakers out-hit the Trojans by a 14-9 margin, and were led offensively by Andy Blackwell, who had two doubles and a single for two RBI. Darnell Bratton hit a triple and a double for one RBI.

Pacing Allegany's hitting were Mark Hobbs with a two-run homer, Andy Parks with a double and a single, and Doug Ruble with a triple and two RBI.

Brian Tarajack went the distance on the mound to take the loss for the Lakers.

Craig Stabinsky limited the Lakers to three hits in the second game, while he and his teammates recorded nine hits, including three singles and a double for two RBI by Zac Couturiaux. Craig Bateman had two singles.

Taking the loss on the mound was Brian Melnyk, who pitched into the seventh inning.

The score of the first game against Montgomery-Rockville on Tuesday was knotted at 2-2 after five and one-half innings, but Rockville erupted for four runs in the bottom of the sixth to secure the win.

Joe Eisner and Gary Lee put the Lakers on top 2-0 with solo home runs in the third and fourth innings before Rockville scored two runs in the bottom of the fourth to tie the score.

Getting two of Garrett's six hits was Matt DiAngelo with two singles, while Darnell Bratton rapped a double. Hitting a triple and a single to lead Rockville's offense was Pete DeLovico.

The Lakers' hitting was shut down completely in the second game, as Rockville's Bill Sullenger gave up first inning singles to Eisner and Bratton, and then fired six hitless innings. He walked only one batter and, ironically, had no strike-outs.

Meanwhile, the Rockville offense scored runs in the first five innings of the game, many of which were the result of five Laker errors.

DeLovico and Trader each had two-run homers for Rockville.

The details of the losses to CCAC-South were not reported.

"We're really struggling right now," stated Coach Ed Wildesen. "Offensively we're out of synch, and our pitching and defense has not been at the level that this team is capable of. I'm confident we'll turn things around, though."

The 8-9 Lakers will finally get to open their home season when they host Anne Arundel in a noon doubleheader this Saturday which will kick off a 20-straight home game segment of their schedule. They will entertain the Frostburg State junior varsity for a single game on Monday, and host Essex CC in a twinbill on Tuesday.

Huskies Hold On, Even Record By Nipping Mountaineers 8-7

After dropping a one-run decision to defending WMIL champ Allegany in last week's season opener, the varsity softball team of Northern High School hung on to take a one-run 8-7 win over the Mountaineers at Beall Tuesday.

A pair of singles apiece by Heidi Frazee and Andrea McRobie and a double by Melissa McKeever paced the Huskies at the plate. Northern's scoring output culminated in a six-run fourth inning, all six runs coming at the expense of Beall errors.

Brenda Keister had a double and a single in leading Beall's 12-hit tally, while Becky Peterson and Abby McCormick added a pair of singles apiece and Nicky Williams doubled. Peterson drove in a pair of runs.

NHS's Heather Nugent went the distance, along with batterymate Kanya Knox, for the win over Abbey Workman.

The 1-1 Huskies are set to host the unbeaten Southern Rams, who boast a 2-0 record, this afternoon in Accident.

Northern Netters Drop Matches To Keyser, Alco, Fort Hill

Off to a rough start on the tennis courts this season are the Northern High School teams, which were defeated in their first three outings this week. Both the boys' and girls' teams were blanked by host Keyser last Friday, 7-0, then lost to Allegany in Cumberland on Tuesday, 6-1 (boys) and 4-3 (girls), and were whipped by Fort Hill yesterday, the boys losing 5-2 and the girls whitewashed 7-0.

Earning singles victories for the Keyser boys were Jason Cook, David Mussen, Todd Keplinger, and Jonathan Kalbaugh. Singles winners among the Keyser girls were Stephanie Criser, Mollie Lemon, Juli Woy, and Rachel Watson.

Ian Durney earned Northern's only point against Allegany, as he won in singles.

The Northern girls received singles victories from Dana Braskey and Tawnya Williams. Renee Meyers and S. Grove teamed up to win in doubles for the Huskies.

EXTENDING A HELPING HAND - When Garrett County hosted the Special Olympics of Maryland winter sporting events, 12 Northern High School students volunteered their time to help organize and support the participants in the alpine and cross country challenges. Nancy G. Codter, director of volunteers for the winter games, praised those who helped. "Each year I continue to be impressed with the dedication, hard work and maturity of the students. I appreciate the time they give so freely of themselves," she said. This is the sixth year that the NHS students have participated this annual event. The student volunteers in the front row from left are Marsha Harkins, Jeni Kirkham, Micah Pievyak, Michael Ashby, Shenna Rodeheaver, and Jenny Wampler. In the back row are Michelle McBride, Mark Bergstrom, Kari Miller, Guy Beitzel, Morgan Rodeheaver, and Christie Flockhart.

In yesterday's match against Fort Hill, Northern Ian Durney and Brian Harvey accounted for the Huskies' two points by winning their singles matches.

Scott Helmick, Brock Shriver, and Jim Hook were singles winners for the Sentinels.

Winning in singles for the Fort Hill girls were Jessica Hovatter, Katie Zaydel, Sara Grogg, Casey Spencer, and Brittany Rosborough.

Gonder Captures Rec Basketball League Title

Gonder Insurance, which was the regular season champion in the Recreational Basketball League, captured the season title Sunday in the league's playoffs by topping Dan Bosley Construction, 54-48. Gonder finished the season with a record of 9-3.

Denny Skeweris and Billy Braithwaite paced Gonder's in a balanced scoring effort by each netting 14 points, while Jason Shank scored 11 and Tom Panther finished with 10. Tom Bosley hit a game-high 18 points for Bosley Construction, Dan Bosley hit 11, and Jeremy Skiles chipped in with 10.

In the consolation game, K&H Rentals defeated Patterson Boat Company, 56-47. Stan Eggleston and Mel Evans led K&H in scoring with 14 and 13 points, respectively. Barry Louden of Patterson Boat led all scorers with 17 points, and Ted Raynovich finished with nine.

The league members noted their appreciation to all of their sponsors who made the season possible, and to all the volunteer referees.

Family Health Care is staffed by three physicians and a nurse practitioner. "That practice is thriving," Beachy commented.

and Stephenson had been among the SBA representatives who participated in last month's seminar in Garrett County.

Giving HUBZone small businesses an edge in the bidding competition for federal contracts is designed to provide employment and economic development opportunities in these areas, as well as to stimulate the economy through the influx of additional federal dollars.

Jim Hinebaugh, director of the county's Economic Development Department, had words of praise and congratulations for GCS. "I'm really pleased that this has worked out for the people at Garrett Container. From what I understand they are not only the first in the county but the first in the country to be certified. It certainly is a credit to their leadership team," he said.

Hinebaugh also referred to the marketing potential of the HUBZone designation for all of Garrett County. The benefits of locating a business in the county have increased with this classification and its advantages in the federal bidding process. "This (HUBZone) in combination with what we are doing in our industrial parks makes it even more appealing to businesses to move here. We need to figure out how to best use this information in marketing," he said.

Maryland sixth district congressman Roscoe Bartlett was instrumental in implementing the HUBZone Program. As chairman of the Subcommittee on Government Programs and Oversight of the Committee on Small Business, Bartlett held a hearing last June focusing on testimony from federal co-chair of the Appalachian Regional Commission, Dr. Jesse L. White Jr., and the regional manager for western Maryland of the state Department of Business and Economic Development, Robin Douglas.

"I've been working for several years to get the HUBZone program working, right from the start. I'm thrilled Garrett Container is the first in the country to participate," Bartlett said.

GPU And State

relevant representation. The session is nearly over for 1999, so the new legislation will have to be put in for next year's General Assembly.

"We are quite pleased with the outcome of this issue," Gregg said. He commended the work of the Deep Creek Lake Management Board and the specially appointed Deep Creek Lake Advisory Committee, headed by Judge Fred Thayer. He also thanked other officials for their work in the endeavor.

When GPU announced plans to sell the lake nearly a year ago, elected officials, including Delegate Edwards and the governor, urged the company to separate the lake and surrounding land from the hydroelectric plant. The company agreed to the packaging idea, and proceeded to sell the plant to Sithe Energies. Sithe will operate the dam, and will maintain and use the hydroelectric plant.

Negotiations between the state's office of general services and GPU continued from last summer until this week's announcement.

"We are pleased that we were able to reach an agreement," said Fred D. Hafer, chairman, president, and chief executive officer of GPU. "The agreement is consistent with our plans for divesting our generating assets, and preserves the area as a natural resource."

The $7.8 million purchase price will be paid from Program Open Space funds, according to the governor.

Deep Creek Lake was created in 1925 by the Youghiogheny Electric Company, which acquired the underlying property and constructed the dam and hydroelectric power station. It is Maryland's largest freshwater lake, with more than 70 miles of shoreline. The buffer strip varies in width from several feet to almost one-fourth mile, depending upon the topography of the land. It also includes a 25-foot-wide safety strip.

"My family and I, just like thousands of Maryland families, have spent precious time together at Deep Creek Lake," said Glendening. "As I traveled the state over the past year, people in every region of Maryland asked about this purchase. Deep Creek is truly a Maryland asset, and its protection is a Maryland victory."

Main Street

the developer, but it can be done.

"Our downtown shopping mall, which fits in with what we wanted for Manhattan, is one of the developer's most profitable malls and is always 100 percent occupied. The project created 1,500 jobs, increased our tax base by 500 percent, and realizes $750,000 annually in local sales taxes.

"At the same time the mall is thriving, our downtown has thrived as well. We were able to recapture our regional market through the traffic coming directly downtown to the mall, preserve our downtown's historical character, and preserve open space around the town.

"The moral is, don't say 'we can't do anything about growth,' or 'we have to settle for the first thing that comes through the door.' Use the visioning process, the many resources of the Main Street program, government grant funding, and most of all, as we did in Manhattan, the knowledge, skills, talents, and energy of your own citizens," Wagner concluded.

The Oakland Main Street program then solicited citizen sign-ups for the various Main Street committees—Economic Restructuring, Promotion, and Design—that have formed recently. The committees will begin meeting in coming weeks in small group formats, and are still open to "all county citizens who are interested in contributing in any way possible," local Main Street Board member Mikal McCartney said after the meeting.

"The economic restructuring committee, among other activities, will be taking an inventory of the downtown area to ascertain the amount of square footage and how it's being utilized at present in an effort to plan for the downtown anchor most appropiate to our area.

"The design committe will be evaluating the suggestions that Wagner made on his two-day assessment tour of the town, and combining them with survey results of citizens and business owners.

"The promotion committee will be working to ascertain what niche we want to target in order to draw more people downtown, and what kind of events and activities will interest people in coming downtown more often.

"There are provisions for ad-hoc committees as well that will deal with specific situations as they arise; for instance, a youth committee could draw on persons interested in providing outlets for youth in our downtown; a senior citizen committee could do the same.

"It's going to be an exciting process," she said, "because it's going to be a community effort. Any persons interested in joining any committee can call Glenn Tolbert, Oakland's Main Street manager, at 301-533-4470. Committee chairs will be contacting their members within two weeks to arrange small group meetings that will occur periodically over the spring. Our next large group meeting, where all committees and interested citizens will gather to share what they've come up with, will not be until early summer.

"We know that our citizens have a lot of great ideas out there, and this will provide a concrete outlet for putting those ideas into practice. We also need people with all skills, from data entry to typing, much of which can be done at home," McCartney concluded.

ty Action to assume ownership of the building, at what Yoder described as a "nominal amount" and renovate the site to provide more classroom space for Head Start students, and yet maintain the building for community purposes.

The remaining $165,000 will fund ongoing housing rehabilitation projects. "In this program we make loans at preferred rates to low-income individuals for health- and safety-related home repairs," Yoder said.

The other counties included in the current funding directed at communities with low- and moderate-income residents are Caroline, Charles, Dorchester, Somerset, Wicomico, and Worcester. "This money will help residents in existing communities around rural Maryland by improving water and sewer systems, rehabilitating housing, and providing facilities for day care and other family services," said Gov. Parris N. Glendening.

Bill Gives Public On-Line Access To State Regulations

The Maryland House of Delegates last week overwhelmingly approved legislation (HB 858) to make available for the first time to the public, at no cost, direct on-line access to the Code of Maryland Regulations (COMAR) and the Maryland Register. These documents contain state regulations and codes that currently are not readily available to the general public.

"This bill takes a big step forward in bringing Maryland into the 21st century on-line information age," said Delegate William Bronrott. "Today we have ready access to all kinds of information abut the General Assembly, laws, legislation, and the state in general, but there is virtually nothing on the Internet about the many state regulations that guide our daily lives."

Bronrott, who co-sponsored the bill, added that passage of HB 858 brings Maryland into line with at least 25 other states, including Virginia and Delaware, that make this information easily available to its citizens at no charge.

The House's vote was 134 to 2. HB 858 was introduced in the Maryland Senate by Senator Patrick J. Hogan (Montgomery County) as SB 259. SB 259 was approved by the Senate on March 16 by a vote of 46 to 0. The Glendening Administration supports the legislation, according to Bronrott.

Under the legisiation, the Division of State Documents in the Office of the Secretary of State will be required to put COMAR, the Maryland Register, and other important state documents on-line by January 1, 2000.

In Loving Memory of Ruth Gilpin
who passed away March 30, 1998
It doesn't seem a year has passed
That the angels took you away
You're on our minds and in our hearts
We think of you each day
To some you're just a memory
And have been all the while
But Mom, there sure are some of us
Who long to see you smile
We know that you're in Heaven
You're right up there with Dad
So til the time we meet again
Don't be upset because we're sad
GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN
WE LOVE YOU,
Brenda, Larry, Gene & their families

Glendale Church Schedule Noted

Special services will be held at the Glendale Assembly of God Church through this Saturday, April 3, at 7 p.m. each evening. Different ministers of the area will lead the services each evening and there will be special music.

On Easter Sunday, April 4, a sunrise service will be held at 6:30 a.m. and be followed by a breakfast. A special Easter program will be presented at 10 a.m. and again at 6 p.m.

Pastor Paul Goldizen invites the public to attend all of these services and events. The church is located off Rt. 219 and Rt. 495 along Glendale Road, Deep Creek Lake.

St. Paul's Slates Witness Mission

St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, will conduct its 1999 Lay Witness Mission, titled "Take the Hand of Jesus." It will be held Friday trough Sunday, April 9-11, with an entire weekend of activities for all ages planned.

There will be small group meetings, coffees, youth activities, time for worship and fellowship, and several covered dish dinners. The public is invited and encouraged by the congregation to attend.

There is no fee; however, pre-registration is encouraged. For further information, persons may call the church at 301-334-2391.

"COLLEGE AND ME" SHIRT DONATION COVERS KIDS - Rob Michael, owner of State Farm Insurance Company, is once again donating t-shirts for each one of the approximately 400 fifth-graders from throughout the county participating in the College and Me program at Garrett Community College. "This is Rob's second year of donating shirts," Sue Newton, program coordinator, said. "The students enjoy getting their shirts at the end of their college week, and I often see last year's participants throughout the county wearing their shirts." Shown above are the students of Dennett Road Elementary School teacher Irene Sigel. In the front row from the left are Nick DeWitt, Patrick Di Giola, Becky Beem, Melissa Ray, James Naylor, Mike Shaffer, and Casey Siegle. In the second row are Eric Force, Taira Oliver, Bridget Stemple, Amelia Ratliff, Katie Nichols, Joey Tressler, and Blake Fazenbaker. In the third row are Newton, Nichole Knox, Nathanael Harris, Evan Lantz, Leah Baker, Rocky Hardesty, and Elizabeth Thayer, while Sigel and Rob Michael stand in the background. Every fifth grader in the county takes part in the program, which helps the youngsters begin mapping a path they may wish to follow throughout their education.

Gorman Church Slates Service

A special candlelight service and Easter program are scheduled at the Gorman Oak Grove Church on Sunday, April 4, at 7 p.m. The church is located along Le Moyne King Road off Gorman Road.

This is corrects information submitted last week which stated that the service was scheduled at another time.

On Dean's List

Alison Buckel, a 1995 graduate of Northern High School, has been named to the dean's list by Irwin L. Goldstein, dean of the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences at the University of Maryland, College Park.

Buckel is one of the few students acquiring a minimum 3.5 grade point average for the fall 1998 semester. Inclusion in the list is recognition by the university of superior scholastic attainment.

Buckel is the daughter of Donna Hinebaugh, Grantsville, and Dennis Buckel, Bittinger, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Hinebaugh, Friendsville.

ed to support the Oakland area, Glotfelty reported.

Programs that rely on travel to deliver services to county residents — such as Environmental Health, Community Health Education and Outreach, and Home Health — favored a central location. Glotfelty said personnel of the largest clinic program, WIC, also favored the McHenry site because of budget constraints that would make continued northern and southern office locations impractical.

Glotfelty said the McHenry site was favored by the health department administration, chiefly because of expected savings in site acquisition and future operational costs. The operation of the health department services from a central county location also furthers the department's commitment to enhance the delivery of services to all county residents, the health officer said.

"While it is true that residents living in the greater Oakland area may be slightly inconvenienced by making the short drive to McHenry, the committee gave considerable weight to greatly lessening the travel time of the large number of residents living a considerable distance from Oakland," Glotfelty said. "The excellent transit system operated by Garrett County Community Action will afford clients of clinic services easy transportation to the McHenry site."

In ranking its decision, Glotfelty said the committee looked toward future collaborative opportunities between Garrett Community College and the health department.

"Certainly the development of a wellness center and recreational facility for use by all county residents is a shared objective of both agencies," Glotfelty stated. "The emerging communication technology being developed at the college can be utilized to enhance training levels of staff and enable easier access to video conferencing facilities. Easier access to college facilities such as computer labs, classrooms, and the auditorium will enhance the department's ability to provide educational services and programs to the public and staff."

The health officer stated in his letter that the committee members feel the location of health department at the McHenry campus "offers a unique opportunity for you to acknowledge that equal access to services for all our residents is an important function of county government."

The commissioners said they would take the issue under serious consideration and will respond in the near future.

square feet.)

Oakland town council member Jay Moyer said earlier this week that the town had town had no knowledge of the plan prior to The Republican obtaining it, or of Wal-Mart's possible intentions for the area. No permit inquiries have been received by city hall from the retailer, the engineering firm, or any possible developers, he added. Oakland Mayor Asa McCain would not comment on the plan other than saying he had no knowledge of it or any possible intentions on the part of Wal-Mart. John Nelson and other officials with the county's Planning and Zoning Office said they were not previously aware of the plan's existence either, nor have any permit inquiries been received in that office.

Keith Morris, Wal-Mart's public relations director for the northeastern United States, said he had no knowledge of the plan's existence nor of any intentions his company may have for the Oakland area.

Produced by the firm of Freeland and Kauffman of Greenville, S.C., the same firm which had a crew surveying in Oakland last week for what crew members had identified as a "retail project on 65 acres of ground" near Food Lion, the drawing shows the supercenter situated just southeast of the Fourth Street cutover to Route 219. The main entrance faces due north with a parking lot for 769 spaces directly in front. This orientation would put the supercenter in plain sight of traffic utilizing the town's preferred alternative for the proposed Oakland Bypass, which would leave Route 219 just north of the site.

A pair of traffic signals, one at the T-intersection of Route 219/Fourth Street, and another on Fourth Street itself at the entrance to the parking lot for the proposed store (directly across from the Food Lion parking lot), are portrayed in the drawing, which was obtained Friday from an office of the Maryland State Highway Administration. The SHA must approve the installation of the traffic lights, which would be paid for by a developer, and the agency has completed a preliminary review of a traffic study submitted by a Robert L. Morris Inc. of Bethesda and is awaiting further information from that company before performing a combined review of the traffic study. (SHA officials said this morning that they have had no further contact from the Robert L. Morris company, for which no phone number has been obtained as of yet.)

A truck delivery entrance is plotted off Fourth Street, south of the customer parking lot entrance. A pair of "stormwater ponds" are shown along the east side of Fourth Street, between the supercenter's western wall and the street, apparently necessitated because the store appears to be situated atop a hill at the location.

The property where the supercenter is proposed to stand appears to be located within a 61-acre parcel of land deeded to the "First National Bank Trustees" (now known as First United Bank and Trust). That parcel, which the town of Oakland is seeking to annex, is currently for sale and is being marketed by Barbara Pritts of Railey Realty. Pritts has not returned several phone calls regarding the matter.

The 61-acre parcel is bounded to the south along Fourth Street by parcels of .69 acre owned by James Flanigan of Nu Way Interiors, a .46 acre homesite which the owner/resident does not want to be annexed, and a 3.47 parcel owned by David Moe, owner of Oakland's TCI Computer Systems and president of Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, in the name of the Loren Development Corporation. The Flanigan and Moe parcels are among those that the town of Oakland is seeking to annex.

Flanigan's parcel is also listed for sale through Railey Realty, and Flanigan said that within the past two weeks Moe approached him expressing interest in buying his property. Flanigan said he quoted a price, but Moe has not given his response as of this week. Moe said that the Loren Development Corporation property he owns along Fourth Street "is not openly on the market at this time," adding that "no one has approached me anyway, and I'm not aware of any retail plans for that area, nor why surveyors have been up there."

SUPPORT GROUP SETS EXPANDED MEETING SCHEDULE — The Arthritis & Fibromyalgia Support Group of Garrett County Memorial Hospital will be expanding this month's support group meeting to include an afternoon and evening session scheduled to be held on Tuesday, April 6, from 1 to 2:30 p.m. and 6:30 to 8 p.m. in the Hospital Board Room. The session will be a panel discussion with the topic "After Orthopedic Surgery." Panel members are Joe Buell, Maureen Mielenz, and Fran Storck. Pictured from the left while planning the program are Maureen Mellenz, Frances Meese, and Vickie Insley, members of the Arthritis Advisory Board. Additional information about the program can be obtained by contacting Vickie Insley at 301-334-9767.

PUPPET SHOWS SLATED - Easter puppet shows will be performed at two local churches by Christ Lutheran Church Puppeteers. The program to be offered is His Fleece Was White As Snow. The performances will be on Sunday, April 11, at 4 p.m. at Christ Lutheran Church, Grantsville, and Monday, April 12, at Jennings United Methodist Church at 7 p.m. Puppeteers include, in front from left, Karen Clevenger, Judy Sebold, and Beth Bicker. In the back row are Denise Blocher, Pam Cutler, Mary Jane Robertson, and director Nancy Resh. Everyone in invited to attend.

KITZMILLER

The town meeting was held Monday, March 22.

•The Garrett County Commissioners attended the meeting to review the tax differential. Monty Pagenhardt discussed the study recently done on the subject by IGS. The town agreed not to pursue the differential.

•Commissioner Gregg said the commissioners were aware of the need for the circuit rider program.

•The commissioners are willing to assist the town in finding possible solutions for water run-off on roads in town.

•The council thanked the commissioners for county help in plowing snow when the town equipment broke down recently.

•The council accepted the proposal from Devine and Sheffield to do the audit in 1999 and 2000.

•The council agreed to install new ceramic flooring in the town office.

•The town charter is being revised by IGS. Town elections will be changed to yearly, with councils members serving two-year rather than four-year staggered terms.

•The town agreed to sponsor a team for the cancer society's Relay For Life walk.

•The town will compensate John Moore for assisting with plowing while the town truck was in the shop.

•Permission was granted to Jerry Vogel to park a church bus on town property until further notice.

The next town meeting will be held Monday, April 26.

MTN LAKE PARK

The town meeting was held Tuesday, March 23.

•The Garrett County Commissioners addressed the mayor and council about the tax differential. The mayor said he was concerned that the county has not completed the road from Yough Glades Elementary School into town.

•The town is in the process of annexing Parkwood Village.

•The council discussed tipping fees being high for towns at landfills. The commissioners will look into this.

•There was discussion about the circuit rider program and its importance to the municipalities. The commissioners will look into possible funding to continue the program.

•Commissioner Gregg said the commissioners will take the information from the meeting for review.

•Council member Lou DiCarlo discussed the Crime Watch program. On Aug. 21, 10 a.m.-7 p.m,, there will be a Town Crime Watch Day in the park. Various organizations will participate.

•John Nelson, who serves as the town's zoning official, said the town is interested in purchasing the old lake and adjacent property from private owners. Funding sources will be sought possibly through POS.

•Deputy Helbig gave an update on his town patrol during March. He said that restrictions on weight limits on town streets cannot be enforced by through the sheriff's office.

•Spring cleanup week is scheduled for May 24-27. The mayor will check with county on disposal of bulk items. Residents will be notified of details.

•Mtn. Lake Park will host the Maryland Municipal League Dinner May 19 at the Oakland fire hall.

•The Garrett County Relay for Life was discussed. Each council person was given an information packet.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, April 13.

Brewer Joins Staff Of Deep Creek Brewing Company

Deep Creek Brewing Company announced recently that Rolfe Saunders has joined its staff as head brewer. He will be in charge of all brewing activity at the company's new location across from the Garrett 8 Cinemas.

Saunders grew up in Maryland and moved to San Diego to complete his graduate work in sociology. He has completed his dissertation and hopes to defend it this year to attain his Ph.D.

Saunders completed the American Brewer's Guild Training program in 1994 and began his internship at John Harvard's Brew House in Cambridge, Mass. "John Harvard's is one of the best breweries to learn from," Saunders said, "due to the fact that their standards are impeccable and their brewing knowledge is tremendous." Saunders spent two years with the company, eventually earning a promotion to head brewer at its facilities in Providence and Atlanta.

From 1996 to 1997, Saunders was the head brewer at Old Virginia Brewery and Restaurant in Newport News, Va. That restaurant was sold in 1997 and Saunders moved back to Maryland to brew at Sisson's, the state's original brewpub.

Saunders met Dave and Lee Saba last year and they decided that it was a "great match." "Rolfe produces an excellent product and really talks with the customers to find out what they like," said Saba. "He loved Garrett County and he will be an excellent addition to the team." Saunders has already purchased a home in Oakland.

Saunders' first duty was to select the brewing equipment, which is currently being manufactured in Slovakia by Traditional Brewing Company. "To produce a truly great beer, it takes equipment handcrafted in the areas where brewing began," he said. The brewery will arrive in mid-May and will allow Deep Creek Brewing to begin brewing all its own beers. The Sabas have already purchased the bottling and labeling machines to finish the process and allow them to end their contract brewing relationship with Frederick Brewing Company.

"The space we are renting to begin the brewery and restaurant is small but allows us to get up and running. We will begin tours of the brewery in June after the equipment arrives and the first batch will definitely call for celebration," Saba stated.

Deep Creek Brewing has rented and renovated the restaurant just off Route 219 on Quarry Road across from the Garrett 8 Cinemas. The brewery restaurant will be open in April and will serve lunch and dinner.

"Rolfe will bring our beers to the next level in taste and quality. His expertise will allow us to widen the variety of beers we can offer and create unique beers that will utilize Garrett County products such as honey, maple syrup, wheat, and some local berries," Saba concluded.

THE MOD SQUAD

Rated R - Running time: 1:33

I went to see The Mod Squad with only two memories of the '60s TV show in mind: that cool scene of the three beatniks running down that darkened tunnel, and that cool music. I was disappointed to find that the film contained neither of those elements. I was more disappointed to find that it also contained no intelligent plot, no interesting characters, and no excitement whatsoever. In the mad rush to remake any old television show they can remember, the producers of the new Squad have drained out whatever lifeblood there was in the show and left nothing but three cardboard cutouts with the same names. If the TV show had been produced by the same people, there's no way Pete, Julie, and Link could have lived from 1968 to 1972.

The Mod Squad revolves around three young convicts who have been given the chance to make amends for their crimes by helping the police as undercover agents (with no guns or badges, of course). The reason they are valuable is because they "blend"—they don't look like cops, and therefore can get past suspicious criminal types. So Lincoln Hayes (Omar Epps), convicted of arson, Julie Barnes (Claire Danes), assault, and Peter Cochran (Giovanni Ribisi), robbery, agree to aid in the investigation of a night club where the management is suspected of running a prostitution ring. But while on the case, the three friends discover a much more sinister situation: There is a major drug trade going on, and the cops are in on it. Soon their supervisor, Captain Adam Greer (Dennis Farina), gets killed, and they have to try to investigate with the entire department against them. Finally, they must go over the heads of their superiors and try to prove that the department is rotten from the inside.

Besides being boring, this movie is dumb. Its script, by Stephen T. Kay, Scott Silver, and Kate Lanier (all relative newcomers), aims at the lowest common denominator of viewer, assuming that we will buy any contrived notion about "dirty cops" that they put on the screen. They're all unscrupulous; they're all in on the take; they're all against our heroes, who are just trying to become productive members of society. But none of those heroes are even likable, with the possible exception of Julie, whom Danes portrays with some human characteristics from time to time. Ribisi seems to still be doing his retarded act from The Other Sister, and Epps is utterly one-dimensional. Michael Lerner (as one of the many bad guys) is the only one with any interesting sense of character, but he only has a few minutes of screen time. Writer Scott Silver also directed the film, but obviously had no idea how to convey to his actors any sense of enthusiasm or energy. ★½

DOUG'S 1ST MOVIE

Rated G - Running time: 1:13

Guest Review By Mary S. McEwen

In the continuing onslaught of Nickelodeon cartoon characters breaking onto the big screen, Doug's 1st Movie is okay for an afternoon out with the kiddies. If you like Doug in 15-minute segments, you'll probably like him all right for 77 minutes. If not, you might be a little confused by Doug's world, and a tad bored.

Directed by Maurice Joyce and produced by Disney, Doug's 1st Movie has a basic theme: Boy is crazy about girl, girl is at least enamored by boy, boy has to either compromise his relationship with girl or end up hurting an innocent individual, boy does right thing and eventually, after some tribulation, wins out.

The girl is, of course, helium-voiced Patti Mayonnaise (Constance Shulman), the love of Doug Funnie's teenaged life all through the series. She likes him, too, but both are too awkward to just admit it and start holding hands on a regular basis. The movie opens with Doug (Thomas McHugh) and his friend Skeeter (Fred Newman) biking in the forest in an attempt to find an alleged monster in the lake. They are being stalked by Rog (Chris Phillips), a rich bully whose apparent goal in life is to provoke Doug and any horse he might be riding on. Rog and his band of geeky friends are poised to scare everyone, but they are quickly found out. As Skeeter chides the bullies, though, a shadow looms over him and everyone takes to the hills, screaming—but only after Skeeter's camera has flashed once.

Cut back to Beebe High School: The Valentine's Day dance is imminent, but no one has volunteered to organize and decorate for the event. A lightbulb shines over Doug's head as he concocts yet another way to be close to his true love: They will both sign up to handle the dance. All is well until an upper classman horns in on the arrangement, erasing Doug from the volunteer list and putting his own moniker there so that Patti and he, Guy Graham (Guy Hadley), are the lone decorators. Guy is also a reporter for the school newspaper. The horror. Doug is crushed, of course, but feels he has an out if he and Skeeter have actually found a lake monster. Surely Patti will love him if he becomes famous.

Now the story gets a little complicated. Skeeter and Doug do find a monster—sort of an E.T.-type being whom they name Herman Melville (Frank Welker). Herman wins the boys' hearts, so Doug is faced with a difficult decision. Should he blab about Herman's whereabouts (and thus endanger the friendly monster's life), or keep it to himself, not even telling Patti, who is suspicious and leaning more toward the attentions of Guy?

Suffice it to say, things get wrapped up all right, after some mucking about. The drawings and action of the film are supremely simple, and the story line meanders. As I stated, little ones will most likely be confused. But it's not all bad. For instance, the message of the flick, repeated by several characters, is: "Always do the right thing." Awww. And, frankly, anyone who knows the cartoon will surely not be expecting Gone with the Wind or even Toy Story. Nah, this is along the lines of the now fashionable cartoon-to-movie productions (which I frankly hope will be ending soon), and it holds its own in that lame little genre. ★★½

HILARY AND JACKIE

Rated R - Running time: 2:05

Emily Watson was nominated for the best actress Oscar for her role in Anand Tucker's Hilary And Jackie, and for good reason. She portrays with strength and range the tragic story of British cellist Jacqueline du Pré, struck down at the height of her career with multiple sclerosis. Playing opposite Watson is Rachel Griffiths as Jacqueline's sister Hilary, who ended up living in the shadow of her famous sibling. The story, based on the novel A Genius In The Family by the real Hilary du Pré and her brother Piers, and adapted for the screen by Frank Cottrell Boyce, shows the struggle of the two sisters to overcome their envy for each other and deal with the uncertain nature of the human experience. Tucker's direction suits the material with expert subtlety.

The story: Jacqueline du Pré, called by some "the greatest talent to ever play the cello," was born in Oxford in 1947. After showing considerable talent at a young age, Jacqueline eventually studied under such famous cellists as Casals, Tortelier and Rostropovich. At 20, she recorded the Elgar Concerto with the London Symphony Orchestra, a recording which established her as a star. She was married in 1967 to pianist Daniel Barenboim, and the two produced many recordings together. Then, in 1973, she was diagnosed with MS, and her health began to deteriorate. She died in 1987 at 42.

The film: When the sisters are young, they both show promise in music—Hilary with the flute, Jackie with the cello. At first it is Hilary who wins the competitions and impresses the judges, but eventually, Jackie surpasses her. She is whisked into a musical career, touring the globe while Hilary settles down and gets married. Jackie's quick rise to fame proves overwhelming, however, and soon the weight of stardom begins to wear her down. She abandons her career and returns home, staying with Hilary and her husband for a while. Finally she decides she must face her lot in life, not knowing that it is about to take another unpleasant turn.

Watson's range is evident: She is able to portray the playful young girl; the petty, immature woman with fame thrust upon her; the pain of a crippling disease; the wistfulness of having chosen an unforgiving path. Not to mention learning how to copy du Pré's famous physical style of playing the cello. Her honesty with the part is beautiful; Jackie only thrives as the center of attention and holds little respect for the accolades thrust upon her. She tells people she hates the cello, intentionally abuses her instrument, and mails her dirty laundry home to be washed. But through Watson's performance and the subtleties of Boyce's script and Tucker's direction, we see that these acts are just desperate attempts to reach out for love and intimacy. We see it in her face when her clothes return, bathed in the fragrance of home.

The script is genuine, and shows us a large segment of the girls' lives from both viewpoints, illustrating how differently the two women perceive certain events. There are powerful performances all around in this film, not only by Watson and Griffiths, but also by David Morrissey as Hilary's husband Kiffer, and Charles Dance and Celia Imrie as the girls' parents. As in many films that portray life with true realism, there is no villain here, except perhaps human nature. It is interesting to note that the Elgar Cello Concerto used in this film is the actual duPré recording.

Hilary And Jackie is a classic tragedy, but also a triumph: It illustrates not only the taxing nature of fame but the victory of love over adversity. ★★★★½

EDTV

Rated PG-13 - Running time: 2:02

In this era of satellite television, when more and more varied programming is available to the viewing public, it must be difficult for the TV networks to come up with interesting shows to grab their share of the ratings. In addition to news, sports, dramas, and sitcoms, one can now watch broadcasts of court proceedings, police officers on the job, and near-fatal accidents caught on home video. This so-called "real" TV is becoming more popular than ever, and it is this new genre that is the focus of edTV, a new comedy from director Ron Howard about an everyday man who agrees to have his life broadcast on live TV during virtually all his waking hours.

This film was written by Lowell Ganz and Babaloo Mandel (long-time collaborators whose work includes films like Forget Paris and Multiplicity), based on the screenplay for the 1994 French film Louis 19, Le Roi Des Ondes by Emile Gaudreault and Sylvie Bouchard. It is filled with humor and yet presents some telling commentary about our love-hate relationship with the media. But it also tells a nice romantic story with lots of humor and several engaging performances.

Ed Pekurny, played by Matthew McConaughey, is chosen by the "True TV" network to be the star of an ongoing, live broadcast of every aspect of his life. The show is the brainchild of Cynthia (Ellen DeGeneres), the program manager for True TV, who hopes it will catch on as a sort of real-life soap opera. Ed is cautiously willing to do it, mainly because he gets a huge "balloon payment" if the show is picked up. His family has mixed reactions to the idea, though: His enterprising brother Ray (Woody Harrelson) is excited about the possibility of free advertising for his new fitness center, but his mother (Sally Kirkland) and stepfather (Martin Landau) are afraid the show might get too "dirty." Also unsure is Cynthia's boss, Dr. Whitaker (Rob Reiner), who is deathly afraid of having his name attached to what might become a network bomb.

But the deal is made and the show airs. Though it attracts viewers who are curious about what the network is up to, the numbers are weak after a few days, and Whitaker threatens to pull the plug. But when Ray's girlfriend Shari (Jenna Elfman) decides to leave Ray for Ed, the ratings skyrocket. The saga of this love triangle attracts viewers all across the country, and soon Ed, Shari, and Ray are appearing on tabloid newspapers and TV talk shows. But when the pressure of constant, live coverage starts getting too intense, Shari and Ed begin to show signs of strain. Soon Ed finds his family, the network, and all his adoring fans turning against him.

This movie will inevitably be compared with last year's The Truman Show (much to director Howard's annoyance), but the differences are many. In that film, the subject of the show didn't realize he was on TV. In this case, Ed is well aware of the camera crew following him around night and day, and that makes this story a little more believable from a logistics standpoint. It is not nearly as bizarre a concept as Truman, and it is also a lot funnier than that film (which was not intended as a comedy). However, there are enough similarities to make most people look on this effort as sloppy seconds, and that's too bad. Though edTV slows down considerably in the final reel, it is generally a lot of fun and the performances by McConaughey, Elfman, and DeGeneres are thoroughly enjoyable. ★★★★

by Joan Sussman

CHURCH SCHEDULE

Services for Holy Week at Emmanuel Lutheran Parish will be held at 7 p.m. for Maundy Thursday at Emmanuel, Bittinger, a Good Friday service at St. John's, Meadow Mountain, and a Sunday morning service at Emmanuel at 10 a.m.

There will be an interdenominational Easter sunrise service at the Bittinger fire hall at 6:30 a.m. on Sunday morning. Come and bring a breakfast food. Everyone is invited.

Following the Sunday morning Palm Sunday service, a group of youth and adults made visits to some of our shut-ins and elderly members to bring them greetings with Easter lilies, cards, Sunday church bulletins, and a cheery Easter song. They visited the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Resh, Lucretia Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Buckel, Evelyn Shawley, and Ida Reckner. Beulah Moon also visited with the Buckels. Also visiting with Ralph and Ethel Buckel for a few days are Sara Buckel, Chestertown, and daughter Kathryn from Ohio.

HOSPITALIZED

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Buckel and Ruth DiPaolo visited Larry Buckel at Sinai Hospital in Baltimore on Thursday, where Larry is recovering from injuries sustained in a car accident.

Mrs. Rose Buckel is in critical condition at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, following a cerebral hemorrhage. She has improved slightly, according to her son Gary, who has been kept away from the hospital with a bad case of the flu. I assured Gary that his mom couldn't be in better hands than those of her doctor, Kheder Askher, one of the two brain surgeons who saved my life a few years ago. Rose's son, David Buckel, and wife, Lexington, Ky., came home to be with his mother.

CONCERT

Beulah Moon attended the Allegany All-County Junior and Senior Choral Festival at Fort Hill High School, Cumberland, where her granddaughter, Jessica Moon, was a participant from Beall Junior High School.

VISITING

Recent weekend guests of Beulah Moon were David and Joanne Buckel, Richmond, Va., JoEllen Graham, St. Albans, W.Va., and Cheri Grimm, Milton, W.Va.

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Resh were Denny Buckel, Sheila, Bill, Landon and Tyler Southerly, Judy Stanton, David Wilt, Roger, Judy and Carol Resh, and Gary Lawson.

Sally, Lenny, and Torrey Poholsky visited Lenny's parents, Andy and Mary Salak at Rivercliff Paris, Kittanning, Pa., on Saturday.

MY COMMENTS

It was a big day on Saturday for my mother, Ruth DiPaolo, when she was inducted into the Garrett County Women's Hall of Fame at Will O' the Wisp. She joined another Bittinger woman, Martha Glotfelty, who was a 1998 inductee.

Ruth was honored for her role in the Grantsville Business and Professional Women and was nominated by the Grantsville Area BPW, where she was instrumental in forming the club. She has also been active in many organizations, which brings attention to the "many great women's contributions" in many areas of life. She had a big group of her supporters, of course, including her children and families: Rodney and wife Marci Glotfelty, and their children, Robbie, Blakely, Darryl and Elliot; Carol Bass and her daughter Emma; myself, Joan Sussman and daughters Claire, Caitlin, and Meredith; and son, Barry Glotfelty, Frederick, accompanied by his friend, Lisa Shierer, Frostburg.

Amy Harman, who introduced Ruth, mentioned that one of her biggest contributions was as a mother. She expects her children to do their best and be active in community life and make as many contributions to society as possible. Also in attendance from Bittinger was Linda Buckel.

I had a good time chatting with my former junior high school home-ec teacher, Mrs. Polly Hanst. I don't believe she ever had a student less adept to sewing than I. Every sewing project was an ordeal for both Mrs. Hanst and me. I believe I am responsible for some of her beautiful head of gray hair. It certainly is ironic that I eventually pursued a career in the costume business in New York City. She reminded me that the biggest project I ever had was making a long black skirt for riding my horse sidesaddle. I did learn a lot from her, even if it seemed like torture at the time and completely hopeless.

Today, Monday, it looks like spring is trying to make a comeback. March was in like a lion and out like a lamb. The morning chorale of bird-singing is back today, with just a few patches of snow remaining.

It is not yet April, but I can't help remember the opening line from "The Wasteland" a glooming and difficult long poem by T.S. Eliott "April is the Cruelist Month." What he means by this is, when spring begins, you know you should feel great and everything should be wonderful and hopeful, but sometimes you don't feel like that. I know what he is talking about there, but not everything in his poetry is clear.

Sheila Southerly and I desire everyone to save their palm branches from Palm Sunday. Traditionally, you burn them for next Ash Wednesday to use the ashes for placing on the forehead at that service. The putting on of the ashes appeals to me, in spite of the fact that many think this is only the tradition of the Catholic faith.

Meredith took a break from entertaining her friend, Amber Branthoover, on Sunday afternoon to allow Claire and Caitlin to polish up her bike-riding skills. She now has the hang of it. Claire and Caitlin took a ride with their cousin, Matthew Bass, down Peat Bog Road. So I guess it is time to put away the skis, sleds, and winter clothing, and bring out the bikes and their helmets.

Among the performers of Pandora's Box was Julie Green of Bill Beitzel Road. She is the daughter of my good friends, Beth and Jimmy Green, and is the granddaughter of Cynthia Knight, who is descended from the early settlers in Bittinger (the Lohr family).

Allisson Alkison, my former student, visited me with her new baby Olivia. She is a real beauty, but that little rotten thing cried the whole time I held her; she just wanted her mommy. But since I absolutely adore little babies, I did not mind too much, but was just a little offended. It was more worth a few hurt feelings to cuddle and kiss her sweet little head. I remember when I left my little Claire with her grandmother Emma and Alma Orendorf for an evening out with my husband. She never stopped crying the whole evening. When they tried to give her a bottle she acted like they were trying to poison her. I guess when they are under 6 months old they only want their mothers to do for them. If not, they do what I call "cherry tomato imitation," their little faces so red and smooth like a ripe cherry tomato.

My daughter picked up an old habit of mine. During Palm Sunday services I folded my palms into a cross. They brought home following Sunday service several nice crosses.

I was delighted to receive an unexpected visit from a former colleague from college. John Gould, who now lives in the Northern Virginia area, was on a quick trip to visit a few of his former mountain friends. He said that Garrett County is always a part-time home for him. Garrett County has that effect on many people who spend much time here. Whenever they roam away from Garrett County, a little piece of them is still here.

Today I took a drive on Rock Lodge Road to check on the progress of spring. The many waterlands were filled with water. I always love the swamps and glades that were our tableland. Cherry Creek was full and flowing. There were little waterfalls and white water. As I drove slowly along through the trees, boulders, and rhododendron bushes, I was shocked to see two piles of trash along the road. What kind of people would dump trash in the middle of such beauty? I plan an Earth Day clean-up along that stretch of the road with my girls doing the picking up.

I heard about a stray dog who attacked a herd of sheep, so I was delighted to see a race of a dozen lambs in that field and it appeared it was not as bad as I feared. Besides the gang running, I saw three sets of twins who were close to their mommas.

BUDDING PLAYWRIGHTS TO PUBLISH - Three creative students in Roseanne Sherwood's fifth grade class at Accident Elementary School will soon have their work immortalized in print. The students, from left, Benjamin Morrison of McHenry and Corey Yoder and Taylor Jones of Accident, took the initiative to write and produce a play, "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer Gets Lost." Their work will be published in the spring in the premiere issue of Brain Storm: A Magazine For Young Writers, a publication by the Maryland Writers Association. The original play, which has been performed for the second graders at the school, was submitted to the writers association by Mrs. Sherwood, who recognized the boys' talents. "They are witty boys with a good sense of humor," she said.

A HOWL OF A PRODUCTION - A day in the life of an aspiring canine opera singer inspired the musical production the Barker of Seville, which will be performed by the Blue Sky Puppet Theater, at the 1999 Student Arts Fair. A cast of nine puppet dogs will take the stage, along with two "larger-than-life" characters, to entertain and delight those attending this second annual event, scheduled for April 10, at Garrett Community College. The puppet show stresses the social themes of discipline, hard work, and perseverance in an atmosphere of humor. The Barker of Seville was developed under the auspices of the National Park Service's Summer Interpretive Program. This production will be one of scores of events, presentations, and displays created by students of the Garrett County school system. The day-long celebration of the arts, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., offering music, drama, sculpture, games, and more, is funded in part by the Garrett County Arts Council. There will be no admission charge for this year's fair.

Agency Seeks Computers For Use By Seniors

In an effort to provide senior citizens with a greater understanding of today's technology and to bring them into the computer age, Garrett County Community Action Committee's Area Agency on Aging (AAA) is working toward the development of computer labs at the Grantsville and Mary Browning senior centers. To accomplish this goal, the AAA is seeking donations of used computers from the private sector.

Should a local business choose to upgrade its computer equipment, AAA has requested these businesses to consider donating the used equipment to the agency, enabling it to develop effective computer labs for the seniors who attend the centers.

The AAA will arrange for classes and will recruit students to become mentors to the seniors. "Young people are very computer literate and could help the seniors utilize what they learn in formal classes," stated an AAA spokesperson.

Currently Mary Browning and Grantsville senior centers each have two computers; however, it is difficult to conduct a class with minimal equipment. The participants need to be able to have hands-on experience. "Optimally, we would like to have a minimum of 6 to 8 computers available at each center, with at least 1 or 2 internet accessible computers at each location," the spokesperson said.

Available funds prohibit the AAA from purchasing computers. "We must rely on the generosity of companies and businesses to provide the equipment necessary for our seniors to be up to date with today's technology," stated the spokesperson.

The current inventory at the centers consists of used computers which were provided by the Maryland Department of Aging and HCFA.

Owners of companies and businesses who would like to donate a computer may contact the Area Agency on Aging at 301-334-9431 or toll free 1-888-877-8403 ext. 140.

Grace Bible Church Slates Easter Services

Easter Sunday services at Grace Bible Church will begin with a sunrise service at 7 a.m. Sunday school will follow at 10 a.m., and a morning worship service is set for at 11 a.m. Regular services will resume on Wednesday, April 7, with Bible study, a prayer meeting, and youth club meetings at 7:30 p.m.

Grace Bible Church is located south of Accident at 28099 Garrett Highway. For further information and directions, interested persons may call Pastor Larry Glotfelty at 301-746-8635.

Services For Holy Week Set At St. Mark's

St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland will hold special services in observance of Holy Week, beginning with a Maundy Thursday service this evening at 7:30 p.m.

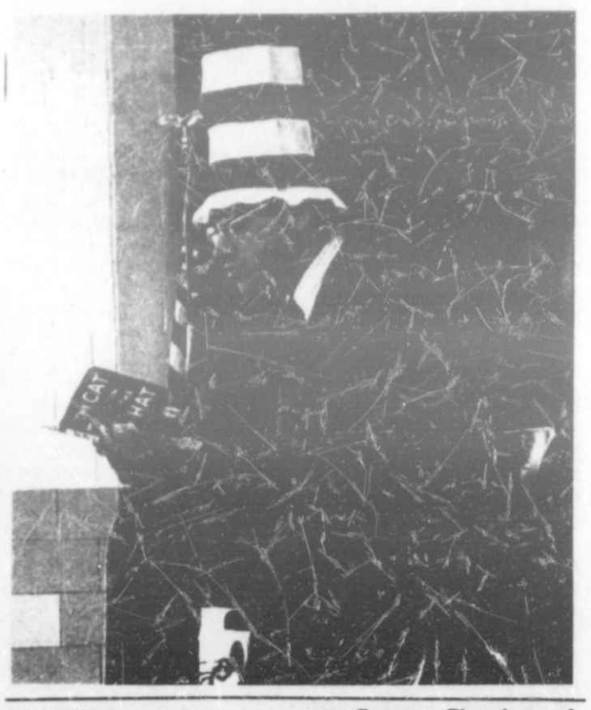
The Good Friday service will also begin at 7:30 p.m. (April 2) and will include a presentation of Tenebrae, A Service of Darkness by St. Mark's adult choir. The service of music was composed by Hal H. Hopson in the tradition of the church dating back to the eighth century. In Latin, the word "tenebrae" means darkness, and the service commemorates the final hours in the earthly life of Jesus. The extinguishing of candles during the service will symbolize the fading loyalty of the disciples and friends of Christ. Gradual darkening in the church will portray the "diminishing light of the world as Christ was departing from it," noted the composer.

Soloists in the Good Friday service will be Donald Sincell and Mary Sincell McEwen, and narrators will be Klaus Mielenz and Gloria Salazar. The choir is under the direction of Susan Peterson and is accompanied by the church organist, Marcette Danner.

The Easter Sunday (April 4) church service will begin at 10 a.m., following Sunday School, which begins at 8:45 a.m. Special music will be provided during the service, featuring the adult and children's choirs. The children's choir is under the direction of Mary McEwen.

Pastor Mike Robinson and the congregation welcome the public to any or all of the Holy Week services at St. Mark's. For more information, the church office can be reached at 301-334-2668.

CELEBRATING READING - When the National Education Association sponsored "Read Across America" recently, special ed students from Northern High School invited Northern Middle School special ed students to join them for a celebration of reading. Enjoying an afternoon of stories, skits, cake, and soda, the students also offered a "hat's off" (or in this case a "hat's on") salute to the wonderful words of Dr. Seusse. The students attending the celebration in the photo above are, clockwise from left, Jesse Warnick, Tim Bittinger, teacher Tom Ables, Rick Fike, Adam Younkin, Tarry Cosne, Chad Stallman, and Shawn Wright. Donning one of his "other hats," NHS principal Martin Green, above right, read The Cat In The Hat to open the festivities. Skits were performed and stories read by Kanya Knox, Renae Sines, Janelle Sines, and Carrie Brantner.



4-H Club News

COVE KIDS
by Beth Long, Reporter

The monthly meeting of the Cove Kids 4-H Club was held Tuesday, March 16. The meeting was called to order by the president, Keith Bender, and the American pledge was led by Lindsay Swearman and the 4-H pledge was led by Michelle Bender. The meeting was then turned over to guest speaker Mitchell Guard and Will Gallagher of the Snowy Creek 4-H Club. Mitchell and Will spoke on the caring and presenting of one's dog.

Lindsay Swearman, secretary, took roll call and the new members and Clovers were introduced. The secretary's report and treasurer's report were approved as read.

It was announced that puppet classes will be held Tuesday nights at the St. John's Lutheran Church basement. It was also announced that there would be 4-H skating at Divito Park on Saturday, March 20. The club is now selling Rada knives and the first order is to be turned in the week of the March meeting. On April 19, the club is scheduled to have its spring program at the Goodwill Mennonite Home, Grantsville. The club members will be making a craft during the April meeting to take to the patients. Also, the members are reminded of the Achievement Dinner set for April 10 at 7 p.m. at Northern High School, and each family is to bring a finger-food. The summer trip is scheduled to be on June 19 to Washington, D.C. One more reminder is that each member is to bring $1 to each meeting for dues.

April 17 will be the 4-H Learning Day and any member wanting to attend from the club may contact Darlene Schmidt. Also, the Relay for Life that will be held some time in June was introduced to the club. There will be further discussion at a later meeting.

There were eight adults and 24 members at the meeting, including Clovers and new members. The next meeting will be April 13.

NEWS from THE MARYLAND FOREST, PARK & WILDLIFE SERVICE

The Maryland state parks in Garrett County will host the following events during the month of April.

Herrington Manor

A free Easter egg hunt is set for Sunday, April 4, beginning at 2 p.m. Fifty dozen eggs which will be donated by McDonald's will be colored and hidden, and the Easter Bunny will be on hand to entertain the children. Prizes will be awarded in different age groups. Call 301-334-9180 for more information.

New Germany

A hunter safety course is set for April 13, 15, and 17 at the lakehouse. The Tuesday and Thursday sessions are set for 6:30-9:30 p.m., and the Saturday session is set for 9 a.m.-3 p.m. The course, geared for all ages, covers firearm safety, wildlife identification and conservation, and hunting and game laws. The cost is $4 per person.

The park's clean-up day is slated for Saturday, April 17, from 9 a.m. to noon. (The raindate is April 24.) Park staff and volunteers will meet at the lakehouse in the morning, and a noon lunch will be provided by the Friends of New Germany.

Call 301-895-5759 for more information on these activities.

Potomac-Garrett SF

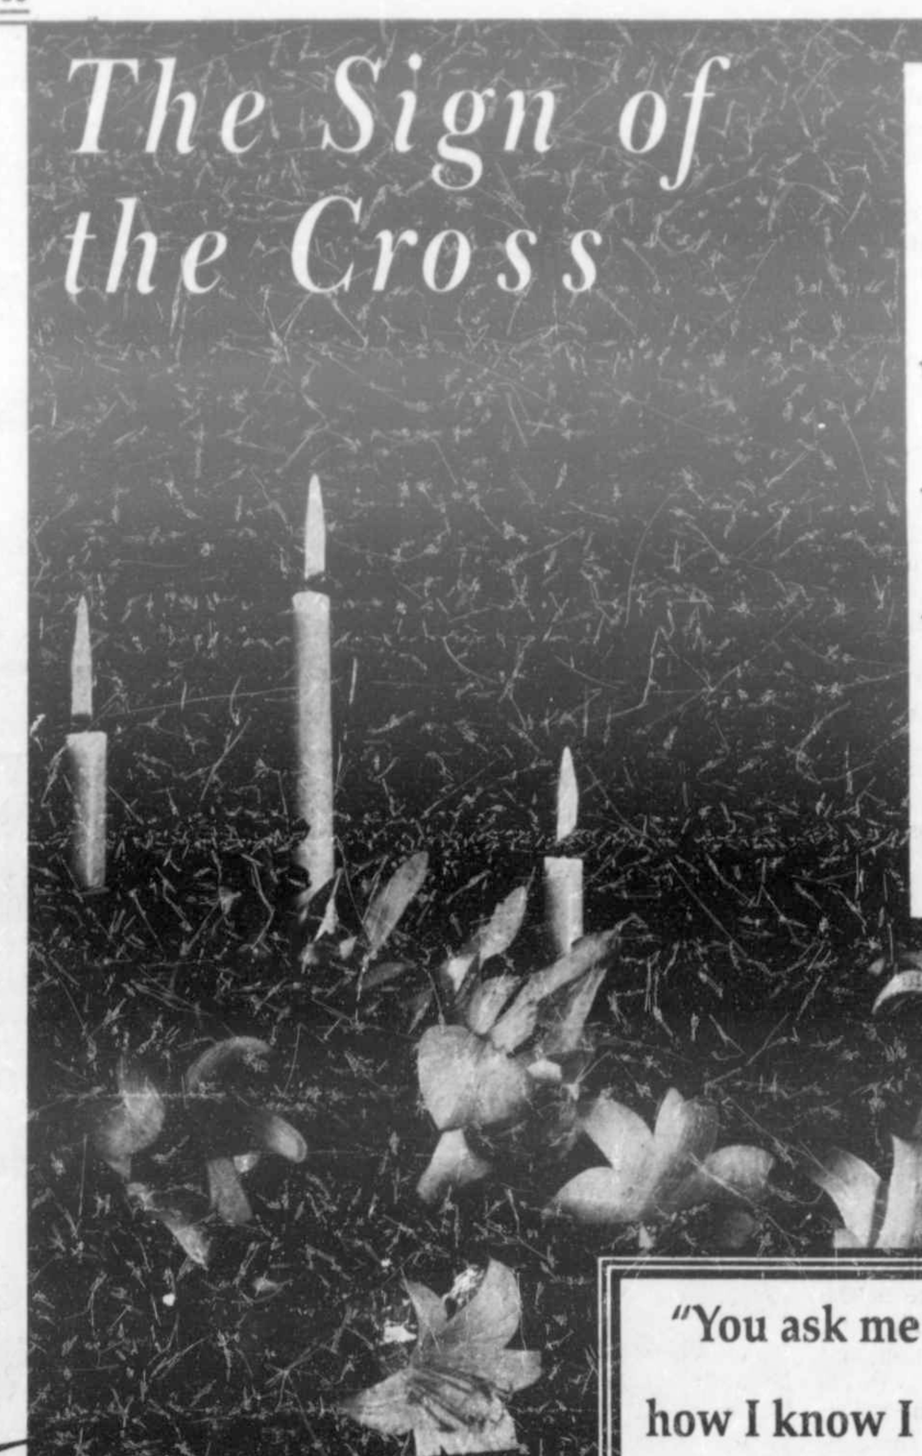
The Sign of the Cross



Pilate sought to release Jesus, but the crowd cried, "If you release this man, you are not Caesar's friend." So he took water and washed his hands before the crowd, saying, "I am innocent of this man's blood. See to it yourselves." Matt. 27:24. In failing to act, Pontius Pilate sentenced Jesus to death.

So often in our society, we fail to follow our convictions for fear of ridicule or reprisal. Perhaps we are merely complacent. Whatever the reason, we must act so that Jesus can live through our example.

Easter Sunday is such an appropriate time to begin our lives anew. As Jesus arose from His grave, may we also choose to experience a rebirth of the spirit. Celebrate Easter at your chosen place of worship. The sign of the Cross will lead you to Jesus.

IS A LOW PRICE MOST IMPORTANT?

Not when someone is very sick and needs medicine. Then, you depend on a pharmacy like ours, where you get every possible service that can help you most.

It isn't difficult for any discounter to give you a less than needed price on a few of the fastest selling drugs. Part of the loss can be made up by also discounting service, the rest by high profit, unfamiliar-to-you-products. We offer no "bait bargains," just honestly fair prices, always, on everything we supply.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

A PERSONAL EASTER MESSAGE
April 4, 1999

Background Scripture:
John 18 through 29
Devotional Reading:
Acts 2:32-39

I read somewhere that, during the days of the Soviet Union, some Russian Orthodox churches were permitted to have Easter services because Communist officials reasoned that something so ancient as the Easter liturgy couldn't have any affect upon the opinions and actions of a handful of worshippers. A contemporary scholar has commented that the Soviets couldn't have really understood the meaning of Easter or they would have had to ban it completely.

The Soviets—and probably many others—failed to understand that the Easter gospel is not just about a startling event that took place almost 2,000 years ago. Properly understood and experienced, Easter is contemporary good news about people and situations today. More than just a corporate liturgy, Easter comes to each of us with revolutionary power for this very year, month and day.

Part of Easter's personal message to me—and you—is the relevance of what immediately preceded the resurrection: the passion and crucifixion of our Lord Jesus Christ. This, too, is not just about a man who suffered unjustly and was put to death in the third decade of the first century AD. The crucifixion is about us, too, in 1999.

THE STUMBLING-BLOCK

The stumbling-block of Christianity has always been the passion and death of Jesus. Here was a man so spiritually powerful that he could heal disease and cast out demons. Here was also a man so innocent, so loving, yet so despised by so many. Christians still want to know: why did such a man go to the cross? (If we can understand that, then perhaps we will understand the crosses in our own lives.)

Some may reason that Jesus had no choice, that fate, divine will, providence decreed his death. It is obvious that Jesus could have avoided both Jerusalem and the cross, staying in Galilee or sojourning out in the wilderness of Judea. But, if Jesus had no choice, then he would simply be a victim with no power to bring redemption to anyone.

Others, taking an opposite tack would say Jesus sought to be a martyr. But I don't believe that either. Why would he have prayed in the Garden of Gethsemane for "this cup" to be taken from him?

Still others will hold that Jesus died on Calvary because God willed it for his own purposes. But that would make the passion and death of Jesus nothing more than a cruel charade. God would be the author of the evil that overtook Jesus at Calvary.

I believe the reason Jesus died on Calvary was that, while he did not seek death, and while his death was the will of men, not God, Jesus would not betray his mission for the sake of saving his life. What made his crucifixion inevitable was his obedience to God's call and its collision course with the malevolence of those who crucified him.

WHAT'S IT TO US?

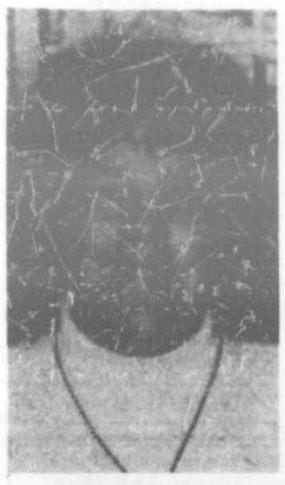
So what is so personal about all of the above? How does it apply to us as well as Jesus? The answer: we can approach life with the same obedience that we see exemplified in Jesus Christ. We don't seek suffering and we don't believe God wills that we suffer. But there are times when remaining faithful to the good news in Jesus Christ leads us to a cross. As Jesus did, we can experience our crosses with the same faithfulness and compession with which Jesus experienced his. Calvary, then, is a very current and personal message about how to live faithfully in our world today.

Furthermore, the resurrection of Jesus is a personal and current message about living victoriously in this world of today. The enemies of our Lord did their very worst to him, but the resurrection proved that their worst was not powerful enough. Their worst was not more powerful than his best. That is no less true today!

The resurrection appearance of Jesus to Mary also has a contemporary message for us. Notice that when Jesus first appeared to her, "she did not know that it was Jesus" (20:14b). Even after Jesus began to talk to her, she didn't recognize the Lord, "supposing him to be the gardener." It was only when, instead of addressing her as "woman," Jesus said "Mary," that she realized it was Jesus standing before her. The resurrection faith is always and ever a matter of faith, not scientific logic and testability.

By that faith, the resurrection of Jesus Christ becomes a very personal message, showing us how to live victoriously in the very world we live in today.

Children's Literature Festival To Be Hosted By Frostburg State



BONNIE PRYOR

DANIEL SAN SOUCI

MURIEL BRANCH

HELEN OXENBURY

Frostburg State University will host the 17th annual Spring Festival of Children's Literature, Friday and Saturday, April 16 and 17, in the FSU Lane Center. Registration and book sales for the Friday program will begin at 5:45 p.m. The Saturday event registration will begin at 8 a.m. with books sales, coffee/danish, and pick-up of reserved books available.

Featuring presentations by critically acclaimed authors and illustrators, as well as interactive small group sessions, the annual festival is designed for anyone with a connection to children's literature, according to a spokesperson for the event. "It offers informative components for writers, librarians, teachers, parents, and college students, as well as many opportunities for a relaxed enjoyment of quality literature and art," he said. In order to maintain a personalized environment, advance registration is required as attendance is limited.

The theme of the festival is "Children's Literature: Stories and Pictures that Spark a Lifetime of Learning." Guests will include Bonnie Pryor, Daniel San Souci, Muriel Branch, and Helen Oxenbury.

"Pryor's roots in literature sprouted when she was just a young girl. Her passion for reading above all else, including chores and schoolwork, often got her into trouble. And in her favorite quiet spot, hanging from the branch of a plum tree, she spent day after day spinning her own imaginative tales. Many years later, she would get the courage to pen some of those ideas, resulting in such popular works as The Plum Tree and Poison Ivy and Eyebrow Wigs, which won the Maryland State Award in 1998," the spokesperson said. Additionally, both her books The Dream Jar and The House on Maple Street were named to the Outstanding Book List of National Social Studies Teachers.

The illustrations of San Souci are also rooted in childhood, where literature held a special place in the home. "He was caught early by the thrill of creation, and eventually learned with his brother to create the multiple award-winning The Legend of Scarface. More quality books were to follow, including The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, a Children's Book Council Notable Book in Social Studies," the spokesperson said. Recently, Jigsaw Jackson has been named an American Bookseller's Pick of the List.

Branch is retired as a school librarian, but maintains an active lifestyle supporting her passions, which include writing and storytelling. She is especially interested in sharing African-American history, and has spent 15 years researching and writing about "little known" people and events. Her talents have resulted in six books, including The Water Brought Us, A Step Beyond, and Juneteenth. She is the recipient of the Pi Lambda Theta 1998 Outstanding Educator of the Year Award, 1998 Cable Educator of the Year, 1996 Virginia Hero Award, and 1991 R.F.B. Award for Teaching Excellence.

Oxenbury is regarded as one of the world's most popular and acclaimed children's book illustrators, with nearly 60 titles to her name. Specializing in books for the youngest of readers, she revolutionized the board book genre and is the creator of three additional book series for young children.

She has received Britain's most prestigious book illustration award, the Kate Greenaway Medal for both The Quangle Wangle's Hat and The Dragon of an Ordinary Family. Her international best seller, We're Going on a Bearhunt, won the Smarties Book Prize in 1989, remaining a highly popular children's choice. Her 1991 title Farmer Duck won the Smarties Book Prize and the British Book Award for Children's Illustrated Book of the Year.

In addition to the core festival, the area's youngest literary enthusiasts will have a chance to meet the authors at the R. Margaret Hamilton Children's Hour on Friday, April 16, at 4 p.m. in the FSU Lane Center. "Children ages 4 to 12 will have the opportunity to experience the books and the people who create them," the spokesperson said. Book sales and signings will be available. Preregistration is required.

The festival is administered by the FSU Foundation Inc. and sponsored by the FSU Department of Educational Professions and the Children's Literature Centre. It was first organized by Dr. William Bingman, FSU professor of education, to honor two colleagues who made significant contributions to children's literature in the community.

For information and registration, persons may contact Dr. William Bingham at 301-687-4420.

Persons with disabilities may request accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office at 301-687-4102, TDD 301-687-7955.

Bethel To Serve Benefit Dinner

An "all-you-can-eat" spaghetti dinner will be served Friday, April 9, at Bethel United Methodist Church from 4 to 7 p.m. The church is located on the corner of H Street and Baltimore Avenue in Mtn. Lake Park.

Tickets are $5 for adults, $2.50 for children ages 3-10, and children under 3 eat free. Tickets can be purchased from the Mission Attic along Oakland Drive, by calling 301-334-9389 or 301-334-6485, or at the door. The menu will include: spaghetti, gourmet sauce, cole slaw, roll and butter, dessert, and tea or coffee. All proceeds will benefit Bethel Youth Group's Ichthus trip.

Head Start Sets Recruitment Fair For Next Friday

Community Action's Head Start Program will be hosting its fifth recruitment fair for the 1999-2000 school year. The fair is scheduled for Friday, April 9, 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., at Oakland Room III, 104 E. Center Street, Oakland.

Parents with eligible children who will be 3 or 4 by December 31, 1999, will have the opportunity to see a classroom, meet Head Start staff, and complete the necessary paperwork to enroll their children in the fall. Snacks and activities will be provided for children.

Parents who attend the fairs are asked to bring with them proof of the child's age, social security numbers of all family members, immunization record of the child slated for enrollment, and income verification for the family. Although walk-ins will be accepted, persons are encouraged to call to schedule an appointment.

For further information or an appointment, persons are asked to call 301-334-9431 or 1-888-877-8403, ext. 126.

4-H Club News

TRAILBLAZERS
by Sarah Cosner

The March meeting of the Trailblazers 4-H Club was held Thursday, March 18, at Yough Glades Elementary School. President Susan Mayfield called the meeting to order. Erin Rush called the role and read the secretary's report. Nick Rush gave the treasurer's report.

Susan explained Achievement Night and invited everyone to attend on April 10 at Northern High School. We decided on a door prize, and Nick Rush will buy the door prize. The Mayfields will provide the name tags for the club. We planned the rest of the year for the club. Sarah Cosner gave a demonstration on "Color." Club members paid for their project material and their dues. After the meeting the fair booth committee explained and worked on the fair booth.

Our next meeting will be held April 17 at 7 p.m. at the Hubert Custer Farm on the Sand Flat Road for a fitting and showing workshop.

Springs Church To Host Singers

The Jubilate Singers from Bethany Christian High School, Goshen, Ind., will present a program titled "Shepherd Me, O Lord," at the Springs Mennonite Church, 1686 Springs Road, Springs, Pa. The performance is set for 6:30 p.m on Friday, April 9.

The 40-member choir, conducted by John D. Smucker, will be making its 1999 tour through west-central Pennsylvania.

For more information, persons may call Pastor Steven H. Heatwole at 814-662-4201.

Wachter Named To Who's Who

Shad Wachter, son of R. Samuel and Susan Wachter, McHenry, has been selected for inclusion in the 1999 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. He is a senior, majoring in music education, at West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon, W.Va.

Wachter is a 1995 graduate of Northern Garrett High School, where he was senior class vice president, captain of the tennis team, and a member of the National Honor Society. He also received several awards for his musical performances.

At WVWC, Wachter has been a member of the college's acclaimed concert chorale and its concert band, and has been soud technician for the jazz ensemble for four years. Last fall he completed student teaching in the Randolph (W.Va.) County schools. He toured with the jazz ensemble in Europe two years ago. Wachter is also vice president of Theta Xi, a social fraternity.

Gabriele Says Change The Time, Change Batteries

State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele reminds Marylanders to change the battery in all of their smoke detectors (alarms) on Sunday morning, April 4, when moving clocks forward for Daylight Savings Time.

"Working smoke alarms increase your chance of escaping a residential fire significantly," Gabriele said. "Additionally, smoke alarms can reduce the damage done by a home fire because of early detection and warning. Smoke alarms are known to have prevented injury and death to dozens of Marylanders. The cost of smoke alarms, approximately $6, is within the budget of most residents; however, those who cannot provide their own should contact their local fire department for assistance."

Gabriele also urges Marylanders to help seniors and the elderly who may not be able to install or maintain smoke alarms. Additionally, he urges deaf or hearing-impaired citizens, or their families, to contact the Office of the State Fire Marshal for information on visual smoke alarms. Questions can be directed to the Office of the State Fire Marshal at 800-525-3124.

Schaefer Backs Bill Regulating Internet Sales

Concerned about the ease with which alcoholic beverages can be ordered over the Internet, especially by minors, state Comptroller William Donald Schaefer is urging the Legislature to pass House Bill 278 with an amendment making it a felony to ship alcohol directly to anyone within Maryland who does not hold the proper license. Under current law, mail order and Internet shipment is only a misdemeanor and is more difficult to enforce than a law with felony penalties.

"There are several good reasons why we need to take action against these types of sales, not the least of which is how easy it is for kids with a credit card and a computer to get alcohol delivered to their home," said Schaefer. "Mail order and Internet sales cost the state lost revenue, create unfair competition for Maryland businesses, and bypass the state's regulatory control of the distribution of alcohol."

As it written, HB 278 would make it a felony to ship alcoholic beverages directly to anyone under the age of 21. Schaefer is proposing an amendment to the bill making it a felony to ship to anyone of any age. A conviction under this proposed legislation could carry a $1,000 fine or imprisonment of two years or both.

"The bottom line is direct mail shipment of alcohol is illegal in Maryland, no matter what the age of the person receiving it," said Schaefer. "I certainly don't want anyone underage getting their hands on alcohol, but I also don't want adults violating the law either."

The Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Unit of the state comptroller's office is responsible for regulating the manufacture, storage, transportation, sale, and distribution of alcoholic beverages in the state of Maryland. It is also responsible for the promotion of fair trade practices and for the collection of excise taxes on beer, wine, and distilled spirits.

It is important that we take action now to deal with illegal alcohol shipments, and I hope that the United States Congress will follow soon in combating the problem nationwide," said Schaefer.

Under Maryland law, only licensed establishments may sell beer, wine, or distilled spirits to retail customers, and the distribution of these beverages is controlled as it flows from the manufacturing to the wholesale and retail levels.

Most states prohibit the mail-order sale of alcoholic beverages. Additionally, the United States Postal Service considers "intoxicating liquors" to be restricted material which is generally not mailable.

COVER STORY

ESPN's Miller sees interesting season ahead

By Jim Baker
©TVData Features Syndicate

Jon Miller, the velvet-smooth voice of ESPN's Sunday Night Baseball, believes in a frank approach to calling America's national pastime. He'll surely demonstrate it when he and 10th-year partner Joe Morgan work the Colorado Rockies-San Diego Padres prime-time opener Sunday, April 4, from Monterrey, Mexico.

Yet Miller can be forgiven if he's a bit wary, considering Tim McCarver's recent firing had to remind him of his own fate after the 1996 season. That's when he was dropped as the voice of the Baltimore Orioles after 14 years for, as he put it, "not bleeding black and orange enough."

McCarver, another sportscaster known for calling it as he sees it, was unceremoniously dumped in favor of Tom Seaver by the New York Mets after 16 years. Now he's analyzing the world champion Yankees for Fox's New York station and returns for Fox's Saturday matinee baseball lineup in June.

ESPN starts with Sunday's Rockies-Padres game and a tripleheader Monday, April 5, with Arizona at Los Angeles, Milwaukee at St. Louis and the Yankees at Oakland.

"We had a great 1998 season with (Mark) McGwire and Sammy Sosa in that record homer race and the Yankees being a great and dominant club," Miller reflects. "But there wasn't much in the way of pennant races. This year, I think we'll have some good ones."

He doesn't expect much suspense in the American League East, however. "I don't see anyone there competing with the Yankees. ... I think Baltimore, Boston and Toronto will compete with a Western team for the AL wild card."

Elsewhere in the league, Cleveland has a virtual free pass to the Central title," Miller says. "But Texas and Anaheim should have a great race in the West, and the Seattle Mariners may join them if they get some pitching to go with Ken Griffey Jr."

Tim McCarver

The Angels are bolstered by the addition of free-agent slugger Mo Vaughn, who bolted from Boston amid controversy to land an $80 million deal.

Miller regards the National League as more competitive.

"The Atlanta Braves are the top club in the East, but they don't have all their starters back, and Andres Galaragga hit 44 home runs. Now he's out with cancer," Miller says. "He was the best first baseman around defensively, too."

Miller sees the NL Central as a three-team race. "Houston also had a big loss with Moises Alou out, and the Cards have made a lot of improvements," he says. "And don't forget the Cubs are still there with Sosa."

The NL West is loaded.

"Arizona bought a whole pitching staff ... but I don't know if the Diamondbacks can hit enough," Miller says. "The Dodgers have manager Davey Johnson and a starting rotation with Kevin Brown that could be better than the Braves have."

While Miller and Morgan work Sunday's Rockies-Padres opener and Monday's Cards-Brewers matchup, Chris Berman and Ray Knight draw the Yanks-A's test that caps Monday's tripleheader.

Fox Sports Net launches a 27-week Thursday slate on April 8 with Sosa's Cubs playing NL Central champion Houston.

TV PIPELINE

By Taylor Michaels
©TVData Features Syndicate

Q: Who originally created the role of "Snapper" Foster on The Young and the Restless? I say it was David Hasselhoff. –"Still a Y&R Fan After All These Years" via e-mail.

A: Hasselhoff, who played Bill "Snapper" Foster from 1975-82, was the second actor in the role, which was created in 1973 by William Gray Espy.

Q: Did the actress playing Yetta on The Nanny once play Laura's neighbor on The Dick Van Dyke Show? –J.T. from S.C.

A: Yes. Ann Guilbert was billed as Ann Morgan Guilbert when she played Millie Helper, Laura Petrie's (Mary Tyler Moore) neighbor.

Q: Wasn't John Dye of Touched by an Angel once a member of the cast of Ellen? –Shannon Mullins, St. Petersburg, Fla.

A: No. I suspect you are thinking of Arye Gross, who once played Ellen's roommate and friend Adam Greene on the show. Gross and Dye bear a slight resemblance to each other.

Q: I recently watched a rarely shown 1951 movie called That's My Boy starring Jerry Lewis. His father, "Jarring" Jack Jackson, was played by Eddie Mayehoff. Am I mistaken in recalling that Mayehoff played the same role in a TV series version of this movie? –Carol R. Dailey, Kingsford Heights, Ind.

A: You're not mistaken, Carol. Mayehoff reprised his movie role of "Jarring" Jack in a 1954-55 CBS sitcom of the same title, in which Gil Stratton Jr. took over Lewis' role as the son, Junior.

Q: When a recent letter writer actually asked whether Drew Barrymore played Cindy Brady, I think you should have responded, "Yes, and Jan was played by Gwyneth Paltrow." My blood boils as red as Lucy Ricardo's hair when I see questions like that even submitted. I hope such a person is tossed unceremoniously and rather violently out of the Brady household and onto the AstroTurf back lawn! –"Am I Living in a World Gone Mad?" via e-mail.

A: Believe it or not, Living, I've gotten other letters like yours, but yours was far and away the funniest. Yes, I do get some truly unbelievable questions from time to time, but I always keep two things in mind:

I don't think anyone intentionally asks a stupid question. Also, most of my readers aren't in the business of tracking entertainment news. I'm sure that if I were asking them about their own area of supposed expertise, my questions would sound pretty ill-informed as well.

Clayburgh heads cast of new NBC sitcom

By John Crook
©TVData Features Syndicate

Oscar nominee Jill Clayburgh (An Unmarried Woman) and Jeffrey Tambor (The Larry Sanders Show) star with newcomer Kevin Rahm in Everything's Relative, a new NBC sitcom getting a four-episode test drive beginning Tuesday, April 6.

Rahm plays Leo Gorelick, a struggling young comedy writer whose pressurized career is frequently interrupted by the chronic emotional demands of his long-divorced parents (Clayburgh, Tambor) and his self-absorbed brother, Marty (Eric Schaeffer, Too Something), a doctor about to get married for the third time.

Maureen Cassidy co-stars as Trina, Leo's sympathetic writing partner.

Series creator Mitchell Hurwitz says the show isn't literally autobiographical, although it certainly resonates with him.

"People ask if it's about my family, and, in a sense, everything is about my family," he says with a laugh, "and that's kind of what the show is about: how everything in our lives is based on our families. It's a part of life that I haven't seen much of on TV, the adult family.

"This show is like Ozzie & Harriet exploded. The kids have grown up, the parents have been divorced for 20 years, so the family is separated and yet they're still a family. There are scars from the past, but they have healed back together. I think this will feel familiar to most adults."

NBC didn't provide a copy of the pilot for preview, but the show's cast and premise are intriguing. With only four episodes scheduled, however, viewers should sample it while they can.

TRIVIA

The first major film about the life of Jesus Christ was From the Manger to the Cross (1912). It starred Robert Henderson-Bland.

On Nov. 12, 1978, in Jewett, Texas, Johnny Dell Foley threw a fresh egg 323 feet 2 inches to Keith Thomas. It didn't break.

Kirk Douglas' Douglas Foundation has been active in the United States and Israel for 40 years. It currently is restoring school playgrounds.

Cecil B. DeMille first made The Ten Commandments in 1923 for $1.5 million. His second, in 1956, made less money, but won the Oscar for special effects.
